LHS mock trial team advances to region title match

With wins over Breckenridge and East Grand Forks Sacred Heart Saturday in Detroit Lakes, the Lincoln high school mock trial team earned advancement to the regional championship.

Lincoln will meet Fergus Falls at the Clay county courthouse in Moorhead Tuesday, March 4, at 12:30 p.m. with the winner to advance to state competition. Through an alphabetical order procedure by school name, Lincoln will represent the plaintiff in the case.

In the first trial Saturday morning at the Becker county courthouse in Detroit Lakes, Lincoln scored a 159-154 victory over a strong Breckenridge team. Representing the defense, Lincoln earned 74 points from scoring judge Bent Karlsen and 85 points from presiding judge Lynn Hummel, both of Detroit Lakes. The two judges respectively gave Breckenridge 73 and 81 points.

Defense team for Lincoln included Kate Ihle, Lesley Ihle and Sara Rasmussen as attorneys with Stephanie Wiseth, Rachel Greely and Stephanie Stanna as witnesses.

Also in the morning East Grand Forks Sacred Heart won its trial over Perham to advance to the semi-final round against Lincoln. Thief River Falls won a coin toss and elected to represent the plaintiff in the trial against Sacred Heart, thereby giving the plaintiff team an opportunity to perform in competition.

Thief River Falls emerged from that trial with a seven-point win, 181 to 174. Scoring judge Laura Thomas gave Lincoln 89 points to 86 for Sacred Heart, while presiding judge Dennis Schurmann scored 92 to 88 in favor of Thief River Falls. Both judges are from Detroit Lakes.

Plaintiff team included Paul Dehmer, Lesley Ihle and Kate Ihle as attorneys with Sara Rasmussen, Jenna Tsukiehi and Nikolas Kotz as witnesses.

"The teams performed just great—the best they have all year," stated Cal Lindberg, teacher coach for the Lincoln team. "They conducted themselves in a very professional manner and showed good sportsmanship following both trials. In fact, all the teams presented themselves very well, meeting and discussing on a friendly basis after the trials. Breckenridge and Sacred Heart both wished our team continued success."

Tuesday's trial at Moorhead will be the fifth regional championship appearance for a Lincoln team, but Thief River Falls has never advanced to the state meet—losing twice to Fergus Falls teams and twice to Virginia by a single point.

LEARNING TO SKI

Dee Larson, Gnordic Gnome and cross-country ski instructor, said she felt good about the event, but would have liked to have spent more time with the individuals participating in the clinic. However, she was pleased to see so many of the participants stay after the clinic concluded to practice what they had learned.

Saturday, Dakota Clinic, Northwest Medical Center, and the Gnordic Gnomes, held a cross country ski clinic in Thief River Falls. The event was held from 9 a.m. to noon and included classroom instruction and some valuable outdoor experience. At first, skiers seemed a little tentative, but by the end of the session were well on their way to experiencing a new sport.

Dee Larson and Jan Puttbrese were the instructors for this event. The Bike and Ski Shop of Grand Forks provided ski rentals for the participants.

The outdoor session was held at Greenwood trails where members of the Gnordic Gnomes have been attempting to maintain a groomed trail system, despite snowmobile traffic.

Larson said the participants seemed to enjoy the event. One individual said she didn't think she would enjoy it, but discovered just the opposite was true.

The Gnordic Gnomes club has been in existence for about five years. Anyone interested in participating in this club should call 681-2267.

St. Hilaire Lions Have Fun Providing Service

For the fourteenth year the St. Hilaire Lions Club is making final preparations for its annual community auction. This year's event is slated for the National Guard Armory in Thief River Falls on Sunday, March 9, beginning at 9:30 a.m. and continuing throughout the day until approximately 1,200 items are sold.

No doubt about it, staging an event of this nature is a lot of work and requires many volunteers. The St. Hilaire group knows how to make it fun because they enjoy activity that provides service to others. Again this year the vast majority of the proceeds will go to the Lincoln high school graduation party which has become a popular event into the early morning hours following Lincoln's commencement exercises.

An article in today's issue of The Times tells a little more about the auction itself. What it doesn't emphasize is the commitment of many area people, including some who aren't even members of the St. Hilaire Lions Club but give of their time and abilities to help the auction and thereby help area young people. The club has approximately 50 members and virtually all of them will be involved with some phase of the auction. Some will help in several different ways.

One thing you will notice when you attend the auction is that smiles come easy for the Lions and their volunteer helpers. Despite the effort involved, they will be enjoying themselves. Isn't it great that people can have fun working to help others?

For the past dozen years the sale has been held at the armory and the club has been pleased with the support provided by Thief River Falls residents. That support is appropriate, for the returns are of benefit to all graduates of School District 564. We encourage continued support on March 9.

Mock Trial Team Again In Regional Title Match

Lincoln high school's mock trial team continued its undefeated record Saturday at Detroit Lakes with victories over Breckenridge and East Grand Forks Sacred Heart. The two wins advanced the team into the regional championship trial against Fergus Falls on Tuesday, March 4, at 12:30 p.m. at the Clay county courthouse in Moorhead.

This is the fifth time in eight years of coaching that Cal Lindberg has had his team in the regional championship. It has lost its four previous title trials–twice to Fergus Falls and twice by a single point to Virginia.

In at least some of the prior championship appearances, the team has been disrupted by having one or more of its regular members in Washington, DC, for the Close-Up program. The team did well with its juggled line-up, but the necessity for students to accept new roles in a short period of time makes a polished presentation difficult.

Mock trial does not permit a lot of experimentation. The team has only two competitive trials against other schools prior to entering the tournament format. Therefore the plaintiff team and the defense team have only one preparatory trial each and otherwise can only practice with the other team members.

We extend our best wishes to the team and coaches Lindberg, Mike Jorgenson and Gayle Borchert as they face another tough test against Fergus Falls.

Business Behavior

Economist John Rutledge is chairman of Rutledge & Co., a merchant bank in Greenwich, CT. In a recent issue of Forbes magazine, he tells about a portrait of a former business partner, V. P. Baker, hanging in his company's conference room as a reminder of how to behave in business. The principles Baker championed—as outlined by Rutledge—are good ones for any business person to follow.

(2) Don't hide the ball. When you lose a big account or when you discover an error in your financials, don't hide it from your banker or your employees; tell them. That way they can share the burden of fixing the problem. At first they will be surprised—people are used to hearing lies—but over time they will learn to trust your words. As "Bake" said, if you have to make money by tricking people, you are not much of a businessman.

(3) You don't need to shout and swear. If other do so, end the meeting. You don't have to do business with everybody.

(4) Leave something on the table. The best business deal isn't the one that maximizes your advantage or your profits. It is the one in which you maximize the chance that the next time you run into the person you will be glad to see each other.

(5) Make everyone your customer. If, as Peter Drucker writes, the purpose of a business is to create a customer—someone who chooses to do business with you over and over—then it is important for your customer to enjoy the experience. Treat your customers in a way that will make them want to come back.

(6) Stick to your principles. Hire people who want to live by them, teach them thoroughly and insist on total commitment. There's no room for diversity of principles.

(7) Make your principles tangible. I am no fan of executive retreats and the like, but they can make it easier to teach business principles. We make do with that portrait of "Bake" in our conference room to remind us that he is still watching. "What would "Bake" do?" is our standard way of approaching a problem.

(8) Principles are not for sale. Be prepared to walk away from a deal, any deal, rather than violate your principles to win it.

"The twist, of course," Rutledge writes, "is that businesses organized around principles are often more successful and make more money than those organized around the idea that greed is good. Nice guys often finish first."

MN job rate rose in 1996

Minnesota's seasonally adjusted employment rose sharply during the first quarter of 1996 aided in large measure by new and expanding businesses pushing job growth in the state to an expansionary 2.5 per cent annual increase. Nationwide, this good economic news was instigated by a sharp increase in consumer and government spending and businesses' fixed investments.

The state's manufacturing, wholesale trade and transportation sectors, in particular, were assisted by the unexpected strength in the nation's demand for consumer durables, capital equipment and government defense procurement contracts. It was estimated that Minnesota's wage and salary employment in manufacturing expanded by about 900 jobs during this quarter, with another 2,000 jobs added in the wholesale trade, transportation, communication and utilities sectors.

Business start-ups in the state surged during this rebound period as well, rising from a low of 2.1 per cent during the sluggish forth quarter of 1995, to post-recession highs of 2.8 per cent during the first quarter of 1996. The fastest-growing business groups included local and long-distance trucking, wholesale computer trade and professional equipment, and computer-related services.

Large, independent businesses completed major expansions during this quarter, with single plant businesses of at least 50 employees creating nearly 40 per cent of all jobs generated through major expansions. The main offices, branch units, subsidiaries and franchises of multi-unit companies accounted for another 40 per cent of major expansion jobs. The remaining 20 per cent of major expansion jobs were contributed by small businesses that conducted significant expansions, which generally occur over more than a single quarter time period.

Given an increased national demand for durable goods, including high technology products, manufacturing continued to prosper in the state. There were 229 new manufacturing startups, with new businesses opening in machine tools and industrial machinery; custom lithographic and specialized commercial printing for advertisers and periodicals; fabricated rubber and plastic products, and miscellaneous manufacturing.

In the related wholesale trade area, the state is home to nearly 15,000 such businesses employing more that 146,000 workers, earning an average of more than $33,000 per year. Jobs in durable goods wholesale trade pay about 20 per cent higher wages than the nondurable goods area, and the number of jobs has grown as fast as the demand for manufactured durable goods and high technology products.

By regions, the Twin Cities and the Southwest regions were notable for the major expansions by several industrial machinery and computer companies, electronic products and other high technology manufacturers, which generated the highest rates of new job creation in these areas. By contrast, the rates for major expansion jobs were uniformly low among the other five regions of the state.

During the quarter, numerous new businesses produced high rates of start-up jobs in Central, Southwest and Twin Cities regions. Newly formed service companies in the Central region created twice as many jobs as the previous quarter's startups. In the Twin Cities, there were more new businesses and start-up jobs in manufacturing, wholesale trade and transportation sectors than during the previous quarter.

In terms of job losses, the improved economy reduced the rates of job loss from business dissolution and major contraction across the state. The business attrition rates have moderated during the extended economic expansion, with job losses from company downsizing cut in half during this quarter for the northern regions and the Southwest region.

In the Twin Cities, business downsizing continued among several large manufacturers, retailers and service companies. However, total job losses resulting from business contractions declined in the region's retail trade and service sectors compared to the previous quarter. Special trade construction rebounded in this area as renovations and indoor work in new buildings picked up, with rising personal incomes and low mortgage rates favoring residential housing investments during this quarter.

On a quarterly basis, the Department of Trade and Economic Development publishes the Business Tracking System (BTS) report with data on new business formation, business closings, major expansions and contractions, and the number of jobs created and lost. For a copy of the current BTS report covering the first quarter, 1996, call 612-296-1778.

House, Senate agree to establish statewide testing

In a recent compromise between the Minnesota House and Senate to restore $337 million in cuts to Minnesota's public K-12 schools, a conference committee agreed to establish statewide testing for students.

The spending caps and statewide testing are not related in any way. The caps were put into place at the end of the 1995 Legislative Session at the insistence of the governor when economic times were not as good. Now that the state has a budget surplus, the Legislature has an opportunity to restore the cuts. The House made restoring the cuts its number one priority, and quickly moved House File 1 (HF1) through the process. At the same time the Senate moved a similar bill through its committee process. When the Senate bill reached the full body, an amendment was added to establish statewide testing of students.

The House rejected the Senate bill, and it went to conference committee. The conferees agreed to rewrite the testing provisions of HF1. Instead of having the commissioner of the Department of Children, Families and Learning (DCFL) establish testing procedures, as directed in the Senate bill, a special joint House-Senate committee will be created. The committee will hold public hearings to develop a separate bill prescribing the details of the student tests. When the committee completes its work, the House and Senate will take up the bill. The issue will stand on its own, and will not be a part of the 1998-99 K-12 education funding bill. Legislation is expected to pass by May 1.

Although Minnesota is one of 10 states without a regular statewide system to report on the status, needs and performance of its schools, statewide testing is not a new issue to the Legislature. When policy makers, educators and academics first raised issues related to academic standards in the 1980s, they talked about standards in terms of the number of courses that students took in core academic subjects and measured achievement using scores on standardized, multiple-choice tests. Beginning in the late 1980s, they changed the definition of standards to encompass both content and performance standards: what students should know and be able to do at certain points in their schooling; and how proficient or accomplished students were in each subject.

Experts believe that content standards must be aligned with a state's testing system. This means that state tests must measure the content and skills that the state said students should master. We want to know that our children are on the right track and doing well in academic areas such as language arts, math, science and history as they move through Minnesota's school system.

A uniform statewide test will differ from the variety of tests currently being administered by school districts, including the basic skills tests given to the many eighth-grade students last month.

Public testimony will be critical as the joint House and Senate committee meets to develop the statewide testing system. Minnesota has a strong tradition of offering our children a quality education, and we want to see our students achieve at high levels. Statewide testing offers yet another way to track student progress, but we must ensure that test scores are not used against school districts which have high populations of children-at-risk, non-English speaking students and special education students.

Anyone with questions or concerns about this issue can contact me at 509 State Office Building, 100 Constitution Ave., St. Paul, MN 55155-1298, rep.jim.tunheim@house.leg.state.mn.us or (612) 296-9635.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of The Times encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in The Times exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

The Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has stated that it will not be supporting or helping with the emergency winter deer feeding program in 1997 because it prevents them from "working on other priority wildlife habitat and population projects and initiatives."

They also feel that a feeding program is too expensive. They have figured that they spent $14.07 on each deer reached during the 1996 feeding program, and that this was not cost effective. However, DNR has placed a value of $500 on each deer. If you do the math calculation, it works out to cost just under three percent to save these deer. Now that sounds like good business judgment and a real value to the rural economies of greater Minnesota.

During the winters of 1988 and 1996, the DNR used a guide called the Winter Severity Index (WSI) to gauge the stress on the whitetail deer herd. When this guide reached a total over 120 their concern was expressed publicly in the newspapers and on the radio for supporting some type of effort from the legislators to fund an emergency feeding program.

But this year they have elected to avoid using this guide (currently the WSI is at 135). Instead they have elected to ask the legislators for a license fee rate increase on all hunting and fishing licenses instead of asking for money to feed the deer.

I was always under the impression that the DNR was given the duty of monitoring, protecting and managing the whitetail deer herd because of their vast education, expertise and experience in this field. However, I was not aware that starvation was a management tool.

Thank you.

Ask Bids On Paving From Red Lake Falls North To St. Hilaire

"One of two trunk highway paving projects for which the state highway department will open bids March 14 calls for the paving of Highway 32 between Red Lake Falls and St. Hilaire, a distance of 11.6 miles. The other project is near Worthington.

In announcing the call, Commissioner M. J. Hoffman stated that tentative plans of the department contemplate the paving of the highway from St. Hilaire to Thief River Falls in 1948.

Specifications of the paving job are announced as follows:

"Pennington and Red Lake counties T. H. 32 -- between 1/4 mile south of Red Lake Falls and St. Hilaire -- 11.6 miles of grading and paving, requiring 21,638 cubic yards excavation, 13,365 cubic yards top soil covering, 3,632 cubic yards sand-gravel fill, 6,796 linear feet 12" to 24" concrete sewer pipe, 7,196 cubic yards gravel shoulders, 4,117 cubic yards salvaged bituminous material, 155,771 square yards concrete pavement, 8,026 linear feet concrete curb and 19,120 square feet concrete sidewalk."

Northern Chevrolet Company Invites Farmers To View Movie

"The Northern Chevrolet company, local Minneapolis Moline farm equipment dealers, today extended a general invitation to farmers of this community to view the color motion picture, 'Men with a Mission,' in the municipal auditorium Saturday afternoon, March 1, starting at 2 o'clock. Other motion pictures of interest also will be shown, it was announced."

St. Hilaire Plant Volume At Peak

"At a well-attended annual meeting Monday, shareholders and patrons of the St. Hilaire Cooperative Creamery association heard reports on the latest volume of business in the plant's 38 years of operation.

During the past year the creamery's total sales aggregated $385,010, compared to $245,627 in 1945. Butter sales totaled $79,588 in 1946, while frozen cream sales amounted to $216,371 and skim milk $47,581. An average net price of 69.15 cents per pound was paid for sweet cream butterfat, with 72.94 cents per pound for butterfat in milk."

Oen's Completes Initial Stage In Remodeling Plan

"That the Oen Mercantile company, oldest business institution in Thief River Falls, is keeping abreast of the times is revealed in the announcement today of the formal opening this weekend of an attractive basement hardware department and of an enlarged and modernized grocery department now located in the rear of the store.

"Remodeling operations have been in progress during the winter months and Roy J. Oen, manager, stated that when the work is completed this spring, the men's clothing and ladies' ready-to-wear departments will be both expanded in size through utilization of a portion of the space made available by moving the hardware department to the basement."

Only Two Births Outside City In 1946

"Of 499 births in Pennington county in 1946, all but two occurred in the city of Thief River Falls, it was announced today by Henry Storhaug, clerk of court and county registrar. A total of 162 deaths were reported in the county, including 132 in Thief River Falls, 16 in Rocksbury, three each in St. Hilaire and the Town of North and the rest in the various townships."

Effect Of State Aid Measure On Schools Is Cited

"Thief River Falls Independent School District 18 would gain $58,327 through the adoption of the proposed new state aid bill, now being considered in the state legislature.

"Under the proposed plan, it was stated the local district would receive a total of $147,696, compared to the present figure of $89,369. The Goodridge district, No. 8, would receive $14,081 compared to $10,097 at present and the St. Hilaire district, No. 102, would get $8,396 compared to $6,954 at present."

To Our Patrons:

"Economy is the road to wealth and THE NEWS has determined to economize. Our readers know that THE NEWS has been an earnest advocate of free silver, but as the people have voted for McKinley and contractions of the currency, we have concluded to put THE NEWS upon a gold basis. We cannot furnish our patrons double space for 50 cents. Some people talk a great deal but say nothing, but THE NEWS will aim to say a great deal in a little space. We shall print just as much news in a folio [four page-newspaper] as many papers do in a quarto [eight page-newspaper] and just as soon as McKinley's advance agent of prosperity assures us that all our old subscriptions will be paid up and our patrons need more space for advertising, we will enlarge the paper."

Editorial comments from the files of Norm A. Holen

Careless drivers might take a hint from the state highway department's report that automobile accidents in Minnesota in 1946 cost, in terms of cash, $21,000,000.

Speaking of unsung heroes, consider the Sunday School teacher.

[illegible] leading bachelor, Billy Noonan, tries to scare his married pals by reporting that an Iowa man dropped dead while helping his wife do the dishes. We wonder, Bill, if it wasn't the wife who dropped dead.

An observer defines flattery as the stuff that makes everyone sick except those who swallow it.

A lot of government employees soon will be looking for new jobs if that six billion dollar cut in the federal budget is approved.

If seven is a lucky number, George Mustine ought to be sitting pretty. His panel job bears the license number 7777.

The outcry over high prices would have been a lot louder in Thief River Falls if the price of a cup of coffee hadn't been held at a nickel.

The man who makes a practice of smoking cigarets in bed has one consolation. The chances are he won't have to worry about saving money for his old age.

The town of Robbinsdale on the outskirts of Minneapolis claims to be next to the largest city in Minnesota.

A colleague tells about the fellow who was quite a musician; he went out in the evening as fit as a fiddle and returned as tight as a drum.

It's soon time for cheering news of the arrival of the first robin of spring.

PROCEEDINGS
REGULAR MEETING
February 18, 1997

Members Present: Joe Philipp, Marlin Kolrba, Tom Scheel, John Gallagher, Alan Swenson, Aldon Hyland

Also Present: Superintendent Holfert, Principal Winge

The following minutes are not official until approved by the Board at the next regularly scheduled meeting.

The meeting was called to order at 7:00 p.m. by Chairperson Hyland. Pledge of Allegiance was given.

Philipp moved, Gallagher seconded, to approve the February meeting agenda. Motion carried.

Scheel moved, Kolrba seconded, to approve the minutes of the January 21, 1997 Regular Meeting. Motion carried.

Swenson moved, Philipp seconded, to approve the February computer checks $4,732.51, the January handpayables checks $35,275.68 and January extra payroll $410,059.77. For a total of $90,007.94. Motion carried. (See reports #3.11-#3.13 attached to the Official Board Minutes.)

Superintendent Holfert gave the district revenue, expenditure and cash flow/investment report.

No patron concerns, student council reports, O.E.A. reports or classified staff reports were brought before the board.

Three teacher storm days will be made up during the summer of 1997. Ored rule inservice training.

Swenson gave a report on the street project. The board approved this project.

Kolrba moved, Gallagher seconded that School District #561 hereby converts 100% of its net tax capacity based referendum levy authority to a referendum market value basis, effective for taxes payable in 1998. Motion carried.

Philipp moved, Scheel seconded, not to support the land exchange in Moylan township. Motion carried.

1. It is necessary for the school district to hold its annual election for the purpose of electing two (2) school board members for one term to end December 31, 2000 and one term to end December 31, 2002.

2. The annual election is hereby called and directed to be held on Tuesday, May 20, 1997, between the hours of 5:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m.

3. The district polling place will be the lobby of the Goodridge School, Goodridge, Minnesota.

Motion by Scheel, seconded by Swenson. Motion carried. Three year terms expire for Philipp and Kolrba. Absentee ballots may be applied for at the Deputy Clerk's Office prior to 4:00 p.m. on Monday, May 19, 1997.

Gallagher reported on the Ric Board Meeting.

Superintendent Holfert reported on the minutes from ESV, NWCS & Links (See report #11.21), cops repealed (Report #11.22), Tom Jones and new van (Report #11.23).

The consensus of the board was to get the next regular meeting for Tuesday, March 18, 1997 at 7:00 P.M.

Meeting adjourned at 8:07 p.m.

Marlin Kolrba, Clerk-Treasurer

ATTEST:

Economist says farm real estate prices overheated

Farm real estate prices jumped sharply in 1996 but are "overheated" and not justified by crop prices, according to Steve Taff, economist with the University of Minnesota's extension service.

"One can only hope land buyers have reasons other than long-run higher crop prices," Taff said. "We have conveniently forgotten that the land price boom of the 1970s was followed by the bust in the early 1980s.

"I don't know if the cycle will repeat, but I do think buyers should think twice, then think again, before rushing into a land purchase. There are many good reasons to buy farmland, but there are some bad ones, too."

Taff's report was published in the Minnesota Agricultural Economist and is titled "1996 Farm Real Estate Prices Up Sharply." Copies are available from the Waite Library, Department of Applied Economics, University of Minnesota, St. Paul, MN 55108-6040, phone 612-625-1705.

High crop prices for corn and wheat that peaked in June of 1996 led people to think land prices would also go up, and they did. But Taff says it's too early to tell if the higher prices are more than a temporary jump. The study used data through Sept. 30, 1996, and Taff says "we won't know until next year whether land prices may have reached a new plateau, or if they'll stabilize or drop back."

"There is not one land market," he says, "there are many local land markets. There are roughly 20 million acres of farmland in Minnesota and roughly 200,000 acres are sold each year. So the turnover rate is around one percent overall—a low estimate on which to base estimates of future land prices."

In addition, the same property seldom sells more than once in several years. That means each year's sales set is made up of different properties. "All these numbers really tell us is that the average of those properties that happened to sell in 1996 is higher than the average of those that sold in 1995," the economist says.

Despite the problems of coming up with a meaningful average, Taff says he's convinced that farm real estate prices jumped sharply last year. His median price figure of $787 per acre in 1995 went to $911 in 1996.

Most of the long-run increases in average prices have been due to sales of higher-priced properties. But farm real estate at all price levels showed increases in the 1996 study.

Sgt. Frazer is back from army duty in Kuwait

Army Staff Sgt. Paul Frazer has returned from a four-month deployment training exercise termed Intrinsic Action which took place at Camp Doha, Kuwait. He is part of the 1,500-member Task Force 1-5 Black Knights from Fort Hood, TX.

The mission was to demonstrate the U.S. commitment to the security and stability in Kuwait and the Persian Gulf region at the time when Saddam Hussein mobilized Iraqi troops along the Kuwaiti border. The exercise prepares and ensures that the soldiers, armament, munitions, equipment and supplies are in top combat operational readiness to establish a deterrence to any further Iraqi aggression in that region.

Sgt. Frazer and other returning soldiers were awarded the Army Commendation Medal for demonstrating outstanding achievement or meritorious service in performance of their duties during the exercise.

A cannon fire direction chief, Sgt. Frazer is stationed in Ft. Hood. He is the son of Avis and Eugene Frazer of Goodridge and a 1975 graduate of Goodridge high school.

Lincoln high school orchestra will present its mid-winter concert Monday, March 10, at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium. Also taking part in the concert will be the sixth grade orchestra and the seventh and eighth grade orchestra from Franklin middle school.

School orchestras present Mid-winter concert Monday

Franklin middle school and Lincoln high school orchestras will be featured in the mid-winter concert Monday, March 10, at 7:30 p.m. in the Lincoln auditorium. There is no admission charge and the public is invited to attend.

Franklin's sixth grade orchestra will play Johannes Brahms' Finale from First Symphony and Jacques Offenbach's Can-Can.

The seventh and eighth grade orchestra will present Sinfonia in D Major by Johann Christian Bach, a son of Johann Sebastian Bach; the movie theme from Jurassic Park, and the Tiny Toons TV cartoon series theme.

Lincoln high school orchestra will open its concert with all four movements of Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart's Eine Kleine Nachtmusik (A Little Night Music), most likely written as background music for social gatherings in Mozart's time.

Also played will be Raiders March from the Raiders of the Lost Ark movies. Writer of movie themes from Jurassic Park, Raiders of the Lost Ark, Star Wars, E.T. and Jaws, to name a few, John Williams is known as one of the most prominent film composers today.

Final number of the evening will be the famous Bacchanale from Samson and Delilah, written by French composer Camille Saint-Saens. This presentation will include members of the Lincoln high school band and orchestra, as well as members of the Franklin seventh and eighth grade orchestra.

Derek Druse, orchestra instructor for School District 564, will conduct all three orchestras, whose members include the following (*denotes principal player)

Lincoln Orchestra

Revisions made in plans for multi-events center

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Contributions to the planning process of the Multi-Events Cultural Center have resulted in some significant changes to the plans. Monday, Joint Powers Board officials outlined the final concept to the Thief River Falls City Council, School Board for School District 564, and Pennington County Commissioners before bids on the project are let.

Just by participating and making some suggestions, individuals have made significant changes to the plans. Rick Nelson, project coordinator, explained that individuals concerned that tennis, for example, needed room for spectators resulted in their suggestion being incorporated into the project. The same was true of softball and baseball fields, and the soccer fields. Concerning the soccer fields, Jerry Prickett, asked why the fields were facing east and west when most designs and fields are set up facing north and south, so players aren't looking into the sun. That suggestion resulted in a realignment of the fields.

Nelson outlined numerous other changes to the project, including changes in the Operations and Management Agreement. As a result of some comments, a special operations council was incorporated into the agreement. The operations council will be made up of representatives from the City Parks and Recreation department, School District 564, Pennington County, Northland Community and Technical College and lessor. This council will assist in establishing the Amateur Sports Commission to promote activities in Northwest Minnesota. All final disputes will be handled by the Joint Powers Board.

As a result of discussions with numerous individuals representing various ages and interests in the community, numerous ideas for programs were expressed, including consumer shows, banquets, support groups, sports, job fairs, concerts, and many other events and activities.

Plans now call for bids to be let in March, released in late April and construction to begin in May on earthwork and site work. As far as construction on the Wellness Center, mechanical areas, and all other aspects of Phase 1, bids are expected to be let in late April, and back by late May so construction can start in June.

Construction and activities regard only Phase I of the project. Phase I includes a wellness center, softball/baseball fields, a football field, an all-weather track, tennis courts, and soccer fields. Phase II, which includes an aquatic center, was discussed Monday. Nelson said the architectural firm of Triebwasser Helenske and Associates, Ltd., had offered to hire an individual to prepare an operation and management cost analysis.

Nelson said that according to state regulations, which include MNESCU rules, a supplemental student life fee of up to $1 can be assessed. He said the Student Life Council and the Student Senate at the college discussed the matter at a number of meetings and resolved to assess a $1 fee which would be used to buy memberships at Thief River Life Center for all students signed up for 12 credits or more at the college. Nelson said he also obtained a letter from the State's Attorney General's office on the matter.

Jim Burkhalder, a citizen attending the meeting held at noon on Monday at the Evergreen Eating Emporium, said he has been approached by many people who are not in favor of the project. He wondered why, if so many were in opposition to the project, could they continue. Further he asked if a petition was started in opposition to the project, whether it would do any good. Burkholder said that it was the impression of many people that it wouldn't do any good.

Nelson and Dr. Orley Gunderson, chairman of the Joint Powers Board, said that the meetings have been open to the public and their input actively sought. Gunderson said he had not received one call or letter from the public, other than communications from Burkholder, in opposition to the project.

Nelson explained that the issue has been repeatedly reported on by local media. Joint Powers Board representatives have presented plans to civic clubs and organizations, invitations to meetings have been mailed, and public meetings held.

Burkholder objected saying that the meetings were not always held at times when the general public could attend.

Annual Farmer Merchant Mixer to be March 17

Agribusiness committee of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce will again sponsor the annual Farmer-Merchant Mixer to be held Monday, March 17, at the Eagles hall in Thief River Falls.

The mixer will begin at 5:30 p.m. and the meal menu includes ham, potato salad, beans, pickles, bread and butter, coffee and milk. One free drink ticket will be issued to each person attending.

Tickets at $8 each are being sold to business and professional people and are available from agribusiness committee members or calling the Chamber of Commerce at 681-3720. Area farmers are encouraged to attend and are admitted free of charge.

State Priority Area approval boosts area CRP applications

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

Eleventh-hour approval Friday in Washington, DC, of the Lake Agassiz Interbeach Area as a Minnesota State Conservation Priority Area will make application for the new Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) possible for landowners in a number of townships from the Canadian border south into Wilkin county.

The Minnesota Farm Service Agency Committee had requested the priority area in northwestern Minnesota due to its biodiversity and the impact of the CRP program on wildlife. The first request for a larger area was rejected, but a revised area including parts of Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake, Polk, Norman, Clay and Wilkin counties was approved at the end of the day Friday in Washington.

Landowners in the priority area are automatically permitted to make application and submit bids to have their land included under the new Conservation Reserve Program. In other areas of the counties only highly erodible land (as determined by soil types) or smaller acreages with special features will be considered for CRP contracts.

In Pennington county, the priority area includes the townships of Numedal, Norden, North, Bray, Sanders, Rocksbury, Polk Centre, Black River and River Falls.

In Red Lake county, townships in the priority area are Louisville, Wylie, Lake Pleasant, Red Lake Falls, Browns Creek, Terrebonne, Gervais and River.

Marshall county townships listed in the priority area include Augsburg, Nelson Park, Lincoln, East Park, Huntly, Wanger, Wright, West Valley, New Maine, Spruce Valley, Alma, Foldahl, Marsh Grove, New Folden, Holt, McCrea, Comstock, Viking, New Solum and Excel.

In Kittson county the priority area includes the townships of Richardville and Richardville Fraction, St. Joseph and St. Joseph Fraction, McKinley and McKinley Fraction, Caribou and Caribou Fraction, Peatland, Cannon, Percy, Poppleton, Granville, Hazelton, Klondike, Jupiter, Norway, Pelan, Arveson, Deerwood and Springbrook.

Roseau county lists the townships of Blooming Valley, Juneberry, Polonia, Dewey, Lind, Deer, Hereim, Barto and Solar as well as an unorganized township as part of the priority area.

In West Polk county the priority area townships include Fairfax, Kertsonville, Russia, Onstad, Reis, Liberty, Helgeland, Fanny, Brandt, Belgium, Parnell, Gentilly, Crookston and the portions of Brislet, Angus and Euclid east of Highway 75.

In East Polk county the townships in the priority area are Garden, Garfield, Godfrey, Grove Park, Tilden and Woodside.

With the fate of the state's request for a priority area in limbo all day Friday, personnel from the Pennington County Farm Service Agency (FSA) and the Natural Resource Conservation Service (NRCS) were compelled to speak in "ifs" at CRP information meetings in Thief River Falls and Goodridge. The morning session at the city auditorium in Thief River Falls attracted about 250 people, while the afternoon program at the community center in Goodridge drew about 100 more.

"We just got this on Wednesday," explained Glenn Schafer, director of the Pennington County Farm Service Agency, in showing the manual on the Conservation Reserve Program Friday at an informational meeting at the community center in Goodridge. Meetings in Thief River Falls and Goodridge attracted about 350 people interested in the new CRP offerings.

Procedure to follow for CRP signup

Pennington county landowners interested in enrolling land in the new Conservation Reserve Program during the March 2-28 enrollment period are advised to follow this procedure:

(1) Make an appointment by calling the Farm Service Agency (FSA) office at 681-1612.

(2) Come to the FSA office first. Landowners will need a copy of the land deed; operators must provide a copy of a lease showing land interest. Fill out crop insurance, operating and wetland/highly erodible land information. Indicate what tracts and fields will be offered for CRP. Indicate to whom and what percentages the shares will be.

(3) Go to the NRCS office (across the hall from FSA). Determine if your land is eligible, what soil types your land contains and what CRP practice you have or desire. Decide whether cost share is desired.

(4) Return to FSA office. Have the maximum rental rate calculated. Submit bid (no longer a sealed bid process). Obtain all signatures as soon as possible. Return all other forms if applicable.

(5) Contracts to successful applicants will be awarded in June 1997.

Applicants should be prepared to indicate shares, submit bid and request (or not request) cost share and obtain signatures and return all forms.

Centennial committee decommissioned

Tuesday night, the Thief River Falls City Council de-commissioned the Thief River Falls Centennial Committee. The committee, which assisted the city during its centennial, concluded its activities with a budget surplus of $18,826.82.

The committee's final actions, which were approved by the city council, included donating some of its surplus to various projects. A total of $3,500 was donated to the Gazebo debt, and, $5,000 for future celebrations, which might include a celebration in the Year 2000 or the city's 125th or 150th anniversary. The remaining souvenirs were donated to various groups promoting the city, the Chamber of Commerce, and Pioneer Village.

The committee also adopted a motion to purchase city signs with the Centennial logo and installing the sign or signs. These signs are about $5,000 each and are made of granite.

This summer the city will proceed with two projects that were set aside last year because of various problems. The council awarded a bid on modifications to the wastewater lift station 8 to Hydro Engineering Inc. of Young America. Last year when the project was put out on bids there were only two responses and were so high they were rejected. This year seven companies bid on the project and the result was described as "very good".

The council also accepted wastewater pond modification plans as developed by Bonestroo Rosene and Anderlik Engineers as presented at a public hearing on January 14. The plans include raising the dikes around the ponds by about two feet and placing rip rap (rock) around the ponds.

The city also authorized Ulteig Engineers to prepare plans and specifications for relocation of the airport's fuel farm. The plans were set aside last year at the request of government officials. Had the plans been approved last year, the project, which could cost as much as $385,000, would have qualified for a 70-30 cost-share split with the federal government with the government carrying a larger share of the cost. Due to changes in regulations, the funding split is now 50-50. Ron Lindberg, public works director, said he planned to discuss the matter with government officials hoping they will use the 70-30 funding formula.

A contract with local Teamsters was approved at the council meeting, but not without some controversy attached to the issue.

Dale Wennberg, city council representative, was concerned that two of the four members of the negotiating team for the council were not present at the committee meeting or at the city council meeting Tuesday night. Wennberg said he was not concerned that they would oppose the issue but that they have a chance to vote on the issue. (Tuesday night, three of the eight council representatives were absent.) Wennberg offered a motion to table the issue, which was seconded by Ken Schmalz. After some discussion, Schmalz withdrew his second and the motion failed for lack of a second.

Frank Hamerlinck, council representative, moved that the two year contract with Teamster Local 320 be approved. The contract calls for a 6.29 per cent overall increase in wages over the next two years. Dave Carlson, council representative, seconded the motion and it was approved. Dale Wennberg was the single dissenting voice.

The council approved a reimbursement to the Thief River Falls Senior Nutrition Council for one-half of its 1996 Senior Meal program deficit ($2,206.50).

The council approved a motion to contribute $2,500 to the Northland Community Band for 1997 program and activities. The band did not request funds last year. It performed several times in Thief River Falls during the Centennial and also assisted the Lincoln High school German club at a dinner at the Elks Club to raise money for their trip to Germany.

The band consists of about 50 musicians from many surrounding communities and of various ages. They perform as the Northland Community Band at a number of functions. Rehearsals for the band resume the first week of March. Plans are underway for a performance at the Minnesota Community College Fine Arts Festival, and a spring concert. The proceeds of the spring concert will be donated this year to the Pennington County Historical Society. The concert will be held at Pioneer Village.

Funds donated this year to the organization will help defray travel expenses, and expenses for the annual Autumn Musicale Band Festival.

Hygienic bees offer pesticide-free defense against mite threat

Honeybees are proving to be an effective pesticide alternative in battling lethal mites, according to Marla Spivak, an entomologist with the University of Minnesota's extension service.

Spivak said that hygienic bees are their own best ally in controlling the spread of Varroa mites in the United States.

"We have found a way to breed honeybees which can detect the presence of the mite on immature bees and remove then parasitized brood from the colony," she said.

Varroa mites were originally parasites of an Asian honeybee species which is able to coexist with the mites. However, the U.S. species has so far been indefensible since the mites came to the U.S. in 1987. The Varroa mite is quickly taking its toll on the honeybee population.

In Minnesota alone, Spivak said, mites have killed 90 percent of all wild honeybees and 50 percent of the managed ones over the last decade. This poses a serious threat to agricultural crops and hive products, such as honey.

"Honeybees are critical for pollinating the plants that supply one-third of our diet," Spivak said, "and they have made Minnesota one of the top five honey-producing states in the nation. Because of the mite destruction, there is now a shortage of bee colonies. Bees can no longer be taken for granted."

Spivak's work has given hope for a solution, however. She found that certain bees possess an unexplainable ability to naturally detect and remove the parasitized brood from within their nest cells. In fact, these hygienic bee colonies can remove up to 70 percent of infested brood, which interrupts the mites' reproductive cycle. However, if left alone, the parasitized, immature bee will develop with deformities and will have a shorter lifespan.

"The mites will always be there with the bees," Spivak said. "We're just hoping to find bees that tolerate mites better."

Ten percent of all existing U.S. honeybees are estimated to be hygienic. Spivak hopes to transfer her breeding technology to beekeepers so that they can raise this figure. She says that the efforts are relatively small, given the economic rewards available to bee producers. Bee breeders need only two or three seasons to develop an effective force of mite combatants.

Spivak says that hygienic behavior is not the only defense against mites, but hygienic bees have an added benefit. They are also resistant to dangerous bacterial and fungal disease in immature bees.

The ultimate goal is to reduce the amount of pesticide currently used by beekeepers. This will lower operating costs and eliminate the risk of contaminating hive products. It will also avoid the danger of mites developing resistance to the pesticide.

"This is a solid, sustainable approach," Spivak said. "Instead of the short-term pesticide approach which can carry long-term, negative consequences."

Leukemia Society receives pennies from St. Bernard's

Students at St. Bernard's school in Thief River Falls collected $306.52 in pennies and donated them to the Minnesota chapter of the Leukemia Society of America, according to Sister Kathy Kuchar, principal.

All seven classrooms at the school participated in the statewide Pennies for Patients program during February as students collected their pennies and dropped them off at school.

"During our collection we especially remembered Jean Lindquist of Oklee, a friend of our first grade instructor, Mrs. Shelly Burkel, who was diagnosed with leukemia in the summer of 1995," Sister Kathy said.

"Students in Minnesota continue to show great concern for their communities and for those people who are battling leukemia," states Murray Schmidt, executive director of the Minnesota chapter. "We appreciate the leadership of the students. The money they raised will help us cure this form of cancer that strikes the blood-forming tissues in children and adults."

Local USDA program helps cut health costs

A total of 540 children in Pennington County benefit from early nutrition education that helps them establish life long positive eating habits that will improve the quality of their diets and help cut health care costs.

The week of March 16-22 has been formally designated as National Child and Adult Care Food Program Week. This designation is intended to highlight the contributions and benefits of the USDA Child and Adult Care Food Program (CACFP) to the local community. The primary goal of the program is to serve nutritious meals to children in child care.

Secondary goals are the establishment of positive eating habits at the earliest stages of development, the reduction of future health care and education costs due to lack of proper early development and support of local child care professionals.

Support your local family child care providers who participate on the CACFP by enrolling your child in a home that participates on this program or by recognizing your provider for the nutritious meals and the education your child receives from the CACFP.

Providers Choice, Inc., a non-profit sponsor of the CACFP joins with the 54 family child care providers in Pennington county celebrating the many ways the community benefits during National CACFP week. For more information about the CACFP contact Providers Choice, Inc., at 612-944-7010 or 1-800-356-5983.

Annette's Fabrics to offer spring sewing classes

People enjoy sewing many different types of things. This is why Annette's Fabrics has expanded the class topics to other things besides quilting. Annette's Fabrics offers a variety of different quilting classes too. Some of the new topics added are: Make your Own Bridal Veil, Shirt Painting, and a Lined Jacket.

Spring classes are scheduled as follows:

- Learn some shortcuts involved in sewing a lined jacket for yourself in the Lined Jacket Class being taught on three Thursday nights, March 6, 13 and 20 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. by Lois Steiger.
- The Kaleidoscope Quilt Class taught by Sue Dupree is being taught on five consecutive Tuesday nights beginning Tuesday, March 11 from 7 to 9 p.m. This quilt gets its name from a child's kaleidoscope. This block dates back to the 1930's.
- Thing spring, sew the spring star quilt during this class beginning Monday, March 17, taught by Marilyn Harstad. This class meets five Monday nights from 7 to 9 p.m.
- Take a Shirt Painting Class with Jan Kramer on Thursday, April 3 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Jan teaches application of paint transfers, brush painting techniques, along with embellishing techniques.
- Learn the techniques of Paper Piecing. Sew a flower garden using paper foundation piecing. It is a one day class on Saturday, April 5 from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. and continuing from 1 to 3 p.m., taught by Sue Dupree.
- Tulips are a favorite spring flower, also a favorite block to piece together into a table runner or wall hanging. This is an easy one to sew. This class, taught by Dawn Peterson, starts Thursday, April 10 at 6:30 p.m. The second session is the following Thursday, April 17 at the same time 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.
- Sew a quilt on two Saturdays with Sue Dupree. The Bits and Pieces Quilt Class is being taught Saturday, April 19 and 26. The times on both Saturdays are 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. and continuing from 1 to 4 p.m. Bits and Pieces is similar to the Irish Chain, the difference is the construction of the blocks and the use of more fabrics than the Irish Chain.
- Make your own bridal veil during a class taught by Jan Kramer on Thursday, April 24 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Jan has lots of tips on making bridal veils.

To register for any of these classes call 681-3501 or stop by Annette's Fabrics at 212 East Third Street. Samples of the items to be made in the classes are on display at Annette's Fabrics along with a list of materials requested to bring to class.

Pre-registration is required. Class fee should be paid at the time of registration. Annette's Fabrics reserves the right to cancel classes if minimum enrollment is not met five days prior to class date.

Child and teen checkups available through Inter-County Nursing Service in Pennington and Red Lake Counties

Inter-County Nursing Service will be offering monthly Child and Teen Checkups in both Pennington and Red Lake Counties. The next clinic in Pennington County will be held March 13. The next clinic in Red Lake County will be held March 19. Call 681-5950 or 253-4378 to schedule an appointment in your county.

Child and Teen Checkups is the name for the Early Periodic Screening, Diagnosis and Treatment Program. All Medical Assistance/MNCARE enrolled children ages 0 to 21 should get regular Child and Teen Checkups. Sometimes it is hard to tell if your child or teen has a health problem or is just going through a "stage." That's why it is important to have regular checkups. Your doctor or nurse can help you to understand your child's health needs better. Regular checkups help spot problems early before you child gets behind.

When you make an appointment with your doctor of public health clinic for a Child and Teen Checkup your child or teen should receive all of the following:

- Vision and hearing check
- Laboratory tests, including lead, blood and urine as needed
- Immunizations if needed
- A complete physical exam
- Health education and counseling about healthy lifestyles
- Nutrition check
- Developmental check
- Other checks you need

If health problems are found at the Child and Teen Checkup, your child or teen will be referred for further treatment. If you child is enrolled in a prepaid health plan, your child must get a Child and Teen Checkup from that health plan.

Your child or teen should go to a doctor of public health clinic for a checkup at least at the following ages:

- Between birth and 1 month
- 2 months, 4 months, 6 months
- 9 months, 12 months
- 15 months, 18 months
- 2 years, 3 years, 4 years, 5 years, 6 years
- Every 2 years after 6 years of age

Be sure to ask for a Child and Teen Checkup. Of course, if there are health problems you will want to have checkups more often. You will receive a reminder when your child or teen is due for the next checkup. Please make an appointment right away.

Children and teens should see a dentist for regular dental checkups starting at age three. You may need to make an appointment earlier if you notice cavities or have concerns about your child's teeth. Your child should receive a dental exam, cleaning of the teeth and an appointment for further treatment if needed.

If your child needs a physical examination for school, daycare, camp, WIC, a job or for any other reason, ask for a Child and Teen Checkup.

A Child and Teen Checkup covers more services than most athletic or work physicals. So your child can get a thorough physical and also get forms for WIC, school or a job.

If you need help finding a doctor of a dentist call the Inter-County Nursing service at 681-5950 for more information. Counties are required to help you scheduled an appointment and/or find transportation. You may receive a phone call from the public health nurse asking if you would like help in finding these services.

Medical assistance will pay for checkups for eligible children as will Minnesota Care. Follow-up diagnosis and treatment will also be covered by these programs. For everyone else, major insurance companies can be billed or a sliding fee is available.

Four area students will participate in Grand Forks Symphony Friday, March 7

Four area students will be among the individuals participating in the Greater Grand Forks Symphony and Youth Symphony performance March 7 at the Chester Fritz. Elizabeth and Erica Bengston, daughters of Phillip and Janelle Bengtson of Kennedy, and Benji and Danny Sayler, sons of Ben and Marilyne Sayler of Thief River Falls will be participating in the Greater Grand Forks Youth Symphony.

Through the generous support of the Myra Foundation, the Greater Grand Forks Symphony Orchestra and the Greater Grand Forks Youth Symphony will present a full day of music celebrating, teachers, youth, and families. The daytime performances are adapted in length and content for young audiences.

Nearly 1,000 students from area schools will be in attendance. These performances are open to the general public as well at a cost of $1 per ticket for children of all ages and $5 for adults. The evening performance will be a full length concert. Tickets for the evening performance are also available at the Chester Fritz Auditorium, $5 for students and $10 for adults. Children 12 and under are free for the evening concert only. The Greater Grand Forks Symphony Orchestra is offering a special family ticket for this event at $25.

The program for this concert is exciting and varied. The adult orchestra will play Musorgsky's Pictures at an Exhibition with the creative help of area sixth graders whose artworks, interpreting the musical scenes of this famous work, will be projected on stage while the orchestra plays. The scenes in Musorgsky's Pictures at an Exhibition include: Gnomes, The Castle, Children after Play, The Ox Cart, Ballet of the Chickens, Catacombae, The Hut on Chicken's Claws, and the Gates of Kiev. While only 20 works will be shown on stage, all of the artworks submitted by children will be part of a special exhibition in the Chester Fritz Lobby throughout the day of the concert.

The orchestra will also feature the winner of the 1997 Young Artist Competition, Violinist David Gillham playing Concerto for Violin in D by Tchaikovsky. Gillham will be presented with a scholarship given by Lee Barnum in memory of her husband Elton L. Barnum and matched by the Myra Foundation. The second and third place winners will also receive a cash prize sponsored by Mrs. Barnum and matched by the Myra Foundation.

The Greater Grand Forks Youth Orchestra will then join the adult orchestra for a side-by-side performance of Hnydn's Surprise Symphony (Movt. No. 1). The Youth Orchestra will continue with a medley of music from the motion picture Dances With Wolves, as well as other pieces from the classic repertoire.

Recently crowned sweetheart queen and king at Oakland Park Nursing Home for 1997 were Teckle Willett and Lavern Johnson. Teckle has been at OPNH since November of 1994 and Lavern has been a resident since October of 1996. A program and luncheon were part of the afternoon's activities.

Local businesses urged to sponsor Daffodil Days

Local businesses are being encouraged to participate in Daffodil Days this year.

Daffodil Days will be held March 11-17 this year. Local volunteers, under the direction of Pennington County American Cancer Society Daffodil Chairperson, Lucy Aasland, have been contacting hundreds of businesses.

Last year, the Pennington County American Cancer Society raised about $10,000 in donations for the flowers and it hopes to do equally well this year. Money raised during the fund-drive helps fund national cancer research, in addition to educational and patient service programs locally. Last year in Pennington county, 53 cancer patients or their families, received medical equipment, supplies, travel reimbursements, along with support from other cancer survivors. However, the total cost of the benefits received was greater than that which the organization was able to raise.

The minimum donation for a business to become a sponsor is $50. The local unit will print the name of that business on 50 cards to be distributed with the bunches of daffodils it sells. For a $75 donation, 75 cards would be distributed, and 100 cards for a $100 donation.

If a business has not been contacted or wishes to make a donation through a sponsorship, please call Lucy Aasland at 681-4033.

After a wedding trip to the North Shore, the couple is at home in Hibbing where the groom is employed with Hibbing Electronics and the bride is employed with Arrowhead Promotions.

ON MY MIND

Kim Chadwick-Quade

They Put Their Knowledge To The Test

Name the order issued by a judge that seeks to preserve a defendant's right to a fair trial?

Which layer of the sun's atmosphere is between the corona and the photosphere?

In 1995, the United Nations had been in existence for how many years?

This is just a sampling of the questions posed to students participating in the Knowledge Bowl, a statewide program coordinated by the Minnesota Service Cooperatives. Knowledge Bowls are academic contests where teams of students compete in written and oral rounds by answering questions related to all areas of learning.

In Thief River Falls, Lincoln High School math teacher Angie Hoglo coaches the Knowledge Bowl team and has for six years. This year, she says, approximately 10 students participate in the three-times-a-week practices.

During competition this year, Angie brings five students - enough for one team. They're selected on the basis of scores from a test she administers each week. At the contest, all five students take part in the 60-question written round. Then, teams of four answer 45 questions in each of four oral rounds.

The key to the oral rounds and one that they practice constantly, Angie says, is the buzzer. As an adult reads the question, three competing teams try to "buzz in" if they think they know the answer. The first team to hit the buzzer has 15 seconds to discuss the subject among themselves and provide an answer.

The questions cover a variety of subjects — from math to science, sports, current events, history, geography and more.

And that's what coach Angie likes about Knowledge Bowl. Because of the wide array of topics, anybody can be involved.

"I'm so excited about Knowledge Bowl," she says. "The students I work with are just wonderful. They're top-notch and well-disciplined."

One of these students is Lincoln High senior Reid Froiland, who's participated in Knowledge Bowl for three years. "I like the competition factor," Reid says. "It's one of the competitions I can actually be involved in."

"It's a lot of knowledge and you have to be well-versed in a lot of subjects," he says. His strong subjects are math, music and grammar while teammate Kate Ihle, also a senior, says she does well with literature and culture questions.

Practice begins after the Christmas break with the local competitions taking place from January through March and subregions, regions and state to follow.

So far the team is encouraged with their success, earning first or second place in a number of local meets. They continue to practice and compete, never knowing what will be asked.

Try, for example:

A very small painting is called a ______?

The National Security Act of 1947 established the National Security Council and what major federal agency?

Who in 1996 tearfully confessed on her morning talk show that her WalMart outfits were made by Honduran girls paid 31 cents an hour?

Don't know? Ask the Knowledge Bowl students.

Northland Retired Educators to meet

Presenter for the afternoon will be Al Sollom, he will display a group of his wood carvings and explain his work. A business meeting will follow. All area retired educators are invited to attend.

SPEAKING OF

Sherry LaCoursiere

. . . Don't Want To Repeat Myself, But . . .

Since I've already aired my views on closing schools early during storms in a previous column, I won't repeat myself - it appears that my statements fell on deaf ears anyway, judging by Monday's "too late" closing - ours being the last school to close in the area.

Since I stated my fears that children would end up weathering the storm in school in a previous column, I won't repeat myself - it appears that my fears came true when five school buses were forced to return children to their schools during Monday's storm. I'm sure the teachers who had to stay at the schools with the children were not too happy about that, either.

Since I voiced my fears that "something worse" might have to happen in a previous column, I won't repeat myself, but how many of those five buses were stuck - very stuck - in those two and one-half hours before they turned back to the schools? I know that at least one of those buses nearly overturned in a ditch and some of the children were slightly hurt. Many frightened children were returned to their classrooms Monday evening. There is no excuse for such things.

Oh, no, let's not jump up and blame the bus drivers. Bus drivers are out there doing their very best in this weather. They are very aware that they are carrying precious cargo and they do the best they can, but they must do what they are told by the administration.

No doubt the drivers know better than anyone what the roads will be like in a blizzard and no doubt they would just as soon not take a chance in driving buses full of children on the county roads in weather like what we had on Monday, but what can they do? Does anyone ask them what they think! Do their opinions matter? It doesn't appear so. Even though the most sensible thing to do would be to ask for input from the bus drivers who drive the roads every day and know them well, it doesn't appear that the most sensible thing is being done in the school district.

What happens to the children when a bus slides into a ditch? Of course their seat belts will keep them from being hurt - NOT! School buses do not have seat belts in Minnesota. The children are bounced around like raisins in a box with nothing to hold them in their seats. Minnesota law states that drivers and passengers must be belted in their motor vehicles - but vehicles that transport dozens of our young children are not required to have seat belts - what is this?

Why are there no seat belts on school buses? I really would like to know. Is there some safety reason that would make them dangerous? According to a commercial bus driver I spoke with, there might be a problem with the higher head space on buses - in a roll over, seat belts could leave people hanging. This is something to think about. Also, he said it would be a problem keeping the children belted in on a bus, children being children and bouncing around and all. It might even be necessary to have a supervisor on each bus (never mind some of the horror stories I have heard about the actions of bullies on the buses who could certainly use some supervision - that is another story). This is also something to think about. Then there is the problem with all of those dangling belts and the time it would take to buckle the children into the belts and make sure they each got the right belt in the right buckle.

Then, too, there is the expense of putting seat belts in school buses. It would take a lot of money. Gee, isn't the state presently pondering what to do with an excess of money in their coffers - money that was accumulated from tax payments of the citizens of this state? Maybe we should use it to protect our children, or at least do some sort of investigation on whether or not seat belts would be beneficial in school buses.

Lest I repeat myself, I won't say any more about closing schools during storms (until next year). And I certainly won't say "I told you so" about the children staying in school Monday afternoon - lest I repeat myself.

Thief River Falls Community Arts Council is seeking new members

The Thief River Falls Community Arts Council recently met on February 10 at the Evergreen Eating Emporium for their annual meeting. Entertainment for the meeting consisted of several songs and a small theater selection.

They are hoping to put on three events per year including a musical, a drama and a madrigal dinner. This year their musical will be "Song of Mark" which will show around December. This year they will also be involving children in the musical, which will be a first for the council. The musical is planned to be performed at St. Bernard's Church.

It began in the early 1970's as a visual arts council by a group of 10 or 12 individuals. Some of those persons include Gretchen Beito, Roger Vaughn, Les Torgerson, Justice Larson, Dee Forney, Pat Dunning and Mike Trudeau to name a few.

The Community Arts Council was set up as an umbrella organization for all of the arts, including music, drama and literature. They started helping to put on and fund activities.

By the mid 1980's, the Community Arts Council started to dissolve. For three or four years, the council remained pretty much dormant, until about a year ago when Diane Johnson approached Jim Strandlie who was president at the time.

The position of president more or less fell into Strandlie's hands when he wanted to direct a play and was asked to be president. When Johnson approached him, she wanted to get the group to be active again.

Presently there are 12 active members. These members include: Dan Bartsch, Jane Anderson, Jim Strandlie, Diane Johnson, Kathy Olson, Rob Burkel, Nanci Kezar, Jan Strandlie, Kari Frisch, Deb Jacobson, Jan Peterson and Janet Haack-Aarness.

At this point Strandlie says it's hard to tell how many people will want to be involved in the council. Members can either be active or just support with monetary donations. Membership dues are a great way to support the council even if one doesn't want to be active in the group.

Membership dues go towards production costs. All members are volunteers and do not get paid to perform. Being a member is one way to get activites open to the public and keep costs down.

Anyone interested in being either an active or non-active member may contact the Community Arts Council by writing to PO Box 207, Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

Jaki Weleski and Jason Ortmeier to wed

Jaki Weleski and Jason Ortmeier are proud to announce their engagement.

Jaki is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Weleski of Thief River Falls. Jason is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ortmeier of Minneapolis.

The bride-to-be is a 1990 graduate of Lincoln High School, 1995 graduate of University of North Dakota, Grond Forks, and a 1996 graduate of Northwest Technical College, East Grand Forks. She is currently a surgical technician at Fairview Southdale. The groom-to-be is a 1992 graduate of Washburn High School, Minneapolis, 1996 graduate of University of North Dakota, Grand Forks, and is currently attending University of St. Thomas for a Masters Degree in counseling psychology.

Happy "21st" Patsy!!

Love From Your Family

We Can't Believe You're Six Years Old Either!!

ON THE OTHER HAND

Aaron Furuseth
Lincoln High School

I usually love movies, from the cheesy 80's pointless humor to Mel Gibson's "Braveheart." I watch a lot of movies. There is almost always one constant in my choices. I know something about the movie before I rent it or throw away my five bucks on it. "Scream" was a change. I won't go into the whole," as soon as I sat down I knew that something was not right." It was not like that. I was with my girlfriend; I was ready to have an enjoyable time. I didn't.

It began innocently enough I thought. "Hey, this might turn out to be an all right show. I am interested in this first woman, and her situation." But not more than seven minutes later my tune had changed. "Scream" took a turn for the worst by slaughtering two people in the first 15 minutes. Not just, "Oh, gee, did they die, cuz they didn't show anything but a stabbing shadow." No, it was more like, "Hummm, I have seen enough of that girl's blood to see that she could have filled a blood bank with B+." Throughout the whole movie I felt nothing but a prevailing nausea at not having left the theater after the first fifteen minutes and a feeling of having seen an older version of this movie before.

"Scream" follows a "Classic" horror film script. That is the typical, "Oh no, Johnny, don't go outside the killer might be out there," whispers the huxom, scantily clad, helpless teen.

"What do you mean, Jenny?" says Joe Blow athletic man. "Don't worry because I will protect- .. auggg!!!" (Boyfriend dies dramatically in the shadows.)

The only difference in the new version is the pointless scenes of graphic violence. It was not only the most plotless, pointless and tacky show that I have ever seen, it was also provoking of negative thoughts about its creators.

"Scream" made me sad. I think it did so because I thought about people who supposedly have talent and obviously have the power to make movies. What has happened to us as individuals and as a society when we can be spoon fed this sort of pointless "entertainment!" My faith is one of the main reasons that "Scream" bothered and upset me so much, even people who don't have a "faith" should have a better sense of self worth and values than to waste time and money on that sort of show. I could have understood "Scream" a bit more if it was a spoof or a truly original plot, but all it gave was a recycled storyline with no point and horrid graphic scenes of blood and killing with no remorse. If this is the point that America is at today, I shudder to think what our future is going to be.

For me "Scream" was the last straw. Thinking both of myself and of my future family and children, I vow to take a stand now against the pointlessness of movies like "Scream." I will use my time, money and mind in more constructive ways. I will stay away from this sort of "entertainment" as much as I can. I hope that my peers who are reading this agree with me. We have to realize that junk like this is only popular because we let it be. It is time to take a stand. "Scream" hurt me and I don't want it to hurt anyone else.

TOPS takes off 83 pounds in 1996

TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) Minnesota #1582 of Goodridge had a total loss of 83 3/4 pounds for the year of 1996 with a total of 41 1/2 inches lost for 1996. This is considered a good total loss for the club.

The club invites anyone to come to their meetings to see what they can do you. They meet Saturday mornings at 8:15 a.m. at the home of Donna Horachek in Highlanding. Please call 378-4338, 796-4644 or 268-4636 for more information about the club.

Scholarship for nurses available

A $250 scholarship is available for registered nurses working towards an advanced degree in nursing. The scholarship is offered by the nurse's week planning committee in Thief River Falls.

The Nancy Johnson Nursing Scholarsh is named in honor of the late Nancy Johnson, Crookston. Her vision, enthusiasm, and support of the profession of nursing will serve as a rule model for all nurses.

Anyone interested in obtaining an application for the scholarship or receiving more information should contact Brenda Russ at 218-681-8645 or write to Route 6, Box 328, Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

The deadline for applications is April 1, 1997.

Classical Music Showcase Mar. 9

The March meeting of the Classical Music Showcase of Talent for and by area young people will be held Sunday, March 9 at the Embassy Community Center in Fosston at 3 p.m.

Scott Vogel, band instructor at Mahnomen High School, will be the adult guest for the day. Patty Polansky of Fosston will bring the day's "ice breaker" activity designed to make the young people more comfortable and be a learning experience as well. The showcase will again offer a cash drawing for one of the students participating. Refreshments will be served.

No pre-registration is required. All who are interested may attend. For more information contact R.C. Koehler at 435-6510 evenings or 1-800-317-2934.

Parenting Classes still available

A parenting class entitled "Parenting teens" will be held in the meeting room at the Northwest Regional Library.

While the series has already begun, each session is self-contained so all interested people are invited to come at any time. These classes will be running from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. on Monday, March 17 and 24. Upcoming topics include "School: Helping Your Kids Measure Up" – and "Building Christian Faith in Your Kids". Discussion is led by Rev. Bill Kerr of the Thief River Falls United Methodist Church.

Everyone is welcome to attend this parenting class. Please call 681-4388 for further information.

Local students participate in Dorian Vocal Festival

Paul Dehnert, Heidi Johnson, Belle Lenius and Kyle Rokke of Thief River Falls were among the many students participating in the 1997 Dorian Vocal Festival January 12-13 at Luther College.

More than 1,300 high school vocal students from a six-state area took part in Luther's 47th annual vocal music festival for students in grades 9-12.

The Dorian Festival is a two-day music education program at Luther.

Survey shows Alternative Ed. Center fill needs

Results of the recent Minnesota Student Survey of adolescents in state alternative schools and area learning centers show that students are reporting positive experiences and are three times as likely as students in traditional schools to believe their teachers are interested in them. These positive assessments of their alternative education experience are especially meaningful in light of the reality that many of these students are at risk for a variety of problems, many have had serious problems, and many were not successful in the traditional school environment. The survey shows students in alternative education centers are much more likely to be victims of physical, sexual and substance abuse at home.

The survey, administered every three years by the Minnesota Department of Children, Families and Learning to adolescents in traditional schools, was administered in 1996 to 3,765 voluntary participants in 86 alternative education centers by the Minnesota Department of Human Services (DHS) Performance Measurement and Quality Improvement Division. Alternative education centers are designed for students who are behind in school work, have dropped out or been expelled from traditional public schools, need assistance with personal or social problems, or require a more flexible learning environment.

"The survey shows students in alternative education centers are twice as likely as students in traditional schools to say teachers show respect for them, and their positive reactions extend to their fellow students as well," said Patricia Harrison, Ph.D., supervisor of the DHS unit which conducted the survey.

To get an accurate comparison, adolescents in alternative schools were matched with randomly selected adolescents of the same gender and age from traditional public schools. In the study, compared with students in traditional schools, students in alternative education centers were:

- twice as likely to have experienced family substance abuse;
- twice as likely to report suicide attempts (41 per cent of females and 23 per cent of males);
- five times more likely to smoke cigarettes;
- Two-and-one-half times more likely to use marijuana, four times more likely to use LSD, and two to seven times more likely to use other illicit drugs.

"The results of the survey support the need for alternative education centers," said Harrison. "One of the recommendations of the study is that programs serving adolescents in alternative education centers capitalize on the positive relationships between teachers and students."

Other recommendations include:

- establish referral networks in alternative education centers for assessment and treatment of problems such as substance abuse and physical and sexual abuse;
- make training available for alternative education center staff so they are able to identify students at risk for mental health and substance abuse problems, and make referrals for services for students in need;
- expand collaborative efforts between alternative education centers, county social service agencies, mental health centers and substance abuse treatment centers to best serve students' needs;
- develop new or improved curriculum to address responsible sexual behavior.

The survey is part of a series of studies funded by the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration, Center for Substance Abuse Treatment, to study treatment needs for at-risk adolescents in a variety of settings.

TIMES FOR TODDLERS

ACTIVITIES
Easter Egg-citement
Bunny Hop

Tape paper cut out footprints to the floor and have the children hop from print to print. You may want to keep the footprint patterns available for future use.

The following songs and fingerplays can be used during the upcoming Easter season (maybe while you're playing the hopping game above).

Oh, Can You Find the Easter Eggs?
(Tune: "Oh, Do You Know the Muffin Man?")

Oh, can you find the Easter eggs,
the Easter eggs, the Easter eggs?
Oh, can you find the Easter eggs,
Hiding all around.

Hop, Hop, Hippity Hop
(Tune: "Skip to My Lou")

Hop, little bunnies, hippity hop
Hop, little bunnies, hippity hop
Hop, little bunnies, hippity hop
Let's all hop like bunnies!

Hop, hop, hippity hop
Hop, hop, hippity hop
Hop, hop, hippity hop
Let's all hop like bunnies!

SCAVENGER HUNT

For next week's Activities feature, you will need an empty egg carton and jelly beans.

BOOK OF THE WEEK

The Thief River Falls public library invites you to browse through its new selection of children's books including the following:

Hoban, Tana. Who Are They? Illustrated in silhouettes, this book shows families of animals and allows children and parents the opportunity to talk about families of all kinds.

DePaola, Tomie. Strega Nona: Her Story. Tomie DePaola's book, Strega Nona was a 1976 Caldecott award winner and inspired four other books about Strega Nona, all of which were made into musical productions by The Children's Theater Company of Minneapolis. However he was constantly asked on book tours how Strega Noaa came to a strega and what her life as a child was like. This long-awaited book, DePaola's explanation to those questions, is sure to be a winner with young and old for many years to come.

VIDEO VARIETY

Barney's Songs. More than 50 minutes of sing-along songs for children, ages one to eight, are included in this video featuring television's singing dinosaur Barney and his friends. Some of the songs are old favorites and some will become new favorites for the young crowd.

MAGAZINE MENTION

Are the cold days getting your children down? Why not challenge their imagination with the eleven different art projects found in the March issue of Family Fun magazine? You can find out how to make sandwiches into artistic masterpieces or make a whale water scoop out of a plastic milk jug or make an edible cracker castle and more. All projects call for supplies you will probably already have on hand at home.

Remember that the Thief River Falls public library has preschool storytimes every Wednesday from 11:15 to 11:45 a.m. These are co-sponsored by the Thief River Falls ECFE and Learning Readiness. Also remember to check out the parenting corner by the children's room for new information and helpful hints for busy parents on books, reading and much more.

PARENTING TIPS
Learning From Mistakes

No matter how hard they try, sometimes children make mistakes. Whether your child has done a good job or has failed, try to focus on what it is he has done rather than on him personally. For example, if he remembers to wipe his feet before coming into the house, thank him for wiping his feet, rather than simply telling him that he's a "good boy."

Telling him he's a "good boy" doesn't help build his self-confidence. It makes him dependent on your judgement.

The other side of this example is that if he were to forget to wipe his feet, tell him you're upset when he does that because then you have to clean it up. This statement focuses on what he did, not what he is or is not.

Don't tell him he's a "dumb, sloppy person." Such generalized blame and criticism only cause feelings of guilt. It destroys self-confidence and doesn't teach better behavior.

If you learn to say what you mean and mean what you say, you'll help your child learn from his mistakes and at the same time, feel good about himself rather than feeling he's a bad person for making mistakes.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Be specific when you praise your child. Rather than saying "Good boy" say "I like the way you remembered to hang up your jacket."

Grades 3-6 invited to participate with "Kids on Disney"

Students in grades three through six at Challenger elementary and Franklin middle school in Thief River Falls are invited to audition for parts in "Kids on Disney," an after-school arts program designed to incorporate music, dance and creative dramatics into an hour-long production to be presented May 10 and 11 (Mother's Day weekend).

Kari Frisch and Kristin Buckley are conducting the program in cooperation with the School District 564 community education department through a grant from the school district and the Youth Development Committee.

Auditions for the program will be conducted at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 18, in the room used by Marcia Knutila's music students at Challenger school. Parents are encouraged to stay for the audition process which will follow an informational meeting with parents and students to discuss the program.

"Because of the limited rehearsal time, we need to emphasize that being selected means a major time commitment for both the student and parent," Frisch said. "Rehearsals will be conducted in the Challenger music room from 3:20 to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Buses will bring Franklin students to Challenger but parents will be responsible for picking them up at 5:30 p.m. following each rehearsal session."

In a letter being distributed to parents this week, a schedule is provided for parents to review before their child auditions. Attendance at rehearsals will be mandatory because a great deal of music and choreography must be learned in a short amount of time. Buckley and Frisch are emphasizing the time commitment in advance in the hopes of avoiding problems later.

At the auditions, students will learn a short piece of choreography as a group and the musical selections chosen to test voice range, quality and intonation. Small groups will then be arranged for testing.

Presentation of the hour-long children's vaudeville show with lots of music, choreography and creative dramatics is planned for Saturday evening, May 10 and Sunday afternoon, May 11.

The directors also add that although there is not expected to be any expense to individual students participating, they will need help from parents with all the "extras" that are involved in putting on a production.

Frisch has lived in the Thief River Falls area for five years and graduated from the University of North Dakota last year with a Master of Arts degree in theatre. She organized the local dinner theatre productions of "Nunsense" and "Nunsense II."

Buckley is in her third year as the music instructor for the Goodridge school system. She is a graduate of Concordia College and lives in Thief River Falls.

Parents with questions which must be answered prior to the March 18 audition meeting may contact Frisch at 681-6604 or Buckley at 681-7280.

Fixing state welfare system has challenge as well as opportunity

"With the welfare reform bill passed by the last Congress and signed into law by President Clinton, our country has made the most fundamental change in welfare policy in over 60 years," notes Sen. LeRoy Stumpf of Thief River Falls.

"However, this historic change isn't the end. In many ways, it's just the beginning," he said. "The bill passed by Congress also requires states to reform the way they deliver welfare to their citizens. While Minnesota is ahead of other states due to several public assistance demonstration programs that have been going on for several years now, the state still has a great deal of work to do and some tough decisions to make in the months ahead."

Sen. Stumpf said he is glad that some much-needed changes were finally made.

"I know that the people of our area work hard for a living," he said. "In so many families, both parents have to work full-time just to make ends meet. It was especially unfair to these folks that a few others could draw a government welfare check with little or no inducement to get a job and support themselves."

Some of the changes made in the last session of Congress include a lifetime limit of five years of direct cash assistance; two-parent families must work at least 35 hours a week, or 55 hours if they are receiving federally-funded daycare; single parents must work 20 hours per week beginning in 1997 and 30 hours per week in 2000. Those who refuse to work will have their assistance reduced.

"Still, I do have some misgivings about certain areas of the new federal welfare reform policy," Sen. Stumpf said, "such as the substantial penalties to states which do not reach difficult work participation scales; a shortage of child care money for working families; and strong state incentives to quit assisting poor families who are already working.

"Nationwide $3 billion is cut from child nutrition programs. Food stamp funds are reduced by 20 percent over six years through such accounting shifts as counting the cost of home heating assistance given to the elderly poor as part of their income. The state has no say whatsoever in determining who may be eligible for food stamps.

"Perhaps the most disappointed federal restriction of all, however," he added, "is the one-year limit on education counting as 'work' under these new rules. There have been many people who have fallen on bad times, received assistance to go to school, and then permanently lifted themselves to self-sufficiency and prosperity.

"By obtaining a technical or college education, many welfare recipients have been able to get living wage jobs. The new federal rule could have the effect of relegating the poor to low-paying jobs for the rest of their lives, depriving them of the chance to become truly self-sufficient, just the same as the old system did."

Stumpf said there are many people at the State Capitol who insist that everything is now better because of the new federal law. There are many others who insist that "the sky is falling" on the poor because of the changes.

"I believe that the truth, as usual, is somewhere in the middle," Sen. Stumpf said.

The senator noted that what Minnesota is likely to do is work from a successful project called the Minnesota Family Investment Plan (MFIP). This demonstration program was designed in the mid 1980s and has been running as a welfare reform demonstration project for the past several years in several Minnesota counties.

"The people on MFIP, randomly selected from the AFDC population in the trial counties, were required to take part in MFIP or else lose a percentage of their award," Sen. Stump edded. "The results give us good reason to believe that we should take the program statewide. MFIP includes a good mix of incentives and penalties to facilitate greater self-sufficiency among the poor.

"As Minnesota makes the necessary changes to come into conformity with the new federal laws, there will likely be some good results and some not-so-good results. I welcome most of these changes. Some ingenuity is required by our state to truly devise a system of temporary support that will help the poor become self-sufficient forever. Only then can we say that we have 'ended welfare as we know it.'"

The sunny days and moonlight [illegible] reached northwest Minnesota about the time I returned Saturday morning, just as I thought they would. The only difference was the cold that Canada sent down here in some places around the area the temperature was down to 25 below, but Roy said none of his 4 thermometers got quite that far. The indoor/outdoor was down to 23. He always has to be sure he's correct. The wind from the south last night is sending the cold back to Canada and it is now above zero.

representative, said that they tried meetings at night but no one attended. She also said that when they held those meetings she specifically tried to contact Burkholder to make sure he knew about the meetings.

Nelson noted that many people had been able to attend meetings and had made significant contributions.

Jean Heinrichs, city council representative, asked what the petition would say. Would it say, for example, that we should give the money back and the government should ignore this part of the state, she asked.

Gunderson said that he was very proud of what the people in this room were doing. "I believe we're 1,000 per cent right in what we're doing," Gunderson said. He said communities like Thief River Falls need to do these sorts of progressive things to survive.

Gunderson also said that he heard what Burkholder was saying, but he didn't understand it.

Ag committee approves bill for funding of scab research

A bill to appropriate $1.624 million to scab and vomitoxin research at the University of Minnesota in the 1998-99 biennium was passed unanimously February 18 by the 15-member Minnesota Senate Agriculture committee.

Sen. LeRoy Stumpf of Thief River Falls and Sen. Roger Moe of Erskine were among the five authors of the bill which now moves to the higher education division of the Senate Education committee. That committee will take up the bill and other items on the U of M budget in April.

A companion bill on scab research funding will have its first hearing in the Minnesota House Agriculture committee in the next few weeks.

It is estimated that Minnesota wheat and barley growers have lost a total of $1.2 billion to scab and vomitoxin in the 1990s. The legislature previously allocated $477,000 to an accelerated research program in 1995 and an additional $1 million for 1996-97.

Minnesota's wheat industry contributes about $1.3 billion to the state's economy annually. For every 182 acres of wheat planted or 7,900 bushels of wheat harvested, one full-time equivalent job in Minnesota is supported.

Convictions on felony charges see sentencing

Sentences for convictions on felony charges were handed down in a Ninth District courtroom last Monday.

Julie Ann White, Red Lake, 27, was sentenced on a felony charge of obstructing legal process. She was sentenced to 60 days in jail, but all but 10 days were stayed. She was placed on unsupervised probation for one year. White had also been chaged with two counts of controlled substance crime in the fifth degree, but they were dismissed.

James Jeremy Amundson, Grand Forks, ND, 20, was sentenced on a felony charge of receiving stolen property. Amundson was sentenced to serve six months in jail. He was also sentenced to pay a fine and fees of $270.

Lee John Haugen, Jr., Thief River Falls, 21, was sentenced on a felony charge of criminal sexual conduct in the third degree. The charge stems from an incident January 2, 1997. He was sentenced to 36 months in prison.

Jose Almendarez, Thief River Falls, 20, was sentenced on a felony charge of controlled substance crime in the fifth degree. The charge stems from an incident April 10, 1996. Almendarez was sentenced to serve 45 days in jail and pay a fine and fees totaling $730. He was also placed on supervised probation for five years.

It's A Treasure Hunt

Celebrate Newspapers In Education Week with your class or with friends by participating in this fun activity!

The Rules

1. You will need an ordinary edition of a local newspaper–one copy for each player! They should be copies that you can mark up–ask your parents or teacher for permission first!
2. You will need a pencil or pen to circle the things that you find on the Treasure Hunt List. An oven timer can be used to keep track of time. Thirty minutes is a suggested length of time–but you can take longer or shorter if you like.
3. After you finish this treasure hunt, work with your friends to come up with a new list–or just try the same list with different editions of the newspaper! Use different colors of marker to find different things each time. You can play as often as you like!

The Treasure Hunt List

Circle each item from the newspaper and number it according to the list. Then cross that number off the list.

1. The masthead of the paper
2. An internet address
3. An ad for a used car
4. A marriage, engagement or birth announcement
5. An ad that tells where to buy furniture
6. An editorial
7. The name of the publisher of the newspaper
8. The name of a reporter for the newspaper
9. The name of an advertising representative for the newspaper.
10. Find 2 captions and/or cutlines in the paper
11. The name of someone who could help you buy a house.
12. The phone number of someone who could help you fix-up your home.
13. The name of a store that sells clothing
14. A headline with the word Lincoln in it
15. An article about a school activity
16. A news story about local government

The newspaper offers a treasure of information. Celebrate Newspapers in Education Week, March 3-7

When time has expired, compare your answers with the other children playing the game. Did you miss any? Did you find any stories you'd like to read? Take some time to read them. Then make up your own clues and get ready to play again.

Pennington Co. Sheriff's department annual report shows crime increase

Pennington County Sheriff's department is reporting an increase in crime. Sheriff Gerald Moe said as far as trends, they are seeing more violent crime, but they're dealing with it.

More violent crimes are being reported. "In the overall picture of calls from the public that deal with property crimes, i.e. burglary, property offenses, theft and vehicle theft, the statistics increased by seven per cent. And calls from the public dealing with people crimes, i.e. criminal sexual conduct, assault and crime against family, increased by 98 per cent. The miscellaneous calls from the public increased by two per cent," reported Sheriff Moe in his annual report to the Pennington County Board of Commissioners.

Moe said the percentage increase in people crimes is very high, but on a case by case basis, it only represents about 14 more cases per year or a little more than an additional case per month.

Moe said like the city, the county has taken the position with violent crimes, that they will do everything possible to charge where they can.

Adult arrests, however were down by 12 per cent from 1995. According to the annual report, juvenile arrest were up by 71 per cent from 1995, after decreasing 31 per cent from 1994.

Other than arrests for writing bad checks, adults were more likely to be arrested for driving while intoxicated or other liquor law violations. In 1996 there were 83 arrests for driving while intoxicated or other liquor law violations. Even though it is significant, it still represents a decline because in 1995 there were 100 similar arrests.

Juvenile arrests seem to follow the same pattern. Liquor law violations top the list, but are closely followed by theft related arrests and property offenses. There were 16 liquor law arrests, 13 vehicle theft arrests, and 12 property offense arrests.

While the total number of calls to the sheriff's department increased, the type of call that pushed it over last year's total were criminal calls. During 1996, miscellaneous calls, such as accidents, traffic stops, alarm responses, jail related calls, or public health, decreased. In 1995 there were 5,735 miscellaneous calls. In 1996, there were 5,689.

Among the miscellaneous calls, the number of traffic stops declined significantly — perhaps due to investigations of criminal complaints. Most traffic violations were for speeding, but even those numbers dropped from 107 in 1995 to 48 in 1996.

Another significant drop was recorded in the number of ambulance calls the department responded to. In 1995 the department responded to 234 ambulance calls. In 1996 they responded to 95 ambulance calls.

In 1996, there was a decrease in the number of people ordered to serve time in jail, but an increase in the number of days they had to serve. Huber privileges (work release) resulted in less income to the jail as well. As a result of a full jail, significantly fewer out-of-county prisoners were housed at the county jail. In 1995, the county received $80,334 in out-of-county fees. In 1996, the county received only $9,420 from other counties.

Sentence to Service has been successful in Pennington county. In Pennington county, individuals worked a total of 27,857 hours on Sentence to Service. As a result, 1,777 jail days were saved. According to STS personnel, the value of completed hours at $5 per hour and jail days saved at $45 per day amounted to $219,250 in Pennington county. In 1995, STS crews put in 19,091 hours of work, and saved 1,082 jail days.

Bad checks have been a constant concern for the sheriff's department. Last year there was an increase in the number of checks processed through the sheriff's department, but a decrease in the dollar amount of checks from $112,460 to $96,873. In 1995, 90 per cent of the checks turned over to the sheriff's department for collection were collected. In 1996, that dropped slightly to 89 per cent.

Thief River Falls Fire Department received a report of the fire at about 9:32 a.m. on Tuesday morning. Employees had the small fire extinguished before fire department personnel arrived on the scene. Smoke was vented from the building with fans and production continued.

An employee at The Times was working on the elevator on the main floor of the building when sparks ignited paper and oil at the bottom of the elevator shaft. Employees quickly used fire extinguishers to put the fire out, but there was considerable smoke in the building. Damage caused by the fire has not been determined.

Four Arctic Cat racers injured in competition

Four Team Arctic racers were injured the weekend of February 22-23 on the track.

Former Formula III Eagle River World Champion Brian Sturgeon hit an ice wall at the edge of the oval track in Antigo, WI, breaking a shoulder and a leg. Following two surgeries, doctors have put Brian's shoulder into a splint and have put a brace on his leg, and feel Brian could be released soon.

Ironman Champion David Stenlund hit a tree in last weekend's Can-Am race in Pine Falls, Manitoba. Stenlund broke two ribs and bruised a kidney, but Canadian Team Arctic Manager Jamie Anseeuw believes this true Ironman will be up and back on his sled in no time, he was, after all, already racing last weekend with a cast on his foot.

MRP contender Aaron Scheele was stitched up after taking a double-jump and being bucked off. Aaron was caught under the sled, and cut by the studs on the right arm resulting in 22 stitches. But, Aaron came back the following day to win the Pro 600 and Pro Open classes at the MRP race in Trollhaugen.

Cross country racer and Arctic Cat Engineering employee, Dale Cloose, was hospitalized Sunday after nosing his sled into a bump during the Strathcona race and hitting his face on the handlebars, breaking his nose, eye sockets and pallet of his mouth. Dale had surgery last Wednesday and released last last Monday from the hospital. He will have to have his jaws wired together for five weeks, however.

State Priority Area approval helps CRP

Glenn Schafer, county FSA director, and Mike Ratzlaff of the NRCS presented the information and answered nearly all specific questions despite having received training on the program only two days previously. Schafer held up a thick three ring binder containing the program details and explained that "we just got this Wednesday."

Pennington county has about 73,000 acres in the present CRP program, Schafer said, with only 5,000 to 6,000 of those acres having a soil type that would qualify them as being highly erodible. Contracts on more than 60,000 acres will be expiring September 30, 1997. Other area counties are in a similar situation with hundreds of contracts expiring this fall.

Signup Started Monday

Signup period for the new program began Monday, March 3, and will continue through March 28. All persons interested in enrolling land and eligible to do so will be given that opportunity, even if a crowded schedule makes it impossible to get an appointment prior to the deadline. A list of persons contacting the FSA office before the deadline will be kept and provision is made for them to be accommodated.

It was noted at the Friday meetings that the FSA office is handling the CRP signups on an appointment basis only in an effort to help farmers avoid unnecessary waiting. Some appointments were taken at the meetings and a number of others are being made by phone. Offices contacted by The Times on Monday to check on priority area townships reported extremely active phone lines.

Persons attending the information meetings Friday were told up front that the former CRP program should be forgotten. Emphasis of that program was crop reduction. In the interim CRP became a coveted environmental program and the new emphasis is on protecting highly erodible soils and wetlands.

A maximum of 25 percent of cropland in any county may be enrolled in the new CRP—the same limit as under the old program. In Pennington county there are about 304,630 acres of cropland and the CRP enrollment limit is 75,180 acres.

Maximum rates of payment in Pennington county are based on soil type and range from $23 to $44 per acre. About 55 percent of the eligible land is at the $39 level. In addition, there is a $5 maintenance fee per acre annually and cost-share may be requested for establishing cover. Landowners bidding lower than the maximum allowable rates are more likely to have their land accepted for the program.

Determination of which bids are accepted is expected about June 1. The landowner has the option of starting the new contract on October 1 of either 1997 or 1998.

Ratzlaff introduced his part of the information program by reminding those in attendance that "we are only the messengers," indicating that area personnel are charged with following the program guidelines set in the USDA offices in Washington. He explained that there are several ways in which land can be eligible for CRP enrollment. Among them are:

- Soil types having an erodibility index (EI) of eight or more (types 148, 543 and 547 in the Pennington county soil survey);
- Land subject to scour erosion which must be planted to trees.
- Inclusion in the state conservation priority area;
- Cropped wetlands (six times the acreage of the actual wetland can be used, but total acreages will generally be small); and
- Acreage associated with non-cropped wetlands.

Environmental Benefits Index

An environmental benefits index (EBI) will be applied to each CRP application with points awarded for various benefits. The index includes the following:

- Wildlife habitat benefits, 0-100 points;
- Water quality benefits, 0-100 points;
- Erosion reduction, 0-100 points;
- Long term benefits, 0-50 points;
- Air quality, 0-25 points, and
- Conservation priority area, 0-25 points.

A list of items landowners can do to increase their score was provided at the meetings. Included were such things as changing cover type to get a mixture of grasses and legumes or a mixed stand of native grasses and forbs, plant trees; restore farmed wetlands; have more than 60 acres in a contract; create a ratio of 3-1 or 6-1 on acres of upland to wetland restoration, and bid lower than the maximum bid cap.

In Pennington county the following per acre soil rental rates have been established as the bid caps for CRP bidding. Soil type numbers are used in the published soil survey available in the county NRCS office.

Types 148 and 372, $23 per acre;
Types 1006, 1804, 1808, 1882, 205, 387 and 435, $26 per acre;
Types 245B, 280, 432, 540, 543, 544, 547, 565, 641, 643, 644, 647, 652 and 712, $30 per acre;
Types 1878, 412, 426, 481, 59, 651 and 66, $33 per acre;
Types 236, 64, 65, 439 and 713, $37 per acre;
Types 404, 582, 645 and 765, $40 per acre;
Types 184, 46, 52, 58, 60, 77, 343, 642, 648, 649 and 650, $44 per acre.

Winter weather headache for school district

School Superintendent Jerry Robicheau said at about 10 a.m. the roads appeared to be fine. At noon, however, the situation had changed so quickly, school was called off. Robicheau was answering phone calls Monday evening after all of the students had left. He said five buses had returned with students. All of those students were taken to homes or turned over to parents. No students were being housed overnight by the district. He said some buses got stuck on county road, but no students were stranded.

Robicheau said because of the winter weather problems, school would start two hours late on Tuesday.

USDA fund boosts rural development

Wheat producers, and other crop farmers, will have several new revenue insurance products available for some 1997 spring planted crops, after the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation's (FCIC) approval of new Crop Revenue Coverage (CRC) programs. The FCIC also approved a new alternative product known as Revenue Assurance, a revenue based insurance plan. Both crop programs have been approved for reinsurance and premium subsidy, and are designed as alternatives for a standards multiple peril crop insurance policy.

"Spring wheat growers are thrilled to see these new programs being made available to crop farmers," says Lowell Berntson, a National Association of Wheat Growers Board member and North Dakota Grain Growers Association President. "For the first time ever, producers can purchase crop insurance to protect against yield losses or market price declines. Growers will be able to market their crops with greater confidence. We applaud the Department's approval of these new programs, and encourage them to extend the pilot program to the entire wheat producing industry in 1998."

The approved products will be available to all reinsured companies to write for the 1997 crop year. Sales of CRC will begin upon timely receipt from American Agrisurance, Inc. of the appropriate premium rates, their review, approval and publication. Revenue Assurance protects a producer from losing revenue should he encounter low prices, low yields, or a combination of both.

Beginning this spring, new CRC programs will be available for spring wheat in all of Minnesota, and selected counties in North Dakota and Montana. CRC wheat coverage was available last fall in Kansas, Michigan, Nebraska, South Dakota, Texas, Washington and some Montana counties.

The Rules

1. You will need an ordinary edition of a local newspaper–one copy for each player! They should be copies that you can mark up–ask your parents or teacher for permission first!
2. You will need a pencil or pen to circle the things that you find on the Treasure Hunt List. An oven timer can be used to keep track of time. Thirty minutes is a suggested length of time–but you can take longer or shorter if you like.
3. After you finish this treasure hunt, work with your friends to come up with a new list–or just try the same list with different editions of the newspaper! Use different colors of marker to find different things each time. You can play as often as you like!

The Treasure Hunt List
Circle each item from the newspaper and number it according to the list. Then cross that number off the list.

1. The masthead of the paper
2. An internet address
3. An ad for a used car
4. A marriage, engagement or birth announcement
5. An ad that tells where to by furniture
6. An editorial
7. The name of the publisher of the newspaper
8. The name of a reporter for the newspaper
9. The name of an advertising representative for the newspaper
10. Find 2 captions and/or cutlines in the paper
11. The name of someone who could help you buy a house
12. The phone number of someone who could help you fix-up your home
13. The name of a store that sells clothing
14. A headline with the word Lincoln in it
15. An article about a school activity
16. A news story about local government

The newspaper offers a treasure of information. Celebrate Newspapers In Education Week, March 3-7

When time has expired, compare your answers with the other children playing the game. Did you miss any? Did you find any stories you'd like to read? Take some time to read them. Then make up your own clues and get ready to play again.

Pennington County Sheriff's department is reporting an increase in crime. Sheriff Gerald Moe said as far as trends, they are seeing more violent crime, but they're dealing with it.

More violent crimes are being reported. "In the overall picture of calls from the public that deal with property crimes, i.e. burglary, property offenses, theft and vehicle theft, the statistics increased by seven per cent. And calls from the public dealing with people crimes, i.e. criminal sexual conduct, assault and crime against family, increased by 98 per cent. The miscellaneous calls from the public increased by two per cent," reported Sheriff Moe in his annual report to the Pennington County Board of Commissioners.

Moe said the percentage increase in people crimes is very high, but on a case by case basis, it only represents about 14 more cases per year or a little more than an additional case per month.

Moe said like the city, the county has taken the position with violent crimes, that they will do everything possible to charge where they can.

Adult arrests, however were down by 12 per cent from 1995. According to the annual report, juvenile arrest were up by 71 per cent from 1995, after decreasing 31 per cent from 1994.

Other than arrests for writing bad checks, adults were more likely to be arrested for driving while intoxicated or other liquor law violations. In 1996 there were 83 arrests for driving while intoxicated or other liquor law violations. Even though it is significant, it still represents a decline because in 1995 there were 100 similar arrests.

Juvenile arrests seem to follow the same pattern. Liquor law violations top the list, but are closely followed by theft related arrests and property offenses. There were 16 liquor law arrests, 13 vehicle theft arrests, and 12 property offense arrests.

While the total number of calls to the sheriff's department increased, the type of call that pushed it over last year's total were criminal calls. During 1996, miscellaneous calls, such as accidents, traffic stops, alarm responses, jail related calls, or public health, decreased. In 1995 there were 5,735 miscellaneous calls. In 1996, there were 5,689.

Among the miscellaneous calls, the number of traffic stops declined significantly — perhaps due to investigations of criminal complaints. Most traffic violations were for speeding, but even those numbers dropped from 107 in 1995 to 48 in 1996.

Another significant drop was recorded in the number of ambulance calls the department responded to. In 1995 the department responded to 234 ambulance calls. In 1996 they responded to 95 ambulance calls.

In 1996, there was a decrease in the number of people ordered to serve time in jail, but an increase in the number of days they had to serve. Huber privileges (work release) resulted in less income to the jail as well. As a result of a full jail, significantly fewer out-of-county prisoners were housed at the county jail. In 1995, the county received $80,334 in out-of-county fees. In 1996, the county received only $9,420 from other counties.

Sentence to Service has been successful in Pennington county. In Pennington county, individuals worked a total of 27,857 hours on Sentence to Service. As a result, 1,777 jail days were saved. According to STS personnel, the value of completed hours at $5 per hour and jail days saved at $45 per day amounted to $219,250 in Pennington county. In 1995, STS crews put in 19,091 hours of work, and saved 1,082 jail days.

Bad checks have been a constant concern for the sheriff's department. Last year there was an increase in the number of checks processed through the sheriff's department, but a decrease in the dollar amount of checks from $112,460 to $96,873. In 1995, 90 per cent of the checks turned over to the sheriff's department for collection were collected. In 1996, that dropped slightly to 89 per cent.

Thief River Falls Fire Department received a report of the fire at about 9:32 a.m. on Tuesday morning. Employees had the small fire extinguished before fire department personnel arrived on the scene. Smoke was vented from the building with fans and production continued.

An employee at The Times was working on the elevator on the main floor of the building when sparks ignited paper and oil at the bottom of the elevator shaft. Employees quickly used fire extinguishers to put the fire out, but there was considerable smoke in the building. Damage caused by the fire has not been determined.

Four Arctic Cat racers injured in competition

Four Team Arctic racers were injured the weekend of February 22-23 on the track.

Former Formula III Eagle River World Champion Brian Sturgeon hit an ice wall at the edge of the oval track in Antigo, "WI, breaking a shoulder and a leg. Following two surgeries, doctors have put Brian's shoulder into a splint and have put a brace on his leg, and feel Brian could be released soon.

Ironman Champion David Stenlund hit a tree in last weekend's Can-Am race in Pine Falls, Manitoba. Stenlund broke two ribs and bruised a kidney, but Canadian Team Arctic Manager Jamie Anseeuw believes this true Ironman will be up and back on his sled in no time, he was, after all, already racing last weekend with a cast on his foot.

MRP contender Aaron Scheele was stitched up after taking a double-jump and being bucked off. Aaron was caught under the sled, and cut by the studs on the right arm resulting in 22 stitches. But, Aaron came back the following day to win the Pro 600 and Pro Open classes at the MRP race in Trollhaugen.

Cross country racer and Arctic Cat Engineering employee, Dale Cloose, was hospitalized Sunday after nosing his sled into a bump during the Stradicona race and hitting his face on the handlebars, breaking his nose, eye sockets and pallet of his mouth. Dale had surgery last Wednesday and released last last Monday from the hospital. He will have to have his jaws wired together for five weeks, however.

Glenn Schafer, county FSA director and Mike Ratzlaff of the NRCS presented the information and answered nearly all specific questions despite having received training on the program only two days previously. Schafer held up a thick three-ring binder containing the program details and explained that "we just got this Wednesday."

Pennington county has about 73,000 acres in the present CRP program, Schafer said, with only 5,000 to 6,000 of those acres having a soil type that would qualify them as being highly erodible. Contracts on more than 60,000 acres will be expiring September 30, 1997. Other area counties are in a similar situation with hundreds of contracts expiring this fall.

Signup Started Monday

Signup period for the new program began Monday, March 3, and will continue through March 28. All persons interested in enrolling land and eligible to do so will be given that opportunity, even if a crowded schedule makes it impossible to get an appointment prior to the deadline. A list of persons contacting the FSA office before the deadline will be kept and provision is made for them to be accommodated.

It was noted at the Friday meetings that the FSA office is handling the CRP signups on an appointment basis only in an effort to help farmers avoid unnecessary waiting. Some appointments were taken at the meetings and a number of others are being made by phone. Offices contacted by The Times on Monday to check on priority area townships reported extremely active phone lines.

Persons attending the information meetings Friday were told up front that the former CRP program should be forgotten. Emphasis of that program was crop reduction. In the interim CRP became a coveted environmental program and the new emphasis is on protecting highly erodible soils and wetlands.

A maximum of 25 percent of cropland in any county may be enrolled in the new CRP—the same limit as under the old program. In Pennington county there are about 304,630 acres of cropland and the CRP enrollment limit is 75,180 acres.

Maximum rates of payment in Pennington county are based on soil type and range from $23 to $44 per acre. About 55 percent of the eligible land is at the $39 level. In addition, there is a $5 maintenance fee per acre annually and cost-share may be requested for establishing cover. Landowners bidding lower than the maximum allowable rates are more likely to have their land accepted for the program.

Determination of which bids are accepted is expected about June 1. The landowner has the option of starting the new contract on October 1 of either 1997 or 1998.

Ratzlaff introduced his part of the information program by reminding those in attendance that "we are only the messengers," indicating that area personnel are charged with following the program guidelines set in the USDA offices in Washington. He explained that there are several ways in which land can be eligible for CRP enrollment. Among them are:

- Soil types having an erodibility index (EI) of eight or more (types 148, 543 and 547 in the Pennington county soil survey),
- Land subject to scour erosion which must be planted to trees,
- Inclusion in the state conservation priority area,
- Cropped wetlands (six times the acreage of the actual wetland can be used, but total acreages will generally be small), and
- Acreage associated with noncropped wetlands.

Environmental Benefits Index

An environmental benefits index (EBI) will be applied to each CRP application with points awarded for various benefits. The index includes the following:

- Wildlife habitat benefits, 0-100 points;
- Water quality benefits, 0-100 points;
- Erosion reduction, 0-100 points;
- Long term benefits, 0-50 points;
- Air quality, 0-25 points, and
- Conservation priority area, 0-25 points.

A list of items landowners can do to increase their score was provided at the meetings. Included were such things as changing cover type to get a mixture of grasses and legumes or a mixed stand of native grasses and forbs; plant trees; restore farmed wetlands, have more than 60 acres in a contract, create a ratio of 3-1 or 6-1 on acres of upland to wetland restoration, and bid lower than the maximum bid cap.

In Pennington county the following per acre soil rental rates have been established as the bid caps for CRP bidding. Soil type numbers are used in the published soil survey available in the county NRCS office.

Types 148 and 372, $23 per acre;
Types 1006, 1804, 1808, 1882, 205, 387 and 435, $26 per acre;
Types 245B, 280, 432, 540, 543, 544, 547, 565, 641, 643, 644, 647, 652 and 712, $30 per acre,
Types 1878, 412, 426, 481, 59, 651 and 66, $33 per acre;
Types 236, 64, 65, 439 and 713, $37 per acre;
Types 404, 582, 645 and 765, $40 per acre;
Types 184, 46, 52, 58, 60, 77, 343, 642, 648, 649 and 650, $44 per acre.

Approximately 100 people gathered in the Goodridge community center Friday afternoon for an informational meeting on the new Conservation Reserve Program. An additional 258 people attended the meeting held that morning at the Thief River Falls city auditorium.

Mike Ratzlaff of the Pennington County Natural Resource Conservation Service explained the soil rental rates established for Pennington county soils during an informational meeting on CRP Friday afternoon at Goodridge.

Following the information meeting on the new Conservation Reserve Program at Goodridge Friday afternoon, Glenn Schafer (left), director of the Pennington County Farm Service Agency, discussed the program with one of the people attending.

USDA fund boosts rural development

Wheat producers, and other crop farmers, will have several new revenue insurance products available for some 1997 spring planted crops, after the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation's (FCIC) approval of new Crop Revenue Coverage (CRC) programs. The FCIC also approved a new alternative product known as Revenue Assurance, a revenue based insurance plan. Both crop programs have been approved for reinsurance and premium subsidy, and are designed as alternatives for a standards multiple peril crop insurance policy.

"Spring wheat growers are thrilled to see these new programs being made available to crop farmers," says Lowell Bernison, a National Association of Wheat Growers Board member and North Dakota Grain Growers Association President. "For the first time ever, producers can purchase crop insurance to protect against yield losses or market price declines. Growers will be able to market their crops with greater confidence. We applaud the Department's approval of these new programs, and encourage them to extend the pilot program to the entire wheat producing industry in 1998."

The approved products will be available to all reinsured companies to write for the 1997 crop year. Sales of CRC will begin upon timely receipt from American Agrisurance, Inc. of the appropriate premium rates, their review, approval and publication. Revenue Assurance protects a producer from losing revenue should he encounter low prices, low yields, or a combination of both.

Beginning this spring, new CRC programs will be available for spring wheat in all of Minnesota, and selected counties in North Dakota and Montana. CRC wheat coverage was available last fall in Kansas, Michigan, Nebraska, South Dakota, Texas, Washington and some Montana counties.

School Superintendent Jerry Robicheau said at about 10 a.m. the roads appeared to be fine. At noon, however, the situation had changed so quickly, school was called off. Robicheau was answering phone calls Monday evening after all of the students had left. He said five buses had returned with students. All of those students were taken to homes or turned over to parents. No students were being housed over night by the district. He said some buses got stuck on county road, but no students were stranded.

Robicheau said because of the winter weather problems, school would start two hours late on Tuesday.

A baby shower for Melissa Nelson and infant son Cole was held on Saturday afternoon at the Community Center in Gully. Tables were arranged in U-shape all decorated in nursery rhyme characters, Winnie the Pooh, Teddy Bears, Friends. Cathy Bergerson had created an appropriate corsage for Melissa made out of baby booties, rattle, pacifier, diaper pins, all tied with blue ribbon bows. Melissa and Cole received many gifts including several homemade quilts, money and baby outfits. The hostesses were Cathy Bergerson, Julie Hein, Terri Bergerson, Jodie Thompson and Jenny Godtland. They had one ongoing contest and Pam Dyrdahl won that prize also a guessing game won by Evelyn Bergerson. After Melissa opened her gifts the hostesses served lunch.

Lund Ladies Aid

The Lund Ladies Aid met on Wednesday, February 12th with all members serving. Since we didn't meet in January there was much to be reviewed especially recognizing those that had been kind enough to help since our December meeting. We now could park in the parking space by the church since Bob Rouland and Steve Waino had been there to clear out the snow and deep drifts. We could get up to the door without hip boots since Arlo Fora had been there to shovel out the walks. There have been so many snow storms this winter and after every snowfall we could look out and see Arlo shoveling by the church.

Leslie Berg had been there and installed a new faucet on the kitchen sink so we no long need to wear a rain coat to protect us from the water sprinkling all over. In fact it was so fancy and modern, some of us needed to go to a class to learn its many uses. There was Cory Carlson our handy man that had spent time on the speaker system. Pat and Stan Grafteen had donated a shipping carton of "Take Out" lunch trays. Charyl Nybo had put on much mileage doing the errands a president is expected to do. Officers and others had spent much time on jobs we forget to even thank for.

Also the quilters who donated time and material, among them, Luverna who can always manage to get our quilts straight and rectangular with square corners.

Visitors at the Joan and Bobby Songer home on Sunday afternoon were Wanda Dyrdahl, Wendi and Cathy Songer, Sarah Brovold, Larry Songer, Danny Borg and Amy Songer of Bemidji. They celebrated Amy's birthday and enjoyed birthday cake and coffee.

Sarah Brovold invited ten young ladies to her birthday party on Sunday. Heidi Solheim presented Mary Kay products on skin care and cosmetics to the guests of Roxanne Rouland, Tammi Van de Streek, Cassie Nyhus, Jennifer Kassa, Sarah Radiko, Jennifer Holm, Beth Virgoten and Bridget Schowviller. The next session Doreen treated them to birthday cake and ice cream then there was a time for sliding on the Gully hills with pizza afterwards. It was time for some sleep or a quiet time. They were hungry and Edna made breakfast for them at the Gully Cafe. The party was interspersed with visiting, giggling and laughing. Now it was time for Gay to see they all got home safely and a time for him to consider if he would ever be interested in being a school bus driver and a time for the grandpas and grandmas to be thankful there is only one "thirteenth birthday for each grandchild". It was fun for the girls to have Roxanne back with them, she was a classmate in kindergarten, since her dad Terence Rouland is in the service they had lived in Germany, in the state of Virginia and is now at Grand Forks. They expect to be transferred to Camp Ripley in the Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Tulenne, Mr. and Mrs. Marty Levine and Mr. and Mrs. Cory Hanson visited with Elfie Handy Sunday afternoon.

Snowmobile Race

On Saturday, February 8th, Joan Erickson of Gully went to Minot, ND, for a North Star snowmobile race, a 55 mile cross country race. The weather man provided good North Dakota weather. Sara Slominski of Minto, ND, took first and Joan second with Sara Hamm not finishing that day. On February 15th and 16th there was a North Star Series race in Thief River Falls, The Ice man 100.

It started at the Red River Casino and went to Thief River Falls both days. Joan took first, Sara Slominski of Minto took second, Jodi Gulsvig of Thief River Falls took third. Larry Skala of Fosston raced the 440 masters class and finished third. This was a good race weekend. The G.M.C. 500 Snowmobile race from Beausejour, Manitoba to Bemidji was a three day race with about 180 miles per day. The miles driven the first day were rough the second and third day were better. Racers ran a cross country through C.R.P. acres, fields, some ditches, trails and rivers.

The weather was warm but very overcast and hard to see. Finishing the race was Chad Dyrdahl of Bagley, Doyle Erickson of Bagley, Joan Erickson of Gully. Bryan Dyrdahl had some mechanical failure the second day and didn't finish. They started Sunday, February 2nd and ended Tuesday February 4th. Joan will soon have to add a room to the house to have room for her trophies. Congratulations Joan!

Strong third quarter carries TRF boys past Detroit Lakes...

Prowlers edge Lakers 59-57

A strong third quarter propelled Thief River Falls past Detroit Lakes 59-57 Saturday in a regular season-ending boys high school basketball game at the Lincoln High School gym.

The Prowlers shattered a 23-23 halftime tie with 75 percent 9-for-12 third quarter shooting that produced a 43-32 scoreboard spread. They hit six in a row, then seven of eight, and offensive rebounds led to points on two of their three misses during that magic-touch eight-minute stretch.

"We did a nice job executing our offense in the third quarter," said Thief River Falls coach Scott Brekke. "We were getting good shots, and we were hitting them."

Thief River Falls never lost the lead, but three Detroit Lakes 3-point baskets in the final 73 seconds kept the crowd from leaving early.

On three occasions in the last 32.2 seconds, Thief River Falls' Jeremy Swanson hit one of two free throws, and Detroit Lakes answered on two free throws by Nick Hagedorn, a 3-pointer off the wing by Brady Peterson and a trey by Ryan Kotta that caromed off the glass and made it 58-57 with 7.1 seconds on the clock.

Another 1-for-2 stop at the line – this time by Casey Skjerven – gave the Prowlers a 59-57 edge with 4.3 seconds remaining.

Detroit Lakes' hurried attempt to get down the court for a desperation final shot wound up as a turnover when the ball bounced out of bounds just before the horn sounded.

"It was a good win for us," said Brekke. "We played a good game. I was pretty happy with our defense. We made them shoot some tough shots; they just happened to make them down the stretch."

Detroit Lakes started the game with a 6-0 lead when Thief River Falls' first four possessions all ended with turnovers. But the Prowlers caught the Lakers at 10-10 on a pair of Anthony Hendricks free throws and went ahead for the first time on a 3-pointer by Skjerven with 55.9 seconds left in the first quarter.

The Prowlers never trailed after that. But Hagedorn, fouled on a 3-point shot, did produce the halftime tie by hitting three free throws with 49.4 seconds to play.

A balanced Thief River Falls offense included Courtney Skjerven with 15 points, Hendricks 13, Casey Skjerven 10, and 8 points each from Swanson and Brandt. Detroit Lakes got a 15-point game from Hagedorn, a 6-1 senior, and 14 from Chris Perry, a 6-4 sophomore.

The Prowlers finished the night 22-for-42 from the field (52 percent), but only 12-for-24 at the free throw line. The Lakers struggled through 19-for-57 shooting from the field (33 percent), while making 14 of 21 free throws. Thief River Falls had a 31-28 rebound edge, but also had more turnovers, 20-14.

Thief River Falls finished the regular season 7-15.

Scoring

TRF - Jeremy Swanson 8, Casey Skjerven 10, Anthony Hendricks 13, Kyle Wagenworth 5, Jared Brandt 8, Courtney Skjerven 15.

Thief River Falls guard Casey Skjerven sailed in for a fast break lay-up ahead of Detroit Lakes' Will Blasczyk during Saturday's boys high school basketball game in the Lincoln High School gym. The Prowlers beat the Lakers 59-57.

Pioneers take consolation title

A first-round loss to Worthington, followed by wins over Ridgewater and Rainy River produced a Minnesota Community College Conference state basketball tournament consolation championship title for the Northland Community and Technical College women.

The Pioneers fell to Worthington 73-56 in the tournament opener Friday, beat Ridgewater 71-54 in the consolation semifinals Saturday, and edged Rainy River 46-42 in the consolation final Sunday.

Northland finished the 1996-97 season 16-8 overall.

Worthington was a first-time opponent for the Pioneers, who handled Riverland 72-40 in an early-season meeting and split a home-and-home series with Rainy River – losing 55-49 at International Falls and winning 52-51 in Thief River Falls.

No other Northland state tournament details were made available.

Bethany won the MCCC men's state tournament played Thursday through Saturday at Minneapolis Community College.

Lorenson, Mustangs advance

Mark Lorenson knocked down seven 3-pointers and scored 38 points Friday to carry Red Lake County Central past Climax/Fisher 81-66 in the 1997 boys Sub-Section 30A high school basketball tournament opener at Plummer.

Lorenson, a 6-1 sophomore, scored 32 of those points in a second half explosion that included 5-for-6 shooting from 3-point range.

"Mark had a great game," said Red Lake County Central coach Ryan Sedler. "It was one of the best performances by an individual that I've ever seen."

It was a come-from-behind effort by the Mustangs, who trailed 17-10 at the end of the first quarter and were quickly looking at a 19-10 deficit in the opening moments of the second quarter. The quick turnaround produced a 31-25 Red Lake County Central lead at the half, and the Mustangs, who out-scoring the Knights 33-8 over one second/third quarter stretch, went into the fourth quarter ahead 51-41.

"We battled back and really got it going," noted Sedler, a Climax native who is in his first year of coaching. "We really didn't change anything; we just got on a roll."

Jimmy Dulka added 18 points to the Red Lake County Central total. Ben Hoff scored 26 points and Dave Normandin had 21 for Climax/Fisher. The individual match-ups featured, for the most part, Hoff, one of the top scorers in the area, and Lorenson guarding each other.

A strong shooting night for Red Lake County Central included a 28-for-48 showing from the field (58 percent) and a 17-for-20 free throw night. Climax/Fisher shot 41 percent from the floor (22/54) and made 12 of 18 free throws.

The Mustangs, who beat the Knights 53-52 in a regular season match-up, improved to 6-17 with the win.

Wolverines finish in third place

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke girls lost to top-seeded Red Lake Falls 70-50 in the Friday semifinals, then beat Warren-Alvarado-Oslo 43-40 in the Saturday third place game at the 1997 Sub-Section 31A high school basketball tournament at the University of Minnesota-Crookston.

The results completed a 9-16 season for the Wolverines.

"We were really nervous at the start, but we played okay against Red Lake Falls," reported Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach Mike Gast. "They have a great team. They just don't make many mistakes."

After a slow start – typical for third place games – the intensity picked up down the stretch in the Wolverines vs. Ponies match-up, according to Gast. "It's nice to finish with a win," he said. "It's was a good experience for our kids."

Red Lake Falls ...70
Goodridge/G-G ...50

Red Lake Falls, a fourth place finisher in the 1997 Class A state tournament, steadily pulled away from Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke to win 70-50.

The Eagles had quarter leads of 22-13, 45-23 and 60-39.

The Wolverines were 18-for-47 from the field (38 percent) and 13-for-19 at the free throw line. The Eagles went 27-for-58 from the floor (47 percent), 16-for-19 at the line and finished with a 30-24 rebound edge.

Red Lake Falls beat Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke 61-37 in a regular season meeting.

Goodridge/G-G ...43
Warren-A-O ...40

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke overcame a six-point deficit in the final two minutes to overtake Warren-Alvarado-Oslo 43-40.

Sophomore Dana Wiseth scored with 16 seconds left to put the Wolverines ahead 41-40, and after a Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke rebound, Wiseth was sent to the line, where she sealed the victory by hitting two free throws with just two seconds to play.

The two teams played to a 12-12 first quarter tie. The Ponies went ahead 23-22 at halftime, but the Wolverines were on top 30-29 at the end of the third quarter.

Wiseth finished with 16 points and teammate Jenny Johnson had 12. Katie Loeslie and Jamie Copp led the Ponies with 14 and 13 points, respectively.

Neither team shot very well. Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke was 14-for-47 from the field (30 percent) and Warren-Alvarado-Oslo went 15-for-53 (28 percent). The Wolverines made 13 of 23 free throws, while the Ponies went 8-for-12 at the line. The winners finished with a 36-24 rebound advantage.

Injury stops Davis' tournament hopes

A medal finish bid by Thief River Falls senior Luke Davis was cut short by an injury Friday in the 1977 Minnesota state high school wrestling tournament.

"Luke did a good job in the first match," pointed out Thief River Falls coach John Belyea. "He was in control."

"The next match got tougher," explained Belyea. "It was a close match. I thought Luke was the better wrestler, but he did not step up to the challenge."

Despite the loss, Davis still had a chance to work his way through the wrestle-backs and finish as high as third – a very good chance, figured Belyea.

But 45 seconds into his match against Jessie Kipka of Foley, Davis dislocated his elbow in a fall to the mat and wound up losing on an injury default.

"I don't think I've ever seen a kid in so much pain," reported Belyea. "They tried to pop it back into place, but couldn't do it. They had to take him to the hospital."

Davis finished the year 23-6. He was the Prowlers' first state tournament qualifier since Joel Davis, his brother, in 1992.

Gators rally, win 56-47

Kittson County North enjoyed some early success, but Badger/Greenbush-Middle River came back to win 56-47 Friday in a first round Sub-Section 32A boys high school basketball tournament game played at Northland Community and Technical College.

Kittson County North, beaten by Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 64-38 during the regular season, stunned observers with leads of 11-3 at the end of the first quarter and 29-18 at halftime. Badger/Greenbush-Middle River took over the second half, however, when the Gators out-scored the Cougars 38-18 – taking a 38-37 lead into the fourth quarter.

"We started out flat," admitted Gators coach Eldon Sparby. "They (Cougars) came to play ball, and we didn't. They were very deliberate, got the open shots and hit them. Then we started to panic."

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River picked up the pace in the second half. "We turned up the tempo," explained Sparby. "We forced them to play full court."

Jeremy Vacura had five 3-pointers en route to a game-high 21-point game for the winners, while Matt Kujava netted 14 and Adam Holmes had 11. Kris Hokanson and Del Peterson led the Cougars with 15 and 11 points, respectively.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River was 21-for-48 from the field (44 percent) and 3-for-6 at the free throw line. Kittson County North went 21-for-41 from the floor (51 percent) and 9-for-14 at the line. The Gators had a 29-24 rebound edge. Very low turnover figures showed Badger/Greenbush-Middle River with just two and Kittson County North with four.

The Gators are 13-10.

RLCC girls are third

Red Lake County Central managed to shake off the third place game blues Saturday and beat Fosston 51-38 in Sub-Section 30A girls high school basketball tournament play at the University of Minnesota-Crookston.

The slow-starting contest produced a 5-4 Fosston lead after one quarter. But Red Lake County Central went ahead 16-11 at halftime and had a 35-26 third quarter advantage.

"It was a typical third place game start," admitted Red Lake County Central coach Rick Kuisisto. "We went to a full-court press and got things going a little."

Angie Chervestad scored 17 points and pulled down 13 rebounds for the Mustangs, with Katie O'Neill contributing 10 points. Fosston did not have a double figure scorer.

Red Lake County Central was 21-

TRF, Crookston boys to meet in semifinal game

Fergus Falls, Crookston, Thief River Falls and Detroit Lakes were seeded 1 through 4, respectively, for the 1997 North Sub-Section 8AAA boys high school basketball tournament, scheduled to be played this week at Moorhead State University.

Seeding positions, determined by a vote of the four head coaches, were announced Monday.

Thursday semifinals will feature the Otters vs. Lakers at 7 p.m. and the Prowlers vs. Pirates at 8:30 p.m.

Saturday championship game is scheduled for 7 p.m.

Admission is $5 for adults and $3 for students.

The winner will take on the South champion in the state tournament-qualifying Section 8AAA finals Saturday, March 15, at 1 p.m. at St. Cloud State University.

Thief River Falls lost twice to Crookston this winter – 61-50 in the season opener and 57-48 in a Jan. 31 rematch. The Prowlers also lost a pair of games to Fergus Falls by 66-45 and 61-53 margins. A split with Detroit Lakes included a 56-52 first-game victory for the Lakers and a 59-57 season-ending triumph for the Prowlers.

A baby shower for Melissa Nelson and Cole Cyl was held on Saturday afternoon at the Community Center in Gully. Tables were arranged in U shape all decorated in nursery rhyme characters, Winnie the Pooh, Teddy Bears. Friends Cathy Bergerson had created an appropriate corsage for Melissa made out of baby booties, all the pacifier diaper pins, all tied with blue ribbon bows. Melissa and Cole received many gifts including several homemade quilts, money and baby outfits. The hostesses were Cathy Bergerson, Julie Holm, Terri Bergerson, Jodie Thompson and Jenny Gedlandt. They had one ongoing contest and Pam Dyrdahl won that prize also a question game won by Evelyn Bergerson. After Melissa opened her gifts the hostesses served lunch.

Lund Ladies Aid

The Lund Ladies Aid met on Wednesday February 12th with all members serving. Since we didn't meet in January there was much to be reviewed especially recognizing those that had been kind enough to help since our December meeting. We now could park in the parking space by the church since Bob Rouland and Steve Waino had been there to clear out the snow and deep drifts. We could get up to the door without hip boots since Arlo Fore had been there to shovel out the walks. There have been so many snow storms this winter and after every snowfall we could look out and see Arlo shoveling by the church.

Leslie Berg had been there and installed a new faucet on the kitchen sink so we no long need to wear a rain coat to protect us from the water sprinkling all over. In fact it was so fancy and modern, some of us needed to go to a class to learn its many uses. There was Cory Carlson our handy man that had spent time on the speaker system. Pat and Stan Grallaas had donated a shipping carton of "Take Out" lunch trays. Cheryl Nybo had put on much mileage doing the errands a president is expected to do. Officers and others had spent much time on jobs we forget to even thank for.

Also the quilters who donated time and material, among them, Luverne who can always manage to get our quilts straight and rectangular with square corners.

Visitors at the Joan and Bobby Senger home on Sunday afternoon were Wanda Dyrdahl, Wendt and Cathy Senger, Sarah Brovold, Larry Senger, Danny Berg and Amy Senger of Bemidji. They celebrated Amy's birthday and enjoyed birthday cake and coffee.

Sarah Brovold invited her young ladies to her birthday party on Sunday. Heidi Solheim presented Mary Kay products in skin care and cosmetics to the guests of Roxanne Rouland, Timmi Van de Streek, Cassie Nyhus, Jennifer Kuznia, Sarah Radtke, Jennifer Holm, Beth Vigoren and Bridget Schowalter. The next stop on Dorwin treated them to birthday cake and ice cream then there was time for sliding on the Gully hill with pizza afterwards. It was time for some sleep or a quiet time. They were hungry and Edna made breakfast for them at the Gully Cafe. The party was interspersed with visiting, giggling and laughing. Now it was time for Gay to see they all got home safely and a time for him to consider if he would ever be interested in being a school bus driver and a time for the grandpas and grandmas to be thankful there is only one "thirteenth birthday for each grandchild". It was fun for the girls to have Roxanne back with them. She was a classmate in kindergarten since her dad Terence Rouland is in the service they had lived in Germany, in the state of Virginia and is now at Grand Forks. They expect to be transferred to Camp Ripley in the Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Tufenne, Mr. and Mrs. Marty Levine and Mr. and Mrs. Cory Hanson visited with Effie Handy Sunday afternoon.

Snowmobile Race

On Saturday February 8th Joan Erickson of Gully went to Munich, ND for a [illegible] snowmobile race, a 55 mile cross country race. The weather man provided good North Dakota weather. Sara Slominski of Minto, ND took first and Joan second with Sara [illegible] that day. On February [illegible] there was a North Star [illegible] race in Thief River Falls. The [illegible] 100.

It started at the Red River Casino and went to Thief River Falls both days. Joan took first. Sara Slominski of Minto took second. Jodi Gulsvig of Thief River Falls took third. Larry Skala of Fertile raced the 440 masters class and finished third. This was a good race weekend. The G.M.C. 500 Snowmobile race from Dauphin, Manitoba to Bemidji was a three day race with about 160 miles per day. The miles driven the first day were rough the second and third day were better. Racers ran cross country through C.R.P. acres, fields, some ditches, trails and rivers.

The weather was warm but very overcast and hard to see. Finishing the race was Clint Dyrdahl of Bagley, Doyle Erickson of Bagley, Joan Erickson of Gully. Bryan Dyrdahl had some mechanical failure the second day and didn't finish. They started Sunday February 2nd and ended Tuesday February 4th. Joan will soon have to add a room to the house to have room for her trophies. Congratulations Joan!

Strong third quarter carries TRF boys past Detroit Lakes...

Prowlers edge Lakers 59-57

A strong third quarter propelled Thief River Falls past Detroit Lakes 59-57 Saturday in a regular season-ending boys high school basketball game at the Lincoln High School gym.

The Prowlers shattered a 23-23 halftime tie with 75 percent 9-for-12 third quarter shooting that produced a 43-32 scoreboard spread. They hit six in a row, then seven of eight, and offensive rebounds led to points on two of their three misses during that magic-touch eight minute stretch.

"We did a nice job executing our offense in the third quarter," said Thief River Falls coach Scott Brekke. "We were getting good shots, and we were hitting them."

Thief River Falls never lost the lead, but three Detroit Lakes 3-point baskets in the final 73 seconds kept the crowd from leaving early.

On three occasions in the last 32.2 seconds, Thief River Falls' Jeremy Swanson hit one of two free throws, and Detroit Lakes answered on two free throws by Nick Hagedorn, a 3-pointer off the wing by Brady Peterson and a tip by Ryan Kotta that rammed off the glass and made it 58-57 with 7.1 seconds on the clock.

Another 1-for-2 stop at the line – this time by Casey Skjerven – gave the Prowlers a 59-57 edge with 4.3 seconds remaining.

Detroit Lakes' hurried attempt to get down the court for a desperation final shot wound up as a turnover when the ball bounced out of bounds just before the horn sounded.

"It was a good win for us," said Brekke. "We played a good game. I was pretty happy with our defense. We made them shoot some tough shots, they just happened to make them down the stretch."

Detroit Lakes started the game with a 6-0 lead when Thief River Falls' first four possessions all ended with turnovers. But the Prowlers caught the Lakers at 10-10 on a pair of Anthony Hendricks free throws and went ahead for the first time on a 3-pointer by Skjerven with 55.9 seconds left in the first quarter.

The Prowlers never trailed after that. But Hagedorn, fouled on a 3-point shot, did produce the halftime tie by hitting three free throws with 19.1 seconds to play.

A balanced Thief River Falls offense included Courtney Skjerven with 15 points, Hendricks 13, Casey Skjerven 10 and 8 points each from Swanson and Brandt. Detroit Lakes got a 15-point game from Hagedorn, a 6-1 senior, and 14 from Chris Perry, a 6-4 sophomore.

The Prowlers finished the night 22-for-42 from the field (52 percent), but only 12-for-24 at the free throw line. The Lakers struggled through 19-for-57 shooting from the field (33 percent), while making 14 of 21 free throws. Thief River Falls had a 31-28 rebound edge, but also had more turnovers, 20-14.

Thief River Falls finished the regular season 7-15.

Scoring

	1	2	3	4	T
Detroit Lakes	12	11	9	25	57
Thief River Falls	13	10	20	16	59

DL - Brady Peterson 4, Todd Steinmetz 5, Ryan Kotta 9, Nick Hagedorn 15, Will Blasczyk 6, Adam Stensgaard 2, Adam Schneider 2, Chris Perry 14.

TRF - Jeremy Swanson 8, Casey Skjerven 10, Anthony Hendricks 13, Kyle Walerworth 5, Jared Brandt 8, Courtney Skjerven 15.

Thief River Falls guard Casey Skjerven sailed in for a fast break lay-up ahead of Detroit Lakes' Will Blesczyk during Saturday's boys high school basketball game in the Lincoln High School gym. The Prowlers beat the Lakers 59-57.

TRF, Crookston boys to meet in semifinal game

Fergus Falls, Crookston, Thief River Falls, and Detroit Lakes were seeded 1 through 4, respectively, for the 1997 North Sub-Section 8AAA boys high school basketball tournament, scheduled to be played this week at Moorhead State University.

Thursday semifinals will feature the Otters vs. Lakers at 7 p.m. and the Prowlers vs. Pirates at 8:30 p.m.

Saturday's championship game is scheduled for 7 p.m.

Admission is $5 for adults and $3 for students.

The winner will take on the South champion in the state tournament qualifying Section 8AAA finals Saturday, March 15, at 1 p.m. at St. Cloud State University.

Thief River Falls lost twice to Crookston this winter – 61-50 in the season opener and 57-48 in a Jan. 31 rematch. The Prowlers also lost a pair of games to Fergus Falls by 66-45 and 61-53 margins. A split with Detroit Lakes included a 56-52 first-game victory for the Lakers and a 59-57 season-ending triumph for the Prowlers.

Lorenson, Mustangs advance

Mark Lorenson knocked down seven 3-pointers and scored 38 points Friday to carry Red Lake County Central past Climax/Fisher 81-66 in the 1997 boys Sub-Section 30A high school basketball tournament opener at Plummer.

Lorenson, a 6-1 sophomore, scored 32 of those points in a second half explosion that included 5-for-6 shooting from 3-point range.

"Mark had a great game," said Red Lake County Central coach Ryan Sedler. "It was one of the best performances by an individual that I've ever seen."

It was a come-from-behind effort by the Mustangs, who trailed 17-10 at the end of the first quarter and were quickly looking at a 19-10 deficit in the opening moments of the second quarter. The quick turnaround produced a 31-25 Red Lake County Central lead at the half, and the Mustangs, who out-scoring the Knights 33-8 over one second/third quarter stretch, went into the fourth quarter ahead 51-41.

"We battled back and really got it going," noted Sedler, a Climax native who is in his first year of coaching. "We really didn't change anything; we just got on a roll."

Jimmy Dulka added 18 points to the Red Lake County Central total. Ben Hoff scored 26 points and Dave Normandin had 21 for Climax/Fisher. The individual match-ups featured, for the most part, Hoff, one of the top scorers in the area, and Lorenson guarding each other.

A strong shooting night for Red Lake County Central included a 28-for-48 showing from the field (58 percent) and a 17-for-20 free throw night. Climax/Fisher shot 41 percent from the floor (22/54) and made 12 of 18 free throws.

The Mustangs, who beat the Knights 53-52 in a regular season match-up, improved to 6-17 with the win.

Sub-Section 30A Boys

■ First round Friday, Feb. 28 - (at Plummer) Red Lake County Central 81, Climax/Fisher 66

■ Semifinals Tuesday March 4 - (at UMC) Fertile-Beltrami vs. Red Lake County Central, 6:30 p.m.; Fosston vs. Win-E-Mac, 8 p.m.

■ Finals Saturday, March 8 - (at UMC) third place, 1 p.m.; championship, 2:30 p.m.

Scoring

Wolverines finish in third place

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke girls lost to top-seeded Red Lake Falls 70-50 in the Friday semifinals, then beat Warren-Alvarado-Oslo 43-40 in the Saturday third place game at the 1997 Sub-Section 31A high school basketball tournament at the University of Minnesota-Crookston.

The results completed a 9-16 season for the Wolverines.

"We were really nervous at the start, but we played okay against Red Lake Falls," reported Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach Mike Gast. "They have a great team. They just don't make many mistakes."

After a slow start – typical for third place games – the intensity picked up down the stretch in the Wolverines vs. Ponies match-up, according to Gast. "It's nice to finish with a win," he said. "It's was a good experience for our kids."

Red Lake Falls 70
Goodridge/G-G 50

Red Lake Falls, a fourth place finisher in the 1997 Class A state tournament, steadily pulled away from Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke to win 70-50.

The Wolverines were 18-for-47 from the field (38 percent) and 13-for-19 at the free throw line. The Eagles went 27-for-58 from the floor (47 percent), 16-for-19 at the line and finished with a 30-24 rebound edge.

Red Lake Falls beat Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke 61-37 in a regular season meeting.

Goodridge/G-G 43
Warren-A-O 40

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke overcame a six-point deficit in the final two minutes to overtake Warren-Alvarado-Oslo 43-40.

Sophomore Dana Wiseth scored with 16 seconds left to put the Wolverines ahead 41-40, and after a Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke rebound, Wiseth was sent to the line, where she sealed the victory by hitting two free throws with just two seconds to play.

The two teams played to a 12-12 first quarter tie. The Ponies went ahead 23-22 at halftime, but the Wolverines were on top 30-29 at the end of the third quarter.

Wiseth finished with 16 points and teammate Jenny Johnson had 12. Katie Loeslie and Jamie Copp led the Ponies with 14 and 13 points, respectively.

Neither team shot very well. Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke was 14-for-47 from the field (30 percent) and Warren-Alvarado-Oslo went 15-for-53 (28 percent). The Wolverines made 13 of 23 free throws, while the Ponies went 8-for-12 at the line. The winners finished with a 36-24 rebound advantage.

Injury stops Davis' tournament hopes

A medal finish bid by Thief River Falls senior Luke Davis was cut short by an injury Friday in the 1977 Minnesota state high school wrestling tournament.

"Luke did a good job in the first match," pointed out Thief River Falls coach John Belyea. "He was in control."

"The next match got tougher," explained Belyea. "It was a close match. I thought Luke was the better wrestler, but he did not step up to the challenge."

Despite the loss, Davis still had a chance to work his way through the wrestle-backs and finish as high as third – a very good chance, figured Belyea.

But 45 seconds into his match against Jessie Kipka of Foley, Davis dislocated his elbow in a fall to the mat and wound up losing on an injury default.

"I don't think I've ever seen a kid in so much pain," reported Belyea. "They tried to pop it back into place, but couldn't do it. They had to take him to the hospital."

Davis finished the year 23-6. He was the Prowlers' first state tournament qualifier since Joel Davis, his brother, in 1992.

Gators rally, win 56-47

Kittson County North enjoyed some early success, but Badger/Greenbush-Middle River came back to win 56-47 Friday in a first round Sub-Section 32A boys high school basketball tournament game played at Northland Community and Technical College.

Kittson County North, beaten by Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 64-38 during the regular season, stunned observers with leads of 11-3 at the end of the first quarter and 29-18 at halftime.

Badger/Greenbush Middle River took over the second half, however, when the Gators out-scored the Cougars 38-18 – taking a 38-37 lead into the fourth quarter.

"We started out flat," admitted Gators coach Eldon Sparby. "They (Cougars) came to play ball, and we didn't. They were very deliberate, got the open shots and hit them. Then we started to panic."

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River picked up the pace in the second half. "We turned up the tempo," explained Sparby. "We forced them to play full court."

Jeremy Vacura had five 3-pointers en route to a game-high 21-point game for the winners, while Matt Kujava netted 14 and Adam Holmes had 11. Kris Hokanson and Del Peterson led the Cougars with 15 and 11 points, respectively.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River was 21-for-48 from the field (44 percent) and 3-for-6 at the free throw line. Kittson County North went 21-for-41 from the floor (51 percent) and 9-for-14 at the line. The Gators had a 29-24 rebound edge. Very low turnover figures showed Badger/Greenbush-Middle River with just two and Kittson County North with four.

The Gators are 13-10.

RLCC girls are third

Red Lake County Central managed to shake off the third place game blues Saturday and beat Fosston 51-38 in Sub-Section 30A girls high school basketball tournament play at the University of Minnesota Crookston.

The slow-starting contest produced a 5-4 Fosston lead after one quarter. But Red Lake County Central went ahead 16-11 at halftime and had a 35-26 third quarter advantage.

"It was a typical third place game start," admitted Red Lake County Central coach Rick Kovoshi. "We went to a full-court press and got things going a little."

Angie Chresestal scored 17 points and pulled down 13 rebounds for the Mustangs, with Katie O'Neill contributing 10 points. Fosston did not have a double figure scorer.

Red Lake County Central was 21-

Sharp-tailed grouse research needs help

Dance of the sharp-tail may be a familiar sight to you. If so, researchers at the University of Minnesota-Duluth need your help.

Sharp-tailed grouse were an abundant game bird in Minnesota and Wisconsin, producing typical annual harvests in Minnesota of about 150,000 birds in the 1940's. Since the 1970's, however, this species has experienced a rapid decline. Only remnant populations persist in Wisconsin, forcing an end to their sharp-tail hunting season in 1995. In Minnesota, the species has decreased 75 percent within the last 10-12 years. Much of this decline is likely due to a reduction in suitable sharp-tail habitat.

Sharp-tails use open fields and bogs for their mating dance, and open brushlands for nesting cover and over-wintering habitat. Brushland ecosystems have been greatly reduced with fire suppression and tree planting. To rekindle population growth, management is needed to return brushland areas to a state more attractive to sharp-tails.

Researchers at the Department of Biology and the Natural Resources Research Institute at UMD are conducting studies to investigate habitat preferences of sharp-tailed grouse, and how areas can be improved for the bird. Supported by the Minnesota legislature and the Minnesota Sharp-Tailed Grouse Society, their work involves analysis of sharp-tailed grouse habitat using both on-the-ground measurements and satellite imagery. Their main goal is to understand features of good quality habitat relative to areas from which grouse have disappeared. Information from these analyses will also be used to identify areas where greatest habitat gains could be realized from brushland harvesting.

Besides improving habitat value for the sharp-tail, harvesting brush would produce woody biomass suitable for fuel. Brush biomass could become an important economic resource for communities located in brushland areas. Part of this project involves measuring the amount of brush biomass available in certain areas, assessing equipment needs for harvesting brush and providing assistance and information to landowners and managers about opportunities for managing brushland resources.

Changes in management of any area may affect soil quality and plant and animal species on the site. Therefore, other aspects of the project include assessment of site-level soil nutrient patterns and a study of songbird populations to determine whether some bird species might be negatively affected by brush harvesting.

Some current and defunct dancing grounds have been identified by wildlife biologists, and serve as the focal points for this study. But to gain a greater understanding of the kinds of areas that attract sharp-tails, these researchers need help from people who have seen sharp-tails dancing in the spring in recent years, or know of areas that were formerly used by sharp-tails as dancing grounds but have not contained birds recently. Knowledge of the locations of other dancing grounds is needed to pinpoint areas in the state where sharp-tails remain.

If you have information regarding dancing grounds, either recently or formerly active, researchers would appreciate hearing from you. They ask that you specify the locality of the dancing ground relative to highways and intersections (e.g. 3.1 miles west of town, about 100 yards north of the road). Also include when you last saw birds dancing. Send all information to Professor Don Christian, Department of Biology, 211 Life Science Building, 10 University Drive, Duluth, MN 55812-2496.

Snowmobile Safety Hot Line is put into place across state

Department of Natural Resources has added up the numbers and they don't look good. "We've had 129 snowmobile fatalities in Minnesota over the past five years, and that's way too many," said Col. Leo Haseman, director of the DNR Enforcement Division.

The DNR is asking responsible snowmobilers and the general public to help stop the deaths and injuries by calling the new toll-free Snowmobile Safety Hot Line if they see a snowmobiler speeding, traveling on a roadway, operating in a dangerous manner, or appearing intoxicated.

"They're confused because the new licenses are available for purchase early in the year, but they do not become effective until March 1," said Karen Beckman, Department of Natural Resources License Bureau assistant administrator. "People make a very natural assumption that a 1997 license purchased in January or February of 1997 is a valid license," said Beckman. "The fact is, 1996 licenses are required through the end of February, 1997."

The fish and wildlife license year runs from March 1 of any given year through the last day of February in the following year. New licenses are put on sale before March 1 as a convenience for hunters and anglers who may want to prepare for the upcoming season ahead of time.

"We've taken steps to make the dates more evident on the licenses," Beckman said.

B/G-MR girls beat Storm in 32A play

Defense ruled Saturday night as Badger/Greenbush-Middle River stopped Stephen-Argyle 37-24 in the 1997 Sub-Section 32A girls high school basketball tournament third place game played at Northland Community and Technical College.

The Gators led at the quarter stops 15-8, 24-14 and 29-22.

"The defense was real good," reported Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Tom Neihauer. "We played a good man-to-man defense. You hold a team to 24 points and you should be able to win."

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River needed the defensive effort because Nikki Wahl and Stefanie Sparby – two of their top offensive threats – sat a good part of the game due to foul trouble. "That takes quite a bit away from what we do when they aren't in there," noted Neihauer.

Sparby still finished as the game's high scorer with 14 points.

The Gators were 16-for-43 from the field (37 percent) and 7-for-10 at the free throw line. The Storm went just 6-for-39 from the floor (15 percent) and made 12 of 18 free throws.

It was a typical third place game that began without a lot of emotion, admitted Neihauer, but he said the win was still satisfying. Badger/Greenbush-Middle River finished the year 19-6, giving the Gators 101 wins in the five years the three communities have formed a single basketball program. "It would have been disappointing to lose it," noted Neihauer.

Sports Briefs

Rogalla recognized

University of North Dakota's Carter Rogalla, a Lincoln High School graduate, has been named to the pre-season All-America baseball team by Collegiate Baseball.

Rogalla was an all-North Central Conference selection and was named to the all-region second team as a junior last spring when he shared the team lead with a .366 batting average and led the 22-13 UND squad with 45 runs scored and 22 stolen bases.

North Dakota opens its 1997 season March 9-14 in Fort Myers, FL.

Sports Boosters meet

Representatives from the Thief River Golf Club, Chuck Tuthill and Kjell Melvie, will be the guest speakers Thursday at the weekly 12-noon Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Club luncheon meeting at the Elks.

The public is invited.

Danial LeDuc, one of five Thief River Falls participants in the first youth state tournament sponsored by USA Wrestling, won championship honors in the 70-pound class for 9-10-year-olds. In addition to the trophy and state wrestling T-shirt, LaDuc will have his name included in The Matmen and The Guillotine wrestling publications. The state meet, held Feb. 16 in St. Cloud, drew 653 entries, who were set up in 16-wrestler brackets for a chance to place 1-through-8 in each division.

WRESTLING

Youth Wrestling

Thief River Falls youth wrestling team defeated Roseau 54-34 Tuesday (Feb. 25) in a dual at Lincoln High School. It was the first dual of the season for the Thief River Falls team that will be in Greenbush March 7 and 8 for a Friday team tournament and Saturday's 11th annual Gator Invitational individual tournament.

The Saturday competition, open to grades K-through-12, will have weigh-in from 7:30 to 9:30 a.m., with wrestling scheduled to start at 10 a.m. Top two place finishers in grades K-through-8 will advance to regional competition March 15 in Alexandria.

TRF boys basketball JV ends year at 13-8

Thief River Falls junior varsity boys high school basketball team closed out a 13-8 season Saturday with a 46-40 win over Detroit Lakes.

Jeff Beste scored 13 points as Thief River Falls posted quarter leads of 9-4, 22-10 and 31-23.

Earlier in the week, quarter leads of 17-13, 28-24 and 46-36 led to a 61-52 Monday win over Climax/Fisher. Aaron Hendricks led the winners with 8 points.

Warren-Alvarado-Oslo beat Thief River Falls 42-30 in a Feb. 21 match-up that featured quarter leads of 14-2, 24-11 and 34-18 for the winners. Kelly Cota led Thief River Falls with 8 points.

Sub-Section 32A girls tournament won by Wildcats

Sub-Section 32A Girls

■ Finals Saturday March 1 - (at NCTC) Tri County 50, Kittson Central 46 (championship), Bager Greenbush Middle River 37, Stephen Argyle 24 (third)

Afton Hanson scored 20 of her game-high 22 points in the second half Saturday as Tri County came from behind to beat Kittson Central 50-46 in the Sub-Section 32A girls high school basketball tournament championship game at Northland Community and Technical College.

The Wolfpack led 10-8 at the end of the first quarter and had a 20-15 halftime lead. But three Hanson 3-pointers helped put the Wildcats on top 32-30 at the close of the third quarter.

In the fourth quarter, Hanson, a freshman, and Alesia Stechmann, an eighth grader, insured a Tri-County win by hitting five free throws each.

Criminal sexual conduct case filed

Law enforcement officials investigated a number of accidents during the past week.

Criminal Sexual Conduct. On February 28, police received a report of three missing minor females. They later obtained information on where they were at and found them on March 1. The minors were turned over to their parents and guardians, but one guardian returned with a child who reported being sexually assaulted. Upon investigation into the complaint, John Russell Heden, 25, Oklee, was charged with criminal sexual conduct in the third degree. The charge stems from alleged criminal sexual contact with a female minor under the age of 16 and over the age of 13 in the City of Goodridge. Possible charges are pending against another individual.

Accidents. On February 25 at 3:45 p.m. police received a report of an accident at Eighth and Dewey. William Arthur Leonard, Thief River Falls, was driving a pickup east and David Paul Sundberg, Grygla, was driving a car east and collided with the rear of the Leonard vehicle when it stopped in traffic. Sundberg was cited for following too closely. Damages were estimated at $1,000 to the Sunderberg vehicle and $1,000 to the Leonard vehicle.

On February 28 at 11:28 p.m. police received a report of an accident at the Amoco 24 station. According to the accident report, Jack Michael Hanson, Thief River Falls, was attempting to turn in the parking lot and was unable to stop and slid into the building. Damage loss was estimated at $1,500 to the Hanson vehicle, a 1988 Nissan pickup, and $150 to the building.

On March 1 at 12:30 p.m. the sheriff's department received a report of an accident on State Aid 3. Gary Bernard Carberry, Grand Forks was driving a van east when near the intersection with County road 67 on State Aid 3 he lost control on ice and the van went into the ditch and rolled. Damage loss was estimated at $2,000.

On March 2 at 10:10 a.m. police received a report of an accident at Highway 59 and Barzen Avenue. Donald Duane Joppru, Thief River Falls, was driving a pickup south on Barzen stopped for the stop sign and entered the intersection with Highway 59 and his vehicle collided with a pickup driven by Roger Dan Lehrman of Argyle. Lehrman was driving a pickup east on Highway 59. Damage loss was estimated at $1,000 to the Joppru vehicle and $2,500 to the Lehrman vehicle.

Drugs. On March 28 during a routine traffic stop, officers discovered drug paraphernalia and a small amount of marijuana in the possession of passengers. Adam Joseph Houghtaling, Red Lake Falls, 19, was cited for possession of drug parapernalia. Levi Baptist Davis, Red Lake Falls, 18, was cited for possession of a small amount of marijuana, and drug paraphernalia.

Consumption under age. On February 27 at 10:26 p.m. police received a complaint from an apartment manager regarding noise and youth drinking beer at a local apartment. Five minors between the ages of 18 and 20 were cited for consumption under age.

These reports include names of individuals charged, arrested or cited with various crimes and offenses by police, the sheriff's department or other law enforcement officials. Depending upon the circumstances of a case, charges can be, and sometimes are, changed or dropped by law enforcement officials or attorneys even before the case reaches court. Readers should also realize that under the American system of jurisprudence, individuals charged with crimes are innocent until proven guilty of those crimes in a court of law.

Volunteers begin Daffodil Days preparations

March 11-17 are days Pennington county residents should remember. That's when Mother Nature will be helping the American Cancer Society Pennington County Unit by providing thousands of yellow daffodils.

A corps of volunteers will be bringing this first spring flower, the flower of hope, to area residents during Daffodil Days. This signifies the start of the local fund-raising crusade against cancer. Donations collected from the flower sale will be used for cancer research, education and patient services.

Over two million daffodils will be shipped from the State of Washington for Daffodil Days in Minnesota. The freshly cut flower will be shipped to Thief River Falls on March 9 and made available for sale by March 11.

Greg and Gayle Hilgeman of Oklee are participants in the Red River Valley Emerging Leadership Program. They were Pennington county's representatives in the Agassiz Leaders program and attended the annual awards banquet recently at the University of Minnesota - Crookston.

Hilgemans to take part in RRV leadership program

The Hilgemans recently attended the Agassiz Leaders awards banquet at the University of Minnesota in Crookston at which Jerry and Cindy Arneson of Moorhead were named Agassiz Ambassadors XXXVII. Jerry Arneson is a Roseau high school graduate and an extension educator in crop systems for the Minnesota Extension Service in Moorhead.

The Hilgemans farm 1,700 acres of land, producing wheat, barley, corn and sunflowers, and operate a 200 cow beef herd. They have three children: Frances, 16, Sylvia, 14, and Scott, 7 and employ one full-time and two part-time people to assist with the farm work.

Greg is a graduate of Minneapolis public schools and the University of Minnesota in St. Paul. He has served as president and secretary of the Northwest Stockmen's Association, is a state director of the Minnesota State Cattlemen and director and research chair of the Minnesota Beef Council.

Serving as the current president of the Red Lake Watershed District board of managers, he is also a member of the Independent School District 627 board of education. Greg holds N.C.B.A. membership and is a member of the Minnesota Wheat Growers Association, Minnesota Barley Growers Association, Northern Plains Premium Beef and United Spring Wheat Processors.

The Hilgemans are invited to participate in four leadership sessions along with 15 other couples from the Red River Valley. Sessions are held in Fargo/Moorhead, Thief River Falls, Crookston and St. Paul and focus on personal leadership styles, gender differences in communication, media relations, conflict management in communities, local, state and federal economies, and legislative issues that affect Minnesota.

Final session for the 1997 class will be held March 19-21 in St. Paul. The Hilgemans will meet with legislators from northwest Minnesota, tour the State Capitol, visit the University of Minnesota and learn about the state economy and issues faced during the 1997 legislative session.

The Red River Valley Emerging Leadership program was developed in 1985 by a small group of people who felt there was a need to help individuals develop their leadership potential. The program was founded on the idea that effective leadership can be learned and that leaders grow into positions of leadership, motivated by a sense of responsibility for themselves and their communities.

The program is filled with opportunities for rural leaders in the Red River Valley to develop and expand their leadership skills. This takes place through a series of monthly programs designed to focus on leadership at personal, community, regional and state levels.

In the 12 years since the [illegible] program was initiated, over 300 individuals have participated in the program. Ultimate benefits, however, go to the people and communities of the Red River Valley as participants learn to access information about current issues and public policies, improve their leadership skills and develop relationships with other leaders who will support and challenge them in the years ahead.

Counties participating in the program include Becker, Clay, Clearwater, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, East and West Otter Tail, Pennington, East and West Polk, Red Lake, Roseau and Wilkin.

The program is sponsored by the Minnesota Extension Service. Major financial contributions for the program come from the Red River Valley Development Association, Farm Credit Services, Red River Valley Sugar Beet Growers Association, Pioneer Seeds, participating counties, foundations and agri-businesses.

Jody Horntvedt, extension educator from Lake of the Woods county and Howard Person, extension educator from Pennington county, along with Northwest District Director Deborah Zak, coordinate the program in cooperation with an advisory board.

For more information contact the Minnesota Extension Service at 1-800-693-1511 or Jody Horntvedt via E-mail at jhorntvedt@mes.umn.edu.

11 counties are eligible for help with livestock

Congressman Collin C. Peterson has announced that 11 additional counties in the 7th District are now eligible for a new cost-share assistance program to help producers provide feed for livestock. Producers in Becker, Clearwater, Douglas, Grant, Mahnomen, Otter Tail, Pennington, Pope, Red Lake, Roseau and Stevens counties in the 7th District are eligible to apply for the Foundation Livestock Relief Program (FLRP).

"Because of the extreme amount of severe weather that has hit the area this year, many producers have seen their cattle suffer added nutritional problems," Peterson said. "The FLRP was developed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) to provide assistance to livestock producers that are eligible."

The Farm Service Agency (FSA) will provide to eligible producers a 30 per cent cost share on the lesser of the actual feed costs or the computed 30 days of normal feed ration (15.7 pounds of corn per day per animal unit). Producers will have to present purchase receipts to receive assistance. Only receipts reflecting purchases from January 10 through March 14 will be accepted.

This assistance is limited to foundation herd and replacement livestock only in those counties named in the Presidential disaster declarations of January 10 and 12 of this year. Details on this program are available at local County FSA offices.

According to economist with Federal Reserve

Upper Midwest farmers and ranchers are among the hardest hit by the severity of the 1996-97 winter, according to an article that appears in the "fedgazette" and written by Edward D. Lotterman, agricultural economist at the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis.

"With snowfalls exceeding usual levels, record low temperatures set throughout the region and average temperatures among the five worst on record, the ag sector is taking a hit, with cattle raisers under the greatest immediate pressure," Lotterman says.

- Early snows forced cattle raisers to dip into winter feed stocks early when pastures became unavailable for grazing. Montana hay prices nearly doubled with the unexpected demand for feed. The increased cost of hay put severe pressure on the cash flows of ranchers, who normally have few variable expenditures.
- Extreme cold and windchills have killed livestock in some areas. A late-January estimate puts the losses at about 40,000 cattle in South Dakota, 16,000 in North Dakota and almost 3,000 in Minnesota; no reports were available for Montana. Prolonged stress due to cold temperatures on surviving cattle may lead to higher calf mortality in spring.
- Snow loads have collapsed or damaged livestock buildings, denying livestock adequate shelter. Dairy farmers report that their cows have suffered from frostbitten udders and other health problems. Dairy farmers have had to dump milk because bulk trucks could not reach the farms for pickup.
- Hog and poultry farmers have struggled with snowdrifts blocking fan ducts and other ventilation facilities, and nearly 190,000 chickens and turkeys have been reported lost in Minnesota due to collapsed buildings.
- Farmers have had to use more diesel fuel to run standby alternators and plow snow.

"While the full economic costs of the severe winter cannot be tabulated for some time, they are considerable. Losses will be hard on many individual producers and communities, but they are not likely to significantly affect prices or output for the nation as a whole," Lotterman says.

Counties to link up to state's network

Benefits of sharing a network connection with state agencies have become obvious for Minnesota's county governments. After successfully demonstrating in Clay and Sibley counties that cost-sharing a network line results in increased telecommunications capacity at decreased costs, the Telecommunications Collaboration Project is expanding to connect other counties to the state's high-speed network, MNet. E-mail, Internet access, high-speed data transfer, and videoconferencing are affordable for local units of government to help them improve their service delivery to citizens and save taxpayer dollars.

Begun in 1995, the purpose of the project is to link state and local government agencies, libraries, K-12 schools, and colleges and universities to a common network; current emphasis is placed on linking counties. Thirty-eight counties have begun negotiations with the State of Minnesota to participate in the project. The findings below illustrate how technology is re-engineering government in Minnesota.

Cost-saving examples:

- Annual operating costs for Internet, data and video services for Sibley county. Before project: $27,600. Current annual operating costs for Internet, data and video services for Sibley county: $3,600.
- Approximately $480 is saved for each Sibley county commitment hearing held through interactive video.
- The State of Minnesota will save $1 million per year in projected costs under the collaboration model.

Benefits/applications:

- E-mail allows for faster communication between state and local agencies and reduces phone, paper and postage costs.
- Fast Transmission of reports, maps, graphics, criminal records, etc., over high-speed lines.
- Videoconferencing is used for training, classes, business seminars, and administrative purposes like meetings, which result in major savings in travel costs and productive work time.

"We are extremely excited to see more and more counties willing to partner with the State of Minnesota to help reduce costs for technology," said Merry Beckmann, membership services manager for the Association of Minnesota Counties. "The project is providing access to local agencies that simply could not afford the technology on their own."

"The Governor and his administration are very supportive of the project," said Administration Commissioner Elaine Hansen. "We see the effort as a way to manage scarce resources and to re-engineer the way government does business."

The project is coordinated by the InterTechnologies Group, Department of Administration (http://www.state.mn.us/ebranch/admin). Project leaders hope to bring network lines into all 87 counties by mid-1998.

Baptism

We had a chance to welcome a nice little baby girl last Sunday when David and Jamie Sawyer of Wadena brought their baby daughter, Kennedy Ann Marie Sawyer, over to Gully Church to be baptized by Rev. Bob Kelly at the Sunday service. We were also happy to see so many friends and relatives caring enough about the new little member of the relationship to come for one of the first big events in the life of a new born. Godparents for the baby were Kim and Jame Hess Jr. of Buffalo. Grandparents are James and Barbara Sawyer and James and Donna Hess all of Gully. She is lucky enough to have great-grandparents Dorothy Hogue of Gonvick and David L. and Martha E. Russell of Phoenix, AZ, James and Imogean Sawyer of Smithfield, VA. After the service, dinner was served at the K.C. Club in Gonvick. Welcome Kennedy, you'll have many anxious to rock you to sleep.

Effie Handy has had much company lately and she's happy! Her daughter JoAnn, Mrs. Frank De Marina came on Thursday to visit her mother and other friends and relatives for a week. Mr. and Mrs. Larry Emerson also visited with Effie that day. On Friday, Marlan Handy of Fosston, Lyn and Maja Turenne of Thief River Falls were there. On Saturday, they all enjoyed a visit and supper at the Turenne Cabin at Clearwater Lake with Ed and Lyn. On Saturday, Larry and Norma took Effie and JoAnn along to Thief River Falls to spend the day.

Some of us have been over to Fosston to visit Esther Thorsson at First Care. Breaking a hip is not good for anyone but Esther seems to have taken the pain and discomfort well and is looking forward to being active again. The welcome sign is still on her door at Gully and we wait for her to come back and cook coffee for us at her place. Her daughter Eunice NoConaughy from Rolling Hills Estate, CA, is here visiting her mother for a few days.

Some of us have been over to Fosston to visit Esther Thorsson at First Care. Breaking a hip is not good for anyone but Esther seems to have taken the pain and discomfort well and is looking forward to being active again. The welcome sign is still on her door at Gully and we wait for her to come back and cook coffee for us at her place. Her daughter Eunice NcConaughy from Rolling Hills Estate, CA, is here visiting her mother for a few days.

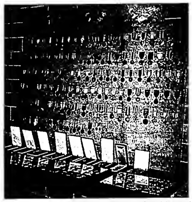
John Lubitz (back to camera) of the Hardware Hank store in Thief River Falls shows a potential customer the .22 caliber rifles he has available at the gun show held Saturday and Sunday at the National Guard armory in Thief River Falls. A large crowd attended the event Saturday and a smaller crowd Sunday with more than 75 tables of items for sale.



Collection of military medals was displayed by Gary Johnson of Thief River Falls at the gun show Saturday and Sunday in the National Guard armory. The second annual event had greatly increased participation from both exhibitor and attendance standpoints over the first event a year ago. Johnson's exhibit of every medal issued by the U. S. military attracted a good deal of attention from show visitors.

Price-Fixing Case Backfiring On FBI

Following column by Paul Craig Roberts, who writes for Scripps Howard News Service, appeared in the February 1 issue of the Rocky Mountain News in Denver, CO.

The Justice Department's highly touted price-fixing case against agribusiness giant Archer-Daniels-Midland (ADM) vice chairman Mick Andreas and former group vice president Terrance Wilson has run into a backlash from one of its primary witnesses.

Mark Whitacre, a former ADM executive, has filed a damage suit in federal district court in Illinois against Brian Shepard, the FBI agent who handled the case. Whitacre says he was forced by Department of Justice "threats" of criminal prosecution to help create a price-fixing case against ADM. He charges Shepard with violating his rights, physical abuse and repeated threats that caused him to have a nervous breakdown.

In his court complaint, Whitacre says he was approached by the FBI and Department of Justice about assisting "the DOJ with a criminal investigation of ADM and its officers and ADM's competitors in respect to a possible future price-fixing scheme." In other words, a price-fixing scheme that he, Whitacre, would set up.

In a recent interview with Fortune magazine, Whitacre says that when he first discussed cooperating with the FBI in November 1992, "ADM wasn't fixing prices yet."

Some ADM executives claim Whitacre agreed to orchestrate price-fixing meetings for the FBI in order to deflect attention from, or avoid prosecution for, his own schemes that eventually defrauded ADM of as much as $10 million, according to court documents. ADM has filed suit to recover its money.

In a curious twist, the Department of Justice also has indicted Whitacre in its price-fixing actions despite an agreement that he would be given immunity for his participation in providing videotaped evidence against ADM for the FBI.

The FBI used selected portions of the tapes to convince both ADM's directors and its Japanese competitors to settle the price-fixing charges against the companies out of court by paying fines only. Other portions of the tapes contain numerous instances of some ADM executives dismissing price-fixing as out of the question.

And now, in his court suit and in his interview with Fortune, Whitacre describes how in the spring of 1993 Brian Shepard told him to destroy a tape in which ADM vice-chairman Mick Andreas dismissed out of hand Whitacre's suggestion that ADM get together with Cargill, a competitor, to fix prices.

Whitacre now claims Shepard told him that tape "is not good for this case" and that he should "take the thing home and destroy it." Whitacre says he still has the tape.

There is an indirect reason for the FBI's assault on ADM. In the 1980s the FBI believed that traders at the Chicago Board of Trade were manipulating prices. They organized a sting operation with their agents disguised as ADM traders. When ADM executives found out that FBI agents were conducting a sting under ADM cover, Mick Andreas says he hit the ceiling, not because he was against the FBI or in favor of price-fixing, but because he realized that ADM would never be trusted again at the Chicago Board of Trade and would be unable to conduct its business there in the future.

He says he demanded that the FBI stop posing as ADM employees, which forced the FBI to close down the operation before it could develop convincing cases, thereby making an enemy of the FBI.

If the allegations prove credible, the case warrants a full congressional investigation into the lengths the federal agency will go to settle its scores.

Weather Deals Another Blow To Activities.:... But Worst Yet To Come

Monday's heavy snowfall left us feeling a little miffed again after spending a goodly part of Sunday afternoon pushing a snow blower to clear driveway and related areas of the previously most recent accumulation of the white stuff. We have lost track of the number of times that chore has been necessary during this seemingly endless winter.

While the feelings of self-pity were still at a high level Monday morning, we stopped at Lincoln high school for a photo-taking session and two of the people we ran into in the principal's office and the hallway were Darcy Reese and Jim Sims. Mrs. Reese is the vocal music instructor at the school and Sims is the co-curricular activities director. We thought the weather has given us a problem!

Mrs. Reese had a concert scheduled for Monday evening that had been months in the making. The multi-cultural concert involved all of the school's choirs plus instrumentalists and guest participants. It had taken countless hours of creative planning and revision and rehearsal. As snow fell heavily outside and increasing winds were forecast, possible postponement or at least a sharp decline in anticipated attendance if the concert were held as scheduled seemed inevitable.

For Sims the difficulty of a winter plagued by weather-caused postponements and cancellations, rescheduling and re-rescheduling was being compounded by the ending of seasons and activities. Tournaments and play-offs and other season-ending competitions involve travel and multiple schools and tight schedules to meet the next tiers of advancement.

And for Darcy and Jim and others throughout the region involved with similar disappointments and inconveniences, their problems will pale in comparison with the added moisture this and succeeding snowfalls will contribute to flood problems and the damage and misery flooding will cause.

As bad as things may seem in our own little worlds, looking at the big picture can provide a whole new perspective. And the view on that level is that the worst is yet to come.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Satran of Clearbrook were dinner guests at the Orville and Elaine Haugen home on Sunday. Then they attended the country music at the Cafe in the afternoon.

For people that used to trade at the Melbo Mercantile Store will be interested in knowing we just found out Hans Melbo's son Ralph Melbo from Rogers, AK passed away on January 18, 1997. Now there is only one left of the Hans Melbo family since Irving passed away in 1995. Phyllis was and is a nurse and served in World War II. She is married to Dentist Mitchold and lives in San Antonio, TX.

Cathy Sogers and Doreen Brovold are among the few that can celebrate two holidays at the same time their birthdays and Valentines Day. Cathy had made a nice heart shaped cake and invited us over Friday evening for a taste and with ice cream and coffee. It really hit the spot among those there to enjoy it besides Cathy and Wendt were Larry Senger, Bob and Jean Senger, Larry and Jeannie Sorenson and Sanna Brovold.

Gay and Doreen Brovold treated guests to a dinner at Pine Lake Tuesday evening to celebrate their daughter Sarah's 13th birthday. Present to enjoy a good meal besides the three were grandparents Wendt and Cathy Senger, Sanna Brovold, also Larry Senger and Larry and Jeanie Sorenson.

To The Editor:

As chief of the DNR's Section of Wildlife, I'd like to clarify our position on deer feeding. I am concerned that this issue has caused too much unnecessary division among those of us who care deeply about the future of Minnesota's deer and its deer hunting traditions.

It is unfortunate that some people have characterized our opposition to large, government-run deer feeding programs as somehow turning our backs on deer populations and deer hunting in Minnesota. Nothing could be further from the truth.

At the request of the legislature, we evaluated the effects of both the 1989 and 1996 feeding programs. The conclusion of both evaluations was that these programs, while helpful to local deer, did not prevent widespread deer losses. These results are also supported by other studies.

Our commitment to the public and to deer management over the past two decades has been to apply sound biology to manage deer habitats and populations for long-term benefits. This approach has been successful. Since the early 1970s we have protected and improved thousands of acres of summer and winter deer habitat, and used the antlerless permit system to produce a deer herd with a much higher proportion of productive females. As a result, deer have a better chance of surviving severe winters and their populations recover more quickly. Deer populations have reached their maximum goal levels in most areas of the state in recent years, and we have developed innovative solutions to deer damage problems and high urban deer populations. Our success could not have happened without public support.

Some people have asked, "Even if a DNR run feeding program saves a relatively small proportion of the population, what's the harm in trying?" The main reason is that a state-run feeding program, even with a massive volunteer effort, diverts scarce time and money from effective, long-term deer management activities such as improving and protecting critical habitat, working with forest land managers to develop timber harvest plans that benefit deer and other species, and conducting basic research on deer that is critical to our decision-making.

That doesn't mean that we object if people feed deer, pack trails or cut browse to help deer where they live or where they hunt. In fact, we routinely provide technical information on how to feed and do other practices properly. While we know that such activities can help deer in local areas, it is a far different story when you try to significantly reduce deer losses across the state.

The politically popular course of action this winter would have been for us to ignore the results of the science and go along with a feeding effort. But, we believe that would have done Minnesota's deer management program a disservice. We have a responsibility to provide the facts and to make our best professional recommendations to those who ultimately make the decisions.

The majority of Minnesota's deer will survive the winter whether or not they are artificially fed. That was true last winter and will be true this winter. Deer are wild animals, not livestock, that have been adapting to Minnesota winters for thousands of years. The strongest deer survive to become the foundation for even stronger future deer herds.

We in the DNR will continue to work with hunters and all other Minnesotans who care about deer to maintain and improve one of the best deer management programs in the country, while continuing to provide some of the finest deer hunting opportunities and traditions available anywhere.

Sincerely,
Tim Bremicker, Chief
DNR Section of Wildlife

New Name for Water Carnival is Sought in Jayeee Contest

"The Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the water carnival held each summer on July 3 and 4 in Thief River Falls, today invited residents of this community to suggest a more descriptive name for the annual event, and one that will distinguish it from water carnivals held in other northwestern Minnesota cities.

"Arthur Christianson, Jaycee president, stated that the organization is offering a $25 cash prize to the person suggesting the winning name. Rules and regulations of the contest will be published in the next issue of the Times, together with a coupon on which all entries must be submitted.

"He added that a coupon will appear on each of the next four issues of the Times and that the contest will end April 15, with the winner to be announced Thursday, May 1."

Paint And Glass Supply Is In Enlarged Quarters

"E. A. Emanuel, proprietor of the Paint and Glass Supply, this week announced the removal of the establishment from its former location at 309 East Third st. to enlarged and remodeled quarters in the Wetch building one block west at 215 East Third st."

Boy Scout Waste Paper Pickup Coming Shortly

"Boy Scout Explorer Troop 60 will conduct a waste paper collection throughout the city within the next three weeks, Morris Owen, troop leader, announced today in the same time urging householders to accumulate all paper possible in the meantime."

Four Pastors To Give Brief Talks Next Week On KTRF Church Hour

"'Your Church on the Air', radio feature heard over Station KTRF each weekday morning at 10:30 will continue next week with talks by Rev. G. S. Thompson Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday mornings. Rev. D. T. Beadle, to whom the last three days of the week have been assigned, will speak Thursday morning and he has arranged for Rev. Merrill Nelson of Red Lake Falls to speak Friday, and for Rev. Walter Fleagle of Warren to appear Saturday morning, March 15."

Times Reader Brings In Leghorn Egg, Weight 8 1/2 Ounces

"A monster Leghorn egg weighing no less than six and one-half ounces was brought into the Times office Wednesday by Hugo Swanson, living two miles west of this city. Unfortunately the giant hen fruit is not on display, as the Times reporter broke it while attempting to measure its girth."

County Pupils in KTRF Spelling Bee Saturday

"A group of Pennington county rural school pupils will participate Saturday afternoon at 4:15 in a spelling bee over Radio Station KTRF, it was announced. Mrs. A. C. Matheson, county superintendent of schools, will be in charge, assisted by several rural teachers."

—President Truman says that on his trip to Mexico this week he won't attend a bull fight. He evidentally has had his fill of scraps lately.

—Rather quaint was the note received by a Minnesota Red Cross unit from a 15-year-old French girl who had received a sweater. "The pullover," she wrote, "is very beautiful and very hot."

—Speaking of typographical errors, consider this from a Salt Lake City paper. "Mrs. Blank, recent debutante, has entered the hospital for the removal of a rumor."

—Local truckers don't relish the coming weeks when load restrictions will be in effect on the highways.

—If you think the OPA is dead, you are mistaken. The agency still has 15,000 persons on its payrolls, many of them drawing upper bracket salaries.

—Will Rogers, they tell us, had the solution for traffic congestion. He suggested that the highways be used only by cars that were paid for.

—The cities of Bemidji, Crookston and Fergus Falls are working on new charters. Maybe Thief River Falls had better get in line.

—The Detroit Lakes Tribune tells about a young couple that fed a pig a cup of sugar each week with the expectation of butchering sugar-cured ham.

—Clipped definition: A bathing suit is a garment with no hooks but plenty of eyes on it.

—Now that you folks have succeeded in getting by last week's personal property tax hurdle, you can prepare to ante up for Uncle Sam March 15.

—Funny goings-on in Florida. A St. Petersburg paper carried this ad -- Wanted: Manager to take charge of business. Must be able to furnish $500 blond.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA.

A Disorganized Village

"The rule or ruin fellows who have intruded themselves Cromwellian-like into office, seem determined to harass, annoy and if possible, destroy the principal business interest in the village. They are the successors of those who have heretofore illegally issued village orders and script, greatly in excess of the statutory limit and they now seek to bond the village for spending money. They think the lumber firm of P & J Mellon is in their way and they conspire together to destroy their business. Last week there was published by little Ware under the head of Official Proceedings, a lying statement to the effect that 'Certain lumbermen doing business on said river, (Red Lake River) have rendered navigation almost impossible.' This lying statement was made only for the purpose of annoyance.

"[From the legal authority of] Buncombe: the Red Lake River is a highway and if obstructed by any persons, the law of the State of Minnesota would provide ample remedies for removing it.

"It does not need a lying appeal to Congressman Eddy to remove obstructions to navigation. Empty houses and empty store buildings are fast telling the story of a disorganized village. Ruin is bound to follow the advice of such fellows as little Ware. Plenty of insurance may save them for a while, but ruin is bound to follow, where rule or ruin is the motto."

Price-Fixing Case Backfiring On FBI

Following column by Paul Craig Roberts who writes for Scripps Howard News Service, appeared in the February 1 issue of the Rocky Mountain News in Denver, CO.

The Justice Department's highly touted price-fixing case against agribusiness giant Archer-Daniels Midland (ADM) vice chairman Mick Andreas and former group vice president Terrance Wilson has run into a backlash from one of its primary witnesses.

Mark Whitacre, a former ADM executive, has filed a damage suit in federal district court in Illinois against Brian Shepard, the FBI agent who handled the case. Whitacre says he was forced by Department of Justice "threats" of criminal prosecution to help create a price-fixing case against ADM. He charges Shepard with violating his rights, physical abuse and repeated threats that caused him to have a nervous breakdown.

In his court complaint, Whitacre says he was approached by the FBI and Department of Justice about assisting "the DOJ with a criminal investigation of ADM and its officers and ADM's competitors in respect to a possible future price-fixing scheme." In other words, a price-fixing scheme that Mr. Whitacre would set up.

In a recent interview with Fortune magazine, Whitacre says that when he first discussed cooperating with the FBI in November 1992, "ADM wasn't fixing prices yet."

Some ADM executives claim Whitacre agreed to orchestrate price-fixing meetings for the FBI in order to deflect attention from, or avoid prosecution for, his own schemes that eventually defrauded ADM of as much as $10 million, according to court documents. ADM has filed suit to recover its money.

In a curious twist, the Department of Justice also has indicted Whitacre in its price-fixing actions despite an agreement that he would be given immunity for his participation in providing videotaped evidence against ADM for the FBI.

The FBI used selected portions of the tapes to convince both ADM's directors and its Japanese competitors to settle the price-fixing charges against the companies out of court by paying fines only. Other portions of the tapes contain numerous instances of some ADM executives dismissing price-fixing as out of the question.

And now, in his court suit and in his interview with Fortune, Whitacre describes how in the spring of 1993 Brian Shepard told him to destroy a tape in which ADM vice-chairman Mick Andreas dismissed out of hand Whitacre's suggestion that ADM get together with Cargill, a competitor, to fix prices.

Whitacre now claims Shepard told him that tape "is not good for this case" and that he should "take the thing home and destroy it." Whitacre says he still has the tape.

There is an indirect reason for the FBI's assault on ADM. In the 1980s the FBI believed that traders at the Chicago Board of Trade were manipulating prices. They organized a sting operation with their agents disguised as ADM traders. When ADM executives found out that FBI agents were conducting a sting under ADM cover, Mick Andreas says he hit the ceiling, not because he was against the FBI or in favor of price fixing, but because he realized that ADM would never be trusted again at the Chicago Board of Trade and would be unable to conduct its business there in the future.

He says he demanded that the FBI stop posing as ADM employees, which forced the FBI to close down the operation before it could develop convincing cases, thereby making an enemy of the FBI.

If the allegations prove credible, the case warrants a full congressional investigation into the lengths the federal agency will go to settle its scores.

Weather Deals Another Blow To Activities:... But Worst Yet To Come

Monday's heavy snowfall left us feeling a little miffed again after spending a goodly part of Sunday afternoon pushing a snow blower to clear driveway and related areas of the previously most recent accumulation of the white stuff. We have lost track of the number of times that chore has been necessary during this seemingly endless winter.

While the feelings of self-pity were still at a high level Monday morning, we stopped at Lincoln high school for a photo taking session and two of the people we ran into in the principal's office and the hallway were Darcy Reese and Jim Sims. Mrs. Reese is the vocal music instructor at the school and Sims is the co-curricular activities director. We thought the weather has given us a problem!

Mrs. Reese had a concert scheduled for Monday evening that had been months in the making. The multi-cultural concert involved all of the school's choirs plus instrumentalists and guest participants. It had taken countless hours of creative planning and revision and rehearsal. As snow fell heavily outside and increasing winds were forecast, possible postponement or at least a sharp decline in anticipated attendance if the concert were held as scheduled seemed inevitable.

For Sims the difficulty of a winter plagued by weather-caused postponements and cancellations, rescheduling and re-rescheduling was being compounded by the ending of seasons and activities. Tournaments and play-offs and other season-ending competitions involve travel and multiple schools and tight schedules to meet the next tiers of advancement.

And for Darcy and Jim and others throughout the region involved with similar disappointments and inconveniences, their problems will pale in comparison with the added moisture this and succeeding snowfalls will contribute to flood problems and the damage and misery flooding will cause.

As bad as things may seem in our own little worlds, looking at the big picture can provide a whole new perspective. And the view on that level is that the worst is yet to come.

To The Editor:

As chief of the DNR's Section of Wildlife, I'd like to clarify our position on deer feeding. I am concerned that this issue has caused too much unnecessary division among those of us who care deeply about the future of Minnesota's deer and its deer hunting traditions.

It is unfortunate that some people have characterized our opposition to large, government-run deer feeding programs as somehow turning our backs on deer populations and deer hunting in Minnesota. Nothing could be further from the truth.

At the request of the legislature, we evaluated the effects of both the 1989 and 1996 feeding programs. The conclusion of both evaluations was that these programs, while helpful to local deer, did not prevent widespread deer losses. These results are also supported by other studies.

Our commitment to the public and to deer management over the past two decades has been to apply sound biology to manage deer habitats and populations for long-term benefits. This approach has been successful. Since the early 1970s we have protected and improved thousands of acres of summer and winter deer habitat, and used the antlerless permit system to produce a deer herd with a much higher proportion of productive females. As a result, deer have a better chance of surviving severe winters and their populations recover more quickly. Deer populations have reached their maximum goal levels in most areas of the state in recent years and we have developed innovative solutions to deer damage problems and high urban deer populations. Our success could not have happened without public support.

Some people have asked, "Even if a DNR-run feeding program saves a relatively small proportion of the population, what's the harm in trying?" The main reason is that a state-run feeding program, even with a massive volunteer effort, diverts scarce time and money from effective, long-term deer management activities such as improving and protecting critical habitat, working with forest land managers to develop timber harvest plans that benefit deer and other species, and conducting basic research on deer that is critical to our decision-making.

That doesn't mean that we object if people feed deer, pack trails or cut browse to help deer where they live or where they hunt. In fact, we routinely provide technical information on how to feed and do other practices properly. While we know that such activities can help deer in local areas, it is a far different story when you try to significantly reduce deer losses across the state.

The politically popular course of action this winter would have been for us to ignore the results of the science and go along with a feeding effort. But, we believe that would have done Minnesota's deer management program a disservice. We have a responsibility to provide the facts and to make our best professional recommendations to those who ultimately make the decisions.

The majority of Minnesota's deer will survive the winter whether or not they are artificially fed. That was true last winter and will be true this winter. Deer are wild animals, not livestock, that have been adapting to Minnesota winters for thousands of years. The strongest deer survive to become the foundation for even stronger future deer herds.

We in the DNR will continue to work with hunters and all other Minnesotans who care about deer to maintain and improve one of the best deer management programs in the country, while continuing to provide some of the finest deer hunting opportunities and traditions available anywhere.

HISTORICAL REVIEW OF THE TIMES AND ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR

FROM THE PAGES OF THE TIMES

50 YEARS AGO • MARCH 6, 1947

by Jerome and Donna Myhrer

New Name for Water Carnival is Sought in Jaycee Contest

"The Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the water carnival held each summer on July 3 and 4 in Thief River Falls, today invited residents of this community to suggest a more descriptive name for the annual event, and one that will distinguish it from water carnivals held in other northwestern Minnesota cities.

"Arthur Christianson, Jaycee president, stated that the organization is offering a $25 cash prize to the person suggesting the winning name. Rules and regulations of the contest will be published in the next issue of the Times, together with a coupon on which all entries must be submitted.

"He added that a coupon will appear in each of the next four issues of the Times and that the contest will end April 15, with the winner to be announced Thursday, May 1."

Paint And Glass Supply Is In Enlarged Quarters

"E. A. Emanuel, proprietor of the Paint and Glass Supply, this week announced the removal of the establishment from its former location at 309 East Third st. to enlarged and remodeled quarters in the Welch building one block west at 215 East Third st."

Boy Scout Waste Paper Pickup Coming Shortly

"Boy Scout Explorer Troop 60 will conduct a waste paper collection throughout the city within the next three weeks, Morris Owen, troop leader, announced today. At the same time urging householders to accumulate all paper possible in the meantime."

Four Pastors To Give Brief Talks Next Week On KTRF Church Hour

"Your Church on the Air," radio feature heard over Station KTRF each weekday morning at 10:30 will continue next week with talks by Rev. G. S. Thompson Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday mornings. Rev. D. T. Bealle, to whom the last three days of the week have been assigned, will speak Thursday morning and he has arranged for Rev. Merrill Nelson of Red Lake Falls to speak Friday, and for Rev. Walter Fleagle of Warren to appear Saturday morning, March 15."

Times Reader Brings In Leghorn Egg, Weight 6 1/2 Ounces

"A monster Leghorn egg weighing no less than six and one-half ounces was brought into the Times office Wednesday by Hugo Swanson, living two miles west of this city. Unfortunately the giant hen fruit is not on display, as the Times reporter broke it while attempting to measure its girth."

County Pupils in KTRF Spelling Bee Saturday

"A group of Pennington county rural school pupils will participate Saturday afternoon at 4:15 in a spelling bee over Radio Station KTRF, it was announced. Mrs. A. C. Mathieson, county superintendent of schools, will be in charge, assisted by several rural teachers."

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

50 YEARS AGO • MARCH 6, 1947

Editorial comments from the files of Norm A. Holen

—President Truman says that on his trip to Mexico this week he won't attend a bull fight. He evidentally has had his fill of scraps lately.

—Rather quaint was the note received by a Minnesota Red Cross unit from a 15-year-old French girl who had received a sweater. "The pullover," she wrote, "is very beautiful and very hot."

—Speaking of typographical errors, consider this from a Salt Lake City paper: "Mrs. Blank, recent debutante, has entered the hospital for the removal of a rumor."

—Local truckers don't relish the coming weeks when load restrictions will be in effect on the highways.

—If you think the OPA is dead, you are mistaken. The agency still has 15,000 persons on its payrolls, many of them drawing upper bracket salaries.

—Will Rogers, they tell us, had the solution for traffic congestion. He suggested that the highways be used only by cars that were paid for.

—The cities of Bemidji, Crookston and Fergus Falls are working on new charters. Maybe Thief River Falls had better get in line.

—The Detroit Lakes Tribune tells about a young couple that fed a pig a cup of sugar each week with the expectation of butchering sugar-cured ham.

—Clipped definition: A bathing suit is a garment with no hooks but plenty of eyes on it.

—Now that you folks have succeeded in getting by last week's personal property tax hurdle, you can prepare to ante up for Uncle Sam March 15.

—Funny goings-on in Florida. A St. Petersburg paper carried this ad -- Wanted: Manager to take charge of business. Must be able to furnish $500 blond.

FROM THE NEW CITY

THIEF RIVER FALLS, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA

A Disorganized Village

"The rule or ruin fellows who have intruded themselves, Cromwellian-like into office, seem determined to harass, annoy and if possible, destroy the principal business interest in the village. They are the successors of those who have heretofore illegally issued village orders and script, greatly in excess of the statutory limit and they now seek to bond the village for spending money. They think the lumber firm of P & J Meehan is in their way and they conspire together to destroy their business. Last week there was published by little Ware under the head of 'Official Proceedings,' a lying statement to the effect that 'Certain lumbermen doing business on said river, (Red Lake River) have rendered navigation almost impossible.' This lying statement was made only for the purpose of annoyance.

"[From the legal authority of] Buncombe: the Red Lake River is a highway and if obstructed by any persons, the law of the State of Minnesota would provide ample remedies for removing it.

"It does not need a lying appeal to Congressman Eddy to remove obstructions to navigation. Empty houses and empty store buildings are fast telling the story of a disorganized village. Ruin is bound to follow the advice of such fellows as little Ware. Plenty of insurance may save them for a while, but ruin is bound to follow, where rule or ruin is the motto."

News Items

Election day passed off very quietly.

Fifty five votes were cast yesterday.

The mill carpenters started to work today.

It snowed all day Sunday and half a day on Monday.

The roads are again heavy on account of being drifted full.

They have driven over a mile of boom piling and are getting along nicely.

Chas. Rapp received the full number of votes cast for village president.

A Chinook wind is expected to blow in most any day now and cut the roads up unfit for travel.

If deep snow is any criterion of having a good crop then we will have the largest known in years.

Several of the boys working on the pile driver got snow blind last week. They are now wearing smoked glasses.

J. C. Grant, the bridge foreman, got his face frozen last week, and is far from being fit for the keen edge of the razor.

Quite a number of farmers living west of here are busy hauling cord after cord of stone and dumping them into the dam.

Mr. Kelley, the mill-wright, and five carpenters who were snowed in at Crookston last Wednesday, drove up Monday. The roads were in bad condition, taking them nearly seven hours to drive thirty miles.

Alex Doucette, who is working with the pile driving crew, received a couple of scalp wounds Monday afternoon. Mr. Doucette's position at work is near the driver pulling in line. The team was hitched to the line and had the hammer half way up when the trip unhooked and, coming back, the piece of iron at the end of the rope struck him on the head. It was a narrow escape.

Wylie Gleanings

Miss Katie Powers, who is teaching east of Wylie, was so completely snowed in Friday that she had to crawl out through the chimney.

Gully News

Sanna Brovold

Visitors at the Kenneth Forsberg home for the weekend were their son Bradley and Julie from Crystal. Also grandson Terry Forsberg and Jan Goard both students at the University of Bemidji. They also visited Kathy Forsberg and her family at Crookston on Saturday.

The Lund Ladies Aid of Gully will meet on Wednesday, March 12, at two o'clock for a business meeting and serving from four to six. Hostesses are Candy Bruggeman, Nancy Lee, Peggy Rosnow, Cheryl Nybo and Donna Hess.

When I stopped at Gonvick on Monday I was lucky enough to get in on Shirley Ecks birthday with coffee and sweets. The candles were gone so I don't know her age, but she looked young and happy, maybe because of friends stopping at the K.C. Club to wish her a happy birthday. Among those enjoying lunch were Carol Peterson, Eileen Horn, Evelyn Quam, Doris Alton, Connie Richards, Shirley Grattaas, Evan Quam, Sue Eck, Jeanie Gransley. Tell us the secret Shirley, adding a year but not looking older.

We were invited over to Evelyn Hanson's home in Clearbrook on Monday afternoon. Linda Hanson from Hickory was there to show Pink Lamp Jewels. We enjoyed strawberry shortcake and a card. Others there were Mildred Norby, Frances Olberg, Ruth Sandland, Ann Syverson of Gonvick, Vickie Hanson, Brenda Skolund, Alona Johnson, Betty Pierson, Jane Nelt and Carolann Houdahl from Gonvick.

REGULAR BOARD MEETING
January 27, 1997 7:00 p.m.
S.D.S.C. Conference Room A

A Regular Board Meeting of Independent School District #564 was held on Monday January 27, 1997, at 7:00 p.m. in Conference Room A of the School District Service Center.

The following Board members were present: Larry Belmont, Carl Clark, Hank Hallstrom, Dennis Kiesow, Jean Larson, Darla Twomey and Steve Young. Also present was Dr. Jerry Robicheau, Superintendent of Schools.

Chairperson Carl Clark called the meeting to order and Clerk Jean Larson established that a quorum was present.

A motion was made by H. Hallstrom and seconded by S. Young to approve the agenda as amended. Motion carried unanimously.

The January 1st enrollment report was distributed and briefly discussed. The ballot for election of the school board representative on the Northwest Regional Development Commission was completed. Board members were reminded that there is no school at Challenger on Thursday and Friday, January 30 and 31, to provide time for staff to be trained in the new health curriculum. Members were also reminded of the Community Forum on Education scheduled for Saturday, February 8, at 9:00 a.m. in the Cafeteria at Challenger.

The following Lincoln students were recognized for being honored in the Emerging Writers Contest sponsored by the College of St. Catherine in St. Paul: Megan Browning, High Honorable Mention; MacKenzie Carriere, Third Place; and Michelle Matheson, Fourth Place. The Board also recognized Jared Schwartz for recently completing his high school graduation requirements through the Northwest Area Learning Center.

The following were thanked for their donations to the Close-Up Program: VFW, Arctic Cat, McDonalds, Norwest Bank, SwisCorp, Sons of Norway, Rebekahs, and Forsbergs Inc. The Board congratulated Lincoln High School for their first place finish in the 1996 Decorating Contest sponsored by Anderson's Prom and Party of White Bear Lake. They were awarded $2,000 toward the purchase of merchandise for next year's prom. Mary Follett was also recognized for organizing the student art projects on display in the District Service Center.

Glenn Espe and Marie Erlandson, Challenger Principal and Assistant Principal, presented a recommendation to change the procedure for dealing with parent requests of teachers for the upcoming school year.

Member Steve Young reported on behalf of the PER Committee noting that group heard reports from Lynn Dyer on Business Education and Alice Hofstad on block grant funds. The committee also discussed the possibility of extending media hours at Lincoln and Franklin into the evening.

Jean Larson reported on behalf of the Community Education Advisory Council noting information was provided regarding an enrichment grant for after school activities at Franklin Middle School and that Fred Penner will be here on May 6th.

Carl Clark noted that the mediation session with the Teamsters scheduled for last week was cancelled due to the weather.

Larry Belmont and Jerry Robicheau reported on the MSBA Leadership Conference they attended noting a session on multi-age grouping was interesting and will be looked into further.

Superintendent Robicheau presented the administration's recommendation for snow make up days and reviewed the process for development of the 1997-98 budget noting some issues the Board should consider when establishing the budget. Jerry also noted some of the physical changes that would be taking place in the District Service Center and invited Board members to the Health Inservice scheduled for this Thursday and Friday at Challenger.

Linda Bentson, president of Thief River Linen in Thief River Falls, was recently elected to the board of directors of the Northwest Minnesota Initiative Fund.

She succeeds Norma Hanson of Goodridge, who had completed two full four-year terms—the maximum allowed by NWMIF by-laws.

Bentson is also a member of the board of directors of Lady Slipper Designs, Inc., of Bemidji and a member of the Initiative Fund's loan review committee.

Thief River Linen, which was founded by Bentson 10 years ago after working with Project Heritage Designs, is among the nation's leading producers of high quality custom bedding and decorative pillows, providing products for bedding specialty shops, designer showrooms, deluxe hotels, furniture and department stores.

The company had a 33 percent increase in sales in calendar year 1996 over 1995 and has doubled its sales volume of three years ago. It has its own permanent showroom at the market in High Point, NC, and another at the market in Atlanta, GA.

Bentson said at present the company is getting ready for its show April 10-18 in North Carolina. Among the offerings will be about 15 designs in a pillow collection for the Victoria and Albert Museum in London, England, and a number of items again created in concert with New York designer Raymond Waites, who rapidly has been gaining recognition and with whom Thief River Linen has worked for a number of years.

The local company gets much of its activity in preparing new items for the High Point shows in April and October and the Atlanta shows in January and July, and in meeting orders generated by those events.

This year Thief River Linen has created a group of bed linens for Lexington Furniture to use in introducing its "Atlantic Overtures" line of bedroom furniture.

A year ago Bentson's company created items for Lexington Furniture's Arnold Palmer collection and Linda became well acquainted with the legendary golfer's wife Winnie. In fact, during a trip to Florida last year, Linda was able to accept Mrs. Palmer's offer to use her car instead of a rental unit.

"You never know who you are going to meet next in this business," Bentson said. "There are so many interesting people who are involved in the industry one way or another."

Linda Bentson

Three years ago Thief River Linen took advantage of services offered by Minnesota Technology—a public, non-profit corporation that assists Minnesota companies in becoming more competitive through technology—part of the state's strategy to strengthen its economy.

"I'm a believer in making use of assistance that is made available to business in Minnesota," Bentson said. "We did some preliminary consulting with Minnesota Technology personnel at a point when we were concerned about what we had to do to make our company grow. They assisted us in selecting business information computer software. I attended one of their workshops on finances and the organization assisted in securing a matched loan that enabled us to create a high quality brochure that we are still using."

Bentson says she wouldn't have started her growing business without the experience she had working with Project Heritage Designs—a company which received great support and assistance from the Northwest Minnesota Initiative Fund but has since gone out of business.

"I was pleasantly surprised and somewhat flattered when I was asked if I would consider serving on the Initiative Fund board," Bentson said. "It is an organization with a history of outstanding service and success and I look forward to being more involved in its programs."

"We are pleased to welcome Linda to the board of directors," stated Patricia Swanson of Hallock, board president. "Her entrepreneurial experience and understanding of the problems and opportunities of northwest Minnesota will be an asset to the NWMIF."

Northwest Minnesota Initiative Fund is a charitable foundation providing services and financial support to improve the quality of life for people in the 12 counties of northwest Minnesota. The Fund seeks to increase economic growth and business development and increase the region's capacity to shape its future. This is accomplished through a variety of grant programs, business development loans and educational opportunities and the management of several separate component funds restricted for special uses by their respective donors.

Taryn Praem, daughter of Jon and Robyn Praem and an eighth grader at Franklin middle school, received the Girl Scout Silver Award Monday, March 10, at the annual Girl Scout banquet held at Redeemer Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls. Her Silver Award pin was presented and attached to her sash by Nicky Armstrong, local adult scout leader and previous Silver and Gold Award winner, who has worked with Taryn's Cadette Troop 190 and with Taryn at Camp MOE for the past three years. The Silver Award involves community service hours, the Cadette Challenge, earning three interest project patches and initiating and carrying out a special project. Taryn did research on space and prepared five information kits which can be used by students in the enrichment program at Challenger elementary school. Robyn Praem watches as her daughter receives the award pin.

School District 564 board discusses MSHSL proposal

Monday night, the school board for School District 564 reached a consensus on their position regarding a Region 8—Minnesota State High School League proposal that would allow football coaches to hold workshops in the summer.

Darla Twomey, school board representative, explained that she had been chosen as a regional representative for the Minnesota State High School League. One of the issues she will be asked to vote on at the next meeting is whether football coaches should be allowed to organize, hold and instruct workshops. It has been the policy in the state not to allow this. Twomey said it was her belief that football players would be pressured to attend, and if they didn't, feel threatened that they wouldn't be chosen for the team. But, she also noted it would give more practice time for the players. After polling several schools in the area, she said the consensus seemed against allowing football coaches to conduct workshops.

Larry Belanni, school board representative, said he saw no reason to change.

Steve Young, school board representative, said he believes it's beneficial for students to work with someone else who has different leadership skills. He added that they should stick to the rules and he was of an opinion that they're there for a reason.

Dennis Kiesow, school board representative, asked why just open it up for football coaches and not other coaches. He was of the opinion that it shouldn't be changed.

It was the consensus of the board that Twomey should vote against the issue. Twomey, however, said she believes this region is in the minority in the state and that the proposal will probably pass.

The school board turned down a request by members of the Spanish club for the district to cover the cost of transportation to and from the Minneapolis airport. The group is planning a trip to Costa Rica and has been able to reduce overall costs by some creative planning and hard work, but was still concerned about the $900 it will cost the group for transportation to and from the Minneapolis airport.

Members of the school board recognized the value of these excursions, but was worried about the possible precedent it would set by paying for these transportation costs. They were also concerned about the district's budget.

Two concerts for area children and their parents will be presented by Fred Penner on Tuesday, May 6, at 5 and 7:30 p.m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium. The Canadian entertainer's return to Thief River Falls (he presented two sold out concerts here in 1990) is sponsored by the School District 564 Early Childhood Family Education (ECFE) program.

Fred Penner to return for two kids concerts

Fred Penner, one of Canada's leading entertainers of children, will return to Thief River Falls Tuesday, May 6, for two family concerts which are scheduled for 5 p.m. and 7 p.m. at the Lincoln high school auditorium. When Penner was here in 1990, he performed at two "sell-out" concerts.

Announcement of the concerts is being made by the Early Childhood Family Education (ECFE) program of School District 564—which is sponsoring them along with some matching funds from Aid Association for Lutherans Branch 1669—so that parents throughout the area will be able to make plans to bring their children to the event.

Tickets will go on sale April 14 at Kezar Music Company in Thief River Falls, Warroad ECFE department in Warroad and Child Care Resource and Referral in Grand Forks, ND.

"Penner's concerts promise to be truly family entertainment," states Joyce Froschheiser, director of the ECFE program for School District 564. "He specializes in songs about positive self-image and expressing feelings. His style is active, lively and spontaneous, appealing to the senses of his audience.

"Penner likes to use a direct approach and involves his audience with sing-alongs and actions. Although his listeners are primarily children, his songs reach out to parents, too!"

The entertainer's background is in comedy and acting, making him more than just a singer. He is an entertainer whose greatest motivation is to have a positive effect on the children and families who watch him perform.

In addition to making short concert tours, Penner has produced 10 albums and eight videos, has written five children's books and has a children's television show entitled Fred Penner's Place which can be seen at 9:15 a.m. weekdays on the CBC network (Channel 12 on Sjoberg's Cable TV in Thief River Falls).

"His television show combines songs, storytelling, games and unusual props such as pet turtles and snakes," Mrs. Froschheiser said. "For further information please call Challenger Preschool at 681-8670."

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Northwest Service Cooperative's Second Annual Young Author's Conference brought nearly 400 middle-school age students from 28 schools in the region to Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls Wednesday, March 5.

Mary Morken, organizer of the event for Northwest Service Cooperative in Thief River Falls, said she was very pleased with the conference. The main speaker and a couple of schools were unable to attend because of weather, but it turned out alright. Marion Dane Bauer filled in at the last minute for the main speaker and she did a great job, Morken said.

Last year about 268 students attended the event. This year there were nearly 400 students at the event. Morken said she heard a lot of positive comments about the conference and is looking forward to next year's event.

Students attending the event participated in a number of sessions directed by published authors. The "breakout" sessions were designed to provide students with some knowledge about writing and publishing.

Leslie Nordheim, Franklin Middle School seventh grade communications teacher, said she was very impressed with the break out sessions. They were wonderful and offered valid advice for the children, Nordheim said.

The break out sessions, she said, were by far what the kids enjoyed the most. They seemed impressed and responded well to interest expressed in their work by published authors, she said.

Nordheim said she plans to bring children to the event next year.

Students were also able to purchase books at a book fair, and listened to noted author and speaker, Marion Dane Bauer of Eden Prairie.

Bauer walked through the writing process of one of her novels. Bauer has been writing books full-time for 25 years and has published 18 books for young people. She said she gets her ideas for books from a number of sources, including newspapers. In the example she was working with at the conference, she said a story she read made her want to know more and it made her begin thinking about the circumstances behind the story. She didn't use the actual story from the newspaper, but it helped her create her own story. She developed an ideal conclusion and identified what she wanted to accomplish. Then she began working on character development.

It isn't a quick process. Bauer said it takes her anywhere from six months to two and one-half years to write a novel. She approaches her writing as if it were a full-time job and works on her stories five days a week.

For her, the next step is to relate her story characters to her own experiences and that of her family. She said she brings the story a step closer to herself. "If I'm going to write about a character, it has to be from inside that character," she explained.

Even with all of these elements

Young writers from schools throughout the region attended the Young Authors Conference at Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls Wednesday. During the event students participated in "breakout" sessions with authors.

Bill Senner of Thief River Falls was recognized by the Voyageur Trails District of the Boy Scouts of America Saturday, March 1, as Den Leader of the Year. He received his plaque at the annual banquet of the district in Thief River Falls.

Roberta Baumann received the Distinguished Service Award from the Voyageur Trails District of the Boy Scouts of America at the annual banquet conducted Saturday, March 1, in Thief River Falls.

Deb Tvoitbakk of Thief River Falls was named Cubmaster of the Year in the Voyageur Trails District of the Boy Scouts of America. She received her award plaque at the annual district banquet Saturday, March 1, in Thief River Falls.

Art Cloutier of Thief River Falls earned the Scouter of the Year award for the Voyageur Trails District of the Boy Scouts of America and received his plaque Saturday, March 1, at the district banquet held in Thief River Falls.

Auditions for NCTC play planned for March 12-13

Auditions at Northland Community and Technical College for the Neil Simon play "Fools" have been scheduled for Wednesday, March 12 from 4 to 6 p.m. and Thursday, March 13 from 7 until 9 p.m., according to Janet Haak Aarness, Northland theatre director.

Roles for three men and seven women are available for the farce which concerns a turn-of-the-century Russian village which is under a curse of stupidity and the heroic young teacher who has 24 hours to either break the curse or become a fool himself.

"No experience necessary, we train," Aarness said. "We will make our rehearsal times and schedules flexible so anyone can participate."

Persons interested in taking part may contact Aarness at 681-0718. Auditions are open to the area community as well as Northland students, faculty and staff.

Community ed advisory council elects officers

Heidi Hoks was recently elected chairperson and Vivian Hiebert was elected vice chairperson of the School District 564 community education advisory council.

New members named to the council are Ginger Kaufman, marketing director at Northland Community and Technical College and Dennis Kiesow, member of the School District 564 board of education.

Resignations from the board have been received from Deb Zak, James Haugen and Cheryl Lee.

"The community education department acknowledges and appreciates their contributions and years of service to the Thief River Falls community," states Patricia Soli, community education director.

Goal of the community education advisory council is to identify educational needs and provide for them through lifelong learning opportunities. Council membership consists of diverse representation from the Thief River Falls community, including but not limited to community agencies, youth, senior and business groups.

Persons interested in learning more about the advisory council activities and meetings may contact Soli at the community education department, phone 681-8740.

Arctic, Polaris fight proposed PWC legislation

Arctic Cat Inc. and Polaris Industries, with the help of the PWIA, are battling personal watercraft legislation pending in the state of Minnesota.

The most restrictive bill (SF 374) calls for the total ban of personal watercraft on all state waterways except during limited hours of operation, requires liability insurance for personal watercraft (but not other boats) and established a 200-foot no-wake zone for personal watercraft only. Personal watercraft owners in the state of Minnesota are asked by Arctic and Polaris to write their state senator and representative as soon as possible.

MECC meeting rescheduled to Tues., March 18

The meeting on March 12 for members of the Joint Powers board of the Multi-Events Cultural Center has been rescheduled to 11:30 a.m. on Tuesday, March 18, at the Best Western.

The public is invited to attend.

Deadlines noted for FSA programs

Deadline reminders for two programs conducted by the federal Farm Services Agency have been issued by Glenn Schafer, director of the Pennington county FSA office.

Deadline for application in the dairy refund program is March 17 and in the livestock emergency feed program is March 14, Schafer said.

Dairy farmers whose herds produced less milk in calendar year 1996 than in calendar year 1995 are eligible for full refund of the dairy check-off amount they paid while the program was in effect during the first four months of 1996.

Livestock producers who needed to purchase emergency feed for their foundation herds due to the severe winter weather may be eligible for cost share if certain conditions are met.

Details on both programs are available at the county FSA office.

Phi Theta Kappa honor society chapter at Northland Community and Technical College was cited as a "Four-Star Chapter" at a recent Minn-Io-Wi-Kota regional convention.

According to Avis Dyrud, advisor for the Northland chapter, the award recognizes the chapter's attainment of the many goals its members committed to achieving.

"The Sigma Alpha chapter has continually proven itself as an exemplary model of Phi Theta Kappa's four hallmarks: scholarship, leadership, fellowship and service," stated Rod Risley, executive director of Phi Theta Kappa.

In addition to the award presented at the convention, the Northland chapter will receive international recognition when the society publishes the chapter's name and the college's name in the 1997 Awards Tabloid.

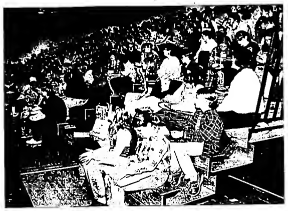
Will Weaver, author and English teacher at Bemidji State University, was one of several authors sharing experiences and knowledge about writing with students from throughout the region who attended the Young Authors Conference at Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls.



Hundreds of middle school age students from throughout the region attended the Young Authors Conference held at Northland Community and Technical College Wednesday.

Young author meet held at Northland to the story, she explained she's still missing a plot, which is the whole middle of the book.

She generally picks a geographical location she is familiar with for the setting of the story. If she doesn't know anything about a subject, she first reads anything she can find on the subject. She then asks people about their experiences, and then experiences it herself. But she cautioned that if you're writing about something dangerous you don't have to do it.

Bauer answered numerous questions from the audience. She explained that making a living by writing is difficult. She supplements the income from her writing with speaking engagements and conducting workshops. Young students probably wouldn't be able to compete with professional writers, but she encouraged the students to continue writing.

Diane Pederson of Thief River Falls, who teaches fifth grade at Challenger Elementary school in Thief River Falls, said a number of her students who attended the event enjoyed it. She said they were enthused about the hands on art and writing that they were able to do with some of the presenters.

There were several other authors at the conference. Gretchen Beito of Thief River Falls, a historian, began her writing career with a column called Prairie Rambling for The Times in Thief River Falls. She writes because she likes to share what she has learned and because writing combines well with her other career of homemaking. She has written "From Agassiz to Zeh: A Child's History of Thief River Falls," and "Coya Come Home."

Mary Casanova of Rainer, MN, has written three novels for young people — "Riot", "Moose Tracks", and "Wolf Shadows."

Mattie Clark is a veteran African American folklorist and professional storyteller. She began telling stories 25 years ago and has one numerous awards. She performs in schools, libraries, colleges, churches and community centers and is also frequently featured on radio and cable television. She has written a book entitled "Babies in the River." Clark visited with students about images, metaphors and symbols of culture.

Kim Chadwick-Quade of Thief River Falls, a columnist for the Thief River Falls Times visited with students about putting personal experiences into publishable articles.

Rick Dupre has been a full time writer/illustrator and part-time teacher/presenter since 1992. He is the author and illustrator of two books for children, and illustrator of four books.

Marcia Harris, a columnist for the Grand Forks Herald, discussed writing personal columns dealing with personal, local and world issues.

Mary Helen Pelton, a teacher, storyteller, author and superintendent of the Cass Lake - Bena schools, has written four books and produced two audio tapes. Children heard how to explore their own stories of peace.

Holly Ristau, a storyteller from Mahnomen, helped students explore ideas that do more than entertain, such as new ways of expressing peace.

Will Weaver, English teacher at Bemidji who has written five books including one which was made into a CBS television film, helped students tie together sports and writing as ways to be competitive, explore conflicts and have fun.

The Young Authors Conference was made possible by a grant from the Northwest Regional Development Commission through funding from the Minnesota State Arts Board and the Minnesota State Legislature. It was also sponsored in part by funding from the Loft, and the Blandin Foundation.

Marion Dane Bauer, author of 18 novels for young people, was the main presentor at the Young Authors Conference

Robicheau suggested that the board take a look at fundraising across the district. He said he was not necessarily asking that a policy be developed, but the establishment of some parameters.

There appeared to be genuine interest in the issue. Steve Young asked whether there was ever any accounting of the fundraising.

Harry Nelson, business manager, said the central office did not make a practice of reviewing the fundraising records.

Jean Larson, school board member, said it would be interesting to see how much is raised by the many groups that do conduct fundraising activities during the year.

Dennis Kiesow, said they should tell the board how the funds are spent because they are accountable to the district.

Robicheau said that any time student groups go on tours they represent School District 564.

Darla Twomey said she was also concerned about the liability to the district.

The school board recognized Chris A. Larson, who recently completed his high school graduation requirements through the Northwest Area Learning Center.

The board approved the following personnel items from its consent agenda: the resignation of Joni Larson as kitchen helper at Franklin; the resignation of Angela D. Woods as transportation assistant in the district; the employment of Leslie Ammerman as part-time social/science teacher at Franklin; the employment of Jon Anderson as part-time after-school coordinator at Franklin effective March 10-May 30; the employment of Larry Etienne as regular route bus driver; the employment of Gerald Okland as cleaner in the district; the employment of Lisa Sunenson as ECSE educational assistant at Challenger; the following extra-curricular assignments for the school year — Roxi Nichols as ticket seller, Sharon Fugleberg as ticket seller, and the request of Kari Firsch to use the Lincoln High school auditorium on May 11 from noon to 9 p.m. for the Kids on Disney musical review.

Bingo program at Heritage Center provides organizations with donations

Bingo is one of the most popular activities at the Heritage Center in Thief River Falls. Charitable Gaming Bingo is available to all persons over 18 years of age. Bingo is played every Tuesday starting at 1 p.m. They play 10 games, break for lunch and then play 10 more games.

Bingo is possible because of the many workers who donate their time as table workers, bingo callers and floor salespersons. They made it possible for an average of 81 persons to play each of 48 Tuesdays in 1996.

This past year the players paid $33,545.25 for bingo games. The Heritage Center returned $25,381.50 to the players in prizes. This is returning 76 percent to them. The average player paid $8.63 to play and received $6.53 back in prizes.

For the 1996 year, the Heritage Center netted $8,175.96 to be deposited in the Bingo Account. They paid $821.79 in gaming tax, bought $1,237.53 in bingo paper, and paid $120 in managers bonds. This left the Center with enough to make $6,100 in charitable gifts, divided as follows: $500 to the Senior federation, $450 to American Cancer Society, $600 to Northland Hospice, $300 to Kidney Foundation, $250 to the Friendship Club, $250 to Little Brother-Little Sister, $200 to Salvation Army, $150 to Violence Intervention Project, $100 to D.A.C. and $3,300 to the Heritage Center Programs.

Bingo started at the Heritage Center in 1987 with Jean Hellie and Rose Opsund who were in charge of the program for a few years before Harry Oen got it established.

Harry along with his wife Judy have put a lot of hard work and dedication into the Bingo program. Harry took over the program in 1991 when Jean and Rose were no longer interested in running it.

It takes a lot of dedication and many hours on Harry's part to run the bingo program. He must keep up on all of the state bingo regulations and keep track of all the numbers on the bingo cards. He is in charge of ordering supplies. Judy is in charge of the dobbers. She is behind Harry all the way. She supports him in all of his decisions.

Without all of the support from Harry and the other 30 some volunteers that help run the bingo program, it would not be the success that it is today.

No one program a the Heritage Center is more popular than another, they are all an important part of the Center and help to benefit it. But the bingo program has been very successful.

In the beginning, they were not allowed to keep any of the earnings, it all had to go back into the community, which was the Heritage Center's way of saying thank-you to the community that helped it become what it is today.

Now the Center is allowed to keep a certain amount if its earning for the upkeep of the Center. They still give most of it away to the community, but now they are also able to do some general upkeep on the Center.

The Center is aware of the fact that there are other organizations out there that depend on donations. It makes everyone at the center feel good that they are donating. The Seniors don't look at it that they didn't win one afternoon, they look at it that they just donated their $5 to an organization that needs the money to function.

Tuesdays are a day for the seniors to socialize and feel good that they are putting their money to a good cause. Even if they don't win that afternoon, they go away with a feeling of well-being.

Tippi Benson scholarship announced

Tippi Benson

Thief River Falls Education Foundation has announced the endowing of a scholarship in memory of Tippi Benson.

Tippi Benson was the School District 564 social worker from 1972 until her death last summer. Benson was a graduate of Lincoln High school in 1965 and received her bachelor of science degree from Moorhead State University.

People were Benson's main interest, especially children. Her love of children is reflected in the caring way she counseled those students she came in contact with in school and throughout the community.

Benson's family has endowed this scholarship as a way to provide financial assistance and encouragement to those students who were counseled by her. Yearly scholarships of $1,000 each will be awarded to eligible students who are studying at a technical school or college.

Applications for the Tippi Benson Scholarship can be obtained in the Career Center at Lincoln High school or by contacting the Thief River Falls Education Foundation, 230 South LaBree, Thief River Falls, MN 56701, or by calling 218-681-8711. The application deadline is April 15, 1997.

The Thief River Falls Women of Today chapter is sponsoring a "Beautiful Baby Contest." Three winning babies will receive $25, $15 and $10 cash awards. In addition to the Beautiful Baby awards, a special award will be given to the baby showing the most "personality."

Entrants should send a recent picture of their Beautiful Baby, aged newborn to three years, along with a registration form and $3 entry fee. Registration forms can be obtained from Hugo's, Super Valu, Earl's Market, Arnold Aven ue Store, Pennington Square, Pennington Main and Amoco. Pictures must be postmarked by April 2. No late entries will be accepted. Send entries to: Women of Today Beautiful Baby Contest, 910 Tindolph Ave S., Thief River Falls 56701.

Pictures of the Babies will be on display at the Thief River Falls Women of Today Spring Showcase on April 12 at the Armory. They will also be displayed at Norwest Bank Drive-up, April 21-May2, Norwest Bank Main, May 5-16, Northern State Bank Drive-up, May 19-30, Super Valu, June 2-7, First National Bank, June 9-20, and Women of Today Craft Festival, June 21.

The public will vote for the beautiful baby of their choice by placing money in the voting boxes, 25 cents per vote. Pictures will also be judged by three judges after being displayed. Judges will award points which will be added to the public vote. Judges for the contest are Craig Mattson, DARE Officer; Julie Rohl, John G. Kinnard; and Maria Erlandson, Assistant Principal of Challenger Elementary School.

Money raised from this contest will be donated to the Thief River Falls Courage Day Camp. For more information contact Tammy Audette at 681-8747.

St. Patrick's Day Pancake Brunch at Embassy Center

The Embassy Community Center of Fosston will hold their annual St. Patrick's Pancake Brunch on Sunday, March 16 at the new addition with serving from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Menu includes homemade buttermilk pancakes, sausages, juice, milk and coffee. This will be a benefit for the new senior center kitchen with matching funds being provided by AAL Branch #7285 of Winger up to $700.

Those attending are reminded that the Embassy and Senior Center collect paper back books, good used clothing, Palubicki cash register receipts, Campbell and Franco American Labels for education, eye glasses for missions, drink flip tops. These items may be brought in the day of the brunch.

Parenting classes offered in March

Raising adolescent children is a task that is challenging, yet very rewarding. These days, parents often seek advice on how to improve their methods and attitude. With this need in mind, a class entitled "Parenting Teens" is being held at the Northwest Regional Library on March 17, 24 and 31 from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m.

A video and related discussion will be presented. This time of learning and interaction is led by Rev. Bill Kerr of the Thief River Falls United Methodist Church.

Upcoming topics include "How to Talk About Sex and Dating", "School: Helping Your Children Measure Up" and "Building Christian Faith In Your Kids". All parents and other interested persons are invited to take part in these classes. Please call 681-4388 if you would like to attend or for further information. Walk-ins are welcome.

Roy Hope to perform at Greenbush United Free Lutheran

Gospel concert and recording artist, Roy Hope, will share a program of sacred song and testimony in Greenbush at United Free Lutheran Church on Sunday, March 23 at 7:30 p.m. The concert is free and open to the public as a freewill offering will be received.

Roy Hope, whose recording and singing ministry is based in Sinai, SD, shares a unique blend of hymns, contemporary gospel songs, and adds a touch of country western flavor to his varied repertoire.

Since 1971 Hope has performed over 200 concerts a year as he tours throughout the United States and across the Western Provinces of Canada.

"My greatest purpose is to be an encourager" says Hope, "Everybody has problems and they are seeking help. I try to be realistic and practical in my music by sharing a part of my life to help point people to the Lord for guidance."

A native of South Dakota, Hope began his full-time singing ministry after working with Billy Graham's World Wide Pictures organization, arranging film premieres. During the summer of 1986 he attended the Billy Graham Conference of Itinerant Evangelists in Amsterdam.

In addition to his singing ministry, Hope has produced 21 recordings of his own in addition to a number of a variety of other artists. He assists churches with improving their sound systems to insure clear communication of the Lords Word. Hope also has a significant outreach to young singing groups and musicians by consulting them with their ministry which may include providing them with a sound system, and/or producing a recording of their music.

Roy and his wife, Rose, have four grown children ad have recently moved to the Sinai, SD area where Roy grew up.

The public is cordially invited to attend this delightful program of inspiration. Hope's latest recordings will also be available at the concert.

Turkey/Ham Bingo to be held Mar. 15

ON MY MIND
Kim Chadwick-Quade

Watched Over By The "Purse Angel"

When I die, I just know my gravestone will read: "She Lost Her Purse." It's simple. It's to-the-point. Unfortunately, it's true. Oh, so very true.

In fact, I recently lost my purse twice within 24 hours. A purse doesn't seem extremely important until you lose it. Besides, mine is just a glorified wallet on a string; it's not even large enough to hold a comb or keys or lip gloss. Just money (usually not much money) and a credit card or two.

The first instance occurred at a mall. Preoccupied with organizing my purchases, I walked off and left my purse laying in a spot surrounded by hordes of people who had the opportunity to abscond with it. But some store employees witnessed my act of scatterbrainedness, picked up my purse and held it for safekeeping until I came to my senses.

When I finally discovered my oversight, I instantly panicked. My money, credit cards and identification could be in the hands of someone dishonest. My loss held a certain urgency as I was leaving the next day on a plane trip which required a picture i.d. Help! I prayed for an honest soul and I got one. The "purse angel" was on my side.

As I stormed through the mall looking for my purse, I heard the announcement: Would Kim Chadwick-Quade please report to Kay-Bee toys? Would I ever! With that crisis solved, I resolved to keep better track of my belongings.

That, however, was not to be. During a long layover in Minneapolis the following day, I asked a friend to meet me at the airport and take me to the Mall of America. At least this time I didn't leave my purse in the mall, but instead I left it in her car when she redeposited me at the airport.

Upon arriving at my departure gate I ventured to buy a bottle of water. I opened my carry-on bag and immediately panicked. No purse! Not again! What has happened to my brain? With my flight less than 45 minutes from takeoff, I knew I wouldn't be on that plane.

After several harried phone calls and almost two hours later my purse was once again back in my hands. I caught a later flight, but I will remember this as the trip "that almost wasn't" because I lost my purse – twice.

Of course, it's not entirely my fault. I blame this on our culture. Why do women have to carry a purse anyway? So they can lug the husband's wallet and car keys? So they can tote books, pens and papers for the children? So they can be in charge of Kleenexes and hand wipes? So they can have just one more thing they have to keep track of and leave somewhere?

My purse doesn't weigh as much as a small child (as does my mother's purse) so it's difficult to tell when and if it's missing. My purse is "one size does all". I don't have a separate summer purse, winter purse or wedding purse. I don't like purses so I avoid using one. Usually I stuff my money and essentials into my coat pockets and go. So it's easy to see why I overlooked my purse. Right?

This wasn't the first time I lost my purse. While I was in high school my purse fell out of the car onto a highway when we changed drivers on the way home from a football game. The "purse angel" was watching over me because a policeman called two days later to report that he found my purse.

I'm sure the recent incidents won't be the last time I panic over a missing purse. I can only hope that the "purse angel" continues to sit upon my shoulder.

ACTIVITIES
Jelly Bean Math

Learning to count is fun and easy with this activity.

You will need: an egg carton, jelly beans and a marker.

Mark the sections of an egg carton with the numbers 1 to 12. Count out the indicated number of jelly beans to go into each section. For younger children, cut the cartons apart so there are fewer sections in each counting game.

SCAVENGER HUNT

For next week's Activities feature, you will need dryer lint, paper and glue.

BOOK OF THE WEEK

The Thief River Falls public library invites you to browse through its new selection of children's books including the following:

Crebbin, June. Into the Castle. Step by step, five brave friends explore an old stone castle until they reach the dark, dank dungeon. Could it be true that a monster still lives there and hides in the shadows?

Wilhelm, Hans. The Royal Raven. It takes a bit of nerve and a smidge of magic for Crawford to get his wish of being noticed. Then the surprises begin!

VIDEO VARIETY

MAGAZINE MENTION

In just one day and just one mile, you can experience six climate zones and travel through millions of years of Earth's history. And you can do it on the back of a mule. Where? Find out in the March issue of National Geographic World.

Remember that the Thief River Falls public library has preschool storytimes every Wednesday from 11:15 to 11:45 a.m. These are co-sponsored by the Thief River Falls ECFE and Learning Readiness. Also remember to check out the parenting corner by the children's room for new information and helpful hints for busy parents on books, reading and much more.

PARENTING TIPS
Building Self-Esteem Through Rules

The rules parents set for children are like a fence around a playground. With boundaries, children feel secure and cared for, free to explore what they and others are and are not permitted to do. The territory outside the boundaries lacks the protection and predictability that lies within the boundaries.

If there are no fences, no boundaries, children either learn to become wary and limit their spontaneity or they become reckless and uncaring about their welfare. When loving and consistent boundaries are set for them, children learn gradually to set their own boundaries, to value themselves. They have high self-esteem.

In order to build self-esteem, these rules need to be clear, consistent, and based on the child's level of skills and intellectual majority. Rules and skills should enforce each other.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Be sure your rules are stated in very clear terms that your child can understand.

In Loving Memory Of
JASON FLOYD ERICKSON
Whose "26th" Birthday Would Have Been March 15, 1997

We miss your smiles,
Your loving face.
No one will ever take your place.
You left us not so long ago,
Why God called for you,
We will never know.
We carry on with empty hearts.
But memories Jason,
Will never part.
Our lives have changed in so may ways.

But in our hearts you will always stay.
You were so young our only son,
We know one day we'll be with you.
But until then, we all miss you!
Happy Birthday Jase!
We Love You!
Sadly missed by your family,
Dad, Mom, Shari, Darren, Brittney & Cole

To The Nth Degree

Harpist and tenor soloist James Buxton will present the only matinee performance of the Thief River Falls Concert Association series Sunday, March 16, beginning at 3 p.m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium. The Minneapolis artist plays every type of music from the classics to folk and broadway and his sense of humor and interesting introductions to the places he plays add to the entertainment of his performance. He began his studies on a full voice scholarship at Western Illinois University, studied voice with Barnard Taylor of the Juilliard School in New York City and harp with Sally Goodwin and at the St. Louis Conservatory of Music, and has been performing throughout Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin and Missouri for 11 years. Admission to the concert is by season membership only.

ON THE OTHER HAND

Michelle Mathison
Lincoln High School

Spring break is something that is misunderstood by Minnesotans. I don't think there has ever been a spring in the history of springs that has been nice enough to hit the beach like they always do in the movies. We could hit the beach, but the ice would definitely hurt a lot.

We have always seen the portrayal of spring break as a time for high school and college students to drive in their convertibles a few miles to spend the week at an ocean or lake front resort. They're clad in bikinis and a crispy tan, and party hardy until their parents find out where they are and come to get them only to become hooked on the springy action. I don't think anyone would get anywhere around here without a four-wheel-drive truck and a parka.

Since the movie industry decided to explore the north with the film "Fargo," why not have a film about a midwestern spring break! Any movie I've every seen about this phenomenon has been about California, Mexico or Florida. An outline for the screenplay might go something like this.

"As Marcy Johnson waits for the bell to ring on the last Friday before spring break, she is terriby excited to sleep late and not to have any more tests for a week! She plans to go to Grand Forks one night and catch a movie she's been dying to see. They'll probably glance at prom dresses while they're there, just in case they need one. Since she can't go to Minneapolis for the State Hockey tournaments, she'll be watching them on TV at home.

Most of her classmates are staying in Thief River because of the roads, but she is planning to go snowmobiling with a few friends one day. Her best friend Sarah has gone to the tanning bed a couple of times to get a little color for prom, but she fried herself because her skin retaliated against the unknown flare of the "sun." Sadly, Marcy lost track during break, so she will have to break out her swimsuit for form-running in the indoor pool, because it's too icy and cold to run outdoors."

With the computers we have these days, we should be able to transform some films of the California "Spring Break Pool Parties" into Minnesota "Spring Break Ice Rink Parties." All we would have to do is throw a few more layers of clothing on the bikini babes, lighten up the sand to make it snowy looking, stop all forms of water from moving, put chains on the convertibles, and replace a few "Like, WHATEVER" with a "Ya, you betcha." I can smell the Oscar.

In the harsh reality, spring break in northern Minnesota isn't much different from Christmas vacation. An Easter ham dinner takes the place of a Christmas turkey, Easter baskets take the place of stockings, the Bunny replaces St. Nick and the Elves, and we go to church on Easter Morning instead of Christmas Eve. All in all, we just exchange the red and green for some lovely pastels, and leave out all forms of topless cars, thong bikinis and white sand. Personally, I can live without the thing.

SPEAKING OF

Sherry LaCoursiere

. . . Prepare . . . Pray

Such a frightening word – flood. We see it on television, we hear it on the radio, we read it in the newspapers – flood. Flood is to come to the Red River Valley. We are told to take precautions – to hope for the best but expect the worst.

Every day we see the devastation wrought in the Ohio River Valley by floods. The sight of the destruction sends chills along my spine. I see the homes ruined by water and mud. I hear the voices of the people who have lost everything. I see the water taking over fields, roads and businesses. I think, "In a few weeks, that may be us."

Whatever can we do to stop it? Is there anything we can do?

Sunday's Grand Forks Herald tells us about Robin Silverman who has come up with an idea that may save the Red River Valley from flood, and even if it doesn't change the path of the flood, it may have another good purpose. Her idea is that the power of prayer may have an effect on the flooding and that the uniting of the people of the area in prayer may turn the flood waters away.

Silverman is advocating a prayer chain. Many of us know about prayer chains. Some of us are or have been members of prayer chains. A prayer chain is simply a group of people praying for a particular cause, usually at the same time. Praying – isn't that when a person kneels by their bed with folded hands and a bland expression, uttering pious platitudes? Nope.

Praying is an expression of the heart. A prayer chain is the coming together of many people with a single, loving thought in their hearts, directed at their loving God.

Silverman hopes that even if the prayers will not stop the flood, the effort of a prayer chain throughout the valley will unite people as a family. "If God won't answer that prayer, the point is the effort," she said. "The point is that you care enough to go outside yourself and your own petty concerns long enough to be open to something better."

"What is the goal here?" she asks. "One, of course, is to try to protect and save the land. The other would be to have this really good feeling about our neighbors... if one person thinks better of one other person because of this, it will have been worth the effort."

People must come together in times of crisis. Communities must work together and be able to rely on one another for help and comfort in times of disaster. Why not begin that commitment to one another right now?

Haven't prayed for a while? Feel like you only turn to God in the bad times and forget Him in the good times? No matter. Think of a baby held by his father, waving his little arms and laughing, happy and safe. Daddy playfully tosses Baby into the air and what is Baby's reaction to this sudden crisis! He immediately grabs onto Daddy and holds him tight. Maybe it is time for us to hold tight now.

The following is the prayer written by Robin Silverman. According to the Herald, "it is her hope that people all over the valley will offer it up quietly, earnestly, willingly, at 7:00 each morning and 7:00 each evening."

A Prayer for the Red River Valley

Oh, Lord,
We come to You now as one voice, one heart,
To ask Your mercy and blessing on our precious land.
Take the heavy blanket of snow that covers all
And remove it gently and safely.
Let the spring melt be perfect, slow and easy, by Your grace.
Transform the threat of a flood
To the promise of peace.
Creator, bring a new, glorious spring to our valley,
Blessing Your earth with abundance and glory.
Hold us now as we hold You
In faith and trust.
Guide us with love as we surrender our doubts and fears to You.
May Your will be done in this, and all things.
Thank You for Your protection and for the unity that joins us all.
Amen.

IN THE KNOW

A PARENT'S GUIDE TO ALCOHOL AND OTHER DRUGS!

PARENTS ARE IMPORTANT!!

Have you ever questioned just how much influence you have with your children, especially their decision to use alcohol and other drugs? This questioning becomes stronger as you hear about peer pressure and as you watch television and see all the advertising suggesting that "weekends are made for beer drinking!"

Is is important for you to know that what you say and what you do makes a difference in your child's life.

- Do you listen to your child's concerns and problems?
- Do you as parents agree on rules and expectations regarding alcohol, tobacco and other drug use by your children? Do your children contribute to family expectations and rules regarding alcohol and other drugs?
- Do you explain your position on alcohol and other drug use to your children? Are there family rules? Do you let your values show and do you talk about them?
- Do you use tobacco?
- Do you avoid use of illegal drugs?
- Do you use over-the-counter drugs responsibly?

The goal is to prevent problems with alcohol and other drugs before they arise. It is much easier to prevent problems than to struggle with the solutions to a problem. Here are some further suggestions of what you can do.

- KNOW THE FACTS. Attend meetings at school, read pamphlets, or join a parent group.
- TALK TO YOUR CHILD on a regular basis about your values and attitudes about alcohol and other drug use. Sharing your values will positively influence your children. Let your child know it is NOT OK with you that they use alcohol or other drugs.
- MODEL THE KIND OF BEHAVIOR YOU WANT OF YOUR CHILDREN. Do not follow the old saying, "Do as I say and not as I do."
- KEEP INFORMED of your child's activities and friends.
- ENCOURAGE ALTERNATIVE ACTIVITIES for your family.

WHAT CAN YOU DO IF YOU THINK YOUR CHILD IS USING OR ABUSING ALCOHOL, TOBACCO AND OTHER DRUGS?

If you suspect that your child is already experimenting with or using alcohol, tobacco and other drugs, there are actions that you can take to support and help your child.

- FOLLOW THROUGH ON YOUR CLEAR RULES AND CONSEQUENCES. If your child is beginning to push limits around the house, communicate that this is not acceptable and set clear standards and expectations, if not already set.
- DON'T IGNORE possible warning signals. Whether you suspect a problem or see behavior that is inconsistent with your family or community standards, you have the right and responsibility to share your concerns with your child.
- TALK DIRECTLY TO YOUR CHILD.
  - Tell your child that you care and that you feel concerned about the behavior you are seeing. "I love you and don't want you to hurt yourself."
  - Tell your child exactly the behavior that concerns you. "You came in late last night and I smelled alcohol on your breath."
- LISTEN...Always listen openly to your child's point of view.
  - Tell your child what you want to happen. "I want you to talk to the school counselor about the problems you've been having lately." "I want you to be to school on time and attend all of your classes."
  - Tell your child what you are willing and able to do to help. Offer support for what you expect. "I'm willing to talk with you whenever you want to or feel a need for a little support." "I'll help you set up an appointment with the school counselor."
- SEEK PROFESSIONAL GUIDANCE.
- CALL FOR HELP.

A WORD OF SUPPORT...

You may be the greatest source of support for helping your children through sometimes difficult years. Give yourself support as well. If your child is experimenting with or using alcohol, tobacco and other drugs, it does not mean that you have failed as a parent. In fact, felling guilty can complicate the problem and affect your ability to deal with the real issues. Talk with other parents. Share your concerns and fears. Seek professional help for yourself if you feel it is needed. It is important for you to feel healthy and strong in order for you to help your child feel healthy and strong.

Harpist and tenor soloist James Buxton will present the only matinee performance of the Thief River Falls Concert Association series Sunday, March 16, beginning at 3 p.m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium. The Minneapolis artist plays every type of music from the classics to folk and broadway and his sense of humor and interesting introductions to the pieces he plays add to the entertainment of his performance. He began his studies on a full voice scholarship at Western Illinois University, studied voice with Bernard Taylor of the Julliard School in New York City and harp with Sally Goodwin and at the St. Louis Conservatory of Music, and has been performing throughout Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin and Missouri for 11 years. Admission to the concert is by season membership only.

ON THE OTHER HAND

Michelle Mathison

Spring break is something that is misunderstood by Minnesotans. I don't think there has ever been a spring in the history of springs that has been nice enough to hit the beach like they always do in the movies. We could hit the beach, but the ice would definitely hurt a lot.

We have always seen the portrayal of spring break as a time for high school and college students to drive in their convertibles a few miles to spend the week at an ocean or lake front resort. They're clad in bikinis and a crispy tan, and party hardy until their parents find out where they are and come to get them, only to become hooked on the springy action. I don't think anyone would get anywhere around here without a four-wheel-drive truck and a parka.

Since the movie industry decided to explore the north with the film "Fargo," why not have a film about a midwestern spring break! Any movie I've every seen about this phenomenon has been about California, Mexico or Florida. An outline for the screenplay might go something like this:

"As Marcy Johnson waits for the bell to ring on the last Friday before spring break, she is terribly excited to sleep late and not to have any more tests for a week! She plans to go to Grand Forks one night and catch a movie she's been dying to see. They'll probably glance at prom dresses while they're there, just in case they need one. Since she can't go to Minneapolis for the State Hockey tournaments, she'll be watching them on TV at home.

Most of her classmates are staying in Thief River because of the roads, but she is planning to go snowmobiling with a few friends one day. Her best friend Sarah has gone to the tanning bed a couple of times to get a little color for prom, but she fried herself because her skin retaliated against the unknown flare of the "sun." Sadly, Mary has track during break, so she will have to break out her swimsuit for running in the indoor pool, because it's too icy and cold to run outdoors."

With the computers we have these days, we should be able to transform some films of the California "Spring Break Pool Parties" into Minnesota "Spring Break Ice Rink Parties." All we would have to do is throw a few more layers of clothing on the bikini babes, lighten up the sand to make it snowy looking, stop all forms of water from moving, put chains on the convertibles, and replace a few "Like, WHATEVER" with a "Ya, you betcha." I can smell the Oscar.

In the harsh reality, spring break in northern Minnesota isn't much different from Christmas vacation. An Easter ham dinner takes the place of a Christmas turkey, Easter baskets take the place of stockings, the Bunny replaces St. Nick and the Elves, and we go to church on Easter Morning instead of Christmas Eve. All in all, we just exchange the red and green for some lovely pastels, and leave out all forms of topless cars, thong bikinis and white sand. Personally, I can live without the thong.

SPEAKING OF

Sherry LaCoursiere

. . . Prepare . . . Pray

Such a frightening word — flood. We see it on television, hear it on the radio, we read it in the newspapers — flood. Flood is coming to the Red River Valley. We are told to take precautions — to hope for the best but expect the worst.

Every day we see the devastation wrought in the Ohio River Valley by floods. The sight of the destruction sends chills down my spine. I see the homes ruined by water and mud. I hear the voices of people who have lost everything. I see the water taking over farms, roads and businesses. I think, "In a few weeks, that may be us."

Whatever can we do to stop it? Is there anything we can do?

Sunday's Grand Forks Herald tells us about Robin Silverman who has come up with an idea that may save the Red River Valley from flood, and even if it doesn't change the path of the flood, it may have another good purpose. Her idea is that the power of prayer may have an effect on the flooding and that the uniting of the people of the valley in prayer may turn the flood waters away.

Silverman is advocating a prayer chain. Many of us know about prayer chains. Some of us are or have been members of prayer chains. A prayer chain is simply a group of people praying for a common cause, usually at the same time. Praying — isn't that when a person kneels by their bed with folded hands and a bland expression, mouthing pious platitudes? Nope.

Praying is an expression of the heart. A prayer chain is the coming together of many people with a single, loving thought in their hearts, directed at their loving God.

Silverman hopes that even if the prayers will not stop the flood, the effort of a prayer chain throughout the valley will unite [illegible] family. "If God won't answer that prayer, the point is the [illegible]," she said. "The point is that you care enough to go outside yourself and your own petty concerns long enough to be open to something better."

"What is the goal here?" she asks. "One, of course, is to [illegible] protect and save the land. The other would be to have this really [illegible] feeling about our neighbors — if one person thinks better of another person because of this, it will have been worth the effort."

People must come together in times of crisis. Communities must work together and be able to rely on one another for help and comfort in times of disaster. Why not begin that commitment to one another right now?

Haven't prayed for a while? Feel like you only turn to God in the bad times and forget Him in the good times? No matter. Think of a baby held by his father, waving his little arms and laughing, happy and safe. Daddy playfully tosses Baby into the air and what is Baby's reaction to this sudden crisis? He immediately grabs onto Daddy and holds him tight. Maybe it is time for us to hold tight now.

The following is the prayer written by Robin Silverman. According to the Herald, "it is her hope that people all over the valley will offer it up quietly, earnestly, willingly at 7:00 each morning and 7:00 each evening."

A Prayer for the Red River Valley

Oh Lord
We come to You now as one voice, one heart,
To ask Your mercy and blessing on our precious land.
Take the heavy blanket of snow that covers all
And remove it gently and safely.
Let the spring melt be perfect, slow and easy, by Your [illegible]
Transform the threat of a flood
To the promise of peace.
Creator, bring a new, glorious spring to our valley,
Blessing Your earth with abundance and glory.
Hold us now as we hold You
In faith and trust.
Guide us with love as we surrender our doubts and fears [illegible]
May Your will be done in this, and all things.
Thank You for Your protection and for the unity that [illegible]
Amen.

IN THE KNOW
A PARENT'S GUIDE TO ALCOHOL AND OTHER DRUGS!

PARENTS ARE IMPORTANT!!
Have you ever questioned just how much influence you have with your children, especially their decision to use alcohol and other drugs? This questioning becomes stronger as you hear about peer pressure and as you watch television and see all the advertising suggesting that "weekends are made for beer drinking?"

It is important for you to know that what you say and what you do makes a difference in your child's life.
- Do you listen to your child's concerns and problems?
- Do you as parents agree on rules and expectations regarding alcohol, tobacco and other drug use by your children? Do your children contribute to family expectations and rules regarding alcohol and other drugs?
- Do you explain your position on alcohol and other drug use to your children? Are there family rules? Do you let your values show and do you talk about them?
- Do you use tobacco?
- Do you avoid use of illegal drugs?
- Do you use over-the-counter drugs responsibly?

The goal is to prevent problems with alcohol and other drugs before they arise. It is much easier to prevent problems than to struggle with the solutions to a problem. Here are some further suggestions of what you can do:
- KNOW THE FACTS. Attend meetings at school, read pamphlets, or join a parent group.
- TALK TO YOUR CHILD on a regular basis about your values and attitudes about alcohol and other drug use. Sharing your values will positively influence your children. Let your child know it is NOT OK with you that they use alcohol or other drugs.
- MODEL THE KIND OF BEHAVIOR YOU WANT OF YOUR CHILDREN. Do not follow the old saying, "Do as I say and not as I do."
- KEEP INFORMED of your child's activities and friends.
- ENCOURAGE ALTERNATIVE ACTIVITIES for your family.

WHAT CAN YOU DO IF YOU THINK YOUR CHILD IS USING OR ABUSING ALCOHOL, TOBACCO AND OTHER DRUGS?
If you suspect that your child is already experimenting with or using alcohol, tobacco and other drugs, there are actions that you can take to support and help your child.
- FOLLOW THROUGH ON YOUR CLEAR RULES AND CONSEQUENCES. If your child is beginning to push limits around the house, communicate that this is not acceptable and set clear standards and expectations, if not already set.
- DON'T IGNORE possible warning signals. Whether you suspect a problem or see behavior that is inconsistent with your family or community standards, you have the right and responsibility to share your concerns with your child.
- TALK DIRECTLY TO YOUR CHILD.
  - Tell your child that you care and that you feel concerned about the behavior you are seeing. "I love you and don't want you to hurt yourself."
  - Tell your child exactly the behavior that concerns you. "You came in late last night and I smelled alcohol on your breath."
- LISTEN...Always listen openly to your child's point of view.
  - Tell your child what you want to happen. "I want you to talk to the school counselor about the problems you've been having lately." "I want you to be to school on time and attend all of your classes."
  - Tell your child what you are willing and able to do to help. Offer support for what you expect. "I'm willing to talk with you whenever you want to or feel a need for a little support." "I'll help you set up an appointment with the school counselor."
- SEEK PROFESSIONAL GUIDANCE.
- CALL FOR HELP.

A WORD OF SUPPORT...
You may be the greatest source of support for helping your children through sometimes difficult years. Give yourself support as well. If your child is experimenting with or using alcohol, tobacco and other drugs, it does not mean that you have failed as a parent. In fact, feeling guilty can complicate the problem and affect your ability to deal with the real issues. Talk with other parents. Share your concerns and fears. Seek professional help for yourself if you feel it is needed. It is important for you to feel healthy and strong in order for you to help your child feel healthy and strong.

Silverman hopes that even if the prayers will not stop the flood, the effort of a prayer chain throughout the valley will unite people as a family. "If God won't answer that prayer, the point is the effort," she said. "The point is that you care enough to go outside yourself and your own petty concerns long enough to be open to something better."

"What is the goal here?" she asks. "One, of course, is to try to protect and save the land. The other would be to have this really good feeling about our neighbors...if one person thinks better of one other person because of this, it will have been worth the effort."

People must come together in times of crisis. Communities must work together and be able to rely on one another for help and comfort in times of disaster. Why not begin that commitment to one another right now?

Haven't prayed for a while? Feel like you only turn to God in the bad times and forget Him in the good times? No matter. Think of a baby held by his father, waving his little arms and laughing, happy and safe. Daddy playfully tosses Baby into the air and what is Baby's reaction to this sudden crisis? He immediately grabs onto Daddy and holds him tight. Maybe it is time for us to hold tight now.

The following is the prayer written by Robin Silverman. According to the Herald, "it is her hope that people all over the valley will offer it up quietly, earnestly, willingly, at 7:00 each morning and 7:00 each evening."

A Prayer for the Red River Valley

Oh, Lord,
We come to You now as one voice, one heart,
To ask Your mercy and blessing on our precious land.
Take the heavy blanket of snow that covers all
And remove it gently and safely.
Let the spring melt be perfect, slow and easy, by Your grace.
Transform the threat of a flood
To the promise of peace.
Creator, bring a new, glorious spring to our valley,
Blessing Your earth with abundance and glory.
Hold us now as we hold You:
In faith and trust.
Guide us with love as we surrender our doubts and fears to You.
May Your will be done in this, and all things.
Thank You for Your protection and for the unity that joins us all.
Amen.

IN THE KNOW

A PARENT'S GUIDE TO ALCOHOL AND OTHER DRUGS!

PARENTS ARE IMPORTANT!!

Have you ever questioned just how much influence you have with your children, especially their decision to use alcohol and other drugs? This questioning becomes stronger as you hear about peer pressure and as you watch television and see all the advertising suggesting that "weekends are made for beer drinking!"

Is is important for you to know that what you say and what you do makes a difference in your child's life.

- Do you listen to your child's concerns and problems?
- Do you as parents agree on rules and expectations regarding alcohol, tobacco and other drug use by your children? Do your children contribute to family expectations and rules regarding alcohol and other drugs?
- Do you explain your position on alcohol and other drug use to your children? Are there family rules? Do you let your values show and do you talk about them?
- Do you use tobacco?
- Do you avoid use of illegal drugs?
- Do you use over-the-counter drugs responsibly?

The goal is to prevent problems with alcohol and other drugs before they arise. It is much easier to prevent problems than to struggle with the solutions to a problem. Here are some further suggestions of what you can do.

- KNOW THE FACTS. Attend meetings at school, read pamphlets, or join a parent group.
- TALK TO YOUR CHILD on a regular basis about your values and attitudes about alcohol and other drug use. Sharing your values will positively influence your children. Let your child know it is NOT OK with you that they use alcohol or other drugs.
- MODEL THE KIND OF BEHAVIOR YOU WANT OF YOUR CHILDREN. Do not follow the old saying: "Do as I say and not as I do."
- KEEP INFORMED of your child's activities and friends.
- ENCOURAGE ALTERNATIVE ACTIVITIES for your family.

WHAT CAN YOU DO IF YOU THINK YOUR CHILD IS USING OR ABUSING ALCOHOL, TOBACCO AND OTHER DRUGS?

If you suspect that your child is already experimenting with or using alcohol, tobacco and other drugs, there are actions that you can take to support and help your child.

- FOLLOW THROUGH ON YOUR CLEAR RULES AND CONSEQUENCES. If your child is beginning to push limits around the house, communicate that this is not acceptable and set clear standards and expectations, if not already set.
- DON'T IGNORE possible warning signals. Whether you suspect a problem or see behavior that is inconsistent with your family or community standards, you have the right and responsibility to share your concerns with your child.
- TALK DIRECTLY TO YOUR CHILD.
  - Tell your child that you care and that you feel concerned about the behavior you are seeing. "I love you and don't want you to hurt yourself."
  - Tell your child exactly the behavior that concerns you. "You came in late last night and I smelled alcohol on your breath."
- LISTEN...Always listen openly to your child's point of view.
  - Tell your child what you want to happen. "I want you to talk to the school counselor about the problems you've been having lately." "I want you to be to school on time and attend all of your classes."
  - Tell your child what you are willing and able to do to help. Offer support for what you expect. "I'm willing to talk with you whenever you want to or feel a need for a little support." "I'll help you set up an appointment with the school counselor."
- SEEK PROFESSIONAL GUIDANCE.
- CALL FOR HELP.

A WORD OF SUPPORT...

You may be the greatest source of support for helping your children through sometimes difficult years. Give yourself support as well. If your child is experimenting with or using alcohol, tobacco and other drugs, it does not mean that you have failed as a parent. In fact, felling guilty can complicate the problem and affect your ability to deal with the real issues. Talk with other parents. Share your concerns and fears. Seek professional help for yourself if you feel it is needed. It is important for you to feel healthy and strong in order for you to help your child feel healthy and strong.

30-day comment period on Old Mill dam repair

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has prepared an Environmental Assessment Worksheet (EAW) to describe the potential environmental effects associated with the repair and rehabilitation of an historic dam in Old Mill State Park, located in Marshall county in northwestern Minnesota. A 30-day, public comment period of the EAW began March 10.

The dam, built by the Works Progress Administration in 1939, is one of the components of the Old Mill State Park, National Historic District. The stone-and-concrete structure creates a small impoundment on the Middle River that was formerly used as a source of water for the park's artificial swimming pond located nearby. The dam consists of a 60-foot-wide concrete spillway, anchored on each end to square, stone abutments that stand 12 feet above the bed of the river.

The project will repair the east dam abutment and remove the central portion of the concrete spillway. The repair is designed to restore the structural integrity of the east abutment, which has developed several cracks. The repairs will maintain the architectural elements that contribute to the dam's historical significance by using compatible construction materials. The purpose of the spillway removal is to restore a free-flowing stream environment in the river; and remove a potential safety hazard to park users.

The major effect of the spillway removal will be a change in the river's flow condition — from a 2000-foot flatwater impoundment, to a freely flowing stream, allowing both canoe and fish movement through the dam. Any sediment build-up above the dam will be removed prior to construction in order to prevent a sudden wash of sediment downstream. The work will be done at a time when neither park use nor fish movement will be adversely affected.

The EAW is available for public review during a 30-day comment period that began on March 10, 1997. Written comments must be submitted by 4:30 p.m. on April 9, 1997, to Thomas Balcom, Minnesota Department of Natural Resources, 500 Lafayette Road, St. Paul, MN 55155-4010 or by fax to (612) 296-6047.

Copies of the EAW are available for inspection and review at the Park Office of Old Mill State Park, at the Northwest Regional Library, 101 East First Street, Thief River Falls, at the Crookston Public Library, 120 North Ash Street, Crookston, and the DNR Library, 500 Lafayette Road, St. Paul. For more information or for copies of the EAW, call 612-296-8212.

Veterans service office is closed

Office of John F. Ellison, county veterans service officer in Thief River Falls, will be closed from Thursday, March 13 to Tuesday, March 18. Ellison will be attending meetings with service organization representatives at state and national levels.

Q&A SOCIAL SECURITY

Q. Does the recent welfare legislation involve Social Security?

A. Yes. The welfare reform act, more officially known as "The Personal Responsibility and Work Opportunity Reconciliation Act of 1996" involves the Social Security Administration in several different areas. Bear in mind that Social Security is itself very varied in scope plus the organization is responsible for multiple programs. Effects of the Welfare Reform Act covered here will be only about Social Security and Supplemental Security Income (SSI). SSI is the need based program administered by Social Security. SSI is funded by general tax revenues.

Applicants for Social Security and SSI will now need to establish their US citizenship or otherwise lawful presence in the United States. For SSI, legally present but non-citizen aliens will be limited in the amount of time for which SSI can be received. Exceptions exist but, in general, there will be a five year SSI limit for non-citizens. To a large part, Social Security retirement, survivor and disability benefits will not be payable to any non-citizen who is not lawfully present in the country.

Another change will concern Social Security cards. Social Security has been told to develop, over several years, a prototype of a counterfeit-resistant card to replace the existing paper card. This future card is to be a tamper-resistant material such as plastic, employ built-in security features and, in some manner, provide individuals with proof of citizenship or legal resident status.

Q. How does Medicare coverage work for ambulance calls?

A. According to the Health Care Financing Administration (HCFA), use of an ambulance is covered under Part B of Medicare.

Medicare Part B pays for an ambulance only if other means of transportation would endanger the beneficiary's health. To be covered, ambulance services must be medically necessary and reasonable. Medical necessity is established when the patient's condition is such that use of any other method of transportation would be dangerous to the patient's health.

As a general rule, only local transportation by ambulance is covered by Medicare. This means that the patient must have been transported to the nearest hospital or skilled nursing home that can provide the needed medical services. In exceptional situations where the ambulance transportation originates beyond the locality of the hospital or nursing home to which the beneficiary was transported, the Medicare allowed amount may be paid for such services only if the evidence clearly establishes that such hospital or nursing home is the nearest one that can offer the needed medical services. Also, if you call for an ambulance and then refuse transport, Medicare will not pay the ambulance company for responding. Medicare will only pay when a transport occurs.

When Medicare beneficiaries receive ambulance services, there will be some out of pocket costs subject to the usual co-payments.

Community band resumes at NCTC

Rehearsals for Northland Community Band resumed Monday, March 10 and Northland music director [illegible] Torgerson said he is looking forward to celebrating the band's 25th anniversary year.

"We have a great spring planned," Torgerson said. "We'll attend the Community Fine Arts Festival at Cragun's Resort near Brainerd, and our home concert is scheduled to be held at Pioneer Village in Thief River Falls.

"Last year, with the assistance of the Thief River Falls Rotary club, we were able to give a sizeable donation toward the beautiful new gazebo at Floyd B. Olson park. I hope we can do the same for the Pioneer Village."

Band members may receive college credit for participation, or select continuing education. Registration for one college credit is $47.02. Continuing education is $20.

Rehearsals will be held each Monday evening. Registration materials were available Monday at the first rehearsal and may be obtained from Torgerson at the college. For more information, contact him at 681-0733.

Breathing problem support group to meet in Crookston

30-day comment period on Old Mill dam repair

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has prepared an Environmental Assessment Worksheet (EAW) to describe the potential environmental effects associated with the repair and rehabilitation of an historic dam in Old Mill State Park, located in Marshall county in northwestern Minnesota. A 30-day, public comment period of the EAW began March 10.

The project will repair the east dam abutment and remove the central portion of the concrete spillway. The repair is designed to restore the structural integrity of the east abutment, which has developed several cracks. The repairs will maintain the architectural elements that contribute to the dam's historical significance by using compatible construction materials. The purpose of the spillway removal is to restore a free-flowing stream environment in the river; and remove a potential safety hazard to park users.

The major effect of the spillway removal will be a change in the river's flow condition — from a 2000-foot flatwater impoundment, to a freely flowing stream — allowing both canoe and fish movement through the dam. Any sediment build-up above the dam will be removed prior to construction in order to prevent a sudden wash of sediment downstream. The work will be done at a time when neither park use nor fish movement will be adversely affected.

The EAW is available for public review during a 30-day comment period that began on March 10, 1997. Written comments must be submitted by 4:30 p.m. on April 9, 1997, to Thomas Balcom, Minnesota Department of Natural Resources, 500 Lafayette Road, St. Paul, MN 55155-4010, or by fax to (612) 296-6047.

Copies of the EAW are available for inspection and review at the Park Office of Old Mill State Park, at the Northwest Regional Library, 101 East First Street, Thief River Falls; at the Crookston Public Library, 120 North Ash Street, Crookston; and the DNR Library, 500 Lafayette Road, St. Paul. For more information or for copies of the EAW, call 612-296-8212.

Veterans service office is closed

Office of John F. Ellison, county veterans service officer in Thief River Falls, will be closed from Thursday, March 13 to Tuesday, March 18. Ellison will be attending meetings with service organization representatives at state and national levels.

Q&A SOCIAL SECURITY

Q. Does the recent welfare legislation involve Social Security?

A. Yes. The welfare reform act, more officially known as "The Personal Responsibility and Work Opportunity Reconciliation Act of 1996" involves the Social Security Administration in several different areas. Bear in mind that Social Security is itself very varied in scope plus the organization is responsible for multiple programs. Effects of the Welfare Reform Act covered here will be only about Social Security and Supplemental Security Income (SSI). SSI is the need based program administered by Social Security. SSI is funded by general tax revenues.

Applicants for Social Security and SSI will now need to establish their US citizenship or otherwise lawful presence in the United States. For SSI, legally present but non-citizen aliens will be limited in the amount of time for which SSI can be received. Exceptions exist but, in general, there will be a five year SSI limit for non-citizens. To a large part, Social Security retirement, survivor and disability benefits will not be payable to any non-citizen who is not lawfully present in the country.

Another change will concern Social Security cards. Social Security has been told to develop, over several years, a prototype of a counterfeit-resistant card to replace the existing paper card. This future card is to be a tamper-resistant material such as plastic, employ built-in security features and, in some manner, provide individuals with proof of citizenship or legal resident status.

Q. How does Medicare coverage work for ambulance calls?

A. According to the Health Care Financing Administration (HCFA), use of an ambulance is covered under Part B of Medicare.

Medicare Part B pays for an ambulance only if other means of transportation would endanger the beneficiary's health. To be covered, ambulance services must be medically necessary and reasonable. Medical necessity is established when the patient's condition is such that use of any other method of transportation would be dangerous to the patient's health.

As a general rule, only local transportation by ambulance is covered by Medicare. This means that the patient must have been transported to the nearest hospital or skilled nursing home that can provide the needed medical services. In exceptional situations where the ambulance transportation originates beyond the locality of the hospital or nursing home to which the beneficiary was transported, the Medicare allowed amount may be paid for such services only if the evidence clearly establishes that such hospital or nursing home is the nearest one that can offer the needed medical services. Also, if you call for an ambulance and then refuse transport, Medicare will not pay the ambulance company for responding. Medicare will only pay when a transport occurs.

When Medicare beneficiaries receive ambulance services, there will be some out of pocket costs subject to the usual co-payments.

Rehearsals for Northland Community Band resumed Monday, March 10, and Northland music director Les Torgerson said he is looking forward to celebrating the band's 25th anniversary year.

"We have a great spring planned," Torgerson said. "We'll attend the Community Fine Arts Festival at Cragun's Resort near Brainerd, and our home concert is scheduled to be held at Pioneer Village in Thief River Falls.

"Last year, with the assistance of the Thief River Falls Rotary club, we were able to give a sizeable donation toward the beautiful new gazebo at Floyd B. Olson park. I hope we can do the same for the Pioneer Village."

Band members may receive college credit for participation, or select continuing education. Registration for one college credit is $47.02. Continuing education is $20.

Rehearsals will be held each Monday evening. Registration materials were available Monday at the first rehearsal and may be obtained from Torgerson at the college. For more information, contact him at 681-0733.

30-day comment period on Old Mill dam repair

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has prepared an Environmental Assessment Worksheet (EAW) to describe the potential environmental effects associated with the repair and rehabilitation of an historic dam in Old Mill State Park, located in Marshall county in northwestern Minnesota. A 30 day, public comment period of the EAW began March 10.

The project will repair the east dam abutment and remove the central portion of the concrete spillway. The repair is designed to restore the structural integrity of the east abutment, which has developed several cracks. The repairs will maintain the architectural elements that contribute to the dam's historical significance by using compatible construction materials. The purpose of the spillway removal is to restore a free-flowing stream environment in the river, and remove a potential safety hazard to park users.

The major effect of the spillway removal will be a change in the river's flow condition — from a 2000-foot flatwater impoundment, to a freely flowing [illegible] allowing both canoe and fish movement through the dam. Any sediment buildup above the dam will be removed prior to [illegible] in order to prevent [illegible] of sediment downstream. The work will be done at a time when neither park use nor fish [illegible] will be adversely affected.

The EAW is available for public review during a 30-day comment period that began on March 10, 1997. Written comments must be submitted by 4:30 p.m. on April 9, 1997, to Thomas Balcom, Minnesota Department of Natural Resources, 500 Lafayette Road, St. Paul, MN 55155-4010 [illegible] 296-6017.

Copies of the EAW are available for inspection and review at the Park Office of Old Mill State Park, at the Northwest Regional Library, 101 East First Street, Thief River Falls, at the Crookston Public Library, 110 North Ash Street, Crookston, and the DNR Library, 500 Lafayette Road, St. Paul. For more information or for copies of the EAW, call 612-296-8212.

Q&A SOCIAL SECURITY

Q. Does the recent welfare legislation involve Social Security?

A. Yes. The welfare reform act, more officially known as "The Personal Responsibility and Work Opportunity Reconciliation Act of 1996" involves the Social Security Administration in several different areas. Bear in mind that Social Security is itself very varied in scope plus the organization is responsible for multiple programs. Effects of the Welfare Reform Act covered here will be only about Social Security and Supplemental Security Income (SSI). SSI is the need based program administered by Social Security. SSI is funded by general tax revenues.

Applicants for Social Security and SSI will now need to establish their US citizenship or otherwise lawful presence in the United States. For SSI, legally present but non-citizen aliens will be limited in the amount of time for which SSI can be received. Exceptions exist but, in general, there will be a five year SSI limit for non-citizens. To a large part, Social Security retirement, survivor and disability benefits will not be payable to any noncitizen who is not lawfully present in the country.

Another change will concern Social Security cards. Social Security has been told to develop, over several years, a prototype of a counterfeit-resistant card to replace the existing paper card. This future card is to be a tamper-resistant material such as plastic, employ built-in security features and, in some manner, provide individuals with proof of citizenship or legal resident status.

Q. How does Medicare coverage work for ambulance calls?

A. According to the Health Care Financing Administration (HCFA), use of an ambulance is covered under Part B of Medicare.

Medicare Part B pays for an ambulance only if other means of transportation would endanger the beneficiary's health. To be covered, ambulance services must be medically necessary and reasonable. Medical necessity is established when the patient's condition is such that use of any other method of transportation would be dangerous to the patient's health.

As a general rule, only local transportation by ambulance is covered by Medicare. This means that the patient must have been transported to the nearest hospital or skilled nursing home that can provide the needed medical services. In exceptional situations where the ambulance transportation originates beyond the locality of the hospital or nursing home to which the beneficiary was transported, the Medicare allowed amount may be paid for such services only if the evidence clearly establishes that such hospital or nursing home is the nearest one that can provide the needed medical services. [illegible] call for an ambulance and then refuse transport, Medicare will not pay the ambulance company for responding. Medicare will only pay when a transport occurs.

When Medicare beneficiaries receive ambulance services, there will be some out of pocket costs subject to the [illegible]

Section 8A games scheduled at UMC

Section 8A Boys - at UMC
■ Semifinals Thursday, March 13 - Red Lake vs. Grygla-Gatzke, 4 p.m.; Fertile-Beltrami vs. Badger/Greenbush-Middle River, 8 p.m.
■ Finals Friday, March 14 - third place 6:30 p.m.; championship 8:15 p.m.

Section 8A boys high school basketball tournament will be played Thursday and Friday at the University of Minnesota-Crookston.

A split Thursday semifinal round will feature Red Lake vs. Grygla-Gatzke at 4 p.m. and Fertile-Beltrami vs. Badger/Greenbush-Middle River at 8.

Friday finals will include the third place game at 6:30 p.m. and championship game at 8:15.

This year's four class playoff system will find the Section 8A winner meeting the Section 7A champion in the Class A state tournament quarterfinals Tuesday, March 18, at Bemidji State University.

To reach the Section 8A tournament, Red Lake beat Lake of the Woods 65-49 in the Sub-Section 29A finals. Fertile-Beltrami edged Win-E-Mac 52-51 in overtime in Sub-Section 30A, Grygla-Gatzke defeated Warren-Alvarado-Oslo 58-48 in Sub-Section 31A, and Badger/Greenbush-Middle River stopped Tri-County 51-35 in Sub-Section 32A.

Grygla-Gatzke (17-6) and Red Lake (23-1) did not play during the regular season. Grygla-Gatzke started the year 10-0 before losing five of six at mid-season. Cass Lake-Bena handed Red Lake its only loss of the year.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River finished the regular season only 12-10, but did knock Fertile-Beltrami out of the No. 1 spot in the Class A state polls with a 66-62 victory in the opening round of the Thief River Falls Russ Smith Northwest Holiday Classic in late December.

Mustangs lose 30A third place contest

Sub-Section 30A Boys
■ Finals Saturday, March 8 - (at UMC) Fertile-Beltrami 52, Win-E-Mac 51 (ot championship); Fosston 71, Red Lake County Central 57 (third)

Red Lake County Central couldn't find the range in a pair of Sub-Section 30A boys high school basketball tournament losses at the University of Minnesota-Crookston.

First, the Mustangs struggled through a 20 percent 10-for-49 shooting night in a 69-25 Tuesday semifinal blow-out at the hands of Fertile-Beltrami, then Saturday improved only slightly to a 30 percent 21-for-69 figure in a 71-57 third place game loss to Fosston.

Fosston's 56 percent 29-for-52 shooting produced quarter leads of 24-9, 33-26 and 47-43.

"We got down early," acknowledged Sedler, whose team battled back to take a 49-48 fourth quarter lead before losing ground again down the stretch. "We fell behind, had to foul, and gave up some easy baskets," he explained. "It wasn't a 14-point game, it was a lot closer than that."

Mark Lorenson scored 22 points and Jimmy Dulka had 14 for the Mustangs. Mike Heide and Matt Moen provided the Greyhounds with a 1-2 scoring punch by netting 23 and 22 points, respectively.

At the free throw line, Red Lake County Central was 10-for-20 and Fosston went 13-for-22. The Mustangs had a 34-32 rebound edge, the Greyhounds topped the turnover charts 20-19.

Goodridge beaten by Eagles in final outing

East Grand Forks Sacred Heart overcame a 21-11 first quarter deficit Saturday to beat Goodridge 59-53 in the Sub-Section 31A boys high school basketball tournament third place game at the University of Minnesota-Crookston.

The Huskies still led 33-25 at halftime, but the advantage was down to 46-45 by the end of the third quarter, and they were outscored 14-7 down the stretch.

Goodridge, a 57-50 and 63-49 winner over Sacred Heart during the regular season, finished 17-8.

Using a forearm to ward off Tri-County defender Tryg Spilde, Badger/Greenbush-Middle River guard Jeremy Vacura worked the ball up the court during Saturday's Sub-Section 32A boys high school basketball tournament championship game at Northland Community and Technical College. The Gators beat the Wildcats 51-35.

B/G-MR boys win 32A title

Sub-Section 32A Boys
■ Finals Saturday, March 8 - (at NCTC) Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 51, Tri-County 35 (championship); Kittson Central 78, Stephen-Argyle 64 (third)

Halftime alterations led to a title-winning final product Friday as Badger/Greenbush-Middle River defeated Tri-County 51-35 in the Sub-Section 32A boys high school basketball tournament championship game at Northland Community and Technical College.

Nothing was decided in the first half when the lead changed hands five times, there were five ties and the biggest spread was four points. Tryg Spilde's 3-pointer in the final seconds put the Wildcats on top 24-22 at intermission.

But halftime changes implemented by Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Eldon Spathy – and the Gators' success in carrying out those instructions – paved the way to second half domination by the winners.

"I made a decision before the game to go with a conventional man-to-man defense," explained Spathy. "It didn't work that well. Spilde and (Seth) Olson were beating us from the outside. We switched to match-up zone at halftime, and that's what turned it around for us."

The changed stopped the Wildcats cold. They were just 4-for-27 from the field in the second half (15 percent), with three of the field goals coming from 3-point range, and were out-scored 29-11.

It was the second straight 35-point defensive effort by the Gators, who stopped Kittson Central by a nearly identical 53-35 score in the Tuesday semifinals.

On offense, meanwhile, the Gators' long-range shooting was converted into an inside game that produced instant success. All five third quarter Badger/Greenbush-Middle River baskets came from the paint area as the winners took a 34-29 lead.

Matt Kujava and Adam Holmes burned the Wildcats with short range jumpers, rebounds and put-backs in the third quarter, and after an Andy Schenkey 3-pointer to start the final period, Daryl Wockenfuss came off the bench to complete a 9-0 Badger/Greenbush-Middle River run with a rebound basket and a short jumper in the middle for a 41-29 gap with 4:46 to play.

"We knew we had to attack their defense from the inside," pointed out Spathy. "Aaron Rislov and Adam Holmes got us some points on the inside in the third quarter, then Daryl Wockenfuss hit a couple of shots in the fourth quarter that really opened things up for us."

Spilde and Olson sandwiched 3-pointers around a Rislov free throw to keep Tri-County in contention at 42-35 with 2:30 to play. But the Gators clinched it with seven straight points – all at the free throw line as Jeremy Vacura hit two, Rislov two, Holmes one of two, and Rislov two more with 31.3 seconds left.

Kujava finished with 12 points and Vacura had 10. Olson netted 15 points and Spilde 11, but 17 of those combined 26 points came in the first half. Spilde also had 10 rebounds and six assists.

Depth proved to be a factor as the Badger/Greenbush-Middle River bench out-scored the Tri-County bench 15-2.

The Gators put up only 39 shots, hitting 17 of those for a 44 percent outing. The Wildcats struggled through a 25 percent 14-for-56 night. The Gators had a sizeable edge at the free throw line, where they were 14-for-24, compared to a 1-for-6 game at the line for the Wildcats. Drawing fouls with the emphasis on the inside game, Badger/Greenbush-Middle River shot 18 second half free throws. Tri-County never went to the line in the second half.

The Gators out-rebounded the Wildcats 38-23 and topped the turnover charts 12-8.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River, a 56-46 winner over Tri-County late in the regular season, heads to the Section 8A tournament with a 15-10 record.

■ Grygla-Gatzke wins Sub-Section 31A tournament

Sub-Section 31A Boys
■ Finals Saturday, March 8 - (at UMC) Grygla-Gatzke 58, Warren-Alvarado-Oslo 48 (championship); East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 59, Goodridge 53 (third)

Grygla-Gatzke, after having establishing itself as one of the top teams in Sub-Section 32A in recent few years, set out to conquer new territory this season when the new four-class Minnesota State High School League basketball playoffs shifted the Eagles' tournament alignment.

Mission accomplished. The Eagles added a new trophy to their collection Saturday night with a 58-48 win over Warren-Alvarado-Oslo in the Sub-Section 31A championship game at the University of Minnesota-Crookston.

Grygla-Gatzke did it by following a game-plan laid out by head coach Vern Johnson that produced quarter leads of 11-9, 23-22 and 35-30.

"We put in our game plan earlier in the week, and the kids executed it," explained Johnson. "They did a great job with it."

And 15-for-21 fourth quarter free throw shooting helped, too. A steal and a fast break basket by Alex Anderson near the midway mark of the fourth quarter opened up a 10-point Grygla-Gatzke lead and provided a key psychological lift, noted Johnson. "That was a big play for us," he said. "That really gave us a boost."

The win improved the Eagles to 17-6 and moves them into the Section 8A tournament semifinals Thursday against Sub-Section 29A winner Red Lake.

Both teams featured a balanced offense. Shaun Verbout, a 6-1 senior, led the Eagles with 14 points, while 6-3 senior Jim Engelstad and 6-0 junior Phil Brateng both netted 11. The Ponies got an 11-point game from 5-8 junior Joey Kvamme and 10 each from sophomores Jerod Steer and Tyler Solberg.

Grygla-Gatzke was 19-for-40 from the field (48 percent) and 19-for-26 at the free throw line. Warren-Alvarado-Oslo went 18-for-44 from the field (41 percent) and 9-for-12 at the line. The rebounds were even at 29-apiece. The Eagles turned it over nine times; the Ponies lost the ball eight times.

"We figured it was going to be a tough defensive game, and it was," offered Johnson. "Our kids worked very hard on defense. We got a hand up on most of their shots. It was a real big win for us."

Section 8A semifinals will be played Thursday at the University of Minnesota-Crookston.

TRF Women's Softball meeting set March 19

Thief River Falls Women's Softball Association meeting will be held Wednesday, March 19, at 7 p.m. in room 135 at Northland Community and Technical College.

Discussion on fields available for the 1997 season, and league organization will be discussed.

Any individuals interested in joining a team are welcome to attend the meeting, or to call Kathy Huschle at 681-1035.

All teams planning to play this summer should have a representative at the meeting so officials can help determine the number of teams the league will field before the April 1 district meeting.

Wiseth, Nikunen will be at Boosters Club

Spring sports at Northland Community and Technical College will be the subject of conversation Thursday during the 12-noon Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Club meeting at the Elks.

Northland baseball coach Terry Wiseth and Pioneers softball coach Rick Nikunen will be the guest speakers.

The public is invited.

Fergus Falls, Alex boys in 8AAA final

Fergus Falls defeated Crookston 80-59 Saturday in the North Sub-Section 8AAA boys high school basketball tournament finals at Moorhead State University.

The Otters will meet Alexandria Saturday in the state tournament-qualifying Section 8AAA championship game at 1 p.m. at St. Cloud State University.

Section 8A champion Warroad reached the championship game of the 1997 boys Class A state high school hockey tournament Saturday before losing to Red Wing 4-3.

Proctor, led by former Thief River Falls head coach Bill McGann, finished third in Class A with a final-day 4-1 win over Fergus Falls. McGann coached the Prowlers from 1972-73 through the 1975-76 season.

Anywhere from 250 to 400 youngsters from grades K-through-8 are expected to be on hand for the Thief River Falls Takedown Club Youth Wrestling Invitational Saturday, April 5.

To help cover the cost of the event – in particular to help pay for the trophies that will be awarded to the combatants – a fund raising dinner/dance will be held Saturday, March 15, at the Eagles.

The barbecue rib dinner will be served from 5 to 8 p.m., followed by a dance featuring the Vernon Rogalla band.

Dinner tickets are priced at $6.50 for adults and $3.50 for children ages 12-under. Tickets can be purchased at the door.

The Thief River Falls youth wrestling program, in its fourth year of operation, is directed by Lincoln High School head wrestling coach John Belyea, with assistance from John LeDuc, and a number of parents who give a hand during the practice sessions each Monday and Wednesday in the Lincoln wrestling room.

Practices, which feature K-through second grade at 6:30 p.m. and grades 3-5 at 7:30 p.m., began in early January and will continue through mid-April.

The 55 to 60 program participants compete in numerous area individual and team tournaments.

It's an introduction to wrestling for the youngsters, and a feeder program for the Prowlers' high school team, explained LeDuc. "We're teaching the sport to the kids, but the biggest thing is to make sure they have fun," he said.

Kim Stenseth named TRF MVP

Stenseth, a 5-9 senior forward/center, finished third on the Lincoln High School girls basketball career scoring list with 1,059 points – behind only Jodi Kruta (a 1992 graduate) with 1,771 points and Michelle Olson (1985) 1,062.

A three-year starter, Stenseth turned in team-leading numbers this winter with an 18-point scoring average and 67 percent shooting at the free throw line. She was second on the team in assists (76) and rebounds (150), and third in steals (55).

"We're going to miss Kim," acknowledged Thief River Falls coach Jeff Loe. "No one person is going to be able to replace her. Several girls will have to step up and help fill the void."

In addition to the MVP award, Stenseth was presented with a plaque to commemorate breaking the 1,000-point barrier and was recognized for leading the Prowlers in scoring this winter with 415 points.

Other special recognition went to Nicole Kopari, most assists (91), most steals (72), most rebounds (179), winner of the team's free throw shooting contest (87/100). Stenseth, most points (415). Kim Hook, best defense, Becky Mooney, hardest worker, and Amber Klinker, most improved.

A plaque was presented to senior Kim Stenseth during Monday's Thief River Falls girls high school basketball banquet to commemorate the fact she joined the 1,000-Point Club during the 1996-97 season.

Klinker and Mooney were named captains of the 1997-98 Prowlers, succeeding Erica Owen, Hook and Stenseth.

Athletic letters went to seniors Jocey Helgeland, Alicia Bakken, Hook, Stenseth, and Owen; juniors Beth Olson, Stephanie Leach, Kelly Almquist, Klinker, and Mooney; sophomores Taya Hunt, Laura Follett, and Kopari, along with student managers Stephanie Rasmussen, Valerie Basher, Angie Hanson, and Bryanna Helgeland.

The Prowlers finished the regular season 12-10, then fell to Detroit Lakes 60-38 in the North Sub-Section 8AAA tournament semifinals.

"I was happy with the season," said Loe, who was in his first year as the Thief River Falls head coach. "We're not happy with the way it ended (the first-round post-season setback), but I thought at the end of the year we were playing some pretty good basketball. We improved."

Boys high school basketball...

Section 8A games scheduled at UMC

Section 8A boys high school basketball tournament will be played Thursday and Friday at the University of Minnesota-Crookston.

A split Thursday semifinal round will feature Red Lake vs. Grygla-Gatzke at 4 p.m. and Fertile-Beltrami vs. Badger/Greenbush-Middle River at 8.

Friday finals will include the third place game at 6:30 p.m. and championship game at 8:15.

This year's four-class playoff system will find the Section 8A winner meeting the Section 7A champion in the Class A state tournament quarterfinals Tuesday, March 18, at Bemidji State University.

To reach the Section 8A tournament, Red Lake beat Lake of the Woods 65-49 in the Sub-Section 29A finals; Fertile-Beltrami edged Win-E-Mac 52-51 in overtime in Sub-Section 30A; Grygla-Gatzke defeated Warren-Alvarado-Oslo 58-48 in Sub-Section 30IA; and Badger/Greenbush-Middle River stopped Tri-County 51-35 in Sub-Section 32A.

Grygla-Gatzke (17-6) and Red Lake (23-1) did not play during the regular season. Grygla-Gatzke started the year 10-0 before losing five of six at mid-season. Cass Lake-Bena handed Red Lake it's only loss of the year.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River finished the regular season only 12-10, but did knock Fertile-Beltrami out of the No. 1 spot in the Class A state polls with a 66-62 victory in the opening round of the Thief River Falls Russ Smith Northwest Holiday Classic in late December.

Section 8A Boys - at UMC

■ Semifinals Thursday, March 13 - Red Lake vs. Grygla-Gatzke, 4 p.m.; Fertile-Beltrami vs. Badger/Greenbush-Middle River, 8 p.m.

■ Finals Friday, March 14 - third place 6:30 p.m., championship 8:15 p.m.

Mustangs lose 30A third place contest

Sub-Section 30A Boys

■ Finals Saturday, March 8 - (at UMC) Fertile-Beltrami 52, Win-E-Mac 51 (ot-championship); Fosston 71, Red Lake County Central 57 (third)

Red Lake County Central couldn't find the range in a pair of Sub-Section 30A boys high school basketball tournament losses at the University of Minnesota-Crookston.

First, the Mustangs struggled through a 20 percent 10-for-49 shooting night in a 69-25 Tuesday semifinal blow-out at the hands of Fertile-Beltrami, then Saturday improved only slightly to a 30 percent 21-for-69 figure in a 71-57 third place game loss to Fosston.

Fosston's 56 percent 29-for-52 shooting produced quarter leads of 24-9, 33-26 and 47-43.

"We got down early," acknowledged Sedler, whose team battled back to take a 49-48 fourth quarter lead before losing ground again down the stretch. "We fell behind, had to foul, and gave up some easy baskets," he explained. "It wasn't a 14-point game; it was a lot closer than that."

Mark Lorenson scored 22 points and Jimmy Dulka had 14 for the Mustangs. Mike Heide and Matt Moen provided the Greyhounds with a 1-2 scoring punch by netting 23 and 22 points, respectively.

At the free throw line, Red Lake County Central was 10-for-20 and Fosston went 13-for-22. The Mustangs had a 34-32 rebound edge, the Greyhounds topped the turnover charts 20-19.

Goodridge beaten by Eagles in final outing

East Grand Forks Sacred Heart overcame a 21-11 first quarter deficit Saturday to beat Goodridge 59-53 in the Sub-Section 31A boys high school basketball tournament third place game at the University of Minnesota-Crookston.

The Huskies still led 33-25 at halftime, but the advantage was down to 46-45 by the end of the third quarter, and they were outscored 14-7 down the stretch.

Goodridge, a 57-50 and 63-49 winner over Sacred Heart during the regular season, finished 17-8.

Using a forearm to ward off Tri-County defender Tryg Spilde, Badger/Greenbush-Middle River guard Jeremy Vacura worked the ball up the court during Saturday's Sub-Section 32A boys high school basketball tournament championship game at Northland Community and Technical College. The Gators beat the Wildcats 51-35.

B/G-MR boys win 32A title

Sub-Section 32A Boys

■ Finals Saturday, March 8 - (at NCTC) Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 51, Tri-County 35 (championship); Kittson Central 78, Stephen-Argyle 64 (third)

Halftime alterations led to a title-winning final product Friday as Badger/Greenbush-Middle River defeated Tri-County 51-35 in the Sub-Section 32A boys high school basketball tournament championship game at Northland Community and Technical College.

Nothing was decided in the first half when the lead changed hands five times, there were five ties and the biggest spread was four points. Tryg Spilde's 3-pointer in the final seconds put the Wildcats on top 24-22 at intermission.

But halftime changes implemented by Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Eldon Sparby – and the Gators' success in carrying out those instructions – paved the way to second half domination by they winners.

"I made a decision before the game to go with a conventional man-to-man defense," explained Sparby. "It didn't work that well. Spilde and (Seth) Olson were beating us from the outside. We switched to match-up zone at halftime, and that's what turned it around for us."

The changed stopped the Wildcats cold. They were just 4-for-27 from the field in the second half (15 percent), with three of the field goals coming from 3-point range, and were out-scored 29-11.

It was the second straight 35-point defensive effort by the Gators, who stopped Kittson Central by a nearly identical 53-35 score in the Tuesday semifinals.

On offense, meanwhile, the Gators' long-range shooting was converted into an inside game that produced instant success. All five third quarter Badger/Greenbush-Middle River baskets came from the paint area as the winners took a 34-29 lead.

Matt Kujava and Adam Holmes burned the Wildcats' with short range jumpers, rebounds and put-backs in the third quarter, and after an Andy Schenkey 3-pointer to start the final period, Daryl Wockenfuss came off the bench to complete a 9-0 Badger/Greenbush-Middle River run with a rebound basket and a short jumper in the middle for a 41-29 gap with 4:46 to play.

"We knew we had to attack their defense from the inside," pointed out Sparby. "Aaron Rislov and Adam Holmes got us some points on the inside in the third quarter, then Daryl Wockenfuss hit a couple of shots in the fourth quarter that really opened things up for us."

Spilde and Olson sandwiched 3-pointers around a Rislov free throw to keep Tri-County in contention at 42-35 with 2:30 to play. But the Gators clinched it with seven straight points – all at the free throw line as Jeremy Vacura hit two, Rislov two, Holmes one of two, and Rislov two more with 31.3 seconds left.

Kujava finished with 12 points and Vacura had 10. Olson netted 15 points and Spilde 11, but 17 of those combined 26 points came in the first half. Spilde also had 10 rebounds and six assists.

Depth proved to be a factor as the Badger/Greenbush-Middle River bench out-scored the Tri-County bench 15-2.

The Gators put up only 39 shots, hitting 17 of those for a 44 percent outing. The Wildcats struggled through a 25 percent 14-for-56 night. The Gators had a sizeable edge at the free throw line, where they were 14-for-24, compared to a 1-for-6 game at the line for the Wildcats. Drawing fouls with the emphasis on the inside game, Badger/Greenbush-Middle River shot 18 second half free throws. Tri-County never went to the line in the second half.

The Gators out-rebounded the Wildcats 38-23 and topped the turnover charts 12-8.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River, a 56-46 winner over Tri-County late in the regular season, heads to the Section 8A tournament with a 15-10 record.

■ Grygla-Gatzke wins Sub-Section 31A tournament

Sub-Section 31A Boys

■ Finals Saturday, March 8 - (at UMC) Grygla-Gatzke 58, Warren-Alvarado-Oslo 48 (championship); East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 59, Goodridge 53 (third)

Grygla-Gatzke, after having establishing itself as one of the top teams in Sub-Section 32A in recent few years, set out to conquer new territory this season when the new four-class Minnesota State High School League basketball playoffs shifted the Eagles' tournament alignment.

Mission accomplished. The Eagles added a new trophy to their collection Saturday night with a 58-48 win over Warren-Alvarado-Oslo in the Sub-Section 31A championship game at the University of Minnesota-Crookston.

Grygla-Gatzke did it by following a game plan laid out by head coach Vern Johnson that produced quarter leads of 11-9, 23-22 and 35-30.

"We put in our game plan earlier in the week, and the kids executed it," explained Johnson. "They did a great job with it."

And 15-for-21 fourth quarter free throw shooting helped, too. A steal and a fast break basket by Alex Anderson near the midway mark of the fourth quarter opened up a 10-point Grygla-Gatzke lead and provided a key psychological lift, noted Johnson. "That was a big play for us," he said. "That really gave us a boost."

The win improved the Eagles to 17-6 and moves them into the Section 8A tournament semifinals Thursday against Sub-Section 29A winner Red Lake.

Both teams featured a balanced offense. Shaun Verbout, a 6-1 senior, led the Eagles with 14 points, while 6-3 senior Jim Engelstad and 6-0 junior Phil Brateng both netted 11. The Ponies got an 11-point game from 5-8 junior Jocy Kvamme and 10 each from sophomores Jerod Steer and Tyler Solberg.

Grygla-Gatzke was 19-for-40 from the field (48 percent) and 19-for-26 at the free throw line. Warren-Alvarado-Oslo went 18-for-44 from the field (41 percent) and 9-for-12 at the line. The rebounds were even at 29-apiece. The Eagles turned it over nine times; the Ponies lost the ball eight times.

"We figured it was going to be a tough defensive game, and it was," offered Johnson. "Our kids worked very hard on defense. We got a hand up on most of their shots. It was a real big win for us."

Section 8A semifinals will be played Thursday at the University of Minnesota-Crookston.

TRF Women's Softball meeting set March 19

Thief River Falls Women's Softball Association meeting will be held Wednesday, March 19, at 7 p.m. in room 135 at Northland Community and Technical College.

Discussion on fields available for the 1997 season, and league organization will be discussed.

Any individuals interested in joining a team are welcome to attend the meeting, or to call Kathy Huschle at 681-1035.

All teams planning to play this summer should have a representative at the meeting so officials can help determine the number of teams the league will field before the April 1 district meeting.

Wiseth, Nikunen will be at Boosters Club

Spring sports at Northland Community and Technical College will be the subject of conversion Thursday during the 12-noon Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Club meeting at the Elks.

Northland baseball coach Terry Wiseth and Pioneers softball coach Rick Nikunen will be the guest speakers.

The public is invited.

Fergus Falls, Alex boys in 8AAA final

The Otters will meet Alexandria Saturday in the state tournament-qualifying Section 8AAA championship game at 1 p.m. at St. Cloud State University.

Section 8A champion Warroad reached the championship game of the 1997 boys Class A state high school hockey tournament Saturday before losing to Red Wing 4-3.

Proctor, led by former Thief River Falls head coach Bill McGann, finished third in Class A with a final-day 4-1 win over Fergus Falls. McGann coached the Prowlers from 1972-73 through the 1975-76 season.

Anywhere from 250 to 400 youngsters from grades K-through-8 are expected to be on hand for the Thief River Falls Takedown Club Youth Wrestling Invitational Saturday, April 5.

To help cover the cost of the event – in particular to help pay for the trophies that will be awarded to the combatants – a fund-raising dinner/dance will be held Saturday, March 15, at the Eagles.

The barbecue rib dinner will be served from 5 to 8 p.m., followed by a dance featuring the Vernon Rogalla band.

Dinner tickets are priced at $6.50 for adults and $3.50 for children ages 12-under. Tickets can be purchased at the door.

The Thief River Falls youth wrestling program, in its fourth year of operation, is directed by Lincoln High School head wrestling coach John Belyea, with assistance from John LeDuc, and a number of parents who give a hand during the practice sessions each Monday and Wednesday in the Lincoln wrestling room.

Practices, which feature K-through-second grade at 6:30 p.m. and grades 3-5 at 7:30 p.m., began in early January and will continue through mid-April.

The 55 to 60 program participants compete in numerous area individual and team tournaments.

It's an introduction to wrestling for the youngsters, and a feeder program for the Prowlers' high school team, explained LeDuc. "We're teaching the sport to the kids, but the biggest thing is to make sure they have fun," he said.

INTENTIONAL DUPLICATE EXPOSURE

Kim Stenseth named TRF MVP

Stenseth, a 5-9 senior forward/center, finished third on the Lincoln High School girls basketball career scoring list with 1,059 points – behind only Jodi Kruta (a 1992 graduate) with 1,771 points and Michelle Olson (1985) 1,062.

A three-year starter, Stenseth turned in team-leading numbers this winter with an 18-point scoring average and 67 percent shooting at the free throw line. She was second on the team in assists (76) and rebounds (150), and third in steals (55).

"We're going to miss Kim," acknowledged Thief River Falls coach Jeff Loe. "No one person is going to be able to replace her. Several girls will have to step up and help fill the void."

In addition to the MVP award, Stenseth was presented with a plaque to commemorate breaking the 1,000-point barrier and was recognized for leading the Prowlers in scoring this winter with 415 points.

Other special recognition went to Nicole Kopari, most assists (91), most steals (72), most rebounds (179), winner of the team's free throw shooting contest (87/100); Stenseth, most points (415); Kim Hook, best defense; Becky Mooney, hardest worker, and Amber Klinker, most improved.

A plaque was presented to senior Kim Stenseth during Monday's Thief River Falls girls high school basketball banquet to commemorate the fact she joined the 1,000-Point Club during the 1996-97 season.

Klinker and Mooney were named captains of the 1997-98 Prowlers, succeeding Erica Owen, Hook and Stenseth.

Athletic letters went to seniors Jocey Helgeland, Alicia Bakken, Hook, Stenseth, and Owen; juniors Beth Olson, Stephanie Leach, Kelly Almquist, Klinker, and Mooney; sophomores Taya Hunt, Laura Follett, and Kopari, along with student managers Stephanie Rasmussen, Valerie Basher, Angie Hanson, and Bryanna Helgeland.

The Prowlers finished the regular season 12-10, then fell to Detroit Lakes 60-38 in the North Sub-Section 8AAA tournament semifinals.

"I was happy with the season," said Loe, who was in his first year as the Thief River Falls head coach. "We're not happy with the way it ended (the first-round post-season setback), but I though at the end of the year we were playing some pretty good basketball. We improved."

DNR NEWS

DNR Seeks Park Hosts

Campground volunteer hosts are being sought by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources to work at selected state parks and state forest campgrounds this summer.

Hosts work five days a week for one month between Memorial Day and Labor Day. They provide information on their park or forest to other campers, answer campers' questions, and perform minor campground maintenance such as picking up litter.

Hosts in state parks must purchase state park vehicle permits, but hosts are provided with free campsites. Many campgrounds have electricity, flush toilets, picnic tables, fire grates and drinking water. Hosts at state forest campgrounds are not required to buy vehicle permits and are provided with free campsites. State forest campgrounds are more primitive, with vault toilets and hand-pump wells. Some host campsites have electricity.

Ideal hosts are mature, experienced campers who love the outdoors, have a genuine interest in protecting natural resources, and are willing to assist other campers.

For a packet of information on the State Park Campground Host Program, call (612) 296-9223; for State Forest Campground Host Program information, call (612) 297-3520.

Deep Snow Hides Dangers

Snowmobilers who drive in ditches should be aware that hidden dangers lurk beneath this year's deep snow.

Last winter, five fatal accidents and another 250 non-fatal accidents were reported in Minnesota road right-of-ways. That number could increase this winter due to deep snow that has covered such things as ground-mounted transformers, culvert maker posts, and telephone pedestals.

"Use extreme caution if you ride in a right-of-way," said Gary Guida, Department of Natural Resources regional safety specialist. "Ditches are designed to move water, not snowmobiles. In a year like this one – when snow is piled high along driveways and deep drifts have been formed by the wind – ditches can be even more dangerous than usual."

"You wouldn't drive you car at 50 miles per hour on a snow-covered road that you knew was full of obstacles," said Guida, "but many snowmobilers continue to operate their sleds at high speeds in ditches."

Guida noted the number one cause of snowmobile accidents is an operator striking a fixed object. Not surprising, he said, road right-of-ways are the most common place where accidents occur.

Guida also cautioned snowmobilers to be extra cautious when crossing roadways and driveways. "Repeated plowing has created many snowbanks that are twice or three times as high as a snowmobile," said Guida. "You may think you are very visible, but you may not be to the driver of a car, truck or bus."

Initiative Fund sets workshops to help non-profit funding

Northwest Minnesota Initiative Fund will be sponsoring a series of four full-day workshops on non-profit fund raising in April, May, June and September, according to Ritchie Houge, director of development for the fund headquartered in Bemidji.

The series is designed to provide area non-profit organizations, their boards, staffs and volunteers with essential information and "how-to" techniques on fund raising.

All of the sessions will be held at the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls with the dates and topics to be as follows:

Wednesday, April 23—"The Relationship of Board, CEO, Staff and Volunteer" with a special session on fund raising ethics;

Wednesday, May 21—"The Annual Fund as a Basis of Operation;"

Wednesday, June 25—"Prospecting and Working with Potential Donors;" and

Wednesday, September 10—"The Next Level—Capital Campaigns, Endowments, Major and Planned Gifts."

Presenter for the series will be Ernest Borr, Certified Fund Raising Executive, of Borr & Associates of Mandan, ND.

"As a CFRE and founding member of the North Dakota Chapter of the National Society of Fund Raising Executives, Borr is one of the Upper Midwest's most experienced and respected development consultants," Houge said. "He has counseled countless educational, healthcare, religious and civic organizations on how to develop productive, lasting and meaningful relationships with their donors and communities."

Each workshop serves as a building block identifying key components of a fund development program and forming the foundation of success for local and regional charitable organizations, Houge added. Attendance at all four sessions is strongly recommended.

For more information contact Houge at the NWMIF office, 722 Paul Bunyan Drive, Bemidji, MN 56601 or call 1-800-659-7859 toll free or 1-218-759-2057.

Child training authors present area sessions

Michael and Debi Pearl, authors of To Train Up A Child, will be presenting a number of sessions in this area from March 18 through March 23. Except for one seven-hour family life seminar at Karlstad, the remainder of the meetings will deal with various child training topics.

Sessions scheduled include the following:

Resurrection Lutheran Church in Karlstad—March 18: youth group from 5 to 6 p.m. and family assembly from 7 to 9 p.m.; March 19: program for ladies only from 3 to 5 p.m; and March 20: program for men only from 7 to 9 p.m.

Assembly of God Church in Roseau—March 19, 8 to 10 p.m.

Public Library in Roseau—March 21 from 7 to 9 p.m. and March 22 from 9 to 11 a.m.

Heritage Community Center in Thief River Falls—March 22 from 3:30 to 5:30 and 7 to 9 p.m.

New Hope Lutheran Church in Newfolden—March 23 at the 9 a.m. worship service;

Assembly of God Church in Hallock—March 23 from 7 to 9 p.m.

"The emphasis is on the training of a child before the need to discipline arises," states the introduction to the Pearls' book. "It is apparent that most parents never attempt to train a child to obey. They wait until the child becomes unbearable and then explode. With proper training, discipline can be reduced to five percent of what many now practice. As you come to understand the difference between training and discipline, you will have a renewed vision for your family—no more raised voices, no contention, no bad attitudes, fewer spankings, a cheerful atmosphere in the home and total obedience from your children."

For further information contact Tim or Alvina Rittenour at 681-8543, Charlie or Barb Hendrickson at 745-4140 or Jim or Kelli Hewitt at 762-6881.

A free-will offering will be received at each session to support the Pearls in their work.

Swanson tours with choir

The tour takes the 70-voice choir to 12 communities in North Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Washington, DC.

North Dakota's first collegiate touring choir, the Jamestown group has made numerous tours of the United States and Canada and seven overseas tours.

Lisa is the daughter of Curtis and Marilyn Swanson and the reigning Miss Thief River Falls. She is a first soprano in the choir.

Cyr Trustworthy Hardware has been a fixture in Oklee for about 80 years. Early Monday morning it was severely damaged by fire.

Red Lake County Sheriff's department reported that a deputy discovered the fire at about 3 a.m. Oklee and Plummer fire departments responded to the fire. According to Sheriff Allan Minken there was considerable damage to the interior and to the east end of the structure.

The fire evidently started on a desk inside the store, possibly by a machine on top of the desk. The Assistant State Fire Marshal was notified of the fire.

These reports include names of individuals charged, arrested or cited with various crimes and offenses by police, the sheriff's department or other law enforcement officials. Depending upon the circumstances of a case, charges can be, and sometimes are, changed or dropped by law enforcement officials or attorneys even before the case reaches court. Readers should also realize that under the American system of jurisprudence, individuals charged with crimes are innocent until proven guilty of those crimes in a court of law.

Several snowmobile accidents investigated last week

Law enforcement officials investigated a number of incidents last week along with several accidents.

Criminal sexual conduct. Following an investigation into an incident in which two minor females alleged criminal sexual conduct against two men, a second man faces charges. John Russell Heden, 25, Oklee, was charged with criminal sexual conduct in the third degree. Shortly after that, Craig Michael Linnesand, Goodridge, 21, was charged with criminal sexual conduct in the third degree. Both men appeared in a Ninth District Courtroom last week and pled guilty to the charges. A pre-sentence investigation was ordered.

Theft. Patty Sue Wasley, 35, Thief River Falls was charged with a felony for wrongfully obtaining public assistance, specifically AFDC and food stamps. At the time she was receiving assistance it is alleged she was living with Steven Alan Wasley, 40, Thief River Falls. Steven Wasley has been charged with aiding wrongfully obtaining public assistance, also a felony. Charges were filed after a search warrant was executed at Patty Wasley's residence on February 28.

Pennington County Sheriff's department has filed charges against the following for writing bad checks: Arlette Kay Pederson, 32, Thief River Falls, $1,058, Corey Matthew Sorenson, 19, Oslo, $40, Danny Craig Larson, 40, Moorhead, $33.67; and Andrew Robert Leitheiser, 24, Thief River Falls, $556.62.

On March 9 at 11:05 p.m. police received a report of a stolen snowmobile. The red 1992 XCR 440 was last seen at 5:30 p.m on March 9. Between 5:30 p.m. and 10:45 p.m. the snowmobile was taken. It was valued at $2,500 and had a license number of BF8634.

Burglary. On March 8 at 9:15 p.m. the sheriff's department received a report that someone had taken hand equipment from a residence in Goodridge. Cords, electrical equipment and a guitar taken in the incident were valued at $1,000. The incident remains under investigation.

Drugs. On March 4 at 10 p.m. police received a call from the police chief of Bovey regarding a runaway from his jurisdiction. He provided information on where the female might be located. When local officers arrived at that location they observed a minor and a white powdery substance later identified as cocaine. As a result, Benjamin Lee Watson, 20, Thief River Falls, and Adam Daniel Simonson, 20, Thief River Falls, were charged with possession of cocaine and a small amount of marijuana. The charge of possession of cocaine is a felony.

Accidents. On March 5 at 8:13 a.m. police received a report of an accident at Greenwood and Crocker. According to the accident report, Veronica Mae Engstrom, Thief River Falls, was driving east on Greenwood, when a car driven by Tina Marie Halsa, Thief River Falls, entered the intersection at Crocker traveling north. The vehicles collided. Halsa had entered the intersection after stopping for a stop sign and pulled out into traffic because she couldn't see past a snowplow moving snow. Damages were estimated at $300 to the Engstrom vehicle and $1,000 to the Halsa vehicle.

On March 4 at 7:31 p.m. police received a report of a snowmobile accident on West First Street. Christopher Michael Norman, 25, Thief River Falls, was driving a snowmobile east on First Street, did not see a trailer until it was too late. He tried to avoid a collision but his leg struck the trailer and his snowmobile collided with the rear of a pickup. Norman was taken to Northwest Medical Center and later transferred to United Hospital in Grand Forks, ND. Damage to the snowmobile was estimated at $700. The owner of the pickup, Tamara Jean Nomeland, Thief River Falls, was cited for no proof of insurance.

On March 7 at 12:58 a.m. police received a report of a snowmobile accident in Black River township about two miles west of St. Hilaire along the north side of State Aid 3. Michael Gene Tiedemann, Euclid, 25, was riding a snowmobile when he was thrown from the snowmobile and struck by another snowmobile following him and driven by Dennis James Schulz, Euclid, 39. Tiedemann was taken to Northwest Medical Center where he was treated and released. Damage to Tiedemann's snowmobile was estimated at $1,500.

On March 6 at 3:13 p.m. police received a report of an accident in the 600 block of East First Street. Corey Lee Peterson, Thief River Falls, was driving a pickup east on First Street when his pickup collided with the rear of a car driven by DeLaine Irene Rosten, Thief River Falls. Rosten had stopped in traffic and was in the process of turning right. Peterson was cited for following too closely. Damages were estimated at $300 to the Peterson vehicle and $1,500 to the Rosten vehicle.

On March 6 at 4:58 p.m. police received a report of an accident at 10th and Duluth. Marcia Joy Iverson, Thief River Falls, was driving a car south on Duluth, and Darrell Kenneth Moyer, Alexandria, was driving a Blazer west on 10th Street when the vehicles collided in the intersection. Damages were estimated at $1,000 to the Moyer vehicle, and $1,500 to the Iverson vehicle.

On March 7 at 11:51 a.m. police received a report of an accident at 10th and Duluth. Peggy Lynn Mehrkens, Thief River Falls, was driving a pickup north on Duluth, and Jean Marie Pederson, Thief River Falls, was driving a car east on 10th when the vehicles collided in the uncontrolled intersection. Damages were estimated at $1,800 to the Mehrkens vehicle, and $1,000 to the Pederson vehicle. Pederson complained of a bump to her lip. Mehrkens was cited for expired registration.

On March 8 at 11:21 a.m. the sheriff's department received a report of a snowmobile accident in section 20 of Silverton township. According to the accident report, Daniel Leroy Aandal, 35, Thief River Falls, was driving a 1997 Polaris XCR 600 east over rough terrain when he lost control and the snowmobile rolled. He reportedly broke his leg in the accident. Damage to the snowmobile was estimated at $300.

On March 10 at 10:30 p.m. the sheriff's department received a report of a snowmobile accident in Section 22 of North township. According to the report, David Sculthorp, Thief River Falls, age 22, was driving a snowmobile north along a trail when he lost control and the snowmobile struck a tree on the east side of the trail. Damage to the snowmobile was estimated at $4,500. Sculthorp complained of a sore neck.

Criminal damage to property. On February 25 at 6:15 p.m. police received a report that someone had broken the front windshield, three antennas, and damaged the wipers of a Ford Explorer. Damage was estimated at $725.

On February 27 at 4 p.m. police received a report that a pickup had been scratched. Damage loss was estimated at between $100 and $150. Brandi Elizabeth Hemken, Thief River Falls, was cited for criminal damage to property.

On March 1 at 4:43 a.m. police received a report that a beer bottle had been thrown through a trailer house window. Garth Olaf Larson, 19, Thief River Falls, was cited for criminal damage to property. Damage loss was estimated at $111.

Disorderly conduct. On February 28 at 11:50 a.m. Delroy Leon Gilbertson, Thief River Falls, was cited with disorderly conduct.

Viking man faces criminal vehicle homicide charges

Nearly six months to the day of a fatal accident, the driver of one of the vehicles, Scott Roger Anderson, 31, Viking, faces charges of criminal vehicular homicide and driving while intoxicated.

Anderson was expected to appear before Ninth District Judge Dennis Murphy Tuesday afternoon on the charges. During a first appearance, the defendant is notified of his rights and asked whether he has an attorney, and whether he can afford an attorney, if not, an attorney is appointed for him.

The charges against Anderson stem from a collision on September 18. In that accident at the intersection of Marshall County highways 6 and 28, Daren Maynard Jensen, 25, Thief River Falls, was killed. A passenger in the Jensen vehicle, Roger Thompson, 36, was taken to Northwest Medical Center in serious condition. Anderson was treated and released from Northwest Medical Center for his injuries in the accident.

Hibbert wins high point title, Sturgeon still in recovery

Team Arctic's Kirk Hibbert wrapped up is fifth consecutive ISOC Pro 440 high point title at the Barkers Island Outlaw race held last weekend. Hibbert scored enough points in Saturday's opening qualifying heat races to secure the championship. Team Arctic's Brad Pake, Tom Mattila and Dan Skallet also finished in the top 10 in ISOC points.

Team Arctic racer Brian Sturgeon has been moved out of the intensive care unit at Marshfield Clinic. It is not clear at this time when he will be released from the hospital. Sturgeon's injuries, which were sustained while racing at USSA's Antigo, WI, event were worse than doctors originally suspected. Besides Sturgeon's apparent shoulder and leg injuries, it was later discovered that he suffered from internal bleeding, fluid in his lungs and a bruised heart.

It's all a matter of fun with Little Brother/Little Sister

Thief River Falls' Little Brother/Little Sister program is in need of a several helping hands

Thief River Falls Little Brother/Little Sister program tries to help whenever it can — whether a child has been matched with a mentor or not. Last Sunday, the program took those children who have not been placed with a mentor to the sledding hill behind the elementary school in Red Lake Falls.

The Little Brother/Little Sister program has been in existence in Thief River Falls for 10 years. During those 10 years it has gone through a number of changes including a name change, but the goal and purpose remains the same.

Yvonne Ode, director of the program, said mentors are asked to commit to the program for one year. In addition, they ask mentors to spend two to three hours per week with the children. Currently there are 26 paired up, but there is a waiting list of 17 children. Specifically, they are in need of three women mentors and 14 men.

Ode said the program and children in the program constantly change. The list of children waiting for a mentor, however, seems to grow. There are just more single parents now, Ode said.

Parents and children in the program do not have to meet any income guidelines. Anyone who wants to participate in the program may.

Ode believes it's a great program. Some of the children and mentors have been with the program for six to eight years. In that time, she said, they have developed some marvelous relationships. Ode said one of the fears people have about being a mentor is that they think it will take more time than it really does. Another fear is that they have to entertain the child each time they go out. Ode said time spent with a child can include having them be a job shadow, helping around the house, or baking for example. She also noted that several local businesses help with expenses by providing reduced rates for participants.

Participants also try to get together for group activities once a month. Ode said that seems to really help mentors.

The program is funded by United Way of Thief River Falls, grants, and donations from businesses, civic groups and individuals.

Several children participating in the Little Brother/Little Sister program in Thief River Falls went to Red Lake Falls for sledding. This event was held for children who do not have mentors. It was also an activity directed by a local cross-country ski club known as the Gnordic Gnomes. The Little Brother/Little Sister program is in need of mentors. There are 17 children on the waiting list. Anyone interested in becoming a mentor or assisting with the program should contact Yvonne Ode, program director, at the Community Education Department for School District 564 at 681-8740.

Conservatism Could If Conservatism Would

Malcolm Wallop is chairman of Frontiers of Freedom, a non-partisan political advocacy organization based in Arlington, VA and dedicated to protecting the constitutional liberties of U.S. citizens. A rancher from Big Horn, WY, he represented that state in the U.S. Senate for 18 years prior to his retirement in January of 1995.

In a speech given Nov. 14, 1996 in Denver, CO, Wallop eloquently defined some of the major problems in our nation and how they have resulted from abdication of the conservative principles embraced by our Founding Fathers. Following are some excerpts from that speech:

"In our time, government has become the main source of America's troubles. It deprives us of freedom and self rule, makes us poorer, sows strife among us, undermines our families and debases our souls. Hence my main theme is that the practical, everyday mission of American conservatism must be to cut back the size and scope of government.

"...We must be clear that conservatism and the Republican Party are different and distinguishable. While the Republican Party may well deny its birthright, conservatism is a permanent part of the American landscape because the American people will always feel the need for protection against the excesses of their leaders.

"...The political consultants of the Washington Beltway who now have in their bank accounts the millions contributed by the Republican rank and file...all tacitly accepted the liberals' premise that the voters disapprove of the conservative vision of American society. In their view, piety, propriety, responsibility, standing for the rights of citizens and families against bureaucratic encroachment are the hallmarks of 'extremism'...I stress that Clinton was able to occupy this conservative ground only because the Republicans vacated it.

"...The character of conservatism is not written in the stars. It is subject to change for the better or the worse. It could just as easily come to resemble the small and mean-minded thing we see nowadays in Europe as it could the conservatism of Reagan, Goldwater, Coolidge, Lincoln, Clay, the Adamses and (George) Washington.

"....The American conservative tradition, which began with Washington and Adams, is founded on a concern for character. No phrase came from Washington more often than, 'We have a national character to establish.'...George Washington repeated that the Republic could only be built on the firm foundations of private morality. John Adams surveyed the world's peoples and found that only in America were there the habits that had undergirded freedom in a few ancient republics. The Founding Fathers crafted our institutions, limited government foremost among them, to encourage those habits ...The government established by the Founders did not make us moral, but it took pains to be on the right side of the great moral questions.

"That is why it hurts so to listen to the debased discourse of the last two Presidential campaigns. Trustees of the character of the world's most virtuous people, a people whose ways have been under attack by their own government, the leaders of the Republican Party—a party whom the American people by and large elected to stand on their side against the forces of immoral big government—have trivialized the issues into slogans such as 'family values.' Such slogans explain nothing, energize no one, are easily co-opted, and quickly get the ridicule they deserve. Truly, America is likelier to get family value at Wal-Mart than from a Republican leadership unable to articulate just what they are and what threatens them.

"....Today government at all levels taxes, spends and regulates roughly twice as much as when I grew up. It touches every aspect of our lives and harms just about everything it touches. It will fine you for not wearing a seat belt, but will not protect your life from criminals. It will deliver contraceptives to your children, but cannot deliver the mail. It prohibits a Jewish community in New York from having a school district—who knows what politically incorrect things their kids might learn from reading the Bible—and it forces the culture of abortion on the whole country. In the name of racial equality, the government forces us to discriminate on the basis of race. And in the name of environmental protection, the government orders farmers to stop using their land to grow food.

"Once upon a time our government was a bulwark against domestic enemies. Now, big government has become our chief domestic enemy...

"This country was peaceful and secure not because the streets were patrolled by government agents, but because citizens enforced high standards of civil behavior, because citizens were armed and protected their own property, and because local police were highly responsive to the demands of local citizens.

"This country was wealthy not because of its natural resources (the Indians had lived in violent semi-starvation), nor because government gave us this or that, nor because government forced wages up, nor because it granted privileges to favorite companies. American created more wealth than the world had ever known because government in America protected property rights more zealously, taxed less, regulated less and gave fewer privileges than any other government in history.

"This country became a world power not because there are so many of us (the Chinese are six times as numerous), or because we are so rich (The European Union has a bigger economy), or because we have so many weapons (Russia has more). Our numbers, our wealth and our weapons became military power because the American people are more patriotic and more apt to think that we have a duty to do what is right and reasonable than any other people in the world. And we became powerful because until recently our leaders honored the American people's religion and manliness—how quaint that word sounds in the age of Clinton and Gingrich—and because they themselves served in the armed forces.

"With each passing year, however, this country resembles less and less what the Founders left us and looks more and more like the countries our immigrant forefathers tried to get away from. This is happening in large part because the people who run our government, our universities, our media, the entertainment industry, the arts, and so forth have used the enormous powers of the U.S. government to make it happen.

"But why? What do they have against us.?

(More of Malcolm Wallop's views will be presented in the editorial section of the March 19 Times.)

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of The Times encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in The Times exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer, so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

There are a lot of nice people around Thief River Falls.

Last Monday during the snowstorm, we had to make an emergency trip to the Clinic. The visibility was terrible and the snow was deep on our long driveway. We became stuck near the highway. We hailed down a vehicle and were given a ride to the Clinic—thanks, Chris!

After receiving the needed medical attention, we were stranded at the Clinic which is two miles from home. A telephone call to our neighbor brought him to town to bring us back to our driveway where he was able to pull our car out to the highway—thanks, Duane!

We returned to town for some grocery shopping and headed for home again. Turning into our driveway it was obvious that we couldn't reach our house without having our driveway plowed, which meant that my husband had to walk home to get the tractor and plow.

While I was waiting in the car, eight vehicles and one snowmobile—thanks, Nick!—stopped to offer assistance. We really appreciated all those offers of help.

Sincerely,
Enid and Rolland Sande

Gully

A large crowd attended a baby shower on Sunday afternoon when Little Bryce Wietzema and his mother Kim Carlson Wietzema were honored at the Gully Community Center. Guests were seated at long tables appropriately decorated in light blue with decorative containers filled with various infant specialties. Kim and her mother Crystal Bergeson were seated at the head table. Kim opened the gifts for guests to see. Gifts were useful, pretty money and even a stroller for Bryce. Hostesses were Adrienne Hansen, Dianne Waino, Sharon Solien, Cindy Bjerklie, Alisa Halvorson, Tami Miller, Patty Carlson and Noreen Carlson. They served a big lunch.

Duane and Kay Ericksen decided they would like to get out of shoveling snow for awhile so they got in their pickup and headed south. They drove miles and miles before seeing bare ground, but they did enjoy Phoenix, and Tucson, AZ, sightseeing and visiting friends. At Tucson they visited Terrell and Ophelia Spence who had lived on a ranch in the Gonvick area at one time. Ophelia and Kay took a trip across the Border and enjoyed Mexican food and and sightseeing in Nogales, Mexico. They couldn't wait for the snow to melt here so they came back after nine days.

Judy Kleinvachter visited Alice Thompson on Thursday afternoon. Lowell Lofreoth, June Kasprowicz, Ellen Stromberg and Frank Grochowski visited at Judy's this week.

Isaac and Betsy Thompson were dinner guests at Elsie Lofreoth's on Sunday along with Lloyd and Dean Johnson, Kurt, Denise, Adam and Alexis Aakre. Richard Thompson stopped at Isaac Thompson's later for a brief visit.

Elsie Lofreoth enjoyed a very interesting family league service at Strandquist on Sunday evening.

Isaac and Betsy Thompson visited and lunched with Richard Thompson in Red Lake Falls on Friday.

Dean and JeAnne Holmstrem had supper with Elsie Lofreoth on Monday evening. Mary and Donna Renstrom also visited her this week.

River Valley

Erl's Market, a full service gas and convenience store in Thief River Falls, recently received a More Progress award from the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce. The store recently completed the installation of a new canopy and fuel pumps. Located at the corner of Eighth and Main in Thief River Falls, Erl's is much more than a gas station. It is a convenience store which offers, food, fresh-cut meat, a full line of groceries, and delivery service, a deli, videos, lottery tickets, hunting licenses, shells, guns and ammunition. It recently installed a new ice Twister machine and is known for Friday's Walleye special. Erl's is open from 6 a.m. to 11 p.m. seven days a week. Pictured from left underneath the canopy are Bob Bergen, chamber of commerce executive director, Erling Olson, store owner, and Holly Haugen, chamber ambassador.

More PROGRESS in Thief River Falls
Congratulations!

More PROGRESS in Thief River Falls
Congratulations!

Northwest Medical Center recently received a More Progress award following the installation of a new CT (Computed Tomography) scanner, which provides a "window" to the body. It cost $600,000 and resulted in $80,000 in renovations to the room it is being stored in. The hospital used to have access to a mobile service unit, but the addition of the equipment provides, among other things, access at all times. The new equipment, which was installed in August and September, is considered the best technology available. Pictured from left are Holly Haugen, chamber ambassador, Orval Stocks, department supervisor and ex-ray technologist, Robin Bottom, R.T. (R), Dr. Jim Grindley, radiologist, and Bob Bergan, chamber of commerce executive vice president.

The meals will be served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m and seats are provided for 30 persons at horseshoe-shaped counters. Facilities include a steam table and a completely appointed kitchen in the basement with dumbwaiter service to the main floor."

Ole's Northern Supply Remodeling Quarters

"An extensive remodeling and enlargement project is now well underway in the building on East Third street occupied by Ole's Northern Supply. Business is going on as usual while the work is in progress."

Pest Conference Set

"The annual pest conference will be held in the courtrooms in the courthouse in Thief River Falls on Tuesday, March 18, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., according to the announcement this week by County Agent Ernest A. Palmer. Topics to be discussed will be insect control, plant disease problems, latest chemical methods of weed control, and a discussion on the state weed laws."

Fruit Growing Is Topic Here Friday

"A meeting on fruit growing and home beautification will be held in the Civic and Commerce room in Thief River Falls on Friday afternoon, March 14, at 1:30 p.m., according to County Agent Ernest Palmer. Dr. L. C. Snyder, extension specialist in horticulture from the University Farm, St. Paul, will be the main speaker. He will discuss the growing of fruits and vegetables recommended for this area and will also show colored pictures on ways of beautifying the farmstead. All members of the family, especially the womenfolk are urged to attend this meeting."

—Cheer up, folks! Remember not so long ago when you had to produce red stamps in order to get a pound of butter or meat!

—No man is poor who spends less than he earns according to O. S. Nordine, Karlstad philosopher.

—Speaking of inflation, we hear the Shanghai (China) Evening Post charges $180 per word for classified ads.

—Trees, we read, don't become petrified merely because the wind makes them rock.

—With flax prices are their present level, a lot of farmers feel inclined to speculate on a crop again this year.

—In case you have more loose cash than you know what to do with, the treasury department reminds us that U.S. Savings Bonds are still being sold.

—One way to finance the constantly mounting school budgets would be to require every person buying a bottle of whiskey to pay $5 into the school fund.

—North Dakota legislators complained last week that they had received a shock from the electric voting machines. Never mind, men, your constituents are frequently shocked by the way you vote.

—We met a rich man the other day. At least, he bought a couple of pounds of bacon.

—Minnesota ranks first in flax, sixth in soybean, and 11th in wheat production in the United States.

FROM THE NEW CITY

THIEF RIVER FALLS, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA

"Alex A. Sweas wants to know if the taxpayers are satisfied with the non-adjustment of the indebtedness of their municipalities. He says 'It is quite uncertain whether the city can collect from the county treasurer the proportion of the taxes levied for the town of North which should cover or belong to the part (Red Lake Rapids) annexed to the city.'"

From Newspaper Files Of One Hundred Years Ago

"There is not a vacant room in town.

"This is St. Patrick's Day and the loyal are celebrating.

"We were twelve days without a train this time, the longest time for this winter.

"Two carloads of brick for the St. Hilaire Lumber company came in Monday.

"At last, at last, spring is in sight. It rained the greater part of last night and was still raining this morning.

"38 below Sunday morning and the 14th of March at that. We expect Prof. Nansen along most any day in search of the North Pole.

"We have had five months of good sleighing if it holds out one more week. The chances are sleighing will be good for another month from present indications.

"Talk about your busy towns! Well, St. Hilaire is in it these days. There are 21 men working on the mill, 12 men driving piles, 10 men working on the bridge, from 15 to 30 loads of stone being hauled daily and they are just about starting the work.

"The snow is still about four feet on the level, but in a great many places such as in small groves and the like, it is from ten to fifteen feet deep and even deeper. The snow is becoming an eyesore to say the least."

The Bethesda Lutheran Church in Strandquist [illegible] Rev Douglas Norquist with Salem Lutheran Church [illegible] worship and then [illegible] back to church and Sunday School at Strandquist. We do have [illegible] folks more!

Visitors at Gayhard Nelson's this past week were [illegible] Grandstrand, Brian Nelson and children Myron, Dede and [illegible] Nelson and Merlyn Nelson.

Eddy and Marcy Nelson visited her brother Sid Young and his wife Clarice in Bagley and spent the night in their newly built log cabin. On Wednesday they drove to Eveleth to visit LeRoy and LaVonne Swanson where they had supper and spent the night. On Thursday they drove to Minneapolis where they had a birthday party for their son Kevin who lives there. The guests who came to celebrate were Hugh, Denise and Jamie Nelson of Oakdale, Sheila Thomas, Vance and Kelly Lofreoth, Amanda and Jessica of Cedar, Mary Boeser, Liz Johnson, Morgan, Dale, Dawn, Linda, Charles and Jamie McCarthy all friends of Kevin. A good time was had singing which is Kevin's main occupation. On the way home on Tuesday they stopped at the Vets Hospital in Fargo, ND and visited Eddy's brother Kenny Nelson, who was discharged that day.

Joan and Allan Gehrls of Inkster, ND, Bud and Marie Stetten of Argyle, Claudia Berggren and Jessie, Lowell Lofreoth and Ellen Stromberg visited Judy Kleinvachter this week.

On Sunday afternoon Lois Carrico, Mary and Donna Renstrom and Danny and Gloria Renstrom went to Stephen to help Pinkie Werner celebrate her 90th birthday. Happy birthday Pinkie and many more, by the looks of you [illegible] 70 years of age.

LaVerne Rasmussen, now of Frazee, was up to check on the snow on his farm and visited and had supper at Isaac and Betsy Thompsons on Thursday.

Paul Anderson visited Walter Thompson on Sunday afternoon, as Walter hasn't been feeling well these days so he was unable to come celebrate his birthday with me. I really hurried to get home so we could celebrate our birthday together again but I had to do it without him. Morris and Hazel Anderson brought two beautiful cakes and the whole bunch of relatives and friends came to say happy birthday. The children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren had a surprise party for me the Saturday before to celebrate my 80th birthday.

Isaac Thompson and John Wetterlund attended the Men's Advance of Lake Geneva last weekend and on the way back stopped at Frazee to visit LaVerne Rasmussens in their new home.

Tip for this week: Don't awaken your husband when he sits sleeping and smiling. You be interrupting his dream and he would like to see how it would end.

Roger Ryba, Pine to Prairie Art Gallery and Custom Framing, received a First Dollar award from the Thief River Falls chamber of Commerce Ambassadors recently. Pine to Prairie, located at 201 and one-half West Third Street, carries a large selection of mattes and frames and limited edition prints and plates. Last summer Ryba had a print published. From this commissioned painting of snowmobilers in a forested area, Ryba has made some limited prints. The title of the print is "What snowmobiling's all about". Pine to Prairie also carries a wide selection of prints, including everything from Americana style to wildlife selections. The art gallery and custom framing shop is open from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, until 8 p.m. on Thursdays, and from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturdays. Pine to Prairie can be reached at 681-2723 or 1-800-495-2723. Pictured from left are Holly Haugen, chamber ambassador, Roger Ryba, and Bob Bergen, chamber of commerce executive vice president.

Plummer

Kathy Junoau
465-4246

On Thursday, Dale and Kelly Slulgard and children Angela, Justin and Travis from Austin and Charlotte Leining from Plummer enjoyed a delicious dinner in Thief River Falls at Charlotte's favorite restaurant.

Lenten Services at Redeemer

Lenten services are being held each Wednesday evening at 7:00 p.m. A series of videos on the life of Jesus called "Jeshua" are being shown. Everyone is welcome to attend. For information call 465-4035.

W.E.L.C.A.

The Women of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of America met at Immanuel Lutheran in Plummer on Wednesday. The Eve circle was in charge of the programs and it was presented by Amelia Eskeli and lunch was served by Amelia and Bunny DuChamp.

Plummer Crowns King and Queen

Thursday the Plummer Senior Citizen Club met at the Plummer Hall for their monthly potluck luncheon and meeting. Lunch was served by A.L. and then a short meeting was held with President Ruth Wilkens presiding. Then for fun, the Seniors had Florence Tvedt come play a few songs on her accordion and they had drawings for gifts. Winners were: two dollars—Esther Walter; camp stool—Clara Hesse, wood jewelry heart and a bird feeder—Amelia Eskeli. Then it was time to pick the King and Queen of all Plummer land and they are King Theodore Haugen and Queen Margaret Greenwald, what fun!

Dorothy and Ernie Pederson returned home from a visit to Bemidji. While in Bemidji Dorothy and Ernie had a nice visit with Ernie's brother Hilmer Pederson and then had a nice visit with Ernie's sister, Hilda. Hilda just had her 99th birthday. Congratulations Hilda.

Hazel Returns

Hazel Ollie returned Sunday from a two-week family reunion trip to Las Vegas, NV, and a visit to Tacoma with daughter Diane, Sydney and Amdrake Doherty—West who was born on January 24th in Seattle, WA. Also visited grandson Dan Iverson formerly of Thief River Falls. Eighteen members of the Peterson family from California, Texas, Washington, Chicago, St. Paul, Denver and Plummer met in Las Vegas and enjoyed the sights and sounds of that great city. They toured the Atomic test Site and the Hoover Dam.

Eight members of Immanuel Lutheran Church of Plummer met on Wednesday to work on quilts. They tied 15 more quilts. Present were Amelia Eskeli, Clara Hesse, Hazel Ollie, Bernice Peterson, Dorothy Rose and Esther Walters.

Land O' Lakes Convention

Lloyd, Wavell Sorenson and Milt Peterson of Plummer drove to Minneapolis for the two-day convention on Wednesday and Thursday. Also at the convention was Wayne and Debbie Vetteson of Trail and Carol and Jerry Gerardy of rural Plummer.

Sheila, Mallory, Brett and Abigail Gerardy had a nice visit with Art and Avis Froiland.

Clarence Hanson is in the hospital in Thief River Falls and Wavell and Floyd Sorenson was one of his many visitors. We miss you Clarence and hope you will be home soon.

On Friday, Karl and Rita Sorenson had a nice visit over by Wavell and Lloyd Sorenson.

Strandquist

Correction. Elsie Lofrooth received the good news on Friday that she was the great-grandmother to little Parker Holmstrom, son of Douglas and Karleen Holmstrom of Farmington and grandson of Dean and JoAnne Holmstrom. Congratulations to all!

Monday evening "Kumpa" supper guests at Isaac and Betsy Thompson's were Peter and Pearl Thompson, Elsie Lofrooth, and Roy Myrtle and Johnny Vagle. Johnny is happy to be back in this area and so are all the rest of us. We are happy to have him back.

Philip Boen is in the Karlstad Nursing Home due to a badly broken leg. Yvonne also fell and was around with her arm in a sling. She is better now but sad to say the icy conditions we've had this year has brought on a lot of broken legs and arms.

The tip this week is: The ice is slippery, so don't keep your hands in your pockets, use them to catch yourself.

I read an article that a lot of folks talk only about the weather, lest that whoever they were meeting would disagree with them. This winter has been so unusual that what is more important to us? When I see the flooding and places that have been destroyed by tornadoes I am grateful to be up here on the sandridge. After all it takes 10 feet of snow to make 1 foot of water and we don't have 10 feet of it yet, so I'll say with Roy that we are so fortunate to live in northwest Minnesota or northwest Montana. Roy just came in after plowing out the sidewalks, we got another dusting again last night.

The mini-conference for men in Northwood, ND has been rescheduled for March 14th and 15th. Pastor Norquist will be leading the singing and you can expect a wonderful time. The ladies of the Bethesda Lutheran Church in Strandquist are going to get with the quilting program and are looking for workers, sewing machines and yardage. It would help to see what extra is in your closets to help this project. Isn't it fun to get together and see things get done?

We are sorry to hear of the passing away of an old classmate Dr. Foster W. Bens in California on February 17th. Rev. Merrill Nelson, who spends his summers at his home in Glacier National Park and his winters in Pasadena called Richard Larson of Newfolden, another classmate, and we are glad to let the people know. Foster's sister Ruby who lived in Arizona was a student in Strandquist also and will be remembered for her ability to play the piano.

Gully News

Weekend visitors at the Mary and Leslie Berg home were Bolly Berg of Grand Forks and Larry Berg of Warba. Other visitors were Bernice Magnuson and Marvin Berg.

JoAnn De Marino and Ellie Handy were supper guests at Larry Emersons on Tuesday. On Wednesday, Ed and Lyn Turenne of Thief River Falls and Marian Handy of Fosston were supper guests at Effie Handy together with JoAnn DeMarino. On Thursday JoAnn had to leave for home so Larry and Norma took her to Bemidji to catch a plane to West Virginia. While JoAnne was here a former classmate Beverly Harris from California came to visit here. Beverly came also to get her mother Margaret Petersen moved and settled in the Good Samaritan Center at Clearbrook. Ernie and Alida Samson visited Effie on Saturday.

We had a chance to attend the funeral for Verner Odegaard at Samhold Lutheran Church in Gonvick on Friday. Rev. Midthun officiated and there wasn't a problem for him to find good things to say about Verner, he mentioned whatever or whomever Verner had worked with or for. They could honestly say "Well done my good and faithful servant." There was special music with Terri Gadland soloist and Mary Lou Wolden organist. The song "When the Roll is called Up Yonder," by the mens chorus was especially pretty and sad maybe because they were singing to one of their groups whose voice was now silent. Members of the VFW and American Legion attended as a group carrying the flag. After interment the Ladies served a nice dinner.

There is a picture at the Gully Cafe thanks to Dick Richards. The picture was taken on February 4th, the day of Lawrence Spensers funeral which turned out to be very special. Lawrence was a lover of horses and had done a lot of horseback riding often with a group of friends also horseback riders. In visiting with these friends not long ago, Lawrence had expressed a wish saying, "When I die will you folks ride with me on my last trip?" The picture shows part of that trip between Borner and the grave yard heading that procession was Lawrence's grandson TJ on his grandfathers horse followed by the hearse and casket. Since he was a Veterans the flag bearer was next. Then Lawrences favorite horse with the empty saddle and his masters empty boots tied in the stirrup with the toes pointing backward.

This is customary to portray honor admiration and respect for a departed dignitary. This horse was followed by 17 horses each with one of Lawrences horse back riding friends. He may never have thought of himself as a dignatory but his friends considered him worth of the honor. He was a rather small man, but he seemed to always be able to find time energy and strength to help others when needed, always cheerful and uncomplaining. Thanks horseback riders for portraying the honor we felt towards Lawrence. Tim Beckstrand came back from Wyoming to do his promised part leading the Spencer horse with empty saddle.

When I stopped at the Mall one morning I noticed extra cars there. At the Cafe was a long table with people having an interesting "Get together" with brothers and sisters and others. Vernice Hanna was there from Seattle, WA; Susan Coopup from Chantilly, VA; Rueben and Clarice Kolling of Abingdon, VA; Ardis Kolling of Abingdon, VA; Charles and Karen Jorgenson of Clearbrook, Warren Erickson of Clearbrook, Sherry Peterson of Gonvick, Margaret Erickson of Clearbrook and Orlan and Debbie Agnes of Trail. Temperature and weather hasn't been the best for family reunions in February, but more reason to appreciate being served a hot breakfast in a warm place.

We visited at the Carl Siverson home in Fosston Sunday afternoon. We wanted to remind Audrey that she was a year older now. Audrey was born February 29th in a leap year, if she had waited a few more hours to arrive she would have had a birthday every four years, but Dr. Shodlow didn't agree. It was also fun to see their new house and enjoy a cup of coffee and Luvernes cake. Present were Doris and Marvin Rindahl and Esther Rindahl, Lloyd Brovold, Arlie and Luverne Fore, Arnold, Sanna and Sarah Brovold.

Carol Torgerson stopped to visit her folks Sunday evening on her way back to Thief River Falls having spent Sunday at Clearwater Lake where she and Les had former Bemidji classmate for brunch Sunday morning. Ed and Lyn Turenne and Marian and Jerry Wolf of Faribault. Marian is the former Marian Bakken of north of Gully.

Soo Line Credit Union recently received a More Progress award from the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce. Last August, the credit union moved from its location on Third Street to 202 LaBree Avenue North. The Soo Line Credit Union is open to Soo Line employees and other organizations belonging to the credit union. The not-for-profit credit union offers savings, loans and CDs, and is insured by the National Credit Union Association. Its philosophy is "People helping People". It is in its 43rd year of service to Thief River Falls. It is open from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and can be reached at 681-2303. Pictured from left are Holly Heugon, chamber ambassador, Joyce Kalbakdalen, credit union manager, and Bob Bergan, chamber of commerce executive vice president.

THANK YOU

We would like to thank everyone who offered support and comfort during the long hospitalization and death of our dear husband, father and grandfather Arvid. Thank you to the staff and doctors of Dakota Heartland, Fosston First Care and McIntosh Manor for all the care given. A special thank you to Green Funeral Home for the wonderful support and services, to Pastor Bobbie Johnson and Intern Mike Zeske for their comforting words, Pastor Bob Dahlen, Colleen and Angie Klesow, Joy Nordby and Jody Kirkeide for their music and songs. To Susie Olson and Gail Kotrba for their words of comfort. To all the grandchildren for being pallbearers. Thanks to the Oraco Lutheran Church women for the nice meal they served to all. Thank you to all who sent food and other items to our homes, for the flowers and memorials. May God richly bless all of you.

NOTICE OF HEARING PLANNING COMMISSION CITY OF THIEF RIVER FALLS

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to Chapter 11 of the Thief River Falls City Code, that Northwest Medical Center, Richard A. Spyhalski, CEO, 120 LaBree Avenue South, Thief River Falls, MN 56701-2810, owner of property located at 921 Atlantic Avenue North, has requested that the following legally described property be rezoned from General Residential District (R-2) to Multi-Family Residential District (R-4):

Lots 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 in Block Two (2) of Oakland Addition to the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

On behalf of the Pennington County Welfare Board, Northwest Medical Center proposes to build and operate a ten (10) bed group home for children and adolescents on the above described property. The group home, to be named the Pennington County Family Preservation Center, will be licensed as a Rule 8 facility by the Minnesota Department of Human Services and will serve children up to the age of 17 years. Generally, clients to be served by the Center will be children with mental health problems and children whose parents, for one reason or another, are unable to care for them in their home. The Center will be staffed 24 hours a day by Northwest Medical Center Personnel.

The proposed project will consist of the construction of a 5,270 square feet, single-story building which will contain six bedrooms, a girls bathroom, a boys bathroom, a main living room, dining room and recreation center, resident staff living quarters, offices, and storage and mechanical spaces. Other proposed improvements will include construction of a utility building, which will resemble a residential garage, an outdoor recreation area, thirteen on-site parking spaces with access from the alley and site landscaping.

Notice is further given that the Planning Commission will conduct a Hearing on the Zoning Amendment Request at 7:15 p.m., following a Board of Zoning Appeals Hearing, on Monday, March 24, 1997, at the Heritage Community Center, 301 Fourth Street East, Thief River Falls, MN 56701. All persons wishing to comment on the Zoning Amendment Request will have the option to be heard at this time. Persons who wish to submit written comments prior to the Hearing or who have questions should address them to the Office of the Community Development Director, City Auditorium, P.O. Box 528, Thief River Falls, MN 56701, or telephone 218-681-2500.

If you have a disability and need an accommodation in order to attend this Hearing, please contact the undersigned as soon as possible or at least two (2) days in advance of the Hearing at the above telephone number.

PENNINGTON COUNTY BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS

January 28, 1997 5:00 p.m.

Pursuant to adjournment the Pennington County Board of Commissioners met in the Commissioner's room at the Pennington County Courthouse in Thief River Falls on Tuesday, January 28, 1997 at 5:00 p.m. Members present: Donald Jensen, Charles Naplin, Bob Carlson, Oliver "Skip" Swanson and Alden "Bud" Comstock. Members absent: none.

Adeline Olson, County Assessor, brought the County Board three applications for abatements for approval. All three are to reclassify the property with the special homestead classification to reflect the 1996 assessment - taxes payable 1997. Commissioner Swanson moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to approve the application for abatements to Walter J. Forney, Betty E. Murphy, and Jeffrey and Melissa Fox. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Swanson to appoint Esther Gallagher and Commissioner Arden Comstock to the Northwest Regional Library Board and the Thief River Falls Library Board. Motion unanimously carried.

Expense Recovery Systems represented by Randy Underthun would like to meet with the County Board to explain their service. Expense Recovery Systems does audits on gas, electricity, heating, phone, and etc. to find cost saving or reimbursement for the county.

The Pennington County Veterinarian Report was read by the County Board and ordered it filed.

Commissioner Comstock moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to appoint Commissioner Swanson to the Northwest Regional Development Committee. Motion unanimously carried.

Moved by Commissioner Carlson, seconded by Commissioner Swanson to appoint Arletta Mutnansky to fill a vacancy on the Inter-County Nursing Board. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Swanson to approve the revised water allocation permit #72-0881 submitted by James, John, Kenneth Gunvalson to add 79 acres to their rice paddy. Motion unanimously carried.

Moved by Commissioner Naplin, seconded by Commissioner Swanson to approve DNR permit #97-1159 for the Pennington County Highway Department to work in the protected waters of the Red Lake River and DNR permit #97-1149 to work in the protected waters of County Ditch #62. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Comstock moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to have Commissioner Swanson and Commissioner Carlson to a committee for reviewing County job descriptions and pay equity. Motion unanimously carried. Kenneth Olson, County Auditor, will be checking with Polk County on their procedures used to review job descriptions.

Commissioner Carlson moved, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to send a letter to Virginia Kruse and Phyllis Schmidt concerning the County Inclement Weather Policy, to answer the letter sent to the County Board. Motion unanimously carried.

The County Board was informed of complaints received regarding plastic and small pieces of paper that have been blowing onto residents property around and near from the Solid Waste Facility. SWIS Corps of Pennington County is addressing the problem and has already picked up some of the plastic and paper.

The County will be billed from Terry Fayette for using his own snow blower since the County snow blower was not working.

A letter from the Minnesota Counties Insurance Trust was sent to Commissioner Carlson in response to the letter sent to them regarding Pennington County's self-insured worker's compensation program with MCIT. Commissioner Carlson shared the information he received with the County Board.

The County Board Chairman read a letter from the Department of Revenue which stated the County Equalization meeting is to be held June 17th, 1997.

Chairman Jensen informed the County Board on the Rural Counties Caucus. The dues for the Rural Counties Caucus will be $2,000.00 per year. At this moment 17 counties are members with possibility of two or three more joining next month.

The Highway Committee was appointed to stay on top of the procedures to follow for submitting reports for the Federal Emergency Management Disaster declared because of excessive snowfalls.

Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Carlson to re-appoint Myrna Erickson to the County Extension Committee for a three year term beginning January 1, 1997. Motion unanimously carried.

The County Board was provided with a copy of the snow removal survey forms that were submitted to the Minnesota Department of Public Safety Division of Emergency Management and FEMA.

The County Board was informed of a "Bill" scheduled to go before the State Legislature which would provide MNDOT with a $30,000,000.00 revolving loan. Commissioner Swanson moved, seconded by Commissioner Comstock that the County Engineer pursue his suggestion to write a letter to Senator Stumpf and Representatives Lieder and Finseth to revise the "Bill" to include building construction which would provide funding for a Multi-use building. Motion unanimously carried.

The County Board was informed on the status of the mitigation permit on County State Aid Highway #3 extension. The permit is now at the Corps of Engineers in St. Paul with Mick Waberg. Mr. Waberg indicated Chuck Myers with the Red Lake Band was to finalize the Environmental Assessment in February 1997, and Mr Waberg thought he would approve the permit sometime in March 1997.

Commissioner Jensen, Commissioner Swanson, County Engineer, and Assistant County Engineer are interviewing candidates for Highway Technician I on February 11, 1997 at 8:30 a.m. in the Pennington County Commissioner's room.

Kenneth Olson, County Auditor, discussed the Northland Community and Technical College proposal to provide Safety Compliance services. The proposal should include the Highway Department, the Courthouse, the Law Enforcement Center and Welfare Department. The College agreed they should be included and will rewrite the proposal to include employees of the Law Enforcement Center and Welfare Department.

The following resolution was moved by Commissioner Swanson, seconded by Commissioner Comstock and upon vote was unanimously carried:

Agreement Pennington County and Highlanding Township Agreement, made this 17th day of January, 1997, by and between Pennington County and Highlanding Township for the purpose of Pennington County assuming ownership of certain Highlanding Township Roads and Highlanding Township assuming ownership of certain Pennington County Roads.

WHEREAS, Pennington County is proposing to redesignate and relocate County State Aid #5, and,

WHEREAS, such redesignation and/or relocation proposes to use certain Highlanding Township Roads, and

WHEREAS, Pennington County has no vested authority over Township Roads and is desirous of redesignating certain Township Roads to County Roads to effectuate the redesignation, and

WHEREAS, it appears to the Highlanding Township Board of Pennington County that the best interests of Pennington County and Highlanding Township would be served through the exchange of certain roads by Highlanding Township and Pennington County.

NOW THEREFORE IT IS AGREED THAT the Highlanding Township Board of Pennington County and the Pennington County Commission will exchange ownership of roads described as follows:

1. HIGHLANDING TOWNSHIP TO PENNINGTON COUNTY: from the southwest Corner of Section 16, Township 153 North, Range 40 West, 5th PM, Highlanding Township, Pennington County Minnesota, Easterly along the section Lines an approximate distance of four miles to the Southeast Corner of Section 13, Township 153 North, Range 40 West, 5th PM, Highlanding Township, Pennington County MN.

2. PENNINGTON COUNTY TO HIGHLANDING TOWNSHIP: from the Southeast Corner of Section 34, Township 153 North, Range 40 West, 5th PM, Highlanding Township, Pennington County MN, then Northerly along the Section Lines an approximate distance of three miles, to the Northeast Corner of Section 22, Township 153 North, Range 40 West, 5th PM, Highlanding Township, Pennington County MN, and, from the Northwest Corner of Section 4, Township 153 North, Range 40 West, 5th PM, Highlanding Township, Pennington county, MN, Easterly along the Section Line an approximate distance of one mile to the Northeast Section Corner of Section 4, Township, Pennington County, MN.

The following resolution was moved by Commissioner Swanson, seconded by Commissioner Comstock and upon vote was unanimously carried:

Agreement Pennington County and Star Township AGREEMENT, made this 20th day of January 1997, by and between Pennington County and Star Township for the purpose of Pennington County assuming ownership of certain Star Township Roads, and Star Township assuming ownership of certain Pennington County Roads.

WHEREAS, Pennington County is proposing to redesignate and relocate County State Aid #5, and,

WHEREAS, such redesignation and/or relocation proposes to use certain Star Township Roads, and,

WHEREAS, Pennington County has no vested authority over Township Roads and is desirous of redesignating certain Township Roads to County Roads to effectuate the redesignation; and,

WHEREAS, it appears to the Star Township Board of Pennington County, that the best interests of Pennington County and Star Township would be served through the exchange of certain roads by Star Township and Pennington County.

NOW THEREFORE IT IS AGREED THAT the Star Township Board of Pennington County, and the Pennington County Commission will exchange ownership of roads described as follows:

1. STAR TOWNSHIP TO PENNINGTON COUNTY: From the Southwest Corner of Section 18, Township 153 North, Range 39 West, 5th PM, Star Township, Pennington County, MN four miles Easterly along the Section Lines to the Southeast Corner of Section 15, Township 153 North, Range 39 West, 5th PM, Star Township, Pennington County, MN.

2. PENNINGTON COUNTY TO STAR TOWNSHIP: From the Southeast Corner of Section 30, Township 153 North, Range 39 west, 5th PM, Star Township, Pennington County, MN one mile Northerly along the Section Line to the Northeast Corner of Section 30, Township 153 North, Range 39 West, 5th PM, Star Township, Pennington County, MN, and, from the Southeast Corner of Section 32, Township 153 North, Range 39 West, 5th PM, Star Township, Pennington County MN, Northerly along the Section Line three miles, to the Northeast Corner of Section 20, Township 153 North, Range 39 west, 5th PM, Star Township, Pennington County MN.

The County Engineer provided a summary of hourly costs, equipment and labor, for roadway snow removal to the County Board.

John Wolbeck, Highway Technician, met with the County Board to request a salary increase. Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to have John Wolbeck review his personnel file with Dalton Schulz, County Engineer, in his office. Motion unanimously carried. The County Board held the request for salary increase over until further information is available.

Commissioner Comstock moved, seconded by Commissioner Swanson to bill $600 to Mayfield Township for the concrete slab at the Township garbage collection site. Motion unanimously carried.

The County Board discussed relocating the newspaper recycling container located at SuperValu to The Times. No action was taken.

Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to appoint Dr. Lyle Kenner as County Veterinarian. Motion unanimously carried.

Howard Person met with the County Board to discuss asbestos abatement of the Oakland Park Sanitarium building. Howard is to get some information about calling for bids to remove the asbestos from the building.

Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Carlson to approve the January 7th, and 14th minutes as written. Motion unanimously carried.

There will be Law Enforcement Center negotiations on February 7th at 11:00 a.m. and Social Service negotiations on February 12th at 2:00 p.m.

Commissioner Comstock moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to adjourn to February 11th, 1997 at 10:00 a.m. Motion carried.

BOARD OF ZONING APPEALS NOTICE OF HEARING CITY OF THIEF RIVER FALLS

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to Chapter 11 of the Thief River Falls City Code, that Medical Properties Incorporated, Dr. Robert Sleitz, President, 1702 South University Drive, Fargo, ND 58103, owner of property located at 1720 Highway 59 S.E., has applied for a Variance to the Land Use Regulations (Zoning), Sec. 11.70, Subd. 1. The property is legally described as follows:

Lots 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13 in Block One of Southwoods Addition to the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

Medical Properties, Incorporated proposes to lease the above described property to Dakota Clinic Limited of Thief River Falls. Dakota Clinic proposes to construct and operate a 45,000 square foot, single-story medical clinic and outpatient surgical center at this location. Other improvements proposed include the development of on-site parking, lighting, signage and landscaping.

Sec. 11.79 Performance Standards for Commercial and Industrial Districts, Subd. 1. Buffers requires, among other things, that a thirty-five foot (35') wide buffer strip and screening, in the form of a site obscuring fence or vegetation, be provided between commercial and residential districts. The neighboring property adjacent to the rear, southwesterly property line is zoned Multi-Family Residential District (R-4).

The project architect has informed the owner and City that, without drastically reducing the number of on-site parking stalls, the site Plan can accommodate only a twenty foot (20') wide green space buffer. Medical Properties, Incorporated is requesting approval of a fifteen foot (15') Variance to the thirty five foot (35') wide buffer strip requirement of the southwesterly property line.

Notice is further given, that the Board of Zoning Appeals will conduct a Hearing on the Variance Request at 7:00 p.m. on Monday, March 24, 1997, in the Heritage Community Center, 301 Fourth Street East, Thief River Falls, MN 56701. All persons wishing to comment on the Variance Request will have the option to be heard at this time. Persons who wish to submit written comments prior to the Hearing or who have questions should address them to the Office of the Community Development Director, City Auditorium, PO Box 528, Thief River Falls, MN 56701, or telephone 218-681-2500.

If you have a disability and need an accommodation in order to attend this Hearing please contact the undersigned as soon as possible or at least two (2) days in advance of the Hearing at the above telephone number.

Dated this 27th day of February, 1997.
CITY OF THIEF RIVER FALLS

GIRL SCOUT WEEK Whether learning about math, science, careers or the environment, or making discoveries about one's inner nature, Girl Scouting opens doors for girls ages 5-17, and helps them gain the skills they need to become vital members of society. But most of all, being a Girl Scout is just plain fun!

On the occasion of Girl Scout week, we'd like to congratulate this worthwhile organization and urge you to support your local Girl Scout council.

Boy Scouts plan food drive in Thief River Falls

Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts in Thief River Falls will be collecting food on a door to door basis beginning 10 a.m. Saturday, March 22.

Scouts will be placing plastic food collection bags on household doorknobs in Thief River Falls early this week in preparation for the national project called "Good Turn Project". The bag contains instructions as to the types of food stuff that is needed. All of the collected food will be brought to the Thief River Falls Area Food Shelf which in turn will distribute the food to people in need.

Since March has been declared as Minnesota Food Share Month, Minnesota Food Share will provide matching funds based on the amount of food collected and distributed.

Thief River Falls residents are being asked to place their filled food bag on their front doorknob or front steps by 10 a.m. this Saturday, March 22. Scouts will collect the bags and bring them to the Food Shelf.

Everyone is asked to please have the bags in a visible place that can be seen from the street. If anyone accidentally gets missed or will be out of town, they may bring their food bag to the local Food Shelf in the basement of the Ruhl Professional building between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. this Saturday, or any Thursday between the hours of 1 and 4 p.m. They may also be brought to any local church.

Last year the Scouts collected close to 4,000 pounds of food items which greatly allowed the Food Shelf to help people in need.

Josh, 11, and Jason Swenson, 13, will be among the many local Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts in Thief River Falls collecting food on a door-to-door basis beginning 10 a.m. Saturday, March 22. Scouts will be placing plastic bags on household door knobs this week in preparation for a national project called "Good Turn Project". The Scouts will return on Saturday, March 22, and collect bags filled with food. All of the food collected will be brought to the Thief River Falls Area Food Shelf.

Dakota Clinic to build regional clinic in TRF

Dakota Clinic has selected Thief River Falls as the location for expansion and construction of a new regional clinic and outpatient surgical center. Ground breaking and construction is slated to begin this spring, with opening of the facility anticipated in the summer of 1998.

According to Clinic spokesperson, Dr. Randy Bolar, the new clinic will be 45,000 square feet and will be served by contemporary diagnostic equipment and other sophisticated systems. The facility will permit Dakota Clinic to expand its current 15 physician practice in Thief River Falls to better meet the health care needs of Northwestern Minnesota. According to Dr. Bolar, "Our physicians will have immediate access to outpatient ancillary services that are essential for efficient and cost effective health care delivery. The entire system will be housed in a modern outpatient facility for greater efficiencies and more convenience for our patients. We will continue to use and support Northwest Medical Center for our hospitalized patients."

Dr. Bolar said the new clinic will be designed to continue to improve the level of health care provided by the Dakota Clinic physicians who have been living and practicing in Thief River Falls since 1951.

"As a result of our extensive planning efforts, the new clinic will provide many benefits to the patients and staff it will serve," says Dr. Bolar. "We are very excited about this project because we will be able to offer patient amenities, such as, convenient parking and improved accessibility, a drive-through pharmacy, a state-of-the-art surgical center, and all outpatient services under one roof. For those seeking convenience, this will definitely be a 'one-stop shop', including the ophthalmology services of Dr. Robert Dicken, who will be affiliated with the new facility, working with primary care physicians and providing surgical services."

The new clinic/surgical center, designed by Minneapolis-based Hammel Green and Abrahamson, Inc., in association with R.L. Engebretson, PA, of Fargo, will incorporate the architects' national expertise in health care design and local knowledge of the area, its people and their needs. The cost effective design will improve operations and staff efficiency through its unique layout.

"Our 46 year commitment to this community and our future commitment will be represented by a structure and business which will have a positive impact on the entire region," Dr. Bolar observes. "We anticipate adding staff and physicians to the clinic, which will add to the economy of the area, and we know from our conversations with regional businesses that the new clinic will make the region more attractive for purposes of recruiting employees. All in all, the addition of a new Dakota Clinic will benefit everyone."

A construction management firm will be retained to maximize opportunities for local contractors to bid on various aspects of the project. The new clinic will cost approximately $7 million to build and equip. Dr. Bolar is confident that the new facility will help in the recruitment of additional physicians, nurses, technicians, and employees who will contribute to the operation of the facility.

Several business leaders from the region have voiced their support of the project, including Mark Larson, president of Digi-Key Corporation, based in Thief River Falls. "If there was ever a question as to how committed Dakota Clinic is to serving the people of Northwestern Minnesota, we have the answer today," said Larson. "They have clearly and decisively put their money where their mouth is. Dakota Clinic's decision to break ground on a multi-million dollar 'leading edge' medical facility in Thief River Falls has the very real potential of impacting literally thousands of people who make their homes in Northwestern Minnesota. This facility represents the vision of Dakota Clinic and the vision of their

Kate Ihle selected to receive two distinguished awards

Kate Ihle, daughter of Paul and Carol Ihle and a senior at Lincoln High School, has been selected as a Finalist in the National Merit Scholarship program and was recently named the Regional 8AA female winner of the Academics, Arts and Athletics (AAA) award.

Previously named as one of more than 15,000 semifinalists in the Merit Scholarship competition, Kate was advanced to the Finalist category which places her among the top one half of one percent of the graduating seniors in U.S. High Schools.

All Finalists in the program will be considered for one of 2,000 National Merit $2,000 scholarships that will be offered on a state representational basis.

In addition, Finalists who meet preferential criteria of a company or business sponsor will be considered for about 1,100 corporate-sponsored Merit Scholarship awards. Most of these are designated for Finalists who are children of a corporate-sponsor's employees, however, some are offered for residents of communities where a company has facilities, or for students planning to enter fields of study or careers a sponsor wishes to encourage.

Kate Ihle, daughter of Paul and Carol Ihle of Thief River Falls, has been selected as an Academics, Arts and Athletics (AAA) award winner for Region 8AA and therefore a finalist for the State AAA award. She is one of eight women and eight men chosen from high schools from throughout Minnesota for the honor.

City Council takes steps to control spring flooding

Local officials are attempting to get a head start on spring flooding. Tuesday, March 11, Thief River Falls City Council authorized city staff and equipment to be used for flood control purposes as needed.

Local officials are concerned about the potential for flooding this spring because of the snow depth and moisture content of the snow. According to a snow survey ending March 7 and prepared by the Red Lake Watershed district, the snow depth at Agassiz refuge is 29 inches and the moisture content 5.80 inches. The snow depth upstream of the Elm Lake Impoundment is 33.2 inches with a moisture content of 6.79 inches. By comparison, the moisture content at Elm Lake last year, when the area experienced severe flooding was only 5.49 inches.

In addition, the National Weather Service is warning of a potential for spring flooding, and residents in the region are being encouraged by FEMA to obtain flood insurance.

Pennington County Sheriff Gerald Moe appeared before the city council Tuesday night to ask that they authorize city personnel and equipment to be used as needed for spring flood preparation. Sheriff Moe outlined a tentative plan that included establishing three sites for sandbagging operations. He said last year's site at the city's street shed was too chaotic. He suggested using that site plus two other sites, possibly one at the Eighth Street boat landing and one other somewhere along Highway 59 south. Moe said he hopes people will take the opportunity to obtain sand bags from his department and fill them in advance so that he doesn't get a lot of last minute emergency calls for assistance this year. He said there's nothing wrong with putting sand bags in place now.

Lindberg said he also wanted the resolution so that there wouldn't be any confusion when spring finally arrives and their assistance is needed.

■ The end of calendar parking has been put on hold. Police Chief Ken Froschheiser asked the council to extend calendar parking which according to the ordinance is supposed to end on March 15. Due to the amount of snow still on the ground and still forecast for the area, Froschheiser wanted the ordinance extended until April 1.

■ A ground-lease financing proposal for the Soo Depot renovations could mean an increase in the amount levied for ADA Improvements. Roger DeLap, city administrator, explained that this was a "cleaner" type of financing proposal. It would not involve a public hearing or the HRA. It was noted that debt service costs would increase. As a result, the $70,000 levied for ADA would have to be increased to $110,000.

City Attorney Paul Ihle said he didn't see any problems with using the ADA levied funds for this project.

Based on the response to the Request for Proposals and a review of the data received, it was recommended that the city accept the proposal of Norwest Investment Services.

NCTC is updating web page material

Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls has made major updates to its page on the World Wide Web, according to David Olsen, NCTC multi-media coordinator.

Olsen has put a major emphasis on the web page with the development of program offerings, messages, newsletters, sports information and more, including a direct line to receiving college information.

"When I first found the NCTC web page, it had almost no information to offer," Olsen said. "I have been working with the marketing department and other groups on campus to make the page the best any college can offer. Already we have had several requests for information about Northland and we haven't even told the public that we are available."

Also included on the page is information on Northland faculty, customized training programs, farm business management staff and offerings and a direct access to financial aid information from the National Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators. Most recently, some Northland faculty have added classroom notes on the Internet so students may find that information at any time.

"This is just the beginning," Olsen said. "The public will see dramatic changes to the Northland Web Page over spring quarter and the summer months when additional time is available to work on improvements."

Kasey Moose on honor roll

Spielman traveling with college band

Daniel Spielman was among the 71 members of the Concordia College, Moorhead, Band, who toured North Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin February 9-16.

Spielman, a senior majoring in nursing, is the son of Paul Spielman, Thief River Falls.

The band tour included performances in the Minnesota cities of East Grand Forks, Roseau, Northome, Silver Bay, Two Harbors, Duluth and Staples. Other performances included concerts at the Minnesota Music Educators Association Convention in Minneapolis and in River Falls, WI. The tour concluded with a home concert at Concordia February 16.

Sara Lokstad receiving scholarship

Funded by the U.S. Department of Education, the program integrates an intensive summer research project and special classes with workshops to provide scholars with the skills needed to enter doctoral-level studies.

The council accepted the proposal. Council Representative Dave Carlson opposed the motion.

■ Spring Clean-up day in Thief River Falls has been shelved in favor of another proposal. Ron Lindberg, public works director, explained that conversation about Spring clean up day began the day after last year's event. It has been the consensus to offer residents an opportunity to get rid of their junk, but over a longer period of time. Last year's effort cost the city $10,000. He also said it is believed that a lot of debris and garbage was brought into the city. Lindberg is proposing that four special stickers be distributed for use in May and June. When garbage bags are distributed in June, the city will include an additional sticker to be used on junk residents wish to get rid of. Lindberg also said the increased tipping fee at SwisPennCo also played a factor in their decision. Rather than passing on the extra tipping fee cost and cost of this annual event, the city is hoping to save money and get rid of the garbage too.

Lindberg said they are also trying to cleanup the city and provide a service to the community without a lot of individuals from outside of the city contributing to the problem. He said where the extra stickers will be distributed has not been finalized.

City representative, Dale Wennberg, stated "I think what we're trying to do is tame the monster we created."

■ The city council has approved a motion to send a letter to legislative representatives encouraging their support to secure funding for a dredging project. The city is hoping that funds obtained for this project will help remove sediments from the Red Lake River and Thief River, which flow through the heart of the city.

City council representatives believe safe recreational use of the rivers has been severely restricted due to sedimentation of the river channels and resultant algae growth in the shallow water depths. Water storage volume of the river reservoir has been reduced by about 20 per cent since 1969, the year of the last sediment removal.

It is explained in the letter that during the past 10 years, five reservoir studies have been made and the city has attempted several unsuccessful projects to consolidate sediments and remove aquatic weed growths to improve use of the rivers.

In 1996, the city council authorized planning for a project to remove about 300,000 cubic yards of river sediment at an estimated project cost of $1 million. The city has committed $250,000 to the project cost and has secured a commitment of an additional $250,000, including in-kind services from the Red Lake Watershed district. A similar request of $250,000 to the Red River Watershed board was denied. It was explained Tuesday night that it was turned down because flooding is their major objective.

The legislature is being asked to consider paying for $500,000 of the estimated $1 million project cost.

■ The council also approved a motion urging area legislators to oppose a Carbon Tax proposal. Representatives of the council believe the tax would cost Minnesotans over $2 billion in the next four years and will have a major negative impact on the price of electricity and other energy purchased by Minnesotans. Area residents are also asked to contact their legislator to oppose H.F. 1190. The bill would impose a tax on gasoline, coal-based electricity, natural gas, fuel oil and diesel.

In other business, the council: approved a resolution relating to the financing of the 1997 improvement project; approved a resolution approving application for a grant for a proposed baseball/softball complex to the Minnesota Outdoor Recreation Grant; approved a resolution revising forms for the MAS employee performance evaluation system; approved a revised Fixed Base Operator Lease with R.C. Shefland Flying Service; and awarded the low bid of Construction Engineers of Grand Forks, ND, for the Powerhouse Tailrace modification project at a cost of roughly $100,000.

Items approved from the consent agenda included: a progression raise for Terry Rewerts, Mark Borsheim, Rich Gorde, Tracy Sodon, and Lynette Derouin; the purchase of a used 1990 pickup, an easement for U.S. West to install a phone cable at the airport; a call for quotes for a new leaf vacuum for the sanitation department, and a call for quotes for plastic garbage bags for the sanitation department.

Chris Twomey, chief executive officer of Arctic Cat, Inc., notes that "This announcement is about a building. More importantly, medical care is about people. We have trusted the people of Dakota Clinic with our lives and the lives of our families and they have always delivered. Now we trust the same people to turn their hopes and dreams, as expressed by this building, into a state-of-the-art medical facility for all of Northwestern Minnesota. They have delivered in the past. I have every reason to believe they will continue in the future."

"We have always strived to provide the people of Northwestern Minnesota with the best possible health care," Dr. Bolar says. "Just like high quality education and well-paying employment opportunities, health care is a critical factor in the decision-making process for both families and elder adults who consider this region as their home.

More than 3,000 scholarships will be financed by U.S. colleges and universities that have made arrangements with National Merit Scholarship Corporation to sponsor awards. Only Finalists who plan to attend one of the sponsor institutions, report their choice to NMSC and are not offered another scholarship administered by NMSC can be considered for a college-sponsored Merit Scholarship award.

As a result of the three types of scholarships offered, approximately half of the finalists in the program will receive scholarship awards.

In a letter notifying Kate of her selection as a Finalist, Executive Vice President Marianne C. Roderick wrote, "We sincerely hope that qualifying as a Finalist in this competition will be a source of personal satisfaction and encouragement, regardless of whether or not you receive a Merit Scholarship award. All of us associated with the Merit Program salute you for your attainments to date, and we offer you our best wishes for the realization of the high goals you set for yourself."

The Merit program operates without government funding and the majority of scholarships offered are underwritten by some 600 independent sponsor organizations and institutions. It is the largest academic competition of its kind. Every scholarship awarded must be used for full-time attendance at a college or university in the United States that holds accredited status with a regional accrediting commission on higher education.

Triple A winner

Lincoln High School received notice last week that Ihle had been named Academics, Arts and Athletics (AAA) award winner for Region 8AA and therefore a finalist for the State AAA award. Ihle is one of eight women and eight men from throughout the state chosen for the award. These top finishers have been invited to a special banquet at the St. Paul Civic Center on Saturday, March 22, where league officials will announce the award winners and present the Triple A awards, which include certificates, medals, plaques and a four-year $1,000 scholarship. Following the banquet, all of the award nominees will take part in an on-court awards ceremony during the championship game of the state high school boys' basketball tournament.

Purposes of the Triple A program is to recognize and honor high school seniors who have excelled in the classroom, the arts and athletics; elevate academic standards and create greater awareness of League-sponsored activities and their values; and provide League member schools with an opportunity to participate in a statewide program which supports, promotes and recognizes academic and extracurricular achievements.

As Region 8AA Triple A winner, Ihle represents 13 different schools in the administrative region.

Ihle is active in the National Honor Society, Knowledge Bowl, mock trial, German club, math league, Key Club, Close-Up, Project-4-Teens, speech and school play. She is a National Merit Scholarship Finalist, a member of the Academic All-State tennis team, a Governor's Scholar, earned an academic letter and is an honor roll student. She participates in tennis, track and field, cross-country, basketball and girl's hockey and is a member of the wind ensemble, pep band and marching band.

Kate is a class officer and member of the Sunfest royal court and teaches Sunday school, is a Bible school assistant and member of the church youth choir.

Team Tigershark racer George Munson was the overall class champion last week at the 10th annual Florida Winter Nationals, in the closed course expert 1200 limited division. Munson, who also owns Orlando Jet Ski and Tigershark in Orlando, FL, has been watercraft racing for eight years. In the recent Florida Winter Nationals, Munson raced a 1997 Tigershark Daytona 1000 built into limited class form, in the four-event series. Munson was encouraged by the performance of the Daytona 1000. "I'm looking forward to working with Tigershark and creating a competitive watercraft," he said.

Sgt. LaDoucer awarded medal

Air Force Tech. Sgt. Eugene L. LaDoucer Jr. is a member of the 4400th Operations Squadron (Provisional) at Taszar Air Base, Hungary, who was awarded the NATO medal for participating in the NATO-sponsored peacekeeping effort "Operation Joint Endeavor" concentrated in Bosnia-Herzegovina.

The 4400th Operations Squadron members sustain around-the-clock strategic airfield operations to enhance the U.S. Army's capability to receive cargo and people. They also provide an aeromedical evacuation capability for patients requiring specialized care outside of Hungary.

The squadron is composed of air national guardsmen, Air Force reservists and active duty members assigned to U.S. Air Forces in Europe. American and Hungarian Air Force members work together to ensure continued airfield operations and share responsibilities in coordinating border crossings of U.S. aircraft into Croatia and Bosnia.

LaDoucer is a public affairs office supervisor normally assigned to the 5th Bomb Wing at Minot Air Force Base, ND.

He is the son of Eugene L. and Marlyss E. LaDoucer of Karlstad.

LaDoucer graduated from Karlstad High school in 1980.

Peterson touts legislation for CRP extension

Congressman Collin C. Peterson touted legislation he has filed which would offer one-year extensions for current contract holders during an oversight hearing on the new Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) rules recently.

"We have to provide a smoother transition into the new CRP program. This CRP rule is too complicated and includes way too much bureaucracy," Peterson said. "However, I recognize that we will go ahead with the 15th sign-up, and an extension will allow us to maintain the current base while we see where we are and where this program is going."

The Chairman of the House Agriculture Subcommittee on Forestry, Resource Conservation, and Research, Representative Larry Combest (R-TX) and other members of the subcommittee echoed Peterson's call for an extension.

Peterson also showed members of the subcommittee how improbable it was that USDA staff could handle the workload they are about to be given. He handed out the 26-page set of forms that USDA personnel will be required to fill out for each contract application. It is estimated that each contract application will require two to three hours of USDA personnel time.

Peterson was assured by USDA that as long as producers stop by their local office prior to the March 28th deadline, their paperwork will be processed.

The 15th CRP sign-up is set to begin March 3 and will run through March 28.

Career Day at Franklin Middle School was a success

Eighth graders at Franklin Middle School were able to participate in Career Day, which was held Friday, March 14.

Students were able to sign up for the careers that they were interested in learning more about. They then were bussed to participating businesses in town and got a hands-on experience.

There were over 80 businesses that took part in this learning experience. Some of the businesses that were involved include Diamonds and Designs, Arctic Cat, Chamber of Commerce, Dakota Clinic, Green's Funeral Home, Westside Motors, Magical Moments, Vanity, Digi-Key and Genereux Realty, just to name a few.

Each student had his or her schedule made out telling them which bus to take and at what time. They then went to the individual businesses to see what goes on in the workplace.

This was the third year that Franklin Middle School has offered this learning experience to the students. Carol Ihle, District Wide Coordinator for the school, commented, "The community has been overwhelming in support. People rarely say no. They have been very receptive to having the kids."

Carol also stated that it is a better experience for the students than having just the usual career fair at the school. This way they are able to go out and actually see what the places do and get a better idea if it is something that they may want to do.

The career day is designed to get the students minds thinking along the lines of what they might like to do, and maybe classes that they might want to take to help prepare them for the career.

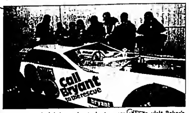
The students were asked to come prepared with plenty of questions for the presenters. They were encouraged to ask many questions to help them gain a better understanding of what goes on at the particular career.

The first year that they did the career day, they also went to Grand Forks, ND to explore other careers. It became too difficult to get the kids there and they didn't have as much time and weren't able to visit as many career sites. The district realized that there were many wonderful opportunities for the students right in town without having to travel with the students. It also encouraged them to keep business in town if possible.

Career day began when the counseling office wanted a way to try to get students involved and interested in careers. Career fairs can be boring for students. While they can be informative, they just don't offer the hands-on experience for the students that can make it exciting as well as informative.

Along with support from local businesses, they had a lot of positive feedback from the parents. They had about 20 parents volunteers who chaperoned the day, and they found it to be just as informative and exciting as the students. Even the parents were able to learn a little something new.

While the career day requires a lot of preparation to pull it off, Carol feels that it is all worth it. The experiences that the students receive are a wonderful learning tool that they will hopefully keep in mind when selecting a career in the not too far off future.



Call Bryant to the rescue
Bryant
This group of eighth grade students were able to visit Baker's Acres and see the race car that has its home there. Students that took part in the Career Day were able to visit up to four different career choices that they were interested in.

Weight lifting symposium offered for interested women

Thief River Sports Medicine, along with Northland Community and Technical College will again sponsor a symposium on weight lifting for women on Saturday, March 29. This session is being held as part of the Women's Issues Information Workshops. Other sponsor of theses sessions are Crossroads Displaced Homemaker Program, Pennington County Extension, and the Women's Resource Center at NCTC.

The purpose of this symposium will be to introduce women to the benefits and fundamentals of a strength/weight training program. In addition to demonstrations, there will be an opportunity for hands-on experience in the weight room at Northland Community and Technical College. This will be a repeat of earlier syposiums held this past year. This program has been very well received by all participants and highly rated. Interested registrants are encouraged to sign up early as class size is limited.

The symposium begins at 8:30 a.m. Registrants will be divided into three groups and attend three separate sessions, taught by the staff of Thief River Sports Medicine. Dr. Jim Langland will review the role that strength training plays in a well rounded exercise and fitness program. He will review the benefits to be obtained by these exercises and how they can modify the aging process. Specific instructions and recommendations will be provided in initiating and maintaining an optimal strength training program.

George Judd, Athletic Trainer at Lincoln High School and Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls, will conduct a session reviewing muscle groups and flexibility. An anatomical review will be held for the participants to familiarize themselves with the major muscle groups throughout the body. Demonstrations and practice stretching sessions will also take place.

Dr. Penny Langland will review and demonstrate a variety of strength training exercises in the Northland Fitness Center. The weight machines will be reviewed and there will be some time for individual practice and use of the weights. The formal symposium will run from 8:30 to 11 a.m. The fitness center will be open from 11 a.m. to 12 noon to allow the participants to practice with the equipment. Registration information and to register contact Merlene at 681-0793 or toll-free 1-800-959-6282. Registration fee is $15.

Family Life Training Seminar March 18-23

Christian authors and conference speakers Michael and Debi Pearl will be sharing their experiences in successfully training their children.

The introduction of their book "To Train up a Child" states, "The emphasis is on the training of a child before the need to discipline arises." It is apparent that most parents never attempt to train a child to obey. They wait until the child becomes unbearable and then explode. With proper training, discipline can be reduced to five percent of what many now practice. As you will have a renewed vision for your family, no more raised voices, no contention, no bad attitudes, fewer spankings, a cheerful atmosphere in the home, and total obedience from your children.

In addition to the child training the Family Life Seminar gives men and women special training on becoming the spouses God intends us to be. Michael and Debi will be spending an evening with just the men helping them to become better husbands and fathers. They will also be spending an afternoon with just the women sharing with them how to become better wives and mothers.

- Resurrection Lutheran Church of Karlstad – March 18 from 5-6 p.m., Youth Group Meeting; March 18 from 7 to 9 p.m., Family Assembly, March 19 from 3 to 5 p.m., For Women Only; and March 20 from 7 to 9 p.m., For Men Only.

Their Child Training Seminar is as follows:

- Assembly of God Church of Roseau – March 19 from 8 to 10 p.m., Part I.
- Public Library of Roseau – March 21 from 7 to 9 p.m., Part II, and March 22 from 9 to 11 a.m., Part III.
- Heritage Community Center of Thief River Falls – March 22 from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m., Part I and II.
- Assembly of God Church of Hallock – March 23 from 7 to 9 p.m.

If you would like to make a change in child rearing, please join in learning how to train up your children. The Pearls do not charge for their seminars but a free will offering will be taken to support them in their work.

St. Bernard's preschoolers anxiously await the announcement of the next winner at the St. Bernard's St. Patrick's Day Carnival held last Friday. There were a variety of games for the children to play and numerous drawings throughout the day.

ON MY MIND

Kim Chadwick-Quade

A Little Sugar Makes The World Go Around

Cereal isn't just for breakfast anymore. In my world, anyway. If it's the right kind I'll eat cereal for lunch, dinner, afternoon snack, evening snack and of course, for breakfast.

The "right kind" is what most people classify as kids' cereal. I crave the stuff with enough sugar content to rot the teeth of at least ten humans. I don't want a Wheaties breakfast of champions, I want something with lots of sugar on it. I don't want something that contains enough fiber to fulfill 10 daily requirements, I want something that tastes good.

My pre-sugared favorites include Frosted Flakes, Lucky Charms, Honeycombs, Frosted Mini-Wheats, Frosted Cheerios, Apple Cinnamon Cheerios, Apple Jacks and Froot Loops. I'm sure there are more, but I can't check my cupboard because I've eaten them all. (A toasted S'more pop-tart will also get my day off to a good start.)

But peanut butter Cap'n Crunch rates as my all-time favorite. I'm especially thrilled when there's a great sale and, using my coupons, I get two boxes for less than the price of one. I barely empty the grocery bags when I've ripped open the box and poured myself a heaping bowl of cereal. Two boxes of peanut butter Cap'n Crunch don't last the week in my house. And then I have to fight my 6-year-old son for it. (That and the prize at the bottom of the box.)

I don't, however, have to fight my husband for control of the sugared cereal boxes. He thinks I'm a little strange eating cereal for meals other than breakfast. And when he eats cereal it's the plain and boring stuff like regular Cheerios, Grape Nuts, Rice Krispies, Corn Flakes, Raisin Bran and Shredded-Wheat.

I avoid cereals like that because in order for them to be appealing I need to add about four overflowing spoons of good old American Crystal to the bowl. Then the sugar falls off of the cereal, sinks to the bottom of the bowl and it takes a search-and-rescue effort to retrieve it. (Sweetened milk is not my idea of a refreshment, and I refuse to drink any milk left in the bowl after the cereal's gone like my mom made me do when I was little.) The non-sugared cereals, in my opinion, are only good for making other items like bars and cookies or for feeding to relatives or pets.

I am choosy, though. I don't eat just any sugared cereal. There are some which aren't on my shopping list. S'More cereal gets soggy too fast. Cocoa Krispies turn the milk brown. Sugar Smacks don't tickle my taste buds. Trix is too fruity. Life just doesn't have any life. Cookie Crisp, believe it or not, is too sweet. Kix are not for kids or adults.

The only way a cereal box makes it into my shopping cart is that it has to be on sale and I have to have a coupon for it.

Cruising the cereal aisle in a grocery store can be a daunting task. So many cereals. So little time. Cereals play such an important role in the economy and our lives that there are 28,884 entries on the Internet just about cereal. One site quoted a little known fact: In the United States the number of different cereals available is vastly greater than the beer selection in most liquor stores!

Well, it's just about lunchtime and I hear a box of peanut butter Cap'n Crunch calling my name.

ACTIVITIES
Fuzzy Wuzzy Pictures

Don't throw your dryer lint away! Save the white lint (from whites), blue lint (from jeans), gray lint (from miscellaneous), and other colors of lint in cans or oatmeal containers. Have your child draw pictures of bears or other animals, flowers or other plants, furniture, clothing, etc. Then this very clean, free lint can be glued on for textures and dimension along with other items, such as buttons, ribbon, lace, seeds, etc.

SCAVENGER HUNT

For next week's Activities feature, you will need your time.

BOOK OF THE WEEK

The Thief River Falls public library invites you to browse through its new selection of children's books including the following:

Porter, Sue. Moose Music. When Moose finds an old fiddle and begins to play, the forest is in chaos over the dreadful, ear-splitting screeches. Then a lady moose overhears him and starts singing along and they both discover that they can make beautiful moose music together!

Anholt, Catherine. What Makes Me Happy? Portrayed with bouncing verse and rollicking watercolors, young readers will recognize all of the ups and downs of childhood, whether happy or mad, busy or bored.

VIDEO VARIETY

The Berenstain Bears Play Ball. After Papa Bear decides that Brother Bear is to be the next baseball supercub, Brother and his friend show Papa that the real joy of baseball is the pure fun of playing, not the pressure to win.

MAGAZINE MENTION

Learn crafts for a snowy day with eleven absorbing activities that will keep your family's disposition sunny (even when the weather isn't) in the March issue of Family Fun.

Remember that the Thief River Falls public library has preschool storytimes every Wednesday from 11:15 to 11:45 a.m. These are co-sponsored by the Thief River Falls ECFE and Learning Readiness. Also remember to check out the parenting corner by the children's room for new information and helpful hints for busy parents on books, reading and much more.

PARENTING TIPS
Toys and Play

Play helps children develop and refine many of the skills they'll need in life. Motor skills and dexterity develop as they crawl, run, climb and balance.

Interaction with other children promotes not only language skills, but also important social concepts such as cooperation, taking turns and playing by established rules. Problem-solving abilities, along with feelings of success and self-esteem, grow from playing with toys and taking part in games.

Toys & Play is a free publication developed by the Toy Manufacturers of America. It explains why playtime is an important part of growing up. It also covers safe and appropriate toy selection as well as suggestions for ways parents can get involved, encourage creativity and have a lot of fun with their children.

There will be auditions for the play "Steel Magnolias" held on Thursday, March 20 from 7 to 9 p.m. in room D61 of Northland Community and Technical College.

The role calls for six women ages 18 and up. Sorry, there are no male roles. It is produced by "That's Entertainment", the same group that brought Nunsense I and II to Thief River Falls.

Gospel sing-along at Embassy Center

The Embassy Community Center of Fosston will hold their monthly Gospel Singalong on Sunday, March 23 at 3 p.m.

This will be another of the Festival of Praise programs with all of the persons attending being on the "program committee" to bring in vocal, instrumental or readings suitable for this Palm Sunday musical.

Foot care clinic to be held in Grygla

There will be a foot care clinic on Wednesday, March 26 at 9:30 a.m. at the Grygla Community Center.

Appointments are necessary. Call Mrs. Aune at 459-3315 for appointment. Nurses from North Valley Home Health will soak feet and trim nails. There is a $6 charge per person.

Phantom of Opera performed at Thief River Falls American Legion

Two Rivers Area Theatre of Red Lake Falls has been asked back to Thief River Falls by popular demand, according to American Legion Manager Mike Dodds. A year ago Two Rivers Area Theatre presented a musical revue of Les Miserables which had people talking for months about how well they enjoyed the group and how much they appreciated their talent and wondered if they would be back again. (Les Miserables was performed three nights.)

Two River Area Theatre has agreed to present a musical revue of Andrew Lloyd Webers "Phantom of the Opera". This will be a dinner theatre at the American Legion Club in Thief River Falls Thursday, Friday, Saturday April 10-12 at 6:30 p.m. and Sunday, April 13 at 5 p.m. Meal choices will be 8 ounce sirloin steak or chicken Kiev.

Principal roles for the Phantom of the Opera will be Lowell Arlt as the Phantom, Sherry Knott as Christine, Ross Arlt as Raoul, and Darci Delage as Carlotta. Also starring will be Rob Conwell as Firmin, Jim Scott as Andre, Grant Seeger as Piangi, Lisa Seeger as Meg, and Andrea Liston as Madame Giry. The musical will be narrated by Christine Van Emmerik.

The production combines talent from Plummer, Red Lake Falls, Brooks and Lakeville Minnesota. Tickets will be sold in advance only and can be purchased at Kezar Music in Thief River Falls, and Center Drug in Red Lake Falls starting March 19.

Luncheon on nutrition at Riverview Healthcare Association in Crookston

Riverview Healthcare Association of Crookston is sponsoring the tenth luncheon in their monthly series covering women's health concerns. In recognition of March as National Nutrition Month, this month's featured speakers are registered dietitians Suzy thorson and Jill Braaten. The topic will be "All Foods Can Fit", emphasizing the importance of variety in a balanced diet and the ability to eat a wide range of foods, as long as they are eating in moderation. They will also discuss the new trend in diet pills and discuss the pros and cons of those medications.

Both women are employed with the Nutrition Services department at Riverview and counsel people with all types of food and nutrition related problems. Thorson has been employed at Riverview for six years and Braaten for one year. Both are registered dietitians.

The luncheon is being held two different times and women can attend either session. The first is scheduled Tuesday, March 25 and the second is Thursday, March 27. The sessions will be held in the board room at Riverview Healthcare Association unless attendance requires the sessions to be moved to the cafeteria. Both luncheons will begin at 12 noon.

This is the tenth in a series of luncheons being sponsored by Riverview Healthcare Association. They each start a few minutes past noon and are about 45 minutes in length, allowing women to use their lunch breaks to attend. The presentations are free and attendees can bring their own lunches or a lunch will be available at the sessions for $3. Pre-registration is required as seating is limited. Interested women can call 281-9405 for additional information or to pre-register.

To Last A Lifetime

PRAIRIE RAMBLING

Gretchen Bello

It is March ninth, the chickadees are singing spring songs, and we are glad it is a "melting day" at last. Today my husband, Gene, is cutting little ditches in the snow on the driveway to carry away the "melt." But the sun has little effect when I went cross-country skiing the snow was still so high I could see my feet reflected in the windows of our house!

This has been such a very long winter. So Gene and I took the time to write down some conversation bits that might show that a person is from Thief River Falls.

YOU MIGHT BE FROM THIEF RIVER FALLS IF:

1. Your house is on ripple.
2. If people ask you if its cold enough for you.
3. You know what lutefisk is.
4. You ship Liden's lefse to relatives.
5. You are struggling to get a big box out of your trunk and a fellow rushes over to help you.
6. Your town's fire hydrants have flags on them.
7. Your friends in Arizona tell you it is 100 degrees warmer there.
8. You talk about "snowcatting."
9. You snoweat "on the river."
10. You call it supper, not dinner.
11. You say, "What have you been doing, then?"
12. You say, "How are you, then?"
13. You say, "Oof ta."
14. You know which day the Club serves Klub.
15. You wave at another driver by lifting your index finger off the steering wheel.
16. You wear a jacket or cap that says "Prowler."
17. You ask, "When do you think the river will go out?"
18. You hear people selling baled alfalfa over the radio.
19. You can buy wild rice for two dollars a pound.

Do you have some "might be from Thief River" sayings? Send them to me at 2211 Nelson Drive.

US West gives $352,000 grant to schools and libraries

The Links project received a check on Monday for $352,000 to connect 17 libraries, two regional library systems and 15 schools to the Learning Network of Minnesota. Included are the Thief River Falls Public Library and Thief River Falls Independent School District #564.

The Links project is a collaborative effort of 87 school districts and 35 libraries in northwest Minnesota. The US West grant will be used to help fund an advanced telecommunications infrastructure that will provide enhanced access to worldwide information resources through the use of interactive television and the Internet.

Links is one of nine similar projects throughout Minnesota. Each project includes a data and video network that will connect libraries, schools and higher education institutions. The nine projects interconnect to comprise the Learning Network.

US West Area Manager Karen Jothen presented the $352,000 check at a special ceremony held at the Detroit Lakes Public Library. "US West is pleased to fund this important telecommunications project," said Jothen. "Links is doing a remarkable job providing schools and libraries in northwestern Minnesota with enhanced telecommunications services."

Links Coordinator Steve Jatczak said, "This US West grant will help provide the connectivity people in our schools, libraries and communities needed to access educational materials, share information, and increase collaboration. New video connections will provide educational opportunities not presently available to people in our communities."

The US West grant augments other funds received from a State of Minnesota grant and will allow Links school districts and libraries located in US West's service area to be connected to the Learning Network of Minnesota earlier than originally planned.

The project is one of 54 telecommunications projects involving more than 160 Minnesota schools, libraries and hospitals receiving grants from US West totaling almost $5 million.

Funding for the telecommunications projects is part of an agreement the company reached with the Minnesota Department of Public Service and the Minnesota Office of the Attorney General. The agreement was approved by the Minnesota Public Utilities Commission.

The telecommunications projects were selected by the Department of Public Service from a total of 155 proposals received. The recipients represent a cross-section of the geographic areas served by US West throughout Minnesota and contain a wide variety of applications.

Following is a list of the 15 schools, 17 libraries and two library systems that received the grant. Battle Lake (ISD #542); Bemidji (ISD #31), Breckenridge (ISD #846), Campbell-Tintah (ISD #852); Crookston (ISD #593), Detroit Lakes (ISD #22), Dilworth-Glyndon-Felton (ISD #2164), Fergus Falls (ISD #544), Hawley (ISD #150), Mahnomen (ISD #432); Moorhead (ISD #152), Morris (ISD #769), Roseau (ISD #682); Thief River Falls (ISD #564); Warroad (ISD #690), Northern Lights Library Network, Alexandria, Viking Library Network, Fergus Falls; Brainerd Public Library; Breckenridge Public Library; Cass Lake Community Library, Crookston Public Library, Detroit Lakes Public Library, Douglas County Library, Fergus Falls Public Library; Glenwood Public Library, Greenbush Public Library, Hawley Public Library, Mahnomen Public Library, Morris Public Library; Park Rapids Public Library; Roseau Public Library, Thief River Falls Public Library, Wadena City Library; and Warroad Public Library.

Pennington County Dive Rescue Team will hold a pancake breakfast Sunday, March 23, from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Eagles Club in Thief River Falls. Funds collected from the pancake breakfast will be used to help support the Dive Rescue team. It needs to raise $22,000 for special equipment. Tickets for the event are $3.50 for adults and $2.50 for children 10 and under.

Friends of Old Mill meeting on March 22

A "Friends of Old Mill" meeting will be held at 5 p.m. on Saturday, March 22, at Old Mill State Park in the shop building. Business to be discussed will be the organization of the Friends group, special events upcoming at the park, park projects, and office construction plans.

Last fall the contact station/office was sold and removed from the entrance of the park. Please attend the meeting to find out more about the future of Old Mill State Park.

Some puppies being held at the animal pound in Thief River Falls need a new home. For more information about these female puppies and more contact the Pennington County Law Enforcement Center at 681-6161.

ON THE OTHER HAND

Hans Heppner
Lincoln High School

A man who worked with my father invited us out to his cabin on the Boundary Waters near Ely. At first the main attraction of the trip, for me, was the stacks of old comic books and the single-shot 22 that stayed in the cabin. It wasn't long, however, before we were out on the lake, fishing for trout, and watching the water-birds.

The best lakes were restricted for motor boats, so we used a canoe. We'd paddle ourselves up and down lakes, through rivers, portages and the like. It seemed as if every lake we entered there was an island to accompany it. The most intriguing island we stopped on to investigate was called Holichek's Plantation. It had been logged countless years ago, but had been replanted, and now the island bristled with seventy foot, pencil straight white pines.

The shores were domed granite, gray stone dapples with veins of pink. Quartz shyly blinked out of cracks hidden by the shade. Immense pine trees, clustered like gossips. We hefted the canoe on shore and walked beneath the down curved arms of ancient pine trees to explore. It was like entering a soundless room. The forest floor made no sound against the heels of our boots. Inside, it was both an infinite atmosphere and an enclosing, lichenous box. The heavy snow ate all sound completely and replaced it with a cloying, primordial scent. The wind was forbidden to enter, and no birds dared sing. The megalithic white pines seemed all to lean inward without bending, and drown the light until it was a corpse-white glow.

I caught myself holding my breath, fearing a swift punishment from the essence that found that island in its maw. Great saber tooth tiger claw gouges ran the length of a grain outcropping. My Dad said that they were from the glaciers that ground over this land thousands of years ago. I then recognized the vibrations that haunted this place. This solitary island was the cemetery for long dead glaciers. It was their voiceless dirge that thrummed with audible silence between the wooden sentinels. It was their weight that pressed relentlessly through the alleys and over the forest floor. I had the feeling that I was standing in front of something taller than the sky. There was a wave of chill that betrayed the summer air. I wanted to leave, but the same feeling that prompted me to leave also grasped me tightly.

I began to realize something. It was the weight of the water as well as the ice that pressed down on the island. Right now, I thought of how this same region must have looked after the glacier and lake had crushed and drowned the life from the earth. The post glacier flooding would have leveled anything the glacier didn't. I imagined the earth, exposed and raw, robbed of any cover with Granite and Greenstone protruding like broken bones from the ground.

The only thing marring that flat ground in northwestern Minnesota would have been the tiny puddles of glacier melt. I had a vision of a completely smooth, silt covered, desert-like landscape. No dunes, however, just a virtually unending expanse of undisturbed brown mud, baking in the now warming sun. Natures last change to repopulate evaporating from the saturated dirt. Somewhere though, in a deeper puddle, a surviving sprout popped its head from the pool. A spot of green alone in a desolate landscape. Just like the island in the center of a dead-blue lake.

I was transfixed by this mental scene until the sun itself laid low, remembering, and all of us trod to canoe and left the green graveyard.

Hospice seeks advisory council representatives

The advisory council serves as advocates for Hospice; assists the office in meeting its marketing goals; provides feedback, provides professional expertise and/or technical assistance, serves as the primary volunteers in the organization; and helps with the implementation of events for the service area.

The advisory council meets four times a year, with the next meeting scheduled for Wednesday, March 26, at 213 North LaBree. Terms are for two years.

Hospice provides physical, emotional, spiritual and grief support for the terminally ill in a setting of their choice. The Thief River Falls service area includes Pennington, Red Lake and Marshall counties.

If you are interested in serving on the advisory council, contact program manager Marinell Waterworth or public relations assistant Kim Quade at 218-681-6189.

SPEAKING OF

Sherry LaCoursiere

... Preparing for the Flood

I guess it takes the threat of a flood to get some of us to do something about the mess in our basements. That's what it took for me. I just thought of all of the old junk down there that needed sorting and throwing away turning into sopping wet old junk that had to be sorted and thrown away, and it got me off my duff and down to the basement in no time at all.

I started cleaning my basement last weekend. I don't know when I will finish - it may take a few years to get it all done. I didn't get down to the nitty gritty stuff, like all of the old games and puzzles we have (I can't bear to throw them away - they have been too much fun over the years), my collection of green glass (it took me years to collect - never mind that it is junk and I got most of it at rummage sales - I like it), my large old cooking pots, crocks, casseroles and roasters (necessary for holidays), the dozens of canning and jelly jars (I used a very few of them this year for pickles - the first time in many, many years, so I'd better keep them all), the piles of National Geographic magazines (everyone has these - they were handy for my children's school scrap books and will be handy for my grandchildren's school scrap books - never mind that the capital of Turkey is Constantinople in one of them), the old stuffed toys and trinkets that the children have packed up and not taken with them when they left home (I don't have the heart to get rid of them). All of this wonderful stuff is packed and tucked away quite neatly, even though it might be considered junk.

It was the real junk I needed to clean out, like the boxes and boxes of my old clothes (in tiny sizes I cannot believe I wore and know I will never wear again and wouldn't even if I could because they are so out of style - but I know the minute I throw them out they will come back into style and I will lose enough weight to fit into them), and even more boxes and boxes filled with things labeled "rags for rugs," "rags for quilts," "silky-type fabrics," "t-shirting fabrics" and "poly fabrics" (so I'm a quilter - never mind I have enough fabric to provide at least six quilters with a lifetime of supplies and I already have many more boxes of really nice cotton quilting fabric in a closet upstairs).

It was real junk that needed getting rid of, like plant pots half filled with crusty dirt and trailing spindly dried stalks of some kind of flowers - very dead (but maybe I can revive them), a variety of old curtains that I can never bear to part with because "they might come in handy some day when I want something 'new,'" rugs that were more rag than rug, old bedspreads and hole-y blankets that I will never use because I now have home-made quilts enough for at least two for every bed in the house and the sofas too, ancient silk flowers that were crushed and dirty (but might be restored somehow), enough old ice cream pails and margarine containers to stock several freezers, gallon paint cans with one inch or less of paint dried in the bottom (but I might need that color) and stiffened paint brushes (but maybe I could soften them), old shower curtains that had been washed and folded and tucked away (just in case I wanted to use them some time) and were now stuck into crisp rectangles that could never be unfolded, old bathtub mats (why?). Why, indeed, any of it?

The problem is that I kept so much of my junk. It is neatly repacked and up off the basement floor, but I was hoping that once I started throwing things out, I would be able to continue to clean up the entire house. That doesn't seem to be possible. I'm afraid that I have too many things that have too many memories attached to them and I may never be able to get rid of them.

I'm just glad we don't live in an area where the flood might be more than just water in the basement and might actually come into the rest of the house. I don't know think I could ever throw out all the memories I have on the other two floors of my house. Besides, I'm too tired after cleaning out that basement of mine.

Local students get Close-up of Washington, D.C.

Twenty Lincoln High School students will participate in the Close Up Foundation program in Washington, D.C., March 23-30.

While Congress debates the national priorities, and President Clinton tries to set the national agenda, the media drawn attention to campaign finance. Through it all, a total of 143 high school students and teachers representing nine Minnesota high schools will have a front row seat as they travel here next week to learn first hand how American government operates and participate in the Close Up Foundation government studies program. The schools include: Annandale, Montgomery-Lonsdale, Waseca, Sebeka, Chisholm, Virginia, Dover-Eyota, Greenbush-Middle River, and Lincoln High School in Thief River Falls.

Charlie and Kittie Connell will lead the local students including Kristin Chrzanowski, Joshua Clark, Pauline Cullen, Reid Fronland, Danielle Goulet, Kate Ihle, Heidi Johnson, Paul Kopari, Amy Mattson, Melissa Meyer, Alex Morken, Stacy Narlock, Chad Nordhagen, Tinesha Porter, Jessica Preum, Kelsy Stalboerger, Laura Steiger, Teresa Swanson, Trisha Swanson all of Thief River Falls, and Jennifer Vad of Goodridge.

During their week in Washington, the students will attend seminars with members of Congress, and meet with a representative of the Washington press corps, lobbyists, government officials and political figures to learn more about the federal process. Time will also be included to tour the city, to visit local universities and for cultural activities.

The local participants will be mixed with students from other areas of the country in workshop groups where they will have daily discussions and activities focused on current events and on the governing process.

"We offer the students the opportunity to see Washington as a living city by taking them into the buildings they often see only on television and having them question law- and policy-makers they may only read about. Through the experience we have found that they return home with an interest in both national and community affairs. They want to become involved," said Steve Janger, president of the Close Up Foundation.

Janger said that one of the main goals of the program is to show students that each person can have an impact on the community.

A teacher from each of the Minnesota schools will accompany the students not as a chaperone but as a participant in a program designed to acquaint them with current issues and innovative educational methods.

Close Up provides fellowships for teachers and for low-income students through a Congressional appropriation, with additional support provided by a number of organizations.

The Close Up Foundation is a non-profit, nonpartisan organization that provides first hand opportunities to learn about the democratic process and the role of the individual. Since 1971, more than 450,000 students, teachers and others have taken part in Close Up Washington programs.

Cross-country skiers will have an opportunity to ski by the light of the moon or candle. The event at Old Mill State Park will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. Saturday, March 22. A one-mile long course will be lighted by candles, and if lucky, the moon. Individuals interested in participating are asked to bring a snack to share. Hot apple cider will be provided.

Great Minnesota Ski passes are required for all participants, ages 16-65, and may be purchased at the park. Daily passes for ski trails are $1 with one and three-year passes also available. Skis are now available to rent at the park office. Approximately 20 sets of skis, boots and poles in a variety of sizes from children's to adult's may be rented for $6.50 a set. Call or write to the park to reserve sets. The event will be cancelled if dangerously low temperatures or wind chills occur.

The picnic shelter will be the warming house for the winter months for park visitors. Snowmobiles may ride down to the shelter and warm up this winter. Please do not snowmobile on the cross-country ski trails, it destroys the skiers' track.

Vehicle permits are required to enter the park. The 1997 Annual Permits may be purchased and will allow entry at 64 Minnesota State Parks from now until December 31.

Please call 218-437-8174 or write Old Mill State Park, Route 1, Box 43, Argyle, MN 56713 for more information.

Thief River Falls Archery Club held a benefit indoor tournament to benefit the Thief River Falls Area Food Shelf. They collected 50 pounds of food items and donated $130 to the local Area Food Shelf. Casketbearers will be Keith Erickson, Ray Feltman, Jeff Lannoye, Al Prigge, Edward Uggerud and Rodney Uggerud. Honorary casketbearers will be all of Tilda's friends and relatives.

Tilda "Tillie" Christine Swanson was born on November 29, 1900 in Midland Township, Pembina County, North Dakota, the daughter of the late Gust and Gustava (Mattson) Swanson. She was baptized on December 16, 1900 in the Auburn Lutheran Church and later confirmed in the same parish on November 28, 1915. She attended a rural school in Pembina County, North Dakota and Tillie grew to adulthood there. She worked as a cook on the cook cars for Mattson Threshing Crew. On January 23, 1930 Tillie was united in marriage to John Uggerud in Grafton, ND. The couple farmed near Grafton, ND until 1950 when they moved to Rocksbury Township, Pennington County and farmed. The couple later moved to Rosewood and farmed. On April 1, 1959 John retired and they moved into Thief River Falls. Tillie has worked a number of years as a cook, housekeeper and an aid at Valley Home in Thief River Falls. She moved into Valley Home in 1986 and to Oakland Park Nursing Home in 1992.

She had been a member of the St. Hilaire Lutheran Parish and joined Our Saviour's Free Lutheran Church and was active in its Ladies Aid following their move to Thief River Falls. She was also a life member of the VFW Auxiliary.

She is survived by daughters Virginia (Roy) Hakkanen of Virginia, and Martha (Jarvis) Torgerson of Thief River Falls, 12 grandchildren, 22 great-grandchildren; sisters Gertie Lundeen of Grafton, ND, and Lavern Wagner of Argyle, brother-in-law Fred Lundeen of Oklee, and sister-in-law Sally Swanson of Grafton, ND.

She was preceded in death by her husband John, grandson Dean Torgerson, one great-grandson, parents, sisters Birdie Sondeland and Evelyn Lundeen; and brothers Oscar Swanson, Edward Swanson, and Gerhard Swanson.

John Tveitbakk, 76

Clearbrook – John Tveitbakk, 76, died Wednesday, March 12 at his home. Arrangements were with Cease Family Funeral Home of Bagley.

Funeral services were held Saturday, March 15 at the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church of Clearbrook with Rev. Richard Walvatne officiating. Burial will be in Silver Creek Cemetery of Clearbrook in the spring.

John was born November 10, 1920 in Gully, the son of Bjorn and Ida (Aasen) Tveitbakk. He attended school in the Gully area. He worked on the home farm and was united in marriage to Irene Shelquist on September 12, 1942 in Clearbrook. He was drafted into the Army Air Force in 1942. He was stationed in the Aleutian Islands. He was honorably discharged in 1946. He was the shop foreman for Case Implement in Grand Froks, ND until his retirement in 1983 when they moved from Grand Forks, ND to Clearbrook.

He was a member of the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church of Clearbrook. He was a member of the American Legion, VFW #1260 of Bemidji and the Order of the Eagles in Bemidji. He enjoyed hunting, fishing, wood working, and especially making clocks.

He is survived by wife Irene of Clearbrook; brother Olaf (Harriet) Tveitbakk of Clearbrook, sisters-in-law Lorraine Tveitbakk of Clearbrook, and Verna (Al) Harvath of Richfield; several neces and nephews; and special friend Josh Tollefson of Leonard.

He was preceded in death by his parents, and brothers Hlaver, Louie and Thor.

Pain may be eliminated for millions

(SPECIAL)— A drug that is exciting researchers in the treatment of pain has been formulated into a new product known as "Arthur Itis®" and is being called a "Medical Miracle" by some, in the treatment of debilitating conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, painful muscle aches, joint aches, simple backache, bruises, and more. Although the mechanism of action is unclear, experiments indicate that Arthur Itis® relieves pain by first selectively attracting, and then destroying the messenger chemical which carries pain sensations to the brain, thus eliminating pain in the affected area. Arthur Itis® is an odorless, greaseless, non-staining cream and is available immediately without a prescription and is guaranteed to work or your money back.

Gerry "Mc" Kilner, representative of Bridgeman's/Land O'Lakes in Thief River Falls, dished out green ice cream to students at Challenger Elementary school in Thief River Falls on Monday, March 17. Assisting him is JoAnn Meyers, kitchen helper. This is the second year Bridgeman's/Land O'Lakes have dished out ice cream at the school. This year they served ice cream at Franklin Middle School, Challenger Elementary School and St. Bernard's.

Sentences handed down in court Mon.

Mark Steven Grushe and Michael William Lyle Chapin of Thief River Falls were sentenced Monday on felony charges.

Grushe, a 17-year-old male adjudicated as an adult, was sentenced on a felony conviction for theft of a motor vehicle. Judge Dennis Murphy sentenced Grushe to serve 105 days in jail and pay a fine and costs totaling $270. He was also ordered to make restitution in the amount of $400. He was placed on supervised probation for five years, given credit for time already served, and allowed to work his fine off on STS.

Chapin, 20, was sentenced on a felony conviction for theft over $500. Judge Dennis Murphy sentenced him to serve 90 days in jail and to serve 56 days STS for his jail sentence. He was also ordered to pay a fine and fees totaling $270. He was placed on supervised probation for five years.

Several animals being held in TRF city pound

Several animals are being held in the Thief River Falls Animal Pound. They can be claimed by their owner or claimed by anyone willing to care for the pets. Each animal will be kept for a minimum of five days from the date of impoundment. Pound fees, license fees and any other expense incurred by the department will be assessed prior to release.

Animals held in the animal pound include: a gray cat caught March 16 in the 800 block of Smith Crocker, a brown female pup and a black female pup caught March 17, a brown pup caught March 12 near Greendale Manor, an orange cat caught March 12 in St. Hilaire, and a black male cocker spaniel caught March 15.

MPCA revising feedlot permits for 1,000 units

Officials of the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency (MPCA) have announced that the feedlot staff will be revising the proposed General National Pollutant Discharge System (NPDES) permit for feedlots.

The NPDES general permit is intended for feedlots with 1,000 or more animal units. (One steer equals one animal unit, one finishing hog equals 0.4 animal units, one dairy cow equals 1.4 animal units, etc.)

The permit will assist producers in reaching compliance with the Federal Clean Water Act regulations and will also help to protect state waters, according to the MPCA. The NPDES permit was recently put on a 30-day public notice period to encourage citizens to read and make written comments on the proposed permit.

The MPCA is evaluating and will respond to the comments received during the public comment period. Among the issues that will be considered in the permit revision are hydrogen sulfide monitoring, requirements for proper land application of manure and notifying citizens regarding expansions or new construction of feedlot facilities.

In addition to the public comment period, the MPCA held six informational meetings on the permit in various parts of the state last spring and summer. The public was encouraged to ask questions and provide either written or oral comments concerning the permit at the informational meetings.

The draft NPDES permit will be revised and placed on a 30-day public notice period this spring.

Otter Tail Power Company will pay tuition and transportation for eight teachers from schools in its service area to attend a three-day seminar about the Upper Midwest's lignite coal and energy industry.

Dates are June 11-13, 18-20 or 25-27 at Bismarck State College in North Dakota. Those completing the course will receive one graduate credit.

Activities consist of classroom presentations—including environmental effects—and mine and plant tours. Teachers will receive curriculum materials for future use with their students.

To apply, call 218-739-8567 or write Corporate Communications, Otter Tail Power Company, P. O. Box 496, Fergus Falls, MN 56537. Deadline is March 31.

Snowbird Sighting

Spring is truly on its way to Plummer and some of the first snowbirds have arrived like Lorena Westerlund of Plummer. Howard and Margaret Greenwald drove to the Cities on Thursday and spent the night at John and Mary Greenwalds home. On Friday Margaret and Howard spent the night by James Jargers home and on Saturday Lorina drove back with Howard and Margaret. Lorena spent two months with her son at Hilton Head Island, SC, where she had a wonderful time with the mild temps, sightseeing, enjoying family and relaxing. Welcome home Lorina.

Duane Waller of Minot, ND, David and son Daniel of Harris spent the weekend with Roger and Ray Waller family and Herb and Esther Wallers.

Happy Birthday Fern

There was another fun filled party held on Saturday to help Fern Eskeli celebrate her birthday. Her party was held at the River Road Casino in rural Thief River Falls. We all enjoyed a delicious breakfast and then Fern opened her many cards and gifts including a gift from friend Bunny DuChamp that was unable to attend and Edna Hyde made the birthday cake. Attending the party were Amelia Eskeli, Eddie Eskeli, Hazel Ollie, Ruth Wilkens, Fern Whitney, Kelly Krueger, Edna Hyde, Lucille and Goodwin Kvasager, Esther and Herb Wallers and Ron and Kathy Junnau. Sure is great that there are so many nice people in Plummer to keep the parties going. Ha! Ha! Happy Birthday Fern and many many more.

Update on Burnel and Effie Byer. I received a nice card Friday from Effie and Bunnie and they are still in Mercedes, TX, where they are having a great winter. They said it was over 90 degrees last Saturday (too bad Ferdie can't send them our snow!) They have had a nice winter enjoying family, old and new friends and will be starting on their way back to Plummer by the end of March and then Effie will take over writing our news again.

Best Wishes to Wilhelmina

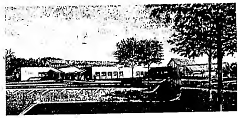
Tuesday afternoon some of the ladies from Plummer met at the home of Wilhelmine Galloni to help her celebrate her birthday. The ladies brought along gifts and goodies for a great birthday luncheon. There was a birthday cake and they sang happy birthday to their dear friend. Attending were Clara Hesse, Evelyn Teirve, Lorinn Westerlund, Margaret Greenwald, Charlotte Leining, Edna Hyde, Amelia Eskeli, Ruth Wilkens and daughter Anne DeHale. Wilhelmina we all wish you many more happy birthdays.

Plummer Children See Spot

Thursday evening the young children (0-5 years) went to the Plummer school for a fun night of story telling, drawing and games. The children also received treats and the big event of the evening was when Spot the dog came in to visit and play together with the children. There was a nice turn out of children and among them were the Gerardy children. It was a first day at school for Alysa Krueger and she even had art work to take home. The evening was put on by E.C.F.E. (Early Childhood Family Education). The next evening E.C.F.E. will meet at school on March 20th when they will have a teddy bear clinic. Sounds like a lot of fun so come on and join the fun. Bring in your teddy bear for a check up and to get weighed.

Happy Birthday Girlfriends

Sunday, Fern and Rosemary Eskeli enjoyed a great birthday lunch at the Third Base in Brooks. After everyone finished lunch then came the dessert with candles a blaze. The birthday gals blew out the candles and happy birthday was sung. Fern's birthday is March 8th and sister-in-law Rosemary's birthday is March 9th. Joining in on the fun was Melvin, David, Steve, Beckie and mother Eskeli and Ron and Kathy Juneau.



A New Direction In Healthcare

The physicians of Dakota Clinic who live and work in Thief River Falls have served the people of northwestern Minnesota since 1951.

Pribula leads TRF swimmers

Chris Pribula was named the most valuable, Zach Olson was selected the hardest worker, Rory Hoven was voted most improved, and Matt Gustafson received the Coaches Award Monday during the Thief River Falls boys high school swimming banquet.

J.J. Efta and Pribula were presented with captains plaques for 1996-97, while Olson and Nate Keller were elected captains for 1997-98.

Athletic letters went to seniors Josh Engevik, Mickey McEnelly, Alexander Kosolapov, William Packard, Vladimir Poponin, Aaron Sjaaheim, Efta; Gustafson, and Pribula, Keller, a junior, sophomore Colin Browning; and freshmen Sam Kezar, Hoven and Olson.

Team-wise, Thief River Falls had trouble matching up with most of the competition, but coach Brian Olson said the Prowlers had a group of individuals that presented a formidable challenge for the opposition.

Lack of numbers limited the Prowlers' success as a team.

"It was an interesting year," said Olson, who served as Thief River Falls co-head coach along with Shon Thompson. "If we could have told people, we'll swim our top two against your top two, the results would have been a lot different. But we just didn't have the numbers. We had one of the smallest teams, but nobody came into the pool and pushed us around."

It was a team that met or surpassed most expectations, according to Olson. "Our kids worked hard," he said. "Most made tremendous strides. Almost all of them had time drops at the end of the year – which was a great way for the seniors to go out, and a good incentive for the younger kids."

Graduation will take 10 of the Prowlers' 12 sectional entries, leaving a major void in the Prowlers' program. "We losing most of our depth," said Olson. "We're losing numbers, but we still have some quality swimmers coming back. We've got lots of speed coming up, but we need to work on the strokes – backstroke, breaststroke, butterfly. The kids coming back have lots of raw speed, but they need to get some experience and learn how to use that speed."

Increasing the numbers will be a priority, according to Olson. "We need more kids, especially at the middle school level. I'm going to recruit those kids hard. I don't want to steal kids away from other winter sports, but I'm going to be looking for the kids who are not involved in basketball, hockey or wrestling. We want kids to come out and try the sport. I promise, I won't let anybody drown."

The Prowlers' 1-4 dual meet record included a win over Crookston and losses to Bemidji (twice), Fargo North, and Moorhead.

Casey Skjerven and Jeremy Swanson shared the most improved player award. Swanson was also named Mr. Defense and Skjerven was selected Mr. Hustle.

Joining the seniors as athletic letter recipients were juniors Kyle Waterworth, Cody Huschle, Justin Walseth, Michael Morris, Anthony Klotter, Casey Skjerven, Swanson, Hendricks and camera operator Belle Lenius, along with sophomores Collin Schafer, Todd Christensen, Kelly Cota, and student manager Brendon Engen.

Thief River Falls went 7-16 this winter – a season that required a line-up overhaul following personnel losses that found the Prowlers trying to fill the void left by the departure of two senior starters during the year.

"We faced some adversity," acknowledged Thief River Falls head coach Scott Brekke. "What we started the year with is not what we finished with. We had to find some new combinations, and it took time for those people to feel comfortable in their new roles."

The losing record wasn't for lack of effort, pointed out Brekke. "We were in a lot of those games. We had some hard-working kids. They gave us a chance to win most games – and that's all you can ask."

A major downfall was the Prowlers' 39 percent field goal shooting, pointed out Brekke. Although the defense did the job (the opposition shot only 38 percent), the ever-increasing number of missed shots undermined the Thief River Falls efforts.

"We didn't shoot the ball very well," said Brekke. "We've got to shoot better if we're going to be competitive. The rest of it doesn't really matter if you can't put the ball in the hole. Thirty-nine percent just won't do it."

After a 1-3 start, Thief River Falls came up with three wins and the title at the Prowlers' Russ Smith Northwest Holiday Classic. But then came an 0-for-January and an 11-game losing streak. They finished with three wins in their final four regular season games, but lost to Crookston 65-54 in the opening round North Sub-Section 8AAA tournament semifinals.

Student managers recognized

Jared Brandt and Courtney Skjerven were the only seniors listed on the boys high school basketball roster, but when Thief River Falls head coach Scott Brekke bid farewell to the upperclassmen at Monday's annual team banquet, he also included student managers Reid Froiland, Jessica Brekke and Kylie Peterson.

Unsung, behind-the-scenes workers, student managers can be major contributors to the operation of a team, and Scott Brekke wanted to make sure his trio was recognized – especially Froiland.

Kylie Brekke and Peterson have worked with Scott Brekke since they were sophomores. They did much of the practice preparation work, and charted statistical information during the course of the games.

"Jessica and Kylie were great to have around," offered Scott Brekke. "They did a great job. They were very reliable."

Froiland was in charge of the manager crew, which also included sophomore Brendon Engen. He has been with Scott Brekke since the ninth grade, and also worked in the same capacity with Thief River Falls football coach Jeff Mumm.

"They all added a lot of good things to the program," said Scott Brekke. "Reid was pretty much in charge. He was the head guy."

While basketball coaches dream of dominating centers and game-controlling point guards, they could also do well to wish for managers like Froiland. "He's a one-in-a-lifetime-type student," said Scott Brekke. "He was more like a student-coach instead of a student manager."

A whiz with numbers and computers, Froiland directed the game-day preparation for the managers, and supervised the statistical information that he converted into multiple sheets of computer information.

"Reid is phenomenal with the computer," pointed out Brekke. "He takes a lot of pride in his work, and the kids know what he can do. They really respect him."

And so do the coaches.

Gators win third place game

A strong start propelled Badger/Greenbush-Middle River to a 73-52 win over Grygla-Gatzke Friday night in the Section 8A boys high school basketball tournament third place game at the University of Minnesota-Crookston.

The Gators, who lost a heartbreaking 49-48 semifinal decision to Fertile-Beltrami the night before, were up 20-5 at the end of the first quarter and were never challenged. It was 36-18 at halftime and 53-37 through three quarters.

"I had no clue what was going to happen," said Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Eldon Sparby, wondering how his team would perform in a third place game after losing a one-point semifinal game. "But the kids came out loose and played good basketball. They passed the ball extremely well, got good shots and played pretty well defensively. It was fun to watch – at least on our side."

The Sub-Section 32A champion Gators finished the year 16-11. The Sub-Section 31A champion Eagles, who lost to Red Lake 52-41 in the semifinals, ended 17-8. The two teams split a pair of regular season North Border Conference games.

Four Gators hit double figures, led by Jeremy Vacura with 15 points, Jed Geer and Aaron Rislov 14 each, and Adam Holmes 13. Philip Brateng scored a game-high 18 points to lead the Eagles, while Jim Engelstad netted 15.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River had a 50 percent 24-for-48 shooting night and cashed in on 22 of 29 free throw opportunities. Grygla-Gatzke

Northland men select co-MVP

Kenta McGaughy and Hassan Jihad were named co-recipients of the most valuable player award as the Northland Community and Technical College men's basketball team handed out post-season honors recently.

McGaughy (Denver, CO) and Jihad (Detroit, MI) are both 6-3 sophomores.

Other awards went to 6-1 sophomore Macy Ford (Detroit, MI), selected as the Pioneers' most improved player; and 6-4 freshman Ikenna Martin (Appleton, WI), voted the team's top newcomer.

Area high school graduates Josh Whitlock (Kittson County North), Kyle Halvorson (Marshall County Central) and Nic Thompson (Warroad) were elected captains of the 1997-98 Pioneers.

Northland, after a Northern Division championship and state tournament trip the year before, slipped 10-12 this winter and did not make a post-season appearance.

Was it a disappointing season? "Yes and no," said Northland coach Mark Dannhoff. "Going into the season, our expectations were high. The won-loss record is not a major concern, but not making the playoffs was very disappointing."

A tougher non-conference schedule led to the sub-.500 finish overall, pointed out Dannhoff, while inconsistency was the Pioneers' biggest obstacle in Minnesota Community College Conference play. "It was a roller-coaster season," he explained. "Every time we got on a roll, we would get knocked back, and it would take us three games to regroup. Part of that, I think, was because of inexperience on the part of our freshmen."

The Pioneers' 5-7 showing in the MCCC began with wins over Mesabi and Vermilion. Northland then lost successive starts against Hibbing, Rainy River and Central Lakes. They bounced back to knock off Fergus Falls and Rainy River, but lost the next three to Hibbing, Vermilion and Mesabi. Northland kept its state tournament hopes alive with a home court win over Central Lakes, but fell out of contention with a final-start loss at Fergus Falls.

McGaughy, Jihad and Ford were the only second-year players on the 1996-97 Northland roster. Martin, John Harris (Surrattsville, MD), Marcus Merriett (Washington, DC), Jon Hager (Grand Forks, ND), and Jason Shofner (Denver, CO) were the top producing freshmen.

Dannhoff, who has coached the Pioneers the past five years, announced last week he would be leaving Northland to pursue his career goal of coaching a four-year school.

Stenseth, Kopari lead TRF girls in point production

Kim Stenseth and Nicole Kopari led the 1996-97 Thief River Falls girls high school basketball team in scoring this winter, according to statistical information released recently by head coach Jeff Loe.

Stenseth, a 5-9 senior, finished with 415 points, averaging 18 points per game. The three-year varsity starter completed her high school basketball career No. 3 on the Prowlers' all-time scoring chart with 1,059 points.

Kopari, a 6-0 sophomore, finished with 287 points and a 12.5 scoring average. She also led the team with 7.8 rebound and 4.0 assists per game.

YOUTH WRESTLING

Saturday was a busy day for the Thief River Falls Takedown Club youth wrestling program, with three Thief River Falls wrestlers competing in a regional qualifying tournament at Alexandria, 24 at the Crookston Jaycees Sub-Sectional and 19 more at the Fertile-Beltrami Booster Invitational. Top four finishers in each weight group at the regional meet advance to the state tournament in Rochester April 5.

This weekend the program will have wrestlers at Mahnomen Friday for the Cougar Open beginning at 5:30 p.m. (weigh-ins from 4-5 p.m.) and at either the Warren Invitational or the Willmar West Sectional (for first and second place finishers at the Crookston Sub-Sectional) on Saturday. Warren weigh-ins are from 8-9:30 a.m., and Willmar registration will be at 8 a.m. Qualifiers at the Willmar event will advance to the state tournament in St. Paul April 19.

Trip to Texas

Lois and Ernest Swanson left February 22, 1997 for a Texas ten day vacation. Lois's brother Clair Jones and wife were their hosts at their home near Boerne, TX. Swanson's accompanied the Jones to their church service at the First Baptist Church in Boerne, TX. The congregation was in the process of moving into their two million dollar building project by Easter Sunday.

Monday the 24th of February, Lois and her sister-in-law Allena Jones toured an orchid and an African Violet Greenhouse. They also toured St. Peter and Apostle Catholic Church which has been on National TV News in February. It is a very old church, being built out of native lime stone with twin bell towers and sitting high on a hill on Kronkosky Street.

Tuesday while it was raining Jones and Swanson's drove 60 miles south of Boerne to Mora, TX and visited their niece Tamara Trant and her children Jennifer, Jody, Jamie and Joshua. Tuesday evening surprise guests at Clair's for supper was Wanda (their sister) and Reed Weinberg of Plainfield, IA. They were enroute to Arizona after having spent the past two months at Alamo, TX.

Wednesday Swanson's motored northward one hundred seventy miles to Pottsville, TX and visited Dorothy Svanjord, a former Highlanding township resident until four years ago. Dorothy sends greetings to her Minnesota friends. The February 20th rainfall of seven inches had caused the creek a meandering stream to rise 15 feet and flood the area from Dorothy's garage to the creek about a city block away.

Friday Allena Jones and Lois Swanson drove over to Seguin, TX, and toured the campus of Texas Lutheran University where Nancy Zaske (the Goodridge Parish interns wife) graduated in 1988.

Saturday, Lois and Ernie and Allena Jones attended the North Hills area African Violet Show in San Antonio, TX. There were 270 exhibits of violets from the wee miniatures to the Supremes larger than a dinner plate. Ernest accompanied Clair Jones, a carleston engineer, on two business trips totaling 500 miles on two different days.

Ernie, Lois and Clair Jones toured the Boerne Agriculture Museum. There were many old tractors, combines and other machinery. Also the restored blacksmith shop and wood shop with tools 150 years old.

Clair and Allena hosted a farewell supper on Monday evening, March 3. Their guests were Clair's children Brenda and Michael Hodge and Brian and Mattie, Brette Jones and daughter Clar Eleander, Marc and Jennifer Jones and Bryon Jones and Lois and Ernest Swanson.

Tuesday, March 4, Lois and Ernie came by plane to Thief River Falls to be greeted by the March 3 storm dumping 10 inches of snow. Nancy and Lowell brought their parents to their home.

Florence Easthouse, Lois Swanson, Michelle Preslebnik, Nancy Zaske and Ruth Peters met at Faith Lutheran Church Tuesday and assembled quilts for Lutheran World Relief or will they go to the Ohio River flood victims.

Officers investigate accidents, runaways

Law enforcement officials responded to a number of accidents and a couple of incidents involving runaways.

Accidents. On March 12 at 3:40 p.m. police received a report of an accident on Davidson Drive. Jeffrey Allen Gilbert, Thief River Falls, was driving a pickup east on Davidson, and James Keith Blix, Thief River Falls, was driving west on Davidson when the vehicles collided on an icy curve in the road. Damages were estimated at $900 to the vehicle driven by Gilbert, and $1,000 to the Blix vehicle.

On March 13 at 12:59 p.m. the sheriff's department received a report of an accident on State Aid 3, seven miles west of St. Hilaire. Steve E. Werschulz, IL, was traveling east on State Aid 3 when he lost control and the vehicle rolled. A passenger in the vehicle, Steven John Chalos, CA, was ejected from the vehicle. He landed in snow and was uninjured. Damage to the vehicle driven by Werschulz was estimated at $1,000.

On March 16 at 2:55 p.m. the sheriff's department received a report of an accident on State Aid 3, one half mile east of County road 12. Nada Lea Parisien, Belcourt, ND, was driving a car west on State Aid 3, lost control and the vehicle rolled in the north ditch. She was checked for bumps and scratches by EMS of Thief River Falls. The vehicle she was driving was considered a total loss.

Disorderly conduct. On March 16 at 11:03 p.m. police received a complaint about an individual refusing to leave a local bar. Deb Szklarski, Thief River Falls, argued with officers and was finally cited for disorderly conduct.

Criminal sexual conduct. On March 16 police charged Sherlin James Myers, Trail, 19, with criminal sexual conduct in the third degree. The charges stems from contact with a 15-year-old runaway from Clearwater. On March 14, police received information from Clearwater police that the runaway was at a location in Thief River Falls. Upon contacting the residents at that location the runaway was not located. Police in Clearwater contacted police in Thief River Falls, two more times and police checked the residence a couple of times with no more luck. But upon the third of fourth check, Myers was located at the residence and the 15-year-old female runaway was located at the top of a closet. Myers was charged with criminal sexual conduct in the third degree. Victoria Lee (Myers) Wishard, Thief River Falls was charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor and obstructing legal process. Patrick Thomas Cain, Thief River Falls, was charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor and obstructing legal process.

Contributing. On March 11 police looking for a runaway went to a local residence. The residents allowed a search and said she didn't know where the runaway was. Officers found the youth hiding inside a closet. Holly Marie Nygaard, 19, Thief River Falls, was cited for contributing to the delinquency of a minor as a result of harboring a runaway. The runaway was cited for criminal damage to property as a result of another separate incident.

Assault. On March 10 police received a report that a 14-year-old male was harassing a young girl by allegedly calling her, hitting and pushing her. The 14-year-old male was faces charges in juvenile intake with terroristic threats and assault.

On March 17 at 12:48 p.m. police received a report from a man saying he had been assaulted. During the incident he received a black eye and a broken nose. Lance Joshua Hanson, 25, Thief River Falls, was charged with third degree assault. Hanson allegedly says he's on medication and doesn't remember what happened. The incident allegedly started over some clothing the victim was wearing.

Driving while intoxicated. On March 13 at 10:55 p.m. Gina Olise Weippert, 27, Red Lake Falls, was charged with driving while intoxicated, refusal to test, and disorderly conduct. She allegedly got verbally abusive and into a scuffle with officers while at the law enforcement center.

These reports include names of individuals charged, arrested or cited with various crimes and offenses by police, the sheriff's department or other law enforcement officials. Depending upon the circumstances of a case, charges can be, and sometimes are, changed or dropped by law enforcement officials or attorneys even before the case reaches court. Readers should also realize that under the American system of jurisprudence, individuals charged with crimes are innocent until proven guilty of those crimes in a court of law.

The Second Sect

Adeline Olson and Thief River Falls Mayor Robert Reeve went to bat for Muscular Dystrophy Association in its "Lock Up" held Wednesday in Thief River Falls. Annette Thorson, district director for MDA, said she expected about 25 people to participate in the Lock Up and raise over $4,300 in pledges for MDA. All of those funds are spent locally, she said. In the Thief River Falls area, Thorson said there are about 25 people with Muscular Dystrophy in the area. The funds raised here are spent for clinic visits, wheel chairs, summer camp for kids, and flu shots. The Lock Up was held at Cellular One in Thief River Falls, which is located in the 400 block of LaBree Avenue. Thorson said Cellular One provided space to conduct the event and the phones for participants to call friends for pledges. She said Cellular One has become a regional sponsor for MDA.

CRP sign-up No. 15 runs through Friday, March 28

Wally Sparby, state executive director of the Minnesota USDA Farm Service Agency has announced that the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) sign-up No. 15 started Monday, March 3, and will run through Friday, March 28. Eligible producers can sign up at their local Farm Service Agency (FSA) office.

During the sign-up period, producers of eligible cropland and those with CRP-1 contracts expiring on September 30, 1997, may apply to participate in the CRP. Payment terms and cost share assistance are determined by each contract offer. The term of the contract must run for 10 to 15 years.

Under the CRP, farmers and ranchers receive a rental fee and cost-share assistance from the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) in return for converting environmentally sensitive acreage to desirable environmental practices. Planting permanent vegetative cover on highly erodible land and certain other acreages can improve water and air quality as well as benefitting many species of wildlife.

The USDA recently published new regulations governing the CRP, under which only the most environmentally sensitive land may be enrolled. The purpose of the change is to maximize environmental benefits and keep the most productive land working.

Acreage currently under CRP contracts that are due to expire on September 30, 1997, can be re-offered for participation. "Here in Minnesota we have approximately 1.6 million acres enrolled in the program, and the contracts on approximately one million acres will expire this fall," said Sparby. "Much of that acreage will be eligible for re-enrollment under the new rules, and producers will have to apply during this sign up period if they want to participate."

Existing CRP contracts cannot be extended, and new contracts must be executed for all acreage enrolled this year.

The sign-up period does not apply to certain highly desirable environmental practices, including field windbreaks, shelter belts, riparian buffers, filter strips, and shallow water areas for wildlife. Farmers and ranchers can apply at any time for contracts for these special practices under FSA's Continuous Sign-up Program.

But farmers and ranchers should be reminded that the sign-up period ends on Friday, March 28, and should contact their nearest FSA office.

A total of 540 children in Pennington County benefit from early nutrition education that helps them establish life long positive eating habits that will improve the quality of their diets and help cut health care costs.

The week of March 16-22 has been formally designated as National Child and Adult Care Food Program Week. This designation is intended to highlight the contributions and benefits of the USDA Child and Adult Care Food Program (CACFP) to the local community. The primary goal of the program is to serve nutritious meals to children in child care.

Secondary goals are the establishment of positive eating habits at the earliest stages of development, the reduction of future health care and education costs due to lack of proper early development and support of local child care professionals.

Support your local family child care providers who participate on the CACFP by enrolling your child in a home that participates on this program or by recognizing your provider for the nutritious meals and the education your child receives from the CACFP.

For more information about the CACFP contact Providers Choice, Inc., at 612-944-7010 or 1-800-356-5983.

Quin County CHS begins updating services plan

Quin County CHS board is beginning the process of updating the Community Health Services plan to cover the years 1998-99. CHS subsidy is currently allocated to four public health nursing agencies, the WIC agency, five rescue squads and seven ambulance services. Subsidy funds can be allocated in the public health areas of Disease Prevention and Control, Family Health, Health Promotion, Home Health, Emergency Medical Services and Environmental.

Anyone wishing to apply for subsidy funds must submit a letter of intent by May 1, 1997, to Quin County Community Health Services, Newfolden, 56738. Funding allocations are approved by the county boards of commissioners and the Quin County CHS board. Summaries of the plan will be available upon request. Public hearings will be held in each county in September. Anyone with questions may contact Carol Borchert, CHS administrator at 874-7845.

SWCD changes poster, and essay contests

Marshall-Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation District is again sponsoring a poster contest for fifth and sixth grade students and an essay contest for fifth through 12th graders. This year, instead of following the theme provided by the state education committee, the district has decided to have its own local contest and has chosen the theme for Soil and Water Stewardship Week as "Backyard Stewardship" for the poster and essay contests.

The poster contest is for fifth and sixth graders, while the essay contest is divided into three age categories: elementary students in fifth and sixth grade, junior school students in seventh to ninth grade, and senior high students in grades 10 through 12. All contest entries are due April 18.

Since the contests are not affiliated with the state contests, and won't be eligible to advance to area and state contests, the district has increased the prizes. First place winners in all three essay divisions and the poster contest will receive a $50 savings bond, and likewise, second place winners will receive a $25 savings bond. Support from other organizations may increase the number of prizes and winners.

Information packets have been given to the fifth and sixth grade teachers and the school library. Additional information can be obtained from the Marshall-Beltrami SWCD.

Editorial opinion published under this heading is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Unless specified otherwise, the editorials are written by Editor Marvin Lundin and do not represent opinion of other staff members. More "Conservatism Could If Conservatism Would...."

(Today we continue with comments made by Malcolm Wallop, chairman of Frontiers of Freedom, a non-partisan political advocacy organization based in Arlington, VA, and a Wyoming rancher who served 18 years in the U.S. Senate before his retirement in January of 1995. First segment of excerpts from a speech he gave in Denver, CO, in November of 1996 was published in The Times Wednesday, March 12.

Wallop had stated in his speech that, "With each passing year, however, this country resembles less and less that the Founders left us and looks more and more like the countries our immigrant forefathers tried to get away from. This is happening in large part because the people who run our government, our universities, our media, the entertainment industry, the arts, and so forth have used the enormous powers of the U.S. government to make it happen. But why? What do they have against us?" Following are more of his views.)

"They think our patriotism is unsophisticated at best, and chauvinism at worst. They thought our opposition to communism was dangerous and anti-progressive. The current generation of American leaders thought that we were on the wrong side in the Vietnam War. Military service is the rare exception in the families of those who have the most to say about putting Americans in harm's way. They clearly do not understand the country they rule, but do not serve. They say that America is nothing special, and that our troops ought to do the bidding of the United nations. Moreover, our patriotism exalts qualities that they abhor: manliness, righteousness, the capacity to use force.

"They dislike the American people's prosperity. It is the policy of the U.S. government that the American people consume too much of the world's resources. But whether the excuse is the environment, or poverty, or crime, the recipe is always the same: take money away from independent working people and give it to the favorites of the governing class. Of course, this is a recipe for economic decline.

"Let me remind you that nowhere in the writings of the Founding Fathers is there anything about 'managing the economy.' Our Founders wanted to promote prosperity. So they set about ensuring that government would be small, frugal, impartial and moral. We became rich because government, in Jefferson's words, would not 'take from the mouth of labor the bread it had earned.' If we abandon the Founders' mores, no economic policy can keep us out of the poorhouse.

"Our leaders dislike our tradition of self-government. They equate local control of crime with brutality and racism. Local zoning is racism. Local control of schools is racist. We are all racists—except they. They have turned laws that prohibit racial discrimination into mandates for racial preferences in everything from school admissions to congressional districting, to hiring and firing and promotions, contracting, insurance and lending. A whole industry had grown up to administer this American form of apartheid. If you want your town or business to stay out of trouble nowadays, you need highly paid, well-connected human relations specialists.

"But in the end this has nothing to do with race and everything to do with politics. The people who run this country are still by and large white men, who are not about to give up their own privileges to anybody. In the name of racial justice, and at the price of racial harmony, they are increasing their own power to privilege their friends at the expense of everyone else, and to diminish competition for themselves.

"The people who run this country don't care about public safety. Having made it very difficult for states and localities to police themselves, having left ordinary citizens with no choice but to protect themselves as best they can, the people who run this country are now trying to take our guns away. In fact they blame us and our guns for crime. This is so wrong that it cannot be an honest mistake.

"...Above all, the people who run this country have deep contempt and enmity for the culture on which it rests. They tell us we are zealots if we talk about social issues like abortion, education, homosexuality, race relations and the role of religion in public life. I say, what else is worth talking about? They say, concentrate on the economy. But I repeat the Founding Fathers' lesson: economic prosperity comes from the morality and sense of responsibility of the population, as well as from small government. It comes from the culture, not from recipes dreamed up in government offices or think tanks.

"Try restoring a sense of personal responsibility in this country while keeping it perfectly legal to trash a baby you have conceived, or give it over to the state for safekeeping. I think Lincoln would warn us against expecting that any sort of prosperity, never mind decency, could be built on such views of responsibility and human life.

"...Are we going to be healthy economically—never mind in other ways—if our establishment keeps on talking and spending as if 'alternative families' and 'alternative lifestyles' were on the same moral plane as mom, dad and the kids? Not a chance...

"...We can reestablish the crucial line between what is mine or yours and what is the government's by replacing the counter-productive Endangered Special Act and other failed environmental laws with conservation programs that do not violate the people's rights to property. By respecting property rights, we will actually do a better job of protecting the environment because we will stop making enemies out of America's landowners.

"...We can restore self-government by reducing the power of the federal courts to review the acts of state courts and the enactments of state legislatures. The Founding Fathers wrote Article 3, Section 2 of the Constitution precisely to make sure that the judiciary would be, in Alexander Hamilton's words, 'the least dangerous branch.' Now that the courts have become a clear and present danger to our democracy, it is time to use the Founders' remedy. Shrinking the government would yield many specific benefits. But these are not the main reasons why we should cut government.

"We want to cut taxes not primarily because doing so will put more money in our pockets, but principally because it will put the means of freedom in our hands. We want to cut the government's power to grant privilege, not primarily because privilege is economically inefficient, but because we don't want to be a nation of favor-seekers. We want to keep and bear our guns not because we want to shoot somebody, but because we have an irreducible right to take care of ourselves.

"This country faces a choice between two radically opposed views of itself and of the good life. On one side is the view many of us grew up with, the view of the Founders, the way of life of most families in this country. On the other is the view you can read in the pages of Time magazine, the New York Times and most of the rest of the prestige press. This is the view that animates the U.S. government.

"The great question of our time is whether government will continue to work against the original American way of life, or will switch and support it as it once did. The only possible way of enabling government to make this switch, I think, is to cut it down to a small fraction of its current size.

"Now, this is an issue that transcends parties. It is an issue that, most likely, will cause a realignment of parties, or even the death of one or both of our current parties and the birth of a new one. All of that is not so important. The only important thing is that the American people and the American way of life be defended against their enemies, and that they be defended worthily. Conservatism could if only conservatism would."

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of The Times encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in The Times exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

MARCH MADNESS

To the Editor:

First of all, I would like you to know that I do not make it a practice to respond to citizen articles or letters because it is your right to express any concerns you may have or challenge any decisions that are made by us in Independent School District 564. However, I am very concerned about some of the statements made by Sherry LaCoursiere made in a recent edition of her column in The Times. I have checked into the issues raised and have found the following information.

I am concerned with the statement, "Judging by Monday's too late closing, ours being the last to close in the area . . .", since we were not the last to close. In fact, a number of the schools in the area closed at the same time as we did and some did not close at all.

Secondly, is the statement, "I'm sure the teachers who had to stay at the schools with the children were not too happy about that either." In fact, other than a couple of individuals, teachers did not have to stay beyond their normal work hours since we only had a total of 25 students returned to their respective schools. By 5:30 p.m. all of the children were either brought home, had been picked up by their parents, or other arrangements had been made for them to stay over at someone else's home.

Thirdly, I found the following statements to also be incorrect: "I know that at least one of those buses nearly overturned in the ditch and some of those children were slightly hurt. Many frightened children were returned to their classrooms Monday evening. There is no excuse for such things." We did not have any bus nearly overturn and, in checking with the drivers, absolutely no children were hurt at any time.

School District 564 has 17 rural bus routes. Many of those routes were completed that day and the remainder were able to complete a majority of their routes. Of those 17 buses, only five were unable to complete their routes with only 25 students being returned to their schools to stay for any extended period of time. No children, however, had to stay overnight.

Sherry, I certainly respect your right to express your opinion. And if, in fact, the information you presented was true, I would certainly appreciate knowing that so these issues could be addressed. However, I would encourage you, or any citizen of Independent School District 564, that any time you want information or want to verify information you have received, please call the administration or the supervisor of the program. It is so important for information that is shared with the public to be correct.

I would also like to note that any decision that is made regarding closing school, dismissing early or starting late is solely my decision and is based upon information that is gathered at the time with the safety of children as the number 1 consideration.

Thank you for the opportunity to express my concerns. If you have any questions, please feel free to give me a call.

Sincerely,
Jerry W. Robicheau, Ph.D.
Superintendent of Schools

To the Editor:

The Mock Trial Team would like to extend a sincere "Thank You" for the support you extended to our program again this year. The extensive photo coverage you gave our dress rehearsal gave us a boost to propel us into our first trial. We also really appreciated the well-written articles covering all of our trials, and it was especially nice to read the encouraging editorial you wrote! With your help we were able to have another very successful season. Although we narrowly missed going to State again, team members learned a great deal, had fun competing, and represented their community in a positive and professional manner. Finally, we want you to know that your efforts to promote academic education do not go unnoticed and are greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,
Cal Lindberg, teacher

Patrick Lee, Raoul Knutson and Kevin Blaser of the Gully area and Mark Lee of Arvada, CO, met in Minneapolis and flew to the U.S. Virgin Islands to spend a three weeks vacation on the islands of St. Thomas and St. John. They were guests of Mark and Patrick Lee's sister Jackie Lee Reynolds. They enjoyed sailing, snorkeling, fishing and sight seeing, and forgot about the snow back home in Gully. All the cruise ships came into the Harbor. These islands are in the Eastern Caribbean Sea 1100 Miles from Miami, FL. Mark was a student at Staples Technical College for a two year course which prepared him for his present job as heavy equipment operator in Colorado. The present project for his crew is laying underground electrical lines. What an interesting educational and fun trip for the young boys.

Kenneth and Alice Forsberg visited and were luncheon guests at the Ronnie and Renae Bergman home at McIntosh on Sunday afternoon.

Not many of us have a chance to celebrate a birthday past one hundred. Mrs. Helen Jorgenson of Clearbrook had a chance to celebrate her 101st birthday with friends and relatives at her daughter and son-in-law Clarice and Rueben Koelings home in Gully on Sunday afternoon. Present were Margaret Erickson and Warren Erickson from Clearbrook. Also from Clearbrook were Mr. and Mrs. Greg Erickson, Amy, Tasha and Bobby Joe, Mr. and Mrs. Danny Erickson, Noel and Nick, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Jorgenson, Jana and Josh, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Erickson, Rachael, Tana and Andrew of Bemidji, Mr. and Mrs. Cory Peterson and Tanner from Guthrie, Duane Peterson of Gonvick, Mrs. Reuben Norling of McIntosh, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Nelson of Gully, Mrs. Vernice Hanna of Seattle, WA. They all enjoyed lunch including birthday cake. Happy Birthday Helen. May you have a good and healthy year.

The Gully American Legion Auxiliary members prepared and served six o'clock birthday supper on Thursday evening March 6th for the members of the Gully American Legion. Their wives or a guest at the Gully Community Center. Members of the committee that prepared the supper were Cathy Songer, Alice Forsberg, Mary Barg and Crystal Bergerson. Tables were set in a U shape and decorated in patriotic colors with a bountiful salad bar to one side for people to help themselves besides the main course of ham, baked potatoes, vegetables, rolls, dessert, coffee and kool aide. About 35 people attended. Entertainment was furnished by Carol Tharaldson and Vernon Wold. Following the supper the auxiliary met for their regular monthly meeting with 12 members present. Thank you cards were read from Ethel Rouland and Duane and Arvilla Rouland. M/M/S to send a $25.00 donation to Bingo party for Fargo Veterans. Decision on girl state. We were encouraged to save Campbell Soup labels and pop can tabs, picture post cards and cancelled stamps. our next meeting will be a work shop on April 1st at 10:30 at the Gully Community Center with potluck noon lunch. The Gully American Legion members also met for their meeting that evening.

We were over to Gonvick on Saturday evening for the Walleye Fish Fry at the Gonvick American Legion Log Cabin. They advertised Walleye Pike the way you like them and the members working always seem to be able to prove that true. The fish were especially good this time. There were two young fellows helping as waiters this time which made it nice.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Emerson and Effie Handy attended a birthday party for Kenneth Emerson on Sunday in Moorhead. Visitors at Effies on Friday were Don and Shirley Hood of Bagley, Ed and Lyn Turanna and Sanna Brovold. As usual we had a big meal at Effies.

Some time ago I mentioned an interesting part about former Gully residents Edwin and Alvina Gordons son, Norman, now living in the State of Washington who had his picture taken with President Clinton while the President was out West. Now we again hear from the Gordons this time a sad story. Norman had been to Seattle and while waiting to drive his car on to the Ferry boat they noticed he didn't drive up when it was his turn. They found Norman dead presumeably from a sudden heart attack. He had a phone in his car, but didn't seem to have had time to use. The Christmas cards relatives received from Norman with the picture will be a real keepsake.

Legion Notes Its Birthday Monday

"Following their business meeting Monday evening, local Legionnaires were guests of the auxiliary unit at a party commemorating the 28th anniversary of the founding of the Legion. Mrs. Jeannette Wright, unit president, presented the Legion post with a birthday cake, after which a social hour was held."

Speakers Announced For KTRF Morning Feature

"Speakers next week on the 'Your Church on the Air' feature heard each weekday morning at 10:30 over Radio Station KTRF will include Rev. A. I. Merth, who will speak Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and Captain LaVonne Blakeman of the Salvation Army, who will sponsor the programs for the last three days of the week."

Northrop PTA Unit To Supply Fun

"Members of the Northrop unit of the Parent-Teacher association and their friends will enjoy a carnival at the school Friday evening of this week, starting at 7 o'clock. Don Mattson, president of the unit, announced that the program will include motion pictures, games, puppet show, hobby display and the serving of lunch."

Soo Line Authorized To Take Out Stockyard

"Following a hearing conducted in St. Paul March 12 by the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission, Oliver A. Ossanna, secretary, announced that the application of the Soo Line for permission to abandon and remove the stockyard at Rosewood had been granted, but that the railroad's request for permission to remove the loading platform and spur track at that point had been denied. The fact was brought out that since 1941 very little use has been made of the stockyard, and that its removal would not be an inconvenience to the public. No one appeared at the hearing to object to the Soo Line applications."

Municipal Band To Hold Rehearsal

"The municipal band, now in process of reorganization, will hold a practice session in the auditorium next Monday evening, and all prospective members are asked to be present with their instruments. Orvis Oien, commander of the local American Legion post, sponsoring the band, urged all musicians to turn out whether or not they possess instruments, and, Glen Alire, Lincoln high school band instructor, will be present to answer questions and offer suggestions."

Aeronautics Chapter To Take Bids

"The Thief River Falls chapter of the National Aeronautics association, lessee of the municipal airport, is publishing elsewhere in this issue of the Times a call for bids on plowing, preparing the seedbed and seeding to flax of approximately 100 acres of land in the undeveloped portion of the airport property. Bids will be received up to April 1, and further details may be obtained from Ernest Barzen at the Math Barzen company."

—Tim Numedahl of Thief River Falls was named Driver of the Year by the U.S. Snowmobile association.

FROM THE NEW CITY

THE NEWS, HENRY W. LEE, EDITOR — APRIL 1, 1897
THIEF RIVER FALLS, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA

"The city dads are doing good work this spring, in opening up courses to permit the water to run off instead of running into the cellars along Main street.

"Fire Engineer Farr and his assistant Parker overhauled the city fire engine and gave it a thorough cleaning and it is now in good repair.

"The city dads have a crew of men employed to open up the ditches, on the east side, to allow the surplus water to run off. They also have caused the sidewalk, leading to the depot, to be cleaned."

—Thief River Falls fans are taking merely an academic interest in the regional and state basketball tournaments.

—One item that hasn't ever gone up in price is a subway fare in New York City. It stays at a nickel regardless of the size of the annual deficit.

—We notice in the Baudette Region that the salary of a member of the school faculty there has been increased to $23,050 a year. Those folks really appreciate their teachers.

—If you are a man of untold wealth, you should have a guilty feeling after filing your income tax returns last week.

—The only people, we read, who enjoy troubles are lawyers and they get paid for it.

—More cigarets, by a slight margin, were produced in this country in 1946 than there are dollars in the national debt, 322 billion to be exact.

PUBLIC NOTICE

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT REVOLVING LOAN FUND

The City of Thief River Falls is requesting that industries contemplating expansion, construction of facilities, acquisition of equipment, or needing operating capital contact the Community Development Department (681-2500) regarding the availability of loan money on favorable terms through the Community Development Revolving Loan Fund. Applications and eligibility criteria are available upon request. The deadline for submittal of applications is 4:30 P.M. on Monday, April 21, 1997.

NOTICE OF REFERENDUM AUTHORITY CONVERSION

On Monday, April 28 the school board of Thief River Falls I.S.D. No 564 will be discussing and passing a resolution to convert the basis for its excess referendum levy from net tax capacity to referendum market value. This change will affect the amount of tax paid on different classifications of property, and will increase the number of years for which the referendum authority will be in effect. The conversion will be effective for taxes payable in 1998.

All interested residents and property owners are invited to attend the board meeting to receive information and express their concerns.

Strandquist

436-2133

There is a saying that only a fool or a newcomer tries to tell how the weather will be the next day or two out in the mountains of northwest Montana but now I think it can be said in northwest Minnesota too. On Sunday evening Isaac and Betsy Thompson were planning to go to Fargo ND Monday morning. At 6:00 it was cloudy nothing new this winter, but by 8:00 the wind and heavy snowfall changed their appointment to another week.

The Strandquist seniors haven't given in to the cabin fever which has been making a lot of folks just sitting and looking at the huge piles of snow near their windows and thinking about all the water when they get to melting but instead they go on with work like so I should be. Elphie Adils says she has found time to do things that she always wished she had time for. It won't be long until the calendar says it is Spring.

Jenny Anderson was home from Rochester this past weekend and returned on Monday. On Saturday Jenny and Grandpa Morris Anderson went to Grand Forks and visited with Jim, Cindy and Christy Wetterlund.

Friday after school Shalane McAnny had a birthday party at Irene's Cafe. Those who enjoyed supper and cake and ice cream were Patsy Boen, Chelsey Nelson, Matthew Nelson, Brittany Nelson, Tara Nelson, Amanda Oistad, Jamie Groff, Ashley Bothum and Bobby P. Lorette Bothum also came earlier with a gift.

The tip for this week: Betsy says to drink a glass of ice water before going to bed because it takes as many calories to warm the water as she has consumed for dinner. I think I'll wait until next summer to try that stunt, it might not take so long to melt the ice.

Gatzke News

Mrs. Clifford Klamar

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that default has occurred in the conditions of that certain mortgage, dated the 5th day of October, 1990, and executed by Scott A. Sheridan and Nancy I. Sheridan, husband and wife, as MORTGAGORS, to Norwest Mortgage, Inc., as MORTGAGEE, filed for record in the office of the County Recorder in and for the County of Pennington and the State of Minnesota, on the 5th day of October, 1990, and recorded as Document Number 133474; subsequently said mortgage was assigned by the MORTGAGEE to Minnesota Housing Finance Agency as ASSIGNEE OF MORTGAGEE by an Assignment dated the 5th day of October, 1990, filed for record in the office of the County Recorder in and for the County of Pennington and the State of Minnesota, on the 5th day of October, 1990, and recorded as Document Number 133475; the original principal amount secured by said mortgage being Forty Four Thousand Seven Hundred Eighty-Nine and 00/100 Dollars ($44,789.00); that no action or proceeding has been instituted at law to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof, and that prior to the commencement of this mortgage foreclosure, the holder of said mortgage has complied with all conditions precedent to foreclosure and/or acceleration of the indebtedness of the mortgage and all notice requirements of the Statutes and/or the mortgage; that there is due and claimed due upon said mortgage, including interest to the date hereof, and taxes, if any paid by mortgagee, the sum of Forty-Four Thousand Seventy Two and 97/100 Dollars ($44,072.97) and that pursuant to the power of sale therein contained, said mortgage will be foreclosed and the tract of land lying in and being in the County of Pennington, State of Minnesota, legally described as follows, to-wit:

Lots 8 and 9, Block 7, Knox's Addition to Red Lake Rapids will be sold by the Sheriff of said county at public auction on the 6th day of May, 1997, at 10:00 o'clock a.m. at Lobby of Pennington County Law Enforcement Center in the City of Thief River Falls in and County and State, to pay the debt then secured by said mortgage and taxes, if any, on said premises and the costs, attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law. The time allowed by law for redemption by the mortgagors, their personal representatives or assigns is six (6) months from the date of said sale.

THE TIME ALLOWED BY LAW FOR REDEMPTION BY THE MORTGAGOR, THE MORTGAGOR'S PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVES OR ASSIGNS, MAY BE REDUCED TO FIVE WEEKS IF A JUDICIAL ORDER IS ENTERED UNDER MINNESOTA STATUTES SECTION 582.032 DETERMINING, AMONG OTHER THINGS, THAT THE MORTGAGED PREMISES ARE IMPROVED WITH A RESIDENTIAL DWELLING OF LESS THAN 5 UNITS, ARE NOT PROPERTY USED FOR AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTION, AND ARE ABANDONED.

THIS IS AN ATTEMPT TO COLLECT A DEBT AND ANY INFORMATION OBTAINED WILL BE USED FOR THAT PURPOSE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA — DISTRICT COURT
COUNTY OF PENNINGTON — NINTH JUDICIAL DISTRICT

TO: ALL PERSONS WITH A LEGAL INTEREST IN THE PARCELS OF REAL PROPERTY DESCRIBED IN THE FOLLOWING DELINQUENT TAX LIST

A list of real property in Pennington County on which delinquent property taxes and penalties are due has been filed with the Court Administrator of Pennington County. This list is published to inform all persons that the listed property is subject to forfeiture because of delinquent taxes.

The property owner, taxpayer, or other interested person must either pay the tax and penalty, plus interest and costs, or file a written objection with the Court Administrator. The objection must be filed by April 10, 1997, stating the reason why the tax or penalty is not due on the property. If no objection is filed, a court judgment will be entered against the property for the unpaid tax, penalty, interest, and costs.

For property under court judgment, the period of redemption begins on May 13th, 1997, and ends three to five years later, depending on the type of property and where it is located. The period of redemption means the time within which taxes must be paid to avoid losing the property through forfeiture.

To avoid forfeiture, taxes on property located within a township must be paid by May 13th, 2002. Taxes must also be paid by May 13th, 2002, if the property is one of the following types in a city: (1) residential homestead, (2) farm homestead, (3) private cabins, (4) resorts occupied by the owner, and (5) resorts in operation for not more than 25 days a year. Payment of tax by May 6, 2000, is necessary to avoid forfeiture of any property in a city which is not described in the preceding sentence.

To determine how much interest and costs must be added to pay the tax in full, contact the Pennington County Auditor's Office, Pennington County Courthouse, P.O. Box 616, Thief River Falls, Minnesota 56701. The telephone number is 218-681-4011.

March 19, 1997
OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS PENNINGTON COUNTY BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS
February 25, 1997 5:00 p.m.

Pursuant to adjournment the Pennington County Board of Commissioners met in the Commissioners Room at the Pennington County Courthouse in Thief River Falls on Tuesday February 25, 1997 at 5:00 p.m.

Members present: Donald Jensen, Charles Naplin, Bob Carlson, Oliver "Skip" Swanson, Arden "Bud" Comstock.

Members absent: none.

Lee Maier and John Scheving from Northwest Minnesota Multi-County Housing and Redevelopment Authority met with the County Board to discuss a resolution authorizing them to apply for the Minnesota Housing Finance Agency Rental Rehabilitation program.

Tri-Valley Opportunity Council, Inc. has operated this program in the past. The Pennington County Board can approve both agencies to apply on their behalf and MHFA decides who will administer the program. The following resolution was moved by Commissioner Swanson, seconded by Commissioner Comstock and upon vote was unanimously carried.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, the Minnesota Housing Finance Agency is accepting applications for the participation in the 1997 HOME Rental Rehabilitation Program and,

WHEREAS, Pennington County is interested in participation in the Home Rental Rehabilitation Program,

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that the Northwest Minnesota Multi County HRA (NWHRA) is authorized to prepare and submit an application on Pennington County's behalf, to participate in the 1997 HOME Rental Rehabilitation Program and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Northwest Multi-County Housing and Redevelopment Authority (NWHRA) be designated as the administrator for the MHRA Rental Rehabilitation Project in Pennington County.

Lowell Enerson from the Red Lake Watershed met with the County Board to discuss a resolution for the Red River Basin. The following resolution was moved by Commissioner Naplin, seconded by Commissioner Swanson and upon vote was unanimously carried.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS The Red River Watershed Management Board (RRWMB) was created by an act of the Minnesota programs legislature in 1976 to coordinate solutions to flooding and land surface water related programs and projects in the Red River Basin and

WHEREAS The original legislation named the counties wherein the advalorem tax could be levied by local Watershed Districts, subsequently collected and remitted to the RRWMB and,

WHEREAS The four counties, namely Big Stone, Traverse, Grant, and Stevens were not named in the original Statute because at the time no organized watershed district had jurisdiction over that area and

WHEREAS The Bois De Sioux Watershed District has once been organized and is actively functioning over its geographic area within three counties and has been admitted as a member in good standing of the RRWMB, collecting the required tax from the land area within its boundaries in Ottertail and Wilkin Counties but because of the lack of authorization in the original law cannot levy the tax over its land area within the named counties and

WHEREAS Pennington County real property owners within the jurisdictional area of the Red Lake Watershed District have been paying the advalorem tax authorized by the legislature since 1997 and

WHEREAS legislation has been introduced in the Minnesota House of Representatives to correct the current inequity and is known as House File #410

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED THAT The Pennington County Board of Commissioners request that the State Representatives of the Red River Basin support House File #410 and request that the State Senators representing the Red River Basin author and actively support, companion legislation in the Minnesota State Senate.

This resolution will be sent to the area Senators and Representatives.

Mr. Enerson reviewed the financial report of the Red River Management Board project commitments with the County Board.

There will be a hearing on April 24th at 7:00 P.M. regarding the Challenger Ditch.

Howard Person informed the county board of a Solid Waste Facility meeting scheduled for February 29, 1997. Mr. Person also brought the developed job description for Deb Zak's position.

Commissioner Swanson moved, seconded by Commissioner Carlson to approve the Extension Educator job description for advertising. Motion unanimously carried.

Howard Person noted that the University of Minnesota expects a 10% short fall in funding for County Extension programs in the next three years. In order to protect the third Extension Educator position in Pennington County he would like to see the value of this position that is charged against the SCORE, Water Plan or Feedlot grant funds be placed in a separate account.

After some discussion Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Swanson to bill Howard Person's time for his work on SCORE, Local Water Plan, and Feedlot programs and that the amounts of these billings will be kept track of by means of an account in the County Financial System. Motion unanimously carried.

Gary Lane and Howard Person met with the County Board to discuss having the Soil and Water Conservation District be the Local Water Plan Coordinating office. Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to move the Water Plan Coordination to the Pennington County Soil and Water Conservation District after the NWRDC has completed the renewal of the Local Water Plan or January 1, 1998, whichever date is earlier. Motion unanimously carried.

Delton Schulz, George Bloedwell, and Ken Mehrkens discussed the additional land requirements to connect County Road #75 to the proposed C.S.A.H. #19C. Ken Mehrkens opposes the original plan of the road layout for connection of County Road #75 and C.S.A.H. #19 as it would require more land and would leave a small piece of Agricultural land that wouldn't be worth farming. He would like to see a road built as far East as the law permits. The County Engineer, Delton Schulz, will work on these suggestions and incorporate them in the final design.

Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Carlson to approve Widseth, Smith, and Nolting to do survey work on State Aid Highway #8 from State Aid Highway #17 East to Trunk Highway #59 for $3,500 to 3,900. Motion unanimously carried.

Multi-Use building meeting in St. Paul will be March 4, 1997. Minnesota Department of Transportation will fly Commissioner Jenson, Commissioner Swanson, and County Engineer, Delton Schulz along with MNDOT officials to meet together to discuss availability of any likelihood of finding funds for MNDOT to participate with a Multi Use building. If no funds are available, they will discuss other options in funding the facility.

The following resolution was moved by Commissioner Naplin, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to authorize TRI-VALLEY Opportunity, Inc. to apply for the Minnesota Housing Finance Agency Home Rental Rehabilitation program in Pennington County and upon vote was unanimously carried.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, the need to rehabilitate substantial rental housing units in Pennington County exists; and

WHEREAS, Pennington County desires to participate in the Minnesota Housing Finance Agency HOME Rental Rehabilitation Program, and administer it in accordance with all applicable State and Federal regulations, and

WHEREAS, in order to participate in the Program it is necessary for Pennington County to file an application signed by Kenneth Olson, County Auditor with the Minnesota Housing Finance Agency; and

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED THAT TRI-VALLEY Opportunity Council, Inc is authorized to

1. File applications for the HOME Rental Rehabilitation Program with the Minnesota Housing Finance Agency;
2. Administer the Home Rental Rehabilitation Program in accordance with the program guidelines.

The County Engineer, Delton Schulz, will be viewing a demonstration on ditching equipment in Breckenridge Minnesota and field inspect ditching equipment manufactured in Sioux Falls South Dakota on February 26 and 27, 1997.

Commissioner Comstock moved, seconded by Commissioner Carlson to enter into an agreement with the Expense Recovery Systems to review the utility bills. Motion unanimously carried.

The County Auditor talked to Bob Davidson about sealing the well at the Old Oakland Park Sanitorium. The County Board was asked by the County Auditor if they wanted a temporary cap on the well at the Old Oakland Park Sanitorium or if they wanted a permanent seal. The County Board approved of the temporary seal.

Northern Counties Land Use Coordinating Board will meet on March 6, 1997.

Minnesota Counties Insurance Trust acknowledged enhancements to the Insurance and Service Plan. The following endorsements were made: 1. Flood Endorsement, 2. Earth Movement Endorsement, and 3. Law and Ordinance endorsement.

The County Board discussed the bills introduced into legislation for the 7080 septic system regulations.

Minnesota Counties Insurance Trust had a satellite conference on Risk Management in Action on February 20, 1997. Pennington County's satellite was in use by Inter County Nursing. The County Auditor requested a tape of the conference.

Commissioner Carlson felt that the Thief River Falls City Council should be approached at the Breakfast meeting March 3, 1997 to endorse the Pennington County Dive and Rescue Team the same as the County Board did. The County Board unanimously agreed.

Red River Watershed Management Board annual conference will be held March 20th and 21st, 1997 at the Best Western in Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

A Public Hearing on the Pennington County Family Planning Preservation Project will be held March 24, 1997 at 7:00 p.m. at the Heritage Center.

Commissioner Carlson moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to appoint Kevin Thoraldson to the County Extension Committee. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Carlson to approve the minutes of February 11, 1997. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Comstock moved, seconded by Commissioner Carlson to authorize the Auditor to buy a postage machine. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to adjourn to March 11, 1997. Motion carried.

REGULAR BOARD MEETING
February 24, 1997 7:00 p.m.
S.D.S.C. Conference Room A

A Regular Board Meeting of Independent School District #564 was held on Monday, February 24, 1997, at 7:00 p.m. in Conference Room A of the School District Service Center.

The following Board members were present: Larry Belmont, Carl Clark, Dennis Kiesow, Jean Larson, Deb Twomey and Steve Young. Also present was Dr. Jerry Robicheau, Superintendent of Schools.

Chairperson Carl Clark called the meeting to order and Clerk Jean Larson established that a quorum was present.

A motion was made by S. Young and seconded by J. Larson to approve the agenda as presented. Motion carried unanimously.

Information regarding the upcoming Clarisworks 4.0 Goes to School Workshop scheduled for March 4, 6, 11, 13 and 18 was distributed as was the February 1st enrollment report.

Lincoln High School Senior Kale Ihle was recognized for being named a finalist in the 1997 National Merit Scholarship Program. The Eagles Club was recognized for donating $500 to the Academic Boosters Club for their upcoming Academic Letter Breakfast and $100 to train volunteers in the Junior Great Books Program. The Board noted the following for their donations to the 1997 Lincoln High School Science Fair: Pennington County Soil and Water Conservation District, Morning Kiwanis, Digi-Key, Northern State Bank, Audubon Society, American Association of University Women, Rotary, Pennington County American Cancer Society, TRF Academic Boosters, Northland Woodcrafters, Northland Retired Educators, Northwest Eye Center, Kenton Kainz, Anderson Power and Equipment, D & J Radio, First National Bank, Eagles Club, LHS Science Teachers and the LHS Environmental Club. The Kiwanis Club was also recognized for donating $150 to purchase blankets for the Preschool Program to protect children in the event of a fire or fire drill evacuation.

Terry Solno, the district's Graduation Standards Technician, updated the Board on issues relating to the grad rule. District Student Activities Director Jim Sims reported on activities relating to his department.

Member Steve Young reported on behalf of the PER Committee noting they met last Monday and heard reports from the Visual/Media Arts and Social Studies Curriculum Committees. A request to purchase social textbooks for the elementary school will be presented to the Board in April.

Dennis Kiesow and Jean Larson reported on behalf of the Community Ed Advisory Council indicating they had met earlier on Monday. Heidi Hoke was elected Chair, following the resignation of Deb Zak, and Vivian Hibbert elected Vice Chair. The Council is in the process of reviewing their bylaws and recruiting new members.

Steve Young reported on behalf of the Finance/Property Committee noting a meeting was held with the City Administrative Services Committee to discuss the Northrop property. No formal action was recommended at this time.

Carl Clark reported on behalf of the Negotiations Team indicating a mediation session with the Teamsters was held on Monday February 17th, with some progress made.

Business Manager Harry Nelson reviewed the Investment Report as of February 18th as well as the roofing bids received for the southeast portion of Lincoln High School. Harry noted the recommendation regarding long-term disability insurance is through the Northwest Service Cooperative and is a reduction of 9.5% from what we currently pay with the same carrier. Harry also explained the recommendation to convert the referendum authority which would shift the burden of the existing referendum from commercial and industrial property to residential and farm property. The difference, however, will be minimal and will mean no new money for the district.

Superintendent Jerry Robicheau reported that he made a presentation to staff at the February 17th inservice. Jerry also discussed plans for evaluation of licensed staff noting he is currently working with the administrators on a plan which will be finalized in the next couple of weeks. Jerry updated the Board on the progress in developing the 1997-98 budget noting he and Harry have met with the principals, Jim Sime and Glenn Chiodo to review the process. Jerry indicated the timelines may need to be adjusted to give the buildings and departments more time to get input on proposed reductions.

A motion was made by D. Kiesow and seconded by J. Larson to approve the Minutes of the February 10, 1997, Regular Board Meeting. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by D. Kiesow and seconded by J. Larson to approve the bills as submitted and on file in the School District Business Office. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by D. Kiesow and seconded by J. Larson to accept the resignation of Gerald Wilson as Cleaner in the District effective February 25, 1997. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by D. Kiesow and seconded by J. Larson to approve the employment of Charles Walseth as 6th Grade Science Teacher at Franklin effective January 22 - June 2, 1997, BS/S Step 11 with salary and benefits per negotiated contract. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by D. Kiesow and seconded by J. Larson to approve the employment of James Johnson as Temporary Delivery Person for the District effective March 3, 1997, approximately 15 hours/week during the school year at the rate of $5.86/hour. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by D. Kiesow and seconded by J. Larson to approve the employment of Pamela Aaland as Pupil/Program Support Assistant at Challenger effective March 3, 1997, 6-7 hours/day with salary and benefits per contract to be negotiated. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by D. Kiesow and seconded by J. Larson to approve the 1995-96 PER Annual Report as submitted. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by D. Kiesow and seconded by J. Larson to accept the low bid of Hjelle Roofing to reroof a portion of Lincoln High School at a cost of $108,565. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by D. Kiesow and seconded by J. Larson to accept the bid of Schools Insurance Fund for long-term disability insurance for the period from March 1, 1997, through March 1, 2000, at a rate of .0034 of covered payroll with no change in benefits. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by D. Kiesow and seconded by J. Larson to schedule April 28, 1997, as the date for School Board action to convert our referendum authority from net tax capacity to referendum market value and authorize the required notice be placed in the Times Newspaper. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by D. Kiesow and seconded by J. Larson to approve the request of St. John's Lutheran Church to use gyms 1 and 2 at Challenger and the Kindergarten bathroom area on Sunday, March 9, 1997, from 1:00-3:30 p.m. for open gym for youth. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by L. Belmont and seconded by D. Twomey to approve Policy DBD-1 District Contingency Fund as presented. Motion carried unanimously.

15th anniversary WE Fest nearly doubles talent

Scheduled for August 1, 2 and 3, the 15th anniversary WE Fest at the Soo Pass Ranch near Detroit Lakes will feature 19 acts—nearly double the number at the 1995 event.

Contracted to perform are Vince Gill, Tanya Tucker, John Michael Montgomery, Lorrie Morgan, Willie Nelson, Trisha Yearwood, The Oak Ridge Boys, Bryan White, Deana Carter, Regina Regina, Mindy McCready, John Anderson, The Nitty Gritty Dirt Band, Suzy Bogguss, Little Texas, Junior Brown, Eddy Raven, Doug Kershaw and Jo El Sonnier.

Last year nearly 35,000 people filled over 7,500 campsites at 10 campgrounds for the nation's largest country music and camping festival. More than 15 percent of the tickets for the 1997 WE Fest were sold before the announcement was made of the talent booked.

McEnelly trains as physician assistant student

Mary McEnelly, R.N., recently returned to Thief River Falls to continue her 12-month training in the University of North Dakota's physician assistant program. She began the advanced training January 13-February 14 in Grand Forks, ND.

One of 80 students from a 25-state area admitted to the program, she will continue her education under the supervision and guidance of Dr. Charles Winjum, MD, of the Dakota Clinic Thief River Falls medical staff.

Following graduation on Jan. 9, 1988, she will be eligible to take a national examination to complete the certification process.

Physician assistants are health professionals who practice medicine with physician guidance and supervision. In collaboration with the physician, they participate in assessment, diagnosis and management of patients.

Since the UND program began in 1972, it has graduated 901 physician assistants from 45 states, Canada and other countries.

Short but Sweet

Ralph and Gina Korsten of Sussex, WI. (just west of Milwaukee) left their home Sunday afternoon to drive up to Plummer to see their friends Dave and Kelly Krueger. Kelly and Gina were co-workers and friends for a long time. Ralph and Gina stayed overnight in St. Paul on Sunday and early Monday morning started out for Plummer. They got as far as Fergus Falls and had to stop because of the snow. They were snowed in Monday and Tuesday. They left Fergus Falls Wednesday morning at 8:00 a.m. and got to Plummer at 11:30 a.m., what a ride. They had a nice visit and went out to dinner. After church Ron and Kathy Juneau stopped to visit and wish Gina and Ralph a happy wedding anniversary. Thursday morning at 5:30 a.m. Dave and Kelly wished their friends God speed and they were off on their way back home. Yes they said they would come back to Plummer, but only in Summer.

Dara Wilkens came to Plummer on Friday and spent the weekend at her grandmothers home. Ruth and Dara had a great visit together. Dara is attending college at UND.

Wavell and Lloyd Sorenson were supper guests at the home Tom and Rebecca Willett on Wednesday. Happy Birthday Tom and many more happy ones.

Snow

Another week of more cold and snow than news. People in the Plummer area are staying in their homes where it is nice and warm. It has been yet another week of church, school, clubs, etc., cancellations due to the weather. Not to worry, spring is just around the corner upcoming events in our area are: Pancake breakfast at the Plummer Hall on Palm Sunday time 10:00-1:00 and is a free will offering. The breakfast will be sponsored by the Plummer Community Club and don't forget the Smelt Fry at the Plummer Hall on April 5 from 5:00-9:00 sponsored by the Lions Club.

Wavell Sorenson of rural Plummer attended the funeral of Orissa Schultz of Red Lake Falls. The funeral was Friday morning at St. John's Church in Red Lake Falls.

Karl and Rita Sorenson were supper guests at the home of Corey and Rose Carpenter in rural Thief River Falls.

Frances Schlelert returned home Thursday from a five week trip. She went to Minneapolis with her grandson Robbie Swanson and visited with her son Sidney and Susan Schlelert and families of Bloomington. Also with Mario and Chris Brand of St. Paul. She then went to Dallas, TX, where she had a brief visit with her niece Bobby Milne between planes. She flew to McAllan, TX, where she was met by her brother Frank and Issabell Knoll. She was then guests at Almo, TX for a week while there they visited Burnell and Ellie Byer and she also visited with cousin Bea and Eva Schlelert of San Quan. From Texas she went to Phoenix, AZ, where she was met by her daughter Connie and Joe Suko and family. They took her to their mobile home at Apache Junction. While there she visited John and Mary McBroom, also was a house-guest of John and Gladys Hauph. She also attended to Red Lake County picnic where she met many people she hadn't seen in years. Welcome home Frances sounds like you had a great time.

Sunday evening, Jim, Sherry, Heather and Heidi Schlelert visited (mom and grandmother) Frances Schlelert. They all had a nice visit.

Arena improvements could cost up to $4.5 million

An Olympic sized ice sheet and additional improvements to the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center in Thief River Falls could cost as much as $4.5 million.

Tuesday, a joint meeting of the Parks and Recreation committee and the Administrative Services committee was held in the city council chambers to discuss future plans for the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center.

During the meeting, Tony Dorn Jr. of the Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association (TRFAHA), which is leading the exploratory proposal, presented an update of the proposal. Architects from the firm of Damberg Scott Gerzina Wagner explained some of the preliminary options being discussed.

At this time, the proposal includes an Olympic sized ice sheet north of the current facility and a connecting building which encloses locker rooms, mechanical rooms, a room for the Zamboni at the west end of the structure, meeting rooms and a new entrance to the current facility. If the city goes with the expanded facility and new ice sheet, the architect said it would be of a pre-cast tilt-up walls with steel roof, and would be fully insulated. They are still looking at options which include geothermal energy to supply heat for the facility.

The architects explained that to update the old arena which is located downtown, improvements would cost roughly $520,000. In another option, which would not include an additional ice sheet, improvements at the Huck Olson Arena would cost an estimated $2 million.

The Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center, often referred to as the "new" arena, is 27 years old and in need of improvements. These improvements could include improvements that meet ADA requirements, building code requirements, provide a new roof, insulation, Zamboni room and expand locker and lobby facilities. The architects explained that the increase of the existing building area through the addition of new toilets, concessions, lockers, etc. may require the existing arena to comply fully with building codes. This would include installation of an automatic sprinkler system plus related code renovation work. The only way to become exempt from this requirement would be to construct an area separation wall between the new spaces and the existing building. This may not be possible because of the integrated nature of circulation patterns between the new spaces and existing arena.

Dorn explained that TRFAHA was interested in making sure that application is made for funds from the Mighty Ducks program. The legislature has delegated another $5 million to the program which provides grants to communities adding another ice sheet or making improvements to facilities. The deadline for this last round, however, is at the end of April.

The current facility sees a lot of usage. That will increase as the school district attempts to achieve gender equity in its sports. Jim Sims, activities director for the district, explained that gender equity is a reality and if they decide to enforce it, it will become a big problem for the district. The district is working on a number of solutions, one of which is women's hockey.

The school district leases the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center from the city. Bob Wennberg, city council representative, said it isn't the city's responsibility to provide a girl's locker room.

Other representatives at the meeting, however, pointed out that the current situation creates problems that could become the city's problem.

To clarify another issue, Wennberg also asked why build an Olympic-size ice sheet when it won't be used for games. (The new ice sheet would have room for temporary seating.)

It was explained that the cheapest seating cost roughly $75 to $80 per seat. Then there's the cost of the additional space, walkway and handicap accessibility needs.

Milt Burstad, a city council representative, raised the issue of cost. Burstad asked "Who's going to pay for it?" Would the school district accept doubling the rent and the hockey players' rate increase, he asked.

TRFAHA is in the process of a fund raising effort for the project. In addition, they would like the city to apply for the Mighty Ducks grant.

Wennberg said they don't intend to use up the city's reserve, but they have other thoughts on how to raise money for the project. Those details need to be worked out, he said.

Representatives at the meeting also asked what would happen to the Old Arena. It was explained that it would be turned back into a natural ice sheet and be used for other events during the summer and fall months.

Red Lake Electric holding 59th annual meeting Wed.

"Quality Service, Competitive Price" is the theme for the 59th annual meeting of Red Lake Electric Cooperative today, March 26 (Wednesday), at the National Guard Armory in Thief River Falls.

Registration was scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. with coffee and doughnuts provided and more than $290,000 in capital credit checks available to members who received service in 1976 and 1977.

Vernon Rugilla provides music from 10 to 10:30 a.m. when president Veral Mosbeck calls the meeting to order.

Program agenda includes an invocation by Bob Hoefer, welcome by Thief River Falls Mayor Robert Reeve, introductions by Mosbeck, minutes of the 1996 annual meeting by secretary-treasurer Henry Wieland, president's report by Mosbeck, manager's report by Ron Kennedy, financial report by Roger Johannenk, Minnkota report by Mosbeck and election of directors.

Terms of Robert G. Olson of Middle River in District 2, Kelly Lundeen of Trail in District 7 and Kermit Finstad of Thief River Falls in District 8 expire this year and all have been nominated by their districts for reelection.

Musical entertainment is being provided by "Resonance," a men's quartet from Thief River Falls including Jim Matson, Joe Ranum, Dennis Raymond and Van Swanson.

Award presentations and door prizes will complete the meeting prior to lunch and entertainment.

Financial statement of the cooperative shows that it had electric energy sales of $6,160,386 in 1996, increased its total margins by $139,000 to $759,661, built its total assets to $16,692,316 and reduced its total liabilities by about $226,000 to $8,305,278. Member equity grew nearly half a million dollars to $7,936,037.

Red Lake Electric Cooperative had 4,068 members at the end of 1996 and sold 116,287,333 KWH to them. It operated 2,339 miles of overhead line and 218 miles of underground line and employed 23 people. Average annual residential usage was 21,197 KWH.

The cooperative serves nearly 700 residences with DIRECTV programming and is installing automated meter reading which will be completed in about four years and end mailed-in meter readings.

Grant research workshop scheduled at Thief River Falls Public Library

Northwest Minnesota Initiative Fund will sponsor a workshop on how to use library materials to find potential sources of grant funding May 2 and 9 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Thief River Falls public library meeting room.

Workshops are also scheduled for 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. May 3 at the public library in Warroad, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. April 18 and May 16 at the library in Crookston, and noon to 2 p.m. April 15 and 29 at the public library in Bemidji.

Participants will be shown how to locate federal, state, corporate and foundation funders and how to find sources using the Internet. The Initiative Fund recently provided funds to the libraries to expand their nonprofit and business collections and these sessions are designed to maximize the use of these new resources.

Celine Graham, president and senior consultant of the Graham Consulting Group, Inc., will lead the workshops. She has 25 years of experience in working with public and nonprofit organizations in research, program development and securing grants.

There are no fees for the sessions and participation at all sessions in one site is not required. Registration information may be obtained by contacting the library where attendance is desired.

Two Pennington county young people were selected among four recipients of Northwest Minnesota Youth Awards and recognized at an honors banquet recently in Crookston. There were 21 applicants for the awards sponsored by the Red River Valley Development Association.

Mylynda (Myndy) Olson, daughter of Myles and Susan Olson and Cami Sorenson, daughter of Clyde and Barb Sorenson, all of rural Thief River Falls, were the girls from Pennington county named as award recipients.

Also recognized were Jason Melin, son of Tom and Val Melin of Ada, and Travis Sandland, son of John and Susan Sandland of the Clearbrook-Gonvick area. Jason is the grandson of Leonard and Izzy Melin of Thief River Falls. His father, Tom, is a graduate of Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls and a Minnesota extension educator for Norman county.

The 29 applicants for the youth awards were judged on their essays which included background information on their leadership activities in school, church and community and their future plans for improving the quality of life in northwest Minnesota.

Myndy Olson

Myndy, can you lead the Pennington county 4-H meeting on Monday, peer tutor on Tuesday, deliver Meals-on-Wheels on Wednesday, volunteer at the local Food Shelf on Thursday, help with the Special Olympics on Friday, attend the swim meet on Saturday and then teach Sunday school on Sunday???

My name is Myndy Olson and I am a freshman at Concordia College in Moorhead. Throughout my life I have been involved with community, school, church and political activities. My involvement has come from my commitment to share my talents with others and improve the quality of life in my community. This involvement has made me realize that happiness comes from helping others.

My community activities have resulted in my concern for fellow human beings. My community activities started with 4-H when I was eight years old. Throughout my 4-H career I have held every office in my club, been president of my county 4-H and served as the

Temperance contest open

Marshall County Temperance Society's annual poster and essay contest is currently in progress with entries due in local county churches by Sunday, April 13, or mailed by that date to Box 128, Newfolden, MN 56738.

Theme for the contest this year is "Just Say No to Alcohol and Other Drugs." For the second year, posters may be either hand drawn or made with computer art. Prizes will be awarded in two age categories for each type of poster.

There are three categories for essays. Prizes in each of the poster and essay contests are $25 for first place, $15 for second and $10 for third. In all the society will award up to $350 in prizes.

Awards will be presented at the annual meeting of the society to be conducted Sunday, May 4, at 2:30 p.m. at the community center in Newfolden.

Further contest information is available from churches in the county or may be obtained directly from contest chairman Larry Bjorsness of Newfolden at 874-3451.

Marshall County Temperance Society will observe its 50th anniversary in September.

School phone to change

A new centralized phone system which will increase the number of lines and result in substantial cost savings is being installed at the School District 564 service center in Thief River Falls.

The system will be in use beginning Monday, March 31, and will have one common number for all departments in the center. That number will be 681-8711.

Departments that can be contacted through that number include the superintendent's office; personnel department; educational services, including special education, curriculum, staff development and the Native American program; business office; community education, including the Little Brother/Little Sister program; buildings and grounds; transportation; volunteer district coordinator; TRF Education Foundation; Northwest Area Learning Center; and the small engines and metals classrooms.

Career Fair series to end at Lincoln

Seventh and final career fair for students at Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls will be conducted next week by the sponsoring Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce. It will deal with music, art and human services.

At the sixth session in the series Wednesday, march 19, agriculture and outdoor jobs were featured. Business representatives at previous fairs covered topics such as important classes in high school and college, likes and dislikes about their jobs and how to prepare or apply for that particular career.

Participating March 19 were Myles Olson, production superintendent and Dave Jobe, milk quality manager at Bridgeman's/Land O'Lakes in Thief River Falls; Dr. Larry Johnson, veterinarian with the Red Lake Falls Veterinary Clinic; Conservation officer Tony Arhart and wildlife manager John Williams with the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources; Curt Swanson, Thief River Falls area grain farmer, talking about crop farming and related ag service jobs; and Rhonda Amundson of Excel Dairy informing students about career opportunities in livestock production.

Dave Jobe, milk quality manager at Bridgeman's/Land O'Lakes in Thief River Falls (center, facing camera), was one of the participants in the sixth career fair sponsored by the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce Wednesday, March 19, in Lincoln high school. The seventh and final career fair will be next week at the school.

Beginner's class in Swedish Dala painting will be held Wednesday, May 14 from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Thursday, May 15, from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Trinity Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls. It is sponsored by the Agassiz Swedish Historical Society.

Ann Nilsson of Minneapolis, master Swedish artist who has studied Scandinavian painting for several years and taught both Norwegian rosemaling and Swedish Dala painting in the Twin Cities area, will be the instructor.

This primitive painting was done mostly by farmers from about 1700 to 1850 in the province of Dalarna in Sweden. The painting often had a Biblical theme and was done directly on the walls of Swedish stugas or on pieces of canvas or linen.

Since the paintings are very primitive, interested persons need not feel they must be accomplished artists to learn to paint these scenes.

Tuition will be $30. Registration should be sent directly to Ann Nilsson at 5200 Blake Road, Edina, Minnesota 55436-1128 with a check made out to her for the tuition. A short list of supplies needed will be mailed after registration is received.

More information can be received from Mrs. Nilsson by calling 612-933-2927.

Gentle giant Anna Louise, a 7,000-pound African elephant, and her trainer Tom Demry, will appear in Thief River Falls Thursday, April 3, as part of the Joso Cole Circus. Thief River Falls Jaycees are again sponsoring the circus which will perform at 7 p.m. in the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center. Admission at the door will be $8.50 for adults and $6.50 for children age 12 and younger. Tickets may be purchased in advance through Wednesday, April 2, at Hugo's and SuperValu food markets at reduced prices of $6.50 and $4.50. Children two years of age and younger are admitted free with a paying adult.

'Willing Provider' bill introduced by Tunheim

"During the past few years changes in the insurance industry have affected what type of treatment people receive and where," noted Rep. Jim Tunheim of Kennedy, who has introduced a bill requiring insurers to cover health care provided by any licensed health care provider willing to meet the insurer's terms.

"People should be able to choose their own doctors," Rep. Tunheim said. "It shouldn't be up to the insurance company to tell them who they can and cannot go to. It's especially important in our region of the state where towns are spread so far apart. Why should someone have to drive 50 to 60 miles to a clinic when there might be a doctor right in the town they live in? We need a common sense solution to this problem, and I think this bill is a step in that direction."

The legislation is referred to as the "any willing provider" bill because it would not permit insurers to use limited networks. Under the bill, a health plan company could not directly or indirectly, in connection with a health plan:

- Impose higher enrollee cost-sharing or reduced reimbursement for health care services that would affect an enrollee's choice among those health care providers who participate in the health plan according to the terms offered;
- Impose upon an enrollee under a health plan any co-payment, fee or condition that is not equally imposed upon all enrollees in the same benefit category, class or enrollee cost-sharing level under the health plan when the enrollee is receiving health care services from a participating health care provider under that health plan;
- Prohibit or limit an enrollee's coverage for covered health care services provided by a health care provider that is qualified and is willing to accept the health plan's operating terms and conditions, schedule of fees, covered expenses and utilization regulations.

Any willing provider laws enacted in Arkansas and Louisiana have been challenged in court as being preempted by the federal Employee Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA). The Arkansas law has also been challenged in court by Prudential Insurance Company and Arkansas Blue Cross and Blue Shield.

These challenges under ERISA are based on the theory that "any willing provider" laws go too far in limiting the choices available to employers buying group coverage for their employees. ERISA preempts state laws that "relate to" these employer plans. The courts have had a hard time drawing a clear line as to when a state law "relates to" these plans.

Rep. Tunheim's bill does not specifically mention these employer plans, but simply regulates health insurance products generally, without regard to whether the purchaser happens to be an employer, another group or an individual. The bill also does not apply to the self-insured health plans often offered by large employers and multi-employer union arrangements.

"I wanted a bill that would meet people's needs and also stand up to any court challenges," Rep. Tunheim said. "Citizens in rural Minnesota deserve accessible health care, and they should be able to determine where they go to receive it."

Anyone with questions about this or any other legislative matter can contact Rep. Tunheim at 509 State Office Building, 100 Constitution Avenue, St. Paul, MN 55155-1298, calling 612-296-9635 or Internet at rep.jim.tunheim@house.leg.state.mn.us.

Area young people receive recognition

Minnesota State Secretary for two years. More important, however, are the activities I have either led or participated in that have made a difference to others. For example, I have been a counselor at numerous different day camps and I have worked at different nursing homes.

My community involvement also extends to volunteering for the local Food Shelf, Meals-on-Wheels, Special Olympics and being a Candy-Striper (medical center volunteer). Through working with elderly, youth and special needs people I have learned more about life than I could've ever taught them. As a result of these activities, I have become an effective leader in my community. Because of this leadership I was chosen as the L. B. Hartz Good Citizen in my community last year.

Another way I get people involved in community work is through my school. As a 4.0 student in high school and president of the National Honor Society, I arranged and led groups to help with community activities such as the Little Brother/Little Sister program. I have held offices on the student senate at my high school. As a leader in this group, I actively encouraged my peers to take pride in their school, community and northwest Minnesota by volunteering.

Through the Close-Up program at my school I was also given the opportunity to travel to Washington, D.C., to meet with legislators from northwest Minnesota. Additionally, I have been active with my church board, served as a Sunday School teacher and taught Vacation Bible School. I feel that all of these activities—whether community, school, political or church—make me a well-rounded person and a role model for the youth of today.

I feel that the future of northwest Minnesota is in the hands of the youth. With this belief in mind, I have concentrated much of my time on sharing my talents with the youth in my community. I am currently involved with an organization at Concordia College called Sources of Service. This organization pairs student volunteers with people in the community who need assistance. I have been volunteering at a local preschool since I started school in September. I feel that this is a way that I can positively influence the youth, and I plan to continue this volunteerism as I attend Concordia.

In addition, I plan to apply for a position as a site coordinator for this organization next year. I am also starting to volunteer at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Fargo. This is a way for me to expand my knowledge in my field of study and, more importantly, show concern and compassion for others.

This summer I plan to continue this type of position as I intern at the hospital in my hometown. This internship will include working with both youth and the elderly. Again, this will allow me to share my talents with people in my community. I know that internships rarely pay well, but I feel that the satisfaction I will feel from helping others will make it more than worth my while.

Finally, I plan to continue my education at Concordia to become a family physician practicing in northwest Minnesota. I have traveled throughout the state and country, and I am always happy to return to northwestern Minnesota. I feel fortunate to live in a place where people show genuine concern and compassion for each other. I also realize how hard these rural areas have to fight to get qualified doctors, nurses and hospital staff. However, in the end I know that I would not be happy anywhere else. My many years of schooling will pay off when I serve my first patient here—in my home—northwest Minnesota!

Cami Sorenson

My plans for the future include receiving my AA degree from Northland Community and Technical College and then transferring to either the University of North Dakota or the University of Minnesota in the Pre-Med program. Once in medical school, I would like to specialize in pediatrics. Upon completion of my internship and residency, I would like to return to northwestern Minnesota, working as a pediatrician. I feel the need for pediatricians is great, as are programs to help parents to raise their children with love and nurturing. The two must work hand in hand to provide an environment that is safe and consistent to raise healthy children both inside and out.

The road to leadership, for me, started when I first joined 4-H. I came into 4-H as a shy seven-year-old, following in my big sister's footsteps. My first big leadership role was as the club song leader, and grew from there to historian, junior secretary and then junior president. Little did I know that my leadership days had just begun.

I was now old enough to be a junior leader in the club and I wanted more responsibility. My 4-H projects served as almost a test to see what I liked and disliked. I tried cooking for a couple of years, but most of the things I made tasted funny or ended up being burnt black as night!

My clothing project was one that I really enjoyed because I not only learned how to sew my own clothes, but I was able to spend time with my mom as she taught me how. My beef project served in much the same way as it allowed me to spend that same special time with my dad.

Much fun as these were, my childcare and health projects became my favorites. Through them I came in contact with hundreds of children in the community over the years. Childcare kept me busy working at ECFE, face painting for various groups and events, childcare center at the Holiday Craft Fairs, Hot Cycle races and setting up Bike-a-Thons to raise money for St. Jude's, the local Kidney Foundation and for the Angel Tree project.

My health project enabled me to reach children not only by speaking with them, but by being a role model for them. I know that it is because of these projects and my work in them that I have chosen to be a pediatrician.

As a freshman in high school I became a County Ambassador and club treasurer. I began holding project meetings for younger 4-Hers, helping them to understand their projects and what 4-H was all about.

School activities also increased as I was chosen for National Honor Society. That year I decided to be in student senate rather than being a class officer. My sports schedule remained just as busy and I once again participated in all three sports.

Each year my responsibilities for my club, school and community were growing. My responsibilities at home also greatly increased because my mother commuted daily to Bemidji to complete her lifelong dream of becoming an elementary teacher. I also decided to do some teaching of my own that year, so I began teaching Sunday School.

Being a junior was very exciting. I became president of our 4-H club and vice president of Leader's Council as well as being a County Ambassador. I was also elected president of my class and continued in Project 4-Teens.

My sports became more involved as I was playing varsity in all three sports and was elected co-captain of the softball team. That summer I was chosen to attend the Youth Leadership Extravaganza in Minneapolis. There I represented the Northwest District for the office of State Secretary. Although I did not get the permanent office, I was one of the five State Ambassadors representing the Northwest District.

I was also the one chosen from our county to attend the Citizenship Washington Focus trip. My leadership, organizational and public speaking skills all grew immensely from these experiences. My Sunday School class consisted of some energetic first graders.

As a Minnesota State 4-H Ambassador, I began my senior year working at the Minnesota State Fair. We had regular meetings throughout the year where we worked on setting up the next YLE. This was to be held for over 500 youth across the state. We also held district training sessions throughout the state for junior leaders.

I was once again president of my local club, a County Ambassador and reporter for our local Leader's Council. I was co-captain of my swimming, basketball and softball teams. I received the Academic All State award in basketball and the Coaches Award in all three sports. I remained active in Project 4-Teens and was chosen for Target. Besides concert choir, I was vice president of the National Honor Society. This year I taught preschool and kindergartners in Sunday School.

This year at Northland I am trying to concentrate on my studies and work part-time both at the school and at Pizza Hut. My first quarter I managed to get all A's, but I have found that it is more difficult than high school. I have participated in the intramural basketball and bowling teams. I am in the choir and have started practicing for the Northland softball team. This year I am just subbing for Sunday School but I do miss not having my own class.

I attribute my early leadership training to my sister and parents, who got me started in 4-H, and the 4-H program that helped me to continue and grow in my leadership abilities. With each new responsibility I take on, I learn something new that I am able to pass on to others who I get a chance to work with.

Schuler and Flickinger are AAA winners

Jill Schuler of Grygla high school and Philip Flickinger of Marshall County Central high school in Newfolden were selected as the Region 8 winners in Class A in the Academics, Arts and Athletics Award program.

Along with Kate Ihle of Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls from Class AA in Region 8, they were honored at award ceremonies during the boy's basketball state tournament last weekend.

Almost 300 schools participated in the AAA awards program this year with one senior boy and girl selected in each class from each of the state's eight Minnesota State High School League regions.

SWCD annual banquet Apr. 8

Winners of awards in several categories will be recognized at the annual banquet of the Pennington County Soil and Water Conservation District Tuesday, April 8, at 6:30 p.m. in Redeemer Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls.

Recognized will be Roger and Colleen Hoffman of Goodridge, outstanding conservationists for 1996; Leon and Karen Johnson of Thief River Falls, farm beautification winners for 1996; and county conservation poster contest winners.

Music will be provided by the "Resonance" quartet including Rev. Dennis Raymond, Joel Ranum, Van Swanson and Jim Mattson.

Tickets for the annual banquet are $8 each and anyone may attend. Please make reservations before March 31 by calling 681-3348.

Community Focus

AAL P. 7
AAL Branch 9590 of Thief River Falls has been awarded the Gold Star rating.

School Store serves as a learning tool for students

Where can you find all the Prowler-Wear you could ever want? The School Store at Lincoln High School of course!

Although the school is unknown to most people in the community, it has been in existence for nearly 20 years.

It is currently being over-seen by Bruce Pollum, who teaches Marketing I&II, Marketing Co-op and School Store. Yes, you read that correctly, the school store is offered for credit to students at Lincoln High School.

Currently there are seven students who work in the store. They are in charge of re-ordering inventory, pricing items and coming up with ideas for new products as well as running the store during the day.

The store carries a large amount of candy and prowler-wear. It has hockey jerseys, sweatshirts, boxers, basketball shorts, polos, denim shirts, baseball caps, tee-shirts, sweats, candy, pencils and notebooks.

It started out mainly selling candy with a little bit of clothing. But Bruce is trying to get away from that and wants to see more clothing. He wants to see it as a place where people from the community can feel free to stop by and pick up a Prowler shirt or baseball cap.

They are running the store so that it is not in competition with other local retail businesses. They do not want the store to be a threat to other stores in the community. Currently they have an agreement with the company supplying the Prowler-wear so that they don't sell the same items to any other businesses in the area. The company only sells to the School Store so that other retail stores are not threatened.

"People in the community don't know about the store. It's a great place to pick up Prowler-wear," stated Bruce. He wants the community to become more aware of the store. Right now he knows that people call around looking for a place to buy Prowler-wear, and no one knows to refer them to the School Store.

Aside from being a place to pick up Prowler-wear, the School Store offers a learning experience for the students as well.

"In the School Store being a re-order manager, I have learned much about running a store. Working on the till, counting money, and re-ordering candy for the store and taking an inventory has taught me what it's like to run a store, which is valuable to me because I would like to open my own store someday," stated Dallas Germundson, one of the seven students that helps run the School Store.

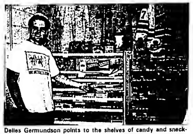
The students are expected to do inventory control and count their till. They are responsible for their hours at the store. Bruce over-sees what the students have done and will re-count the till to make sure that it is correct.

"The School Store has given me a lot of upfront experience in working with customers, counting a till and re-ordering merchandise. I would recommend working in the School Store to anyone who is planning on getting a job working with a till, customers or money. It was a fun learning experience," added Amanda Hruby, another student who works in the School Store.

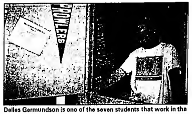
The School Store mainly provides services to the student body and it is set up to give students a practical indication to business actions in conjunction with the curriculum.

The profits from the store are used to support the school store and buy merchandise and part of it also goes to DECA to help the group with funding.

The School Store is open 8-8:30 a.m., 11:30 a.m.-12 p.m., 12:30-1 p.m., and 3-3:30 p.m.



Dallas Germundson points to the shelves of candy and snack-foods that are available in the School Store at Lincoln High School.



Dallas Germundson is one of the seven students that work in the School Store at Lincoln High School for credit. The store is used as a learning tool for the students to gain hands-on experience.

Nicole Engstrom advances to MN State Spelling Bee on April 3

Top spellers from 35 schools districts in Region one and two gathered on March 15 at the Northland Community Technical College in Thief River Falls for the Minnesota Regional Spelling Bee. The Spelling Bee is sponsored by the NW Service Cooperative and the MN Newspaper Association.

Fourty-three students in grades 5-8 competed at the Regional Spelling Bee. These students advanced to the Regional event by first winning their classroom and local district bees. The Regional Spelling Bee competition consisted of a 50 word written test in the morning with 24 of the top spellers on the written test competing in an oral competition in the afternoon.

During the spelldown, students were eliminated from the competition of they misspelled a word. The word which won the championship by 7th grader Nicole Engstrom was "pensive", the 93rd word of the competition.

First annual Spring Showcase to be held April 12

The Thief River Falls Women of Today will be presenting their first annual Spring Showcase on Saturday, April 12 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the National Guard Armory in Thief River Falls. Admission is $2, children under five are free.

The day is designed to be somewhat similar to the Women's Expo held in the Twin Cities every year and the Women's Expo in Fargo, ND. It is a day for women to get out and enjoy themselves.

There will be numerous booths set up that cater to the interests of women, including Mary Kay, Violence Intervention Project, Pampered Chef, Avon, the American Cancer Society, Hospice of the Red River Falls, Inter-County Nursing Service, Tot's Salon and Custom Creations, Diamonds and Designs and Thoele Photography just to name a few.

There will be speakers throughout the day. On the line-up is Craig Mattson speaking on Women's Safety at 12:15 p.m.; Karen Wikstrom speaking on low-fat cooking at 1:15 p.m.; and Violence Intervention Project speaking on Domestic Abuse at 2:15.

There are also two style shows on the agenda. Fashions will reflect the new spring line from JC Penny, Maurices, Vanity, Weekender Clothing and Purdy's Shoes. Style shows will be at 11:30 a.m. and 3:15 p.m.

There will be lunch available consisting of BBQ's, chips and pop along with a variety of home-baked goodies. All proceeds will go towards the funding of more Women of Today projects.

Women will be able to come and go throughout the day with a hand-stamp so that they may see all the speakers and visit all the booths they like.

The day is sure to be informative and fun with many booths to visit and speakers to listen to as well as home-cooked goodies to eat. So mark April 12 on your calender today.

ON MY MIND

A Taste Of Florida

Vacations, as I grow older, are no longer marathons to see how many tourist attractions I can visit during the week. But rather, a good vacation now revolves around food: when we're going to eat, where we're going to eat and what we're going to eat.

My recent trip to Florida with my parents and sister was not marked by the amazing sites of Disney World, Sea World, the Sarasota Jungle Gardens or the Ringling Museum, but by the restaurants we visited and the food we ate. Before we had finished one meal we were already planning the next.

We began the week, warmed by record high temperatures in the 80s, at a quaint waterside cafe called Philippi Creek. We lunched outside on the deck and tasted peel-and-eat shrimp and beer-battered onion rings. This place was renowned for its oysters, which we did not consume. Two couples seated next to us drank a toast to, Florida, the way it used to be. I wanted to know what they meant by that, but decided to mind my own business.

During the meal we chose our dinner destination – a popular seafood and pasta place called Shells (now listed on the stock market because of its popularity). While waiting for our names to be called during the hour-long wait, we ate salted-in-the-shell peanuts and tossed the shells onto the boardwalk. This restaurant suited our budget and taste because we ate there twice during the week. I could have made it three, but my dad vetoed it. The tomato basil shrimp pasta became my favorite meal of the trip.

The food highlight of Day 2 was dinner at Cha Cha Coconuts, a Caribbean-flavored eatery where you could dine outside, but everyone had the same idea and we took a table inside. During spring training, members of the Chicago White Sox baseball team are said to hang out at this popular bar and restaurant located at St. Armand's Circle in Sarasota. But neither I nor my family would know a White Sox player if we saw one. My sister and I were impressed with the two-person band playing that evening – either they were extremely talented musicians or they were lip synching.

In order to earn lunch on Day 3, my dad made us ride bicycles two miles to another unique, outdoor, waterfront establishment called the Salty Dog. After this satisfying lunch of fresh fish sandwiches we visited the only tourist site of the vacation – the bird sanctuary.

Day 4 began with a filling breakfast at the Dockside Cafe, another outdoor place - this one perched on a pier. After consuming veggie omelets, we set off in search of souvenir T-shirts that did not have a restaurant name inscribed on the front. Dinner this evening was at The Pier (seems as if there's a water theme going here). Our table overlooked the water (I'm not sure which body of water) and the building next door housed a yacht building company.

We started Day 5 (and Day 6) with breakfast at The Buttery, which featured "Buttery Browns" - hash browns mixed with onion and green pepper and covered with cheese.

We cooked a fish dinner at home on Day 6, which was amazing even to us. We stayed in a condominium with a fully-furnished kitchen, but it didn't see much action that week as we tried to eat our way through Sarasota. The kitchen appliances were only useful for keeping our refreshments cool and to toast our bagels.

As far as my trip diary reads, there isn't much to tell. We sat on the beach, walked on the beach and we ate and planned our next meal.

We're already planning our Florida vacation for next year – restaurants and all.

TIMES FOR TODDLERS

ACTIVITIES
Puppets For Pennies

Discarded stuffed animals make great, inexpensive puppets. Simply open the seam at the bottom of the toy animal, empty the old stuffing out and sew a hem around the open seam. By using this suggestion and visiting a few garage sales, you can fill your child's room with puppets for just a few pennies.

SCAVENGER HUNT

For next week's Activities feature, you will need plastic lids from whipped topping or margarine containers, an X-acto knife, sponges and paint.

BOOK OF THE WEEK

With Easter approaching, the Thief River Falls public library invites you to browse through its wide selection of children's books including the following:

Whitehead, Pat. What a Funny Bunny. As you laugh along with the clumsiest bunny on earth as he searches for Easter eggs, you'll learn the ABC's in a most delightful way.

Talkington, Bruce. Winnie-the-Pooh's Easter. Pooh and his friends can't make heads or tails of the giant "talking egg" that they found atop the highest hill in Hundred-Acre Wood.

VIDEO VARIETY

The Easter Bunny Is Coming to Town. Kidville, a town run entirely by children, is the scene for this holiday tale full of Easter traditions and celebrations.

MAGAZINE MENTION

Remember that the Thief River Falls public library has preschool storytimes every Wednesday from 11:15 to 11:45 a.m. These are co-sponsored by the Thief River Falls ECFE and Learning Readiness. Also remember to check out the parenting corner by the children's room for new information and helpful hints for busy parents on books, reading and much more.

PARENTING TIPS
Check Out Safety Caps For All Prescriptions
Yours and Grandparents

A routine check of medication containers in households with young children is a must. All medications should be out of the reach of children and prescription medicines must be stored in child-proof containers.

This caution is also a good idea for households where children visit frequently, including grandparents, friends, neighbors and other relatives. Kids will be kids, and those little bottles sometimes look so inviting.

So, although grandparents may have to struggle to open the child-proof caps on their medications, the effort may save their grandchild's life.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Talk to your children about medicine. Tell them that they should take medicine only if you or a doctor has said that they need it and that you will give it to them when they need it. Never call medicine candy!

Pennington County Daffodil Days Was Another Successful Event

Daffodil Days in Pennington County was another successful event, according to event chairperson Lucy Aasland.

"It was with great optimism that we offered our special 'Flower of Hope' to continue to 'blossom and grow' as it has every year in the past. Money raised during Daffodil Days funds national cancer research along with education and patient service programs locally," said Aasland.

According to Aasland, $11,206 was raised during the week-long event. Of the total, 28 local businesses sponsored flowers without receiving a single flower. In all, those sponsors donated $1,750. Last year, sponsorships raised about $750, and the total amount collected was about $10,000.

But the success of the event could not have been possible without the contributions in time made by over 100 volunteers who went to businesses, schools, churches, packaged flowers for other volunteers and sold flowers at local businesses. Their time and effort amounts to thousands of hours of work in advance of the event and during the event. It is also represents a commitment to the continuing battle against cancer. Aasland also specifically thanked Carl and Polly Reed for co-chairing the on-site sales.

Today, the survival rate for cancer is one in two, and more progress is predicted as research discovers more about ways to prevent cancer and better methods for successful treatment.

Last year in Pennington county, American Cancer Society volunteers shared cancer prevention and early detection information with 4,338 people, 53 cancer patients and their families received help from the American Cancer Society, including rides to treatments, hospital equipment, emotional support, and more; held education conferences and seminars that reached 196 health professionals, raised $25,224 to support research, education, advocacy, and service programs of the American Cancer Society.

Despite the local volunteer's best efforts to support this organization, the total cost of the benefits received was greater than they were able to raise.

The funds raised by the American Cancer Society's Daffodil Days will hasten this progress, and it is the daffodil that symbolizes this hope.

Local volunteer representatives of the American Cancer Society include Julie Desrocher, president, Lucy Aasland, Daffodil Day chairperson, Dave Hill, communications, Carol Torgerson, treasurer, Audrey Bruggeman, secretary, Gordy Peterson, nominating and recruiting, Lillian Ranum, memorials.

CORRECTION:

The incorrect caption appeared in the last edition of The Times with a picture of Daffodil Day on-site sales at Super Valu in Thief River Falls. The correct caption should read: "Daffodil Day on-site sales took off on Wednesday, March 12. Daffodil Days is March 11-17. Carl and Polly Reed of Thief River Falls, the co-chairpersons for on-site sales, organized nearly 100 volunteers, including 11 couples, secured on-site sales at Pamida, Kmart, Super Valu, Norwest Bank, First National Bank, and Northern State Bank, took posters to 48 locations, mailed 98 packets to volunteers, and prepared table tents at 26 locations. Carl and Polly took a deep breath during their busy schedule to thank Super Valu manager Mike Howard, and the many volunteers including Donna and Kenneth Poole. Pictured above, from left, are: (front row) Donna and Kenneth Poole, (back row) Carl and Polly Reed, and Mike Howard. Carl and Polly and the American Cancer Society want to thank all those volunteers, businesses and stores and individuals who helped make Daffodil Days a success in Thief River Falls."

When I went to South Milwaukee last summer, my friend and I went on a trip in the woods. A block to the right of her father's house and one more down the right was a small patch of woods. Surprisingly, it was much larger than we thought. It started out with a dirt hill behind someone's backyard, and it led to a highway in several directions. We came upon a log lying on the ground, moldy and soft, so we rested there. As we settled on the chunk of rotting matter, I realized I hadn't walked in a woods in a long time.

Childhood memories drifted through my mind like a tripping flashback. when I was about eight, I remember walking in the woods at home looking for the right tree to build the biggest and best fort ever. I remember crawling up in it after we had completed it. The wood we used was from my dad's leftovers after he built the dog house. Nails were sticking everywhere. The space was about as large as a portapotty, but I loved it since I helped make it.

Once when I was sitting up there with two of my cousins, getting squashed, all of a sudden we heard a growl. It sounded like a great big cat. Soon we heard the noise of brush and twigs moving, it was not a windy day. I was shaking! At my young age, I believed anything, and my brother got a kick out of fooling me. But he was below us, trying to put nail steps up the tree. The noise got louder and the thing got closer. I was about to cry when—my dad growled again and then started laughing. All I said was "Nice try, dad," through my tears.

Most of the time, we girls, (my cousins and next door neighbors) would grab some dress-up clothes and walk around pretending. We'd walk through fields of grain taller than we were and pretend we were princesses fleeing from evil men and animals. Since we live up North (it's almost as north as you can get without being in Canada), the land is flat and boring. It's a rather plain place. No valleys, mountains, or hills. What else can we do, but play in the woods?

Every trip in that foreign Milwaukee woods brought back many memories. By the time I came back to reality, I noticed I was itching like crazy. I looked like someone just doused me with a jar of ants. It seems no matter where I go those mosquitoes never go away.

These days I'm thinking about woods, summer, even mosquitoes since I am FREEZING with spring fever. Right now, after this late spring, I'd even enjoy the mosquitoes if I could take a nice long walk in a summer woods. At least the snow would be gone.

Noon Lioness meeting held recently

The Thief River Falls Noon Lioness held their monthly meeting at the American Legion Club on Wednesday, March 12 with 23 members present.

Dimes were won by Lois Amundgaard and Vivian Carlson won the craft. Thanks were extended to Eunice Flynn for making St. Patrick tray favors for Oakland Park residents. Members brought food items, childrens books and monetary donations for the local food shelf. A nominating committee was formed. Initiation rites were held to welcome Carol Forsberg and Esther Johnson as members.

A birthday party commemorating 15 years of organization will be held at the April 9 meeting and former charter members will receive invitations. All women of the community are invited to attend.

SPEAKING OF EDUCATION

by Jerry Robicheau
Superintendent
School District 564

Spring is here and we are definitely looking for more favorable weather and the opportunity to work out some of our winter layers.

I'd like to begin this article by recognizing a couple of our students from Lincoln High School who have recently received some very outstanding awards. The first one is Reid Froiland who was recently nominated for the Triple A Award in our region. There was an article describing this award in an earlier edition of the Times. This is a very high honor for Reid as it relates to academics, athletics and activities. We extend our congratulations to Reid and his parents, Sue and Barry Froiland.

The other student I'd like to recognize is Kate Ihle who is a finalist for the National Merit Scholarship. The National Merit Scholarship is a very prestigious national award given to very few students throughout the United States. Kate also received the Triple A Award for our region and will go out to state competition. We also want to congratulate her and her parents, Paul and Carol Ihle. These are just two students who have recently received very high honors and speak very well of the type of excellence that we have come to expect from our students.

In addition, I'd like to recognize all of our fine students who are doing a tremendous job. Some examples of the talent and high excellence we have in our students was demonstrated in the recent multi-cultural choice performance, the Lincoln musical and the middle school and high school orchestra concert. It is just tremendous to see the growth of those students as they demonstrate their musical talents.

Further, we have had a number of competitions where students and teams have advanced to the next high level, be it regional or state. Examples are our Mock Trial Team, which did very well again this year, and Luke Davis and Chelsea Haviland, who participated in state meets in their respective sports of wrestling and swimming. We are extremely proud of all the students in our school system. They have demonstrated a high level of excellence from kindergarten through high school. It also speaks well of the dedication of our staff who have gone above and beyond to work with students so they are given the opportunity to achieve to the next high level of excellence. Thank you to our staff and our students for representing Independent School District #564 so positively.

In the second part of this article I want to address some issues I have heard and that keep surfacing during my short term as superintendent of Independent School District #564. I will attempt to address these issues as best I can, given the information I have collected regarding these issues.

One question that has come up is the number of dollars we have saved since opening Challenger Elementary School. We have certainly saved by going to one building from four. Many of the advantages, however, are educational and programmatic in going into a state-of-the-art building. At this time, I will address the cost savings.

(1) One area is in administrative services. We have gone from two elementary principals where, in anticipation of moving to one elementary building, one of those positions was not filled upon retirement of a principal. We now have one full-time principal and one part-time assistant principal at Challenger Elementary School. Further, we do not have principals traveling between buildings. Consequently, I would estimate we have saved over $15,000 in that area.

(2) Challenger was built to be energy efficient. In working collaboratively with the City, we projected that we would save money in utility costs. We are heating a larger square footage than we did with the other buildings, but the geothermal heating system, which is relatively new, is anticipated to be energy saving. Of course, that savings will vary depending upon the weather and the kind of winter we have so it is not easy to determine exactly the kind of dollar savings we have realized. That is a long-term issue that we will address in the future.

(3) We have saved money in clerical support staff. While operating four buildings, we had four secretaries. We are currently now into one building with two secretaries and one part-time educational assistant. I would estimate that so far we have saved in excess of $32,000 in this area.

(4) We have saved dollars by reducing classroom specialists traveling from one building to another. Therefore, I would estimate we have saved approximately $5,000 in travel since we have opened Challenger.

(5) We have also saved in custodial services. We have gone from having one head custodian at Washington, Knox and Northrop, respectively, to one head custodian and one maintenance person at Challenger. Therefore we've reduced one full-time equivalent in custodial services. I would estimate we have saved in excess of $10,000 in that area.

(6) In transportation we have experience an increase in revenue. We are currently transporting students to Challenger Elementary School because of the location. Therefore, we have received additional revenue in addressing that transportation need. Therefore, there has been no increase in general fund costs for the transportation program.

(7) Because we have reduced our elementary food services form three kitchens to one, we are now providing a food service program that is in the black. Therefore, I would estimate we have saved between $8,000 and $9,000 in that area.

(8) Our delivery program is such that we now do not have to make deliveries to several sites. In fact, we have reduced those sites from five to three. Therefore, albeit a small amount of savings, there is a savings in that area as well.

(9) One area where we probably didn't necessarily save, but an area where we would have had to expend money would be making the Knox and Northrop buildings handicap accessible. Addressing this issue would have cot us in excess of $100,000.

These are just some of the areas where we have saved money since opening Challenger. Of course, this is cumulative from the standpoint that once the saving is realized, it is ongoing. Over a two-year period, we have saved n minimum of $150,000 and this saving is realized year after year.

As to the Challenger facility itself, it is structurally sound. There is no settling of the building. There are no structural inadequacies. It is a very safe, very sound and very structurally correct building. We do have one issue with a door in the gymnasium which is currently being addressed by the architect. This is a design flaw of the door itself and not of the structure and is being corrected at no cost to Independent School District #564. Challenger has been a very wise educational decision for the community.

Another question I've heard asked is what happened to the funds that were received from the sale of Washington school. That building was sold for $500,000 through a bidding process. That money has been reserved to assist in any major facility needs that we may have in the future. From my respective, however, our facility needs are appropriate for now and for the foreseeable future with one exception of a need for additional technology. We do not see a need for any large expenditures for facilities. However, according to Minnesota Law, the $500,000 cannot be used for payment of salaries or other general fund expenditures. It must be used for capital expenditures and, as we provide for long-range planning, we will take a look at how that money can most appropriately be used for facility and instructional needs.

I hope this information is helpful to you. Again, if any of you have questions or concerns regarding programs offered in any of the schools or any information in this article, I invite you to please give me a call at 681-8711 or write to me at the School District Service Center, 230 South LaBree.

SPEAKING OF

Sherry LaCoursiere

...Helping Others May Be Hazardous

"Grandma, why are you going to jail?"

What would those of us who are grandmothers answer to that question?

A 63-year-old grandmother of 10 was handcuffed and arrested October 24 of last year in Cincinnati, Ohio. Her offense? Putting a nickel and a dime into two parking meters.

Sylvia Slayton was trying to help others by placing money in overdue parking meters so the people parked there would not get fined, but the officer who was planning to ticket the cars for overtime parking cited her for breaking a city ordinance. Officer Ed Johnson, a 16-year veteran patrol officer grabbed Granny Slayton's arm, placed her in handcuffs, and arrested her on the spot.

Ms. Slayton's arrest came to the attention of the media and she became something of a celebrity for her actions, hailed as the "Meter-Feeding Granny." A legal abuse fund raised $350 to help with her expenses, and a church group had t-shirts printed that read: "Sylvia Slayton...Guilty of Kindness."

On the witness stand, officer Johnson claimed that Slayton had become loud and difficult and refused to identify herself after he warned her that she was interfering with the law. She disputed the officer's testimony, stating that she didn't mean to stop him from writing the tickets and she was simply trying to help her fellow man. "I did nothing wrong," she said. "I stand on that...in my heart of hearts, I know I didn't do anything wrong."

Prosecutors, unhappy about the attention the case got in the press, accused Granny Slayton of grandstanding and playing the case up to the media. "Every time the cameras popped up, there she was," said prosecutor Ernest McAdams, Jr.

Slayton was charged with obstructing official business of a police officer and misdemeanor disorderly conduct. A jury acquitted her on the charge of disorderly conduct. She was fined $500 by Judge John West on the obstruction charge, and the judge rejected a request to throw out the conviction. Judge West imposed the sentence without explanation.

Is it just me, or does it appear that the Cincinnati police department may have too much time on its hands? Can't they find something more worthwhile to do than arrest grandmothers who are simply trying to do something good for others? Surely there are some criminals in Cincinnati that the officers could spend their time finding and arresting rather than a do-gooder grandma. And imagine how much this travesty of justice cost the citizens of Cincinnati in legal expenses.

So, thanks to the Cincinnati police department for teaching us all a valuable lesson. We should all be aware that there are hidden dangers in helping others. Now they have shown us what we may face if we should ever decide to do good for someone else. Beware - helping your neighbor can be hazardous - you might get arrested for it.

Slayton's attorney said she may appeal the decision, even though the case has been a strain for her. And she will continue to help her neighbors by putting her change into overdue parking meters.

WIC Programs to be held in April

The Women, Infants and Children's Supplemental Nutrition Education Program (WIC) is being held the month of April.

Infants and children up to the age of five and women who are pregnant or breastfeeding may be eligible for the program. They are very interested in enrolling pregnant women in the program. They feel that the prenatal nutrition is a vital part of producing a healthy baby. Therefore, it is important to apply for WIC early in your pregnancy. They need no proof of pregnancy.

All potential clients must write or call the WIC program and complete an application. The following is a schedule of WIC Clinics for the month of April.

Monday, April 7; Monday, April 14; Thursday, April 17 and Friday, April 18 at Redeemer Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls.

Immunizations are given by the county Nurses. Please contact Inter-County Nursing service in Thief River Falls at 681-5950 for appointment times. For further information concerning the WIC Program call 253-2125 or toll-free 1-800-223-1591.

Passover celebration at Evangelical Covenant

The confirmation class and youth group of the Thief River Falls Evangelical Covenant Church will present an Upper Room Passover Celebration this Thursday, March 27 at 6 p.m. in the Church Fellowship Dinning Hall.

A fully costumed re-creation of the Upper Room experience of Jesus and the Disciples the night before his crucifixion will be portrayed in an authentic setting of what the Upper Room would have looked like in biblical times. A full Passover meal using foods typical of those served during the Last Supper will be included as part of the evening's dramatic presentation. The youth will also do multi-media portrayal of the original Passover as found in the Old Testament book of Exodus. The purpose of the evening is to help give a deeper understanding and background to the Christian church's service of Holy Communion.

Special service of dedication for the remodeled church fellowship dining hall will also take place. For more information call 681-4449.

Asbury College received first place in Overall Sweepstakes for Small Colleges at a Georgetown College speech tournament March 1. With over 14 colleges competing, Asbury received its third first place team sweepstakes win of the year.

Individual participants who contributed to sweepstakes included freshman Ingrid Hanson of Thief River Falls who won first place in Novice Poetry and second place in Novice Prose. Senior Krista Cummings placed third in Communication Analysis, and sophomore Eric Walsh placed fourth in extemporaneous speaking.

Eight members of the Asbury College Speech and Debate Team have qualified for nationals in 14 events. Jay Bourne, speech team coach replied, "I am pleased with the numbers for both teams. We have never had a debater qualify in past years, and all of our speech team members will take multiple events to the national tournament this year."

The National Forensics Association National Competition will be held at Ball State University in Muncie, Indiana on April 17 through 21.

Work underway in Governor's Ride planning

Planning is already well underway for the Governor's Trail Ride/Minnesota USSA Winter Rendezvous to be held in the Thief River Falls area February 12-15, 1998.

First general meeting of the planning group was held February 27 and the second is planned for Thursday, March 27, at 12 noon in meeting room A at the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls.

Attending the first meeting were Kermit Genereux, Thief River Falls Snodrifters, committee chairman; Julie Olson, Thief River Falls convention and visitors bureau; Tom Provost, DNR enforcement; Allan Cwikla, Darcy Harbott and Heather Hauschild, Arctic Cat, Inc.; Maggie Anderson, Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge; Martha Minchak and John Williams, DNR wildlife; Sheriff Gerald Moe, Pennington county; Tom Wang, TRF Snodrifters; Dave Burris, Best Western Inn; and Dave Bergman, Minnesota Office of Tourism.

The ride will cover approximately a 100-mile route and riders will be divided into flights of about 20 to facilitate road crossings and reduce crowding at the stops.

Stumpf joins in call for hearing on gay marriage

Sen. LeRoy Stumpf of Thief River Falls and 34 other state senators have called for a hearing on the Defense of Marriage Act which would clarify existing state law by defining marriage as a union between a man and a woman. It would also prohibit Minnesota from recognizing same-gender marriages performed in other states.

The hearing was called for by the senators because Sen. Jane Ranum of Minneapolis, who chairs the Senate Judiciary committee, is said to be delaying the process by refusing to give the bill a hearing.

Assisting with the "Ag in the Classroom" program during Ag Day at the Goodridge schools on Thursday, March 20 were (from left), Kelsay Carlson, Thief River Falls, Pennington County Junior Dairy Princess, Rachel Klopp, Karlstad, Region 1 Dairy Princess; and Ingrid Hanson, Thief River Falls, Pennington County Dairy Princess. The event was sponsored by the Minnesota division of the American Dairy Association and the American and Minnesota Agri-Women. Arrangements were made by Norma Hanson of Goodridge. The princesses also served ice cream provided by the Hansons' Good Vue Ayr Farm in the school cafeteria during the noon lunch program.

Progression of how milk gets from the cow to the consumer was shown by Rachel Klopp, Region 1 Dairy Princess, during presentations to elementary school classes at Goodridge on Thursday, March 20. The Ag Day program was arranged by Norma Hanson, Goodridge area dairy farmer and an active participant in the co-sponsoring American and Minnesota Agri-Women and Minnesota American Dairy Association. Rachel is the daughter of Dennis and Debbie Klopp of Karlstad and is a college sophomore in Minneapolis.

17 counties in small business disaster area

Seventeen counties have been declared economic injury disaster loan areas by the U.S. Small Business Administration, according to U.S. Congressman Collin Peterson.

Counties included are Becker, Beltrami, Clearwater, Otter Tail, Pennington and the contiguous counties of Clay, Hubbard, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Polk, Red Lake, Roseau, Todd, Wadena and Wilkin.

"Because of the severe winter storms and blizzard conditions experienced in these counties between November 1996 and January 1997, small businesses in these counties without credit available elsewhere can apply for economic injury assistance," Congressman Peterson said. "This also applies to small agricultural cooperatives in these counties without credit available elsewhere."

Eligible small businesses and small agricultural cooperatives may file applications for economic injury assistance for this disaster until the close of business on Dec. 4, 1997, at the following address: U.S. Small Business Administration, Disaster Area 2 Office, One Baltimore Place, Suite 300, Atlanta, GA 30308.

Economic injury disaster loans provide working capital to small businesses so they can pay bills and meet normal operating expenses. The interest rate for eligible small businesses and small agricultural cooperatives is four percent.

Kelsey Carlson, a junior at Lincoln high school and Pennington county Junior Dairy Princess, prepared to hand out information sheets on "MILK from Cow to You" during her participation in Ag Day activities Thursday, March 20, at the Goodridge school.

A chance to feel what it is like to wear a Dairy Princess' crown came to Goodridge elementary school student Marie Dahlen Thursday, March 20, when Region 1 Dairy Princess Rachel Klopp of Karlstad visited the classroom during Ag Day activities. Marie had an appropriate sweater for Ag Day activities.

Ingrid Hanson, Pennington County Dairy Princess, wore a Holstein cow costume while showing Goodridge elementary school students what dairy cows eat. Packages of alfalfa hay and feed pellets were shown to the students who were informed that the volume of a dairy cow's feed intake for a day would be equivalent to a student eating 430 hamburgers.

Norma Hanson of Goodridge used a hand puppet named "Molly Moo" to talk about dairy products with children in the Goodridge elementary school during Ag Day activities Thursday, March 20. Mrs. Hanson was up at 3 a.m. that day to help one of the family's dairy cattle deliver a calf, but was prepared with answers to questions from students and teachers.

Church On The Move sponsors two-day seminar

Church On The Move in Thief River Falls will sponsor a "Concepts in Stewardship" seminar tonight and Thursday, March 26 and 27, at 7 p.m. at the church on Highway 59 south with Rev. David Mallonee as the presenter.

Rev. Mallonee will review how people in the Bible increased their money as well as how God closely worked with them in their finances. The meeting will go far beyond the subject of tithes and offerings and deal with many practical aspects.

Kids On The Move children's church, preschool and nursery are provided. For more information call Pastor Cameron Stratton at 681-5534.

Branch 7984 of AAL receives Gold Star rating

Branch 7984 of Aid Association for Lutherans has been awarded a Gold Star rating in recognition of exemplary volunteer service.

Requirements for the award include conducting at least 12 meetings, sponsoring at least one benevolent, one educational and one member awareness activity and comply with attendance, voting and reporting requirements.

The branch held a "Make a Difference Day" when six members cleaned a craft room at Northwest Medical Center in preparation for the Grand Forks Clinic to come in; held a "Helping Hands" fund-raiser for a boy who spent some time in the Ramsey Burn Center, sponsored a "Just Say Thanks" when money raised was donated to the Church Women for books given to parents having babies baptized; and a group trip to Pembina and Walhalla, ND, for a musical and dinner.

Honors list at UMC includes area students

Several students from the Northern Watch area are included on the winter quarter Chancellor's List at the University of Minnesota in Crookston, having attained 4.00 grade point averages while completing 12 or more hours of college credit.

Roy Hope and his daughter, Karen Case, will present a concert of Gospel music and testimony on Monday, March 31, at 7 p.m. at the Evangelical Free Church in Newfolden. Everyone is welcome to attend and a free-will offering will be received.

Newfolden Free Church sets Holy Week schedule

Holy Week services at the Evangelical Free Church in Newfolden include a communion service at 7 p.m. Thursday, March 27; participation in the community Good Friday service Friday, March 28, at 7 p.m. at Marshall County Central high school; and 10 a.m. worship service on Easter Sunday, March 30, preceded by refreshments at 9:30 a.m.

Northern Lights Bookstore expands in LaBree location

Northern Lights Bookstore has reopened for business in its new location in the former Comer Drug building at 208 LaBree Avenue North, according to Patty Chiodo, who manages the bookstore on behalf of Northwest Medical Center.

Chiodo said the bookstore has an inventory of more than 35,000 used books and also offers a wide selection of used toys, audio book rentals, collector's cards, free book and toy delivery and a free book search service.

"Established in 1987 by Northwest Medical Center with support from the Northwest Minnesota Initiative Fund, United Way and local service organizations, the bookstore is not just a business," Chiodo said. "It is the centerpiece of an innovative work therapy program for mentally ill adults that has attracted the attention and praise of state and national mental health experts.

"Our mission is to provide mentally ill persons with an opportunity to do satisfying, meaningful work while providing the community with a valuable service," adds Chiodo, who is coordinator of the work therapy program. "Thanks to the community's interest, help, enthusiastic support and generous book and toy donations, the store has been a huge success. It's been the best thing that's ever happened to many of the people we serve."

According to Chiodo, it was Dr. Steve Levinson, director of Northwest Medical Center's mental health division, who established the simple treatment philosophy that the bookstore's work therapy program is based upon.

"The irony of mental illness," Dr. Levinson said, "is that it usually prevents its sufferers from participating in precisely the kind of meaningful work that helps mentally healthy people stay mentally healthy. It's kind of a double jeopardy situation.

"We designed the bookstore project to create a special work environment in which mental illness would not be a barrier to experiencing the mental health benefits of work. We figured that if we could provide mentally ill persons with an opportunity to experience the same sense of accomplishment and pride in serving others that mentally healthy people do, they would function at a higher level and enjoy a higher quality of life."

Chiodo says that the therapeutic work philosophy has worked so well that the staff is continuously looking for additional therapeutic work opportunities to satisfy the growing appetite the people they serve have for work.

"We've gone beyond the bookstore to create as many opportunities as possible for our people to work and interact with the public," she said. "For example, in 1993, we started a mobile ice cream vending business. The ice cream wagon idea has worked out beautifully both for the mentally ill people we serve and for the community."

During the summer, the ice cream wagon—a modified golf cart—visits residential neighborhoods and local business places to sell Bridgeman's ice cream novelties.

"The bookstore, however, is still the hub of our work therapy program and our pride and joy," Chiodo said. "The way it works is almost magical. While our customers are enjoying the store's wide selection of inexpensive books with titles in every imaginable category, they are also providing mentally ill persons with an extremely valuable opportunity to experience the benefits of meaningful work. Our customers and the many people who donate books and magazines, are really what keep the magic working."

Rebecca Mooney of the Thief River Falls Skating Club passed the Junior Freestyle and the Killian Pre-Gold Dance tests at the All-Seasons Arena in Minot, ND, March 14-16.

Deer Hunters to discuss the annual banquet

Annual banquet will be discussed when the Thief River Falls chapter of the Minnesota Deer Hunters Association meet for their monthly session Thursday, March 27, at 7 p.m. in the Eagles hall in Thief River Falls.

A video of the 1997 deer feeding project will be shown and door prizes will be awarded at the end of the meeting. All members and guests are invited to attend.

Ernie Walters, interpreter of the Scots, portrays his great-grandfather McBride for sixth graders at Franklin middle school on Thursday, March 20. McBride was a Scottish master clerk for the Northwest Company in Minnesota. Sixth graders have just completed a unit on the voyageurs and fur trade from the mid 1700's to the early 1800's. Walters operates the White Oak Fur Post in Deer River where he conducts classes for students on early Minnesota history and traditions. He is also a member of the Hengiire Black Powder Club which held an encampment at the Pioneer Village in Thief River Falls last August and will return for an event there again this year.

Mayor John Helley's wife Clara has had a very hard winter. Clara went to the Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls for four days and then transferred to United Hospital in Grand Forks where she spent three weeks because of a life threatening illness. At United Hospital Clara was on a dialysis machine. Now Clara is home but must stay on peritoneum dialysis. John and Clara would like to say thank you for all the many flowers, cards, letters and visits. Our prayers are with you Clara.

Daughters came to be with mom and dad

While Clara Helley has been having a rough time of it two of her daughters have been up to help out mom and dad with much support and love. Daughter Barbara and son-in-law Jerry and grandchildren Carolyn, Thomas and Kyrsten from Virginia spent two weeks and daughter Mary from Ramona, CA spent two weeks.

SBA disaster workshop at city auditorium

One of a series of disaster outreach workshops conducted by the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) has been scheduled for Thursday, March 27, at 2:30 p.m. in the Thief River Falls city auditorium.

Disaster loan staff from the SBA will answer questions pertaining to the Economic Injury Loan Program and hand out applications to small businesses and small agricultural cooperatives that were economically impacted by the severe winter storms and blizzard conditions during November of 1996 through January of 1997.

Small businesses which incurred a loss in sales of 10 percent or more during the November-January period compared to the same time a year ago may be eligible for the loan program. Application filing deadline is Dec. 4, 1997.

For persons unable to attend the workshop, loan applications and program information may also be obtained by calling 1-800-359-2227 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Central Time. TDD and speech impaired number is 404-347-3751.

Students from Thief River Falls, Red Lake Falls, Crookston, Goodridge, Greenbush-Middle River, Karlstad and Warroad attended the second annual Job Fair conducted Wednesday, March 19, at the National Guard armory in Thief River Falls. The fair increased in size from the initial event a year ago, offering 23 exhibitors—10 more than last year—and attracting 615 visitors—nearly double the 350 who attended last year's event. Several informational sessions were conducted, including the one attended by this group on job search.

Job seekers from high school students to older workers and young people with families attended the second annual Job Fair Wednesday, March 19, at the National Guard armory in Thief River Falls. Employers exhibiting at the Job Fair said they had received more good applications than they had expected they would when arranging for booth space.

Military recruiters from all branches of service were on hand to meet people attending the second annual Job Fair at the National Guard armory in Thief River Falls Wednesday, March 19. Air Force (top photo) and Marine recruiters are shown visiting with some of the high school students who attended the event.

Rhonda Amundson (left) of Excel Dairy explained the expansion of the farm's dairy herd and the need for employees at the booth she and her husband Larry operated at the second annual Job Fair Wednesday, March 20, in the National Guard armory. The Amundsons will be building new dairy facilities this spring and increasing their herd from about 160 to nearly 1,000 cows.

Internet demonstrations were given during the second annual Job Fair Wednesday, March 19, at the National Guard armory in Thief River Falls. Matt Porett, labor market analyst for the Minnesota Department of Economic Security in Duluth, reviewed the process of job searching with one of the students visiting the Job Fair Wednesday morning.

"We've gone beyond the bookstore to create as many opportunities as possible for our people to work and interact with the public," she said. "For example, in 1993, we started a mobile ice cream vending business. The ice cream wagon idea has worked out beautifully both for the mentally ill people we serve and for the community."

During the summer, the ice cream wagon—a modified golf cart—visits residential neighborhoods and local business places to sell Bridgeman's ice cream novelties.

"The bookstore, however, is still the hub of our work therapy program and our pride and joy," Chiodo said. "The way it works is almost magical. While our customers are enjoying the store's wide selection of inexpensive books with titles in every imaginable category, they are also providing mentally ill persons with an extremely valuable opportunity to experience the benefits of meaningful work. Our customers, and the many people who donate books and magazines, are really what keep the magic working."

Rebecca Mooney of the Thief River Falls Skating Club passed the Junior Freestyle and the Killian Pre-Gold Dance tests at the All-Seasons Arena in Minot, ND, March 14-16.

Deer Hunters to discuss the annual banquet

Annual banquet will be discussed when the Thief River Falls chapter of the Minnesota Deer Hunters Association meet for their monthly session Thursday, March 27, at 7 p.m. in the Eagles hall in Thief River Falls.

A video of the 1997 deer feeding project will be shown and door prizes will be awarded at the end of the meeting. All members and guests are invited to attend.

Ernie Walters, interpreter of the Scots, portrays his great-grandfather McBride for sixth graders at Franklin middle school on Thursday, March 20. McBride was a Scottish master clerk for the Northwest Company in Minnesota. Sixth graders have just completed a unit on the voyageurs and fur trade from the mid 1700's to the early 1800's. Walters operates the White Oak Fur Post in Deer River where he conducts classes for students on early Minnesota history and traditions. He is also a member of the Hangfire Black Powder Club which held an encampment at the Pioneer Village in Thief River Falls last August and will return for an event there again this year.

Students from Thief River Falls, Red Lake Falls, Crookston, Goodridge, Greenbush-Middle River, Karlstad and Warroad attended the second annual Job Fair conducted Wednesday, March 19, at the National Guard armory in Thief River Falls. The fair increased in size from the initial event a year ago, offering 23 exhibitors—10 more than last year—and attracting 615 visitors—nearly double the 350 who attended last year's event. Several informational sessions were conducted, including the one attended by this group on job search.

Job seekers from high school students to older workers and young people with families attended the second annual Job Fair Wednesday, March 19, at the National Guard armory in Thief River Falls. Employers exhibiting at the Job Fair said they had received more good applications than they had expected they would when arranging for booth space.

Kyle Sanden headed to Final Four with Golden Gophers

by Sports Editor Mike Lundgren

This University of Minnesota appearance in the NCAA men's basketball tournament Final Four – considered to be one of the premier athletic events in the world – this weekend will have a Thief River Falls connection. Kyle Sanden, a 1996 Lincoln High School graduate, will be in uniform and on the bench when the Gophers take on defending national champion Kentucky Saturday night.

The 6-11 freshman was redshirted by Minnesota coach Clem Haskins this winter after suffering a concussion during the Gophers' first official drills Oct. 15. He sat out a couple of months, but was given the okay to gradually increase his workouts and was recently cleared to practice – although a "no contact" stipulation remains in place.

Sanden rooms with Kevin Loge, a 6-10 freshman from Morris Area High School, who injured himself in a fall shooting accident that cost him the little finger on his left hand and also produced a redshirt freshman year.

Together they were season-long courtside spectators at Williams Arena. They did not accompany the team on road trips, and due in part to final exam schedules just prior to the current quarter break, neither was included in the Minnesota travel plans for the first two rounds of the NCAA Midwest Region tournament at Kemper Arena in Kansas City, where the No. 1-seeded Gophers beat Southwest Texas State 78-46 and Temple 76-57.

However, just hours after the victory over the Owls that vaulted the Gophers into the Sweet 16, Sanden and Loge received a call that told them they were being placed on the roster and would be part of the official travel party for the regional semifinals in Texas.

They were in uniform at the Alamodome in San Antonio, where Minnesota, after building a 15-point first half lead, outlasted Clemson 90-84 in a double overtime semifinal, then overcame a 10-point second half deficit in an 80-72 championship game victory over UCLA.

Sanden, in a telephone conversation prior to the team's departure to the Final Four in Indianapolis, said the Gophers were a confident bunch in San Antonio. "Everybody was upbeat," he said. "It was exciting, but nobody was uptight. We've been in so many close games during the season that being in that situation wasn't anything new."

A huge gathering of fans at Williams Arena welcomed the team back to Minnesota following the Midwest Region championship game Saturday. "People were crazy," said Sanden. "The support was awesome. I can't imagine what it would be like if we would win the national championship – we would fill the Metrodome."

Sanden is enjoying the ride, but obviously would have preferred to have been more actively involved in the Gophers' memorable season that produced a runaway title-winning performance in the Big Ten and a rise to No. 2 in the national rankings. He took part in preseason workouts with the team, and had hoped to see some playing time this winter.

– Kyle Sanden - A Golden Gopher –

"It's tough coming in as a freshman against guys who have three-four years of experience," acknowledged Sanden, "but I was trying to hold my own. I thought I could contribute a little hit, pick up a few minutes here and there and give some guys a few minutes of rest."

As redshirts, Sanden and Loge were still part of the team, but not central figures like they were as high school standouts. "We both feel like we're part of the team," said Sanden. "We practice and we give them everything we have. There's an order to follow, of course, but we have been made to feel part of it. Sure, it would have been even better to be an active part of it, but it's great just to be part of what might be a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity. I wouldn't want to trade it for anything."

The Gophers and Wildcats will square off at approximately 7 o'clock Saturday night following a 4:40 p.m. match-up between North Carolina and Arizona. Winners will play for the national championship Monday.

Sanden is familiar with the Final Four site, having participated in the prestigious Nike All-Star Camp at the RCA Dome following his high school senior year. An all-state selection and a McDonald's All-America pick, Sanden was rated the 50th best player in the country coming out of high school by Blue Chip Magazine. He set Lincoln career records with 1,546 points, 755 rebounds and 267 blocked shots.

Both Sanden and Loge, who became friends while participating in various all-star programs, made early verbal commitments to the Gophers as high school juniors. They were joined in a unique all-Minnesota freshman recruiting class last year by 6-1 Sartell guard Russ Archambault, who has seen spot duty this season.

There has been some speculation that medical problems could cut short Sanden's college basketball career, but he remains optimistic. "Anything could happen, I guess," he said, "but right now it's looking good. I plan to lift a lot of weights and try to get bigger and stronger. I look to contribute next year."

Sanden, who has jumped from 225 pounds as a high school senior to 250 as a college freshman, would like to come into camp next year with a few more pounds on his frame. "I'd like to be about 260 – and trim," he said.

With 6-9, 225-pound John Thomas and 7-0, 275-pound Trevor Winter completing their Minnesota careers this year, the window of opportunity appears to be open for Sanden and Loge to play next winter.

Working against the likes of Thomas and Winter has been a learning experience, noted Sanden. "John is very physical," he said. "He's one of those guys you don't soon forget. Trevor is a very hard worker. When he steps in for Thomas, we don't miss a beat."

Sanden, along with the rest of the basketball world, has also developed a great appreciation for the talents of Gopher stars Bobby Jackson and Sam Jacobson. "Jackson is unbelievable," offered Sanden. "He never ceases to amaze me. Jacobson is very very talented, he's got all the talent in the world."

Head coach Clem Haskins has also left an impression. "He's a very proud man," said Sanden. "He's a great coach. He definitely stresses team work, and that's why we've been successful."

Sanden, who is uncertain, but leaning toward an English major, said he is becoming acclimated to the large Twin Cities campus. "The University of Minnesota is a great institution," he said.

When the Gophers take the court Saturday, part of the sell-out crowd will include Dale and Sandee Sanden of Thief River Falls, who leave the Twin Cities on charter flight to watch their son enjoy a opportunity that many dream about, but only a few get to experience.

A trip to the Final Four could be lifetime highlight for Sanden and the Gophers. An NCAA championship ring would add a little frosting to the cake.

Prowlers open track season

Thief River Falls boys and girls high school track teams opened their 1997 season Saturday with an appearance at the Paul Bunyan Indoor Invitational at Bemidji State University.

The Prowlers' efforts featured first place performances by Kyle Nelson in the boys 400 and by Nicole Kopari in the girls shot put.

"We were very pleased with what we saw," said Tim Olson, who serves as head coach for both the Thief River Falls boys and girls. "Considering we've been on dry land just two times (much of the Prowlers' preseason conditioning work is done in the Franklin Middle School pool), I thought it went well."

Nelson's 52.53 beat a strong field and created the most excitement in the Prowlers' camp.

"We're very young on both sides (boys and girls)," noted Olson. "We don't have a lot of seniors, but they're very good athletes."

Nelson, Josh Clark, Rick Donarski, and Chris Grabowska of Goodridge headline the upperclassmen on the boys' roster. Kate Ihle is the top runner among the senior girls.

The girls' line-up also features Kopari, a sophomore, and Becky Mooney, a junior, who were state meet qualifiers last spring in the shot and 200, respectively. Freshman Rachel Mathson has the potential to be a major contributor to the Prowlers' point-producing crew as well, according to Olson.

Park Rapids Area boys won Paul Bunyan Invitational team honors with 110 points, followed by Grand Rapids with 103, Wahpeton 92, Bagley/Fosston 54, International Falls 53, Thief River Falls 25, and Clearbrook-Gonvick 21.

Grand Rapids girls were team champions with 132 points, followed by International Falls with 123, Crookston 77, Wahpeton 50, Clearbrook-Gonvick 48, Bagley/Fosston 27, and Thief River Falls 14.

Wallberg NCAA champion

■ National Division III indoor track and field

Former Lincoln High School standout John Wallberg has made his mark at the national level. Wallberg recently won the 35-pound weighted ball event at the NCAA Division III National Indoor Track and Field Championships at the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh. He won the event with a throw of 59-feet, three and one-half inches.

Wallberg took the title by a margin of two feet, 11 inches over runner up Paul Kolter from Bates College. By winning the title, Wallberg earned the fifth All America honor of his collegiate career. Wallberg placed sixth in the event his sophomore year, and finished fourth his junior year. He did not compete in indoor track as a senior, and won the 1997 championship competing as a graduate student.

Wallberg, son of John and Marilyn Wallberg of Thief River Falls, has received numerous awards and honors not the least of which will be his diploma in June. Wallberg will be receiving his Master's degree in electrical engineering from Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) in Cambridge, MA. Wallberg has already accepted a position with Texas Instruments in Dallas, TX, as a design engineer.

He has received a number of honors as an athlete at MIT. As a freshman, Wallberg competed in both football as a defensive tackle and in indoor and outdoor track. As a result, he was named male athlete of the year. In 1996 he received the Howard Johnson Award as the MIT senior male athlete of the year. In the 1996 outdoor season and again in the 1997 indoor season, Wallberg was named a captain of their team and most valuable player. In 1994 and 1995 he was named Academic All-America, and a member of the All-America team numerous times. He is a three-time New England Division III champion in the event of hammer throw. He scored 54 points for the 11-1 Engineers during the 1996-97 indoor season. He was undefeated against Division III opponents and added the New England Division III weight throw championship to his list of credentials.

His accomplishments on the field in the hammer throw, discus, shot put and 35-pound weight throw, have placed him fourth on the all-time MIT scoring list indoor and outdoor combined with 378 points.

Top students are winners of state Triple A Awards

State winners were announced Saturday in the annual Minnesota State High School League/AAA Clubs of Minnesota Academics, Arts and Athletics Award.

Thirty-two of the state's top high school students were named earlier as Class A and Class AA regional Triple A award winners and were honored at a special recognition banquet Saturday at the St. Paul Civic Center Roy Wilkins ballroom. All of the finalists participated in an on-court awards ceremony during halftime of the Class AA boys high school basketball tournament championship game at the Civic Center.

Kate Ihle of Thief River Falls and Jacob White of Alexandria were the Triple A winners in Region 8AA. In Region 8A, the honors went to Philip Flickinger of Marshall County Central and Jill Schuler of Grygla-Gatzke.

The awards go to high school seniors who have a 3.0 or higher grade point average and who participate in Minnesota State High School League-sponsored athletic and fine arts activities.

"The Triple A Award is one of the most coveted awards presented to students in Minnesota," said Dave Stead, the executive director of the Minnesota State High School League. "This award speaks volumes about a students' athletic, fine arts and academic involvement in their high school. It recognizes a students' leadership skills and their commitment to their teammates, to their school community, and to their personal goals."

The 32 students receiving Triple A Award honors were selected through a multi-level process involving the MSHSL member schools and 16 regional committees. The four state winners – a boy and girl from both Class A and Class AA – receive a $1,000 scholarship from the AAA Clubs of Minnesota for each of their four years of college.

Class A state winners were David Joosten of Balaton and Christy Boraas of Lac qui Parle Valley. Class AA state winners were Eric Anderson of Fairmont and Amanda Jepson of Monticello.

This is the ninth consecutive year the Minnesota State High School League and AAA Clubs of Minnesota have sponsored the Triple A Award program.

Broten finishes third year with Mavericks

Aaron Broten, a 5-11, 175-pound junior left wing from Thief River Falls, finished his third season with the Mankato State University hockey team this winter – the Mavericks' first year as an NCAA Division I member.

Broten, who bypassed his senior year of high school hockey in favor of playing juniors in the United States Hockey League, appeared in 24 of the Mavericks' 34 games this year, picking up four assists and 32 minutes of penalties. He was part of Mankato's checking line that held opponents' top line to five even-strength goals in the last eight games, pointed out the MSU coaching staff.

A season-ending four-game winning streak and a 10-2-1 record over the final 13 games enabled Mankato to finish its first season of NCAA Division I hockey with a 17-14-3 record. The Mavericks were 7-9-1 against Division I opponents.

With their move up to Division I, Mankato State broke school attendance records by drawing an average of 2,490 fans to the 4,832-seat Mankato Civic Center. They drew a record 4,327 fans for a Jan. 1 match-up with Notre Dame.

Mankato will lose only three seniors from a 27-man roster, returning all 16 forwards, six of eight defensemen and two of three goalies next season.

Illinois state basketball champions...

MCC grad coaches title-winning squad

Jeff Dahl, a 1982 Marshall County Central graduate, coached Warsaw to the 1997 Illinois Class A state boys high school basketball tournament title.

Warsaw, with 190 students, is the third-smallest school ever to win a title in the two-class Illinois state playoffs, which includes 450 teams in Class A for schools with enrollment of 750 and below.

Dahl attended Bemidji State University for one year, then transferred to Northwestern College in Roseville, where he played basketball for three seasons. He spent three years in Texas, coaching at the seventh grade level in one of the most successful private school basketball programs in Houston.

Moving to Warsaw, a community of 1,800 in west-central Illinois where the state shares a border with Missouri and Iowa, put the Dahl family just across the river from his wife's family in Keokuk, IA.

The timing was perfect. The last three years, the Dahl-coached Warsaw squad has won three conference and three regional titles. They lost in sectional play the past two years before making the Elite Eight state tournament – and winning – this season.

Warsaw, ranked as high as No. 7 in the state polls during the season, went into post-season play No. 13.

The Wildcats' tournament trail included three wins at the regional level, two in sectional play and then an Elite Eight state tournament-qualifying overtime win in a Supersectional match-up.

State finals were played at Carver Arena on the campus of Bradley University in Peoria, where Warsaw beat Nokomis 64-51, Chicago deSales 73-59 and Spring Valley Hall 92-85 in overtime in the title game played before a crowd of 11,238.

The Wildcats never had a regulation time title game lead, pointed out Dahl, whose team forced overtime when six-foot guard Bill Heisler hit a 3-point shot with six seconds left.

Warsaw finished the year 29-3. Spring Valley Hall, a school with 600 students, ended 27-6.

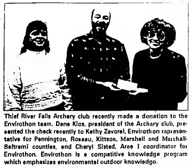
Dahl, who teaches drivers education and physical education classes, said Warsaw would fit in nicely with the top small schools in his home state. "I think we could play with any of the Class A teams in Minnesota," he said. "We have smart basketball players, we play a tough schedule, and we play good defense."

The Wildcats faced a number of Division I-caliber opponents this winter, noted Dahl whose all-senior starting line-up featured three players who have received scholarship offers – Heisler, Dan Buelt, another six-foot guard, Craig Wear, a 6-6 center.

"We had a Big Three," noted Dahl. That trio combined for 83 of the Wildcats' 92 championship game points, with Heisler netting 36, Wear 29 and Buelt 18, including seven overtime free throws.

"It was pretty exciting," said Dahl.

Graduation will hit the Wildcats hard, but Dahl pointed out that Warsaw has a strong sophomore class – two of them were on the court as the horn sounded to end the state championship game.



Thief River Falls Archery club recently made a donation to the Envirothon team. Dana Klos, president of the Archery club, presented the check recently to Kathy Zavoral, Envirothon representative for Pennington, Roseau, Kittson, Marshall and Marshall-Beltrami counties, and Cheryl Sistad, Area I coordinator for Envirothon. Envirothon is a competitive knowledge program which emphasizes environmental outdoor knowledge.

YOUTH WRESTLING

Thief River Falls youth wrestlers were involved in a number of tournaments over the weekend.

There were 19 Thief River Falls wrestlers at the Cougar Open in Mahnomen Friday. On Saturday, Thief River Falls had 10 wrestlers at the Jaycee West Sectional in Willmar, 12 at the Warren Invitational, and one at the Bemidji Invitational.

Seven of the 10 Thief River Falls wrestlers at Willmar qualified for the Jaycee state tournament April 19 in St. Paul.

This week's schedule included the kindergarten-through-sixth grade Fosston Lions Tournament, rescheduled from a March 13 postponement, on Tuesday and the kindergarten-through eighth grade Easter Weekend Tournament at Battle Lake Saturday. Weigh-ins at Battle Lake will be from 8 to 9 a.m. for grades K-4 and from 10 to 11 a.m. for grades 5-8.

MSHSL adds group of ten names to its Hall of Fame listing

Paul Molitor and Dave Winfield, recent additions to the 3,000-hit club in major league baseball, are among ten individuals recently selected for induction into the Minnesota State High School League Hall of Fame.

Molitor is a former Cretin High School athlete who led the Raiders to baseball and basketball state championships and earned all-state recognition in three sports - baseball, basketball and soccer. He also played on an American Legion state baseball championship team and earned All-America honors while leading the University of Minnesota baseball team to a regional title.

A football, basketball and baseball star at St. Paul Central and a member of an American Legion state baseball championship team, Winfield was the Most Valuable Player in the 1973 college World Series as a University of Minnesota pitcher/outfielder. He was drafted in three professional sports – baseball, football and basketball.

Joining Molitor and Winfield in the newest induction class are former Commissioner of Education Howard Casmey; debate and speech coach Jim Graupner of Stillwater; former MSHSL executive director Orv Bies; Apple Valley school administrator James Boesen; former Park Center coach and athletic director Delano Mottaz; former Mankato basketball and football coach Louis Todnem; and late Marin Retica and Paul Lukens, both well-known Hibbing coaches – Retica basketball and Lukens swimming.

This seventh group of inductees increases to 70 the number of individuals who have been inducted into the MSHSL Hall of Fame, which is located at it's Brooklyn Center Office. The inductees were selected through a multi-level process.

State champions are crowned

Hancock, Caledonia, Simley, and Minneapolis North were winners Saturday in the finals of the four-class Minnesota boys state high school basketball tournament at the St. Paul Civic Center.

It was the third straight state title for North, winner in the Sweet 16 format the past two years before the Minnesota State High School League switched to a four-class event this season.

Most memorable game of the tournament came in the Class A semifinals when Wabasso, after blowing a 19-point fourth quarter lead, outlasted Section 8A champion Red Lake 117-113 in double overtime – the most points ever scored in a high school basketball game in Minnesota.

Boosters Club meets Thursday at 12-noon

Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Club meeting will be held Thursday at 12-noon at the Elks.

Guest speakers will include Lincoln High School baseball coach Charlie Cornell, Lincoln softball coach Ken Fletcher and Thief River Falls Baseball Association representative Greg Pribula.

Jump Rope For Heart will be held on April 5 at Challenger School

Challenger Elementary School students will be participating in Jump Rope For Heart, an event that emphasizes the benefits of aerobic exercise, on Saturday, April 5, from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in the school gym.

Myron Peterson, Howard Thurson and Sally Wilsie are coordinators of the event. They note that Jump Rope For Heart promotes cardiovascular fitness and reinforces the need for a quality exercise program while raising funds for the American Heart Association-Minnesota affiliate in its battle against heart disease.

Jump Rope For Heart events across the state raised $750,000 for the Minnesota affiliate in 1995-96. Funds raised in Thief River Falls will help support the Minnesota affiliate's programs of research, community service and education.

According to officials, as a result of the efforts for the American Heart Association, the age-adjusted death rate from coronary heart disease decreased by 23.1 percent during 1983-93. Unfortunately, they note, someone dies from cardiovascular disease in America every 33 seconds. The mission of the American Heart Association to reduce disability and death from cardiovascular disease and stroke continues in Minnesota.

Accidents reported by law enforcement

Accidents. On March 18 at 6:01 p.m. police received report of an accident at the intersection of Markley Avenue and First Street. Martha Adeline Moe, Thief River Falls, was driving a car south on Markley and Darla Mae Swanson, Thief River Falls, was driving a Ford Explorer east on First Street. The Moe vehicle stopped for a stop sign at the intersection and pulled into traffic where it collided with the Swanson vehicle. The Moe vehicle was considered a total loss. Damage to the Swanson vehicle was estimated at $800. There were no injuries reported. Moe was cited for failure to yield.

On March 24 at 3:58 p.m. police received report of an accident at the intersection of Eighth Street and Main Avenue. Jeffrey Dewayne Olson, Newfolden, was turning a semi-tractor trailer from the north onto east Eighth Street and cut the corner close to avoid hitting an oncoming vehicle. Olson struck a parked Ford pickup truck belonging to Kenneth James Sanders, Goodridge and a parked Ford pickup belonging to Marcella Ann Geray, Waubun. Damage to the Olson vehicle was estimated at $100, the Sanders vehicle $1,600 and the Geray vehicle $800. There were no injuries reported. Olson was cited for wrong class of driver's license.

Criminal damages. On March 9 at 4:48 a.m. the Sheriff's department received a report that a house had been vandalized. Damage to a trailer house in Smiley Township included broken windows, a broken telephone, television and doors, and there were holes in walls. Lance Dexter Bugge, St. Hilaire, 26, and Jonathan Carey Brown, Thief River Falls, 20, face charges of felony criminal damage to property. Damage to the trailer was estimated at nearly $2,100.

Theft. On March 21 at 8:56 p.m. police received a report of a burglary. Approximately 22 compact discs were taken. Estimated value is at $450. The case is under investigation.

Issuance of worthless checks. The Pennington County Sheriff's department has charged the following with issuing worthless checks: Cecelia Ann Ostgaard, 23, Shelly, $133.25; Kathy Rae Knight, 39, Warroad, $50; Michael Wayne Bartell, 39, Redby, $63.16; Carl Wendel Flaten, 38, Oklee, $440.19; Kent Duane Aamot, 36, Grand Forks, ND, $38.96; Frances Patricia Havaas, 52, McIntosh, $83.35.

These reports include names of individuals charged, arrested or cited with various crimes and offenses by police, the sheriff's department or other law enforcement officials. Depending upon the circumstances of a case, charges can be, and sometimes are, changed or dropped by law enforcement officials or attorneys even before the case reaches court. Readers should also realize that under the American system of jurisprudence, individuals charged with crimes are innocent until proven guilty of those crimes in a court of law.

'Home Stretch' home buyers workshop set

Explore the possibilities of home ownership at a "Home Stretch" home buyers workshop sponsored by the Minnesota Extension Service in Pennington county.

Workshop sessions will be held on Tuesdays, April 22, 29 and May 6 from 7 to 9:30 p.m. in the Pennington county courthouse meeting room.

The three-session workshop is designed for first-time home buyers of low to moderate income; for homeowners ready to refinance a contract for deed or for persons just interested in exploring the possibilities of home ownership.

Participants will be provided a thorough explanation of the home buying process. They will find out how much home they can afford, what lenders look for in a buyer, how to eliminate the barriers to home ownership and what kinds of mortgage assistance programs are available. Added to this year's program is information on buying manufactured homes.

Registration for the three-session workshop is $5 per household. Call the Pennington county extension office at 681-2116 or 1-800-681-2116 to receive a registration brochure with more information. Seating space is limited so early registration is recommended.

Community ed offers three family classes

In collaboration with the Pennington County Prevention Project, the community education department of School District 564 will offer three family topic classes in April and May.

On Tuesday, April 15, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Dr. Paul Adams, psychologist, will teach a class entitled "The Five Love Languages" in the Northwest Medical Center board room. Fee is $5 and enrollment is restricted to between eight and 20 participants. The class deals with specific ways in which partners and parents express and receive love.

On Thursday, May 1, from 7 to 8 p.m. in the Lincoln high school career center, Lincoln counselor Bill Stock will facilitate discussion on "Thief River Falls Youth: How Is Their Emotional Health?" Fee is $3 and a minimum of eight participants is required.

Search Institute report on survey results from the Healthy Community, Healthy Youth Initiative will be presented and discussion will center on the 30 assets needed by youth to be healthy citizens.

On Tuesday, May 6, DeeJay Dorlin will lecture and lead a discussion on discipline style and theories about children ages two to 18 in a class entitled "Discipline in the Home."

Class time is from 7 to 8:30 p.m. in the Northwest Medical Center board room. Enrollment is limited from 10 to 20 participants and fee is $5 per person.

Fee payment must accompany registration and registration should be received one week prior to start of class unless otherwise stated.

To register, stop at the community education office in the school district service center, 230 LaBree Avenue South, Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. or use the after hours registration box in the entrance which is open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Mail registration is also accepted.

NOTICE OF ANNUAL MEETING

Each year several students at Lincoln High school in Thief River Falls are exposed to different careers during a special School Career Information Days program. Last week one of eight programs scheduled throughout the year was conducted. Its focus was on computers and technology, and the communications industry. Speakers included: Tom Groves of the Minnesota Technical Office, LaRae Wendlandt, telemarketing at Digi-Key, Wayne Rohlf of KTRF, Heidi Hoks of the Thief River Falls public library, and Dave Hill of The Times. Pictured above, some of the students listen to the presentation made by Tom Groves: (from left) Jamie Philipp, Michael Hahne, Cody Huschle, Ryan Rogalla, and Reid Froiland.

Missy Hamms and Kyla Skipla, students at Lincoln High school in Thief River Falls, listen to a presentation during Lincoln High School's Career Information Day from LaRae Wendlandt of Digi-Key. Focus of this program was on computer and technology, and the communications industry. It was one of eight programs planned during the year. The programs are conducted by volunteers from the Thief River Falls business community.

At Floyd Lundeen's in Alexandria recently were David and Judy Lundeen of Red Lake Falls, Kevin Lundeen of St. Paul, Dan, Krish and Josh Lutgen of White, South Dakota; Glenn and Crystal Bergerson of Gully, Dan, Kim and Bryce Wiertzema, Rothsay, Arden, Vanessa and Chad Lundeen, Judy Champagne of Oklee, Ryan and Michelle Bakken of Thief River Falls, Chris, Andrea and Blaine Stephenson of Thief River Falls, Vincent, Gelene, Robbie and Katie Lundeen of Oklee, Denise Martell of Crookston, Angie Martell of Fargo, ND, Stephanie Martell of Minneapolis, Erin Jenson of Thief River Falls, Steve, Julie, Matthew, Luke, Adam and Rachel Lundeen of Chanhassen.

Sunday, February 23, Orlan and Clarice Stolaas were honored on their 40th wedding anniversary with cake, ice cream and coffee at Ebenezer Lutheran Church hosted by their kids. We all went to Lakeview Restaurant by Mentor for dinner: Orlan and Clarice, Mary Olson, Vincent, Gelene, Robbie and Katie Lundeen, Galen, Jodi, Nathan and Christopher Peters and Joel and Leann Stolaas.

Kim Chervestad returned home Friday, February 21, following a three week Arctic Cat test trip to West Yellowstone, MT and Grand Junction, CO.

Mr. and Mrs. Irell Chervestad motored to Blaine recently to visit their daughter, Ramona Barth. Jay, Jodi and Genna Johnson also motored to Blaine for a weekend of visiting.

Cameron Dale, infant son of Gary and JoAnn Lundeen, was baptized at Oak Park Lutheran Church, rural Oklee, on Sunday, February 23rd. Many friends and relatives attended the service and afterwards enjoyed a potluck dinner served at the church by the Oak Park Ladies Aid.

Those from our area attending a benefit dinner Sunday, February 23rd, at the Gygli Community Center were Mr. and Mrs. Kim Chervestad and family, Mr. and Mrs. Irell Chervestad and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Burrack. Over 150 people enjoyed a delicious ham dinner served by the St. Petri Lutheran Church Ladies Aid in hopes of raising funds to help pay for the [illegible] of their rural Gygli church building.

Congratulations and best wishes to Nate Lundeen, son of Kelly and Connie Lundeen. Nate qualified for the State AA Wrestling Tournament held in St. Paul.

Congratulations also to Angela Chervestad, daughter of Korydon and Carol Chervestad, who as a H.S. junior recently attained the 1000 point honor club in girls basketball.

The River Valley Homemakers Study Group met Wednesday, February 26th at the home of Jan and LeAnn Stolaas. Eleven members were present for the lesson "What's New at the Supermarket?" A delicious lunch was served by hostesses Lana Nelson and LeAnn; the market basket was won by Helen Chervestad.

Privately-Run Prison A Minnesota Option

More than a few Minnesota legislators are taking a serious look at the possibility of having the state's newest prison operated by a private corporation instead of the state's own Department of Corrections (DOC). And several legislators are actively pursuing that goal with a view toward substantial financial savings.

According to Sen. Randy Kelly (DFL-St. Paul) and Sen. Tom Neuville (R-Northfield), the average daily cost of inmate housing in a Minnesota prison is $88—the second highest in the nation. Other Midwestern states average between $50 and $55 a day. Whatever the different circumstances that may apply from one state to another, that is a huge cost disparity. It would appear on the surface that there should be significant cost savings to be made.

Despite the high daily cost already in place, the Department of Corrections has the fastest-growing agency budget in Minnesota—due at least in part to legislatively-imposed stiffening of sentencing laws as well as the increased rate of crime in the state. If we expect law enforcement to apprehend lawbreakers and the courts to deal more severely with sentencing them, we must expect some increase in the costs of prisons.

It is generally acknowledged, however, that government is not a good business operator, and there is no reason to believe that corrections would be operated any better than other governmental operations. Nor is there any reason to believe that private business would not do a capable and efficient job of housing and caring for prisoners.

In 1996, the legislature authorized the spending of $89 million for a new prison to be constructed near Rush City. Now Senators Kelly and Neuville note that several things have changed since the authorization.

They point out that a privately-run prison in Appleton was purchased by the largest private correctional corporation in America. That prison is more than doubling its capacity and its success in safety and economy of housing inmates has caused legislators to take a closer look at privatization. They also visited two privately run prisons in Tennessee and found them clean, efficient and secure with high staff morale and a variety of educational and vocational training available to inmates.

In 1990 Tennessee opened three identical prisons with two operated by the state and one under contract as a private venture. Experience to date is that the private facility was operated as well as the other two and at less cost.

Senators Neuville and Kelly say that the state has a written commitment from a private company to build and operate a 1,000-bed high-custody prison for $55 per inmate per day. If the state builds the prison, per diem could be lowered to $42.

Savings in prison construction and operation lie in the efficiency of the private sector, the senators say. Private companies can design and construct a new prison in about 14 months compared to three years of planning and three and one-half years for construction of a state-built facility.

In operating prisons, the private sector devotes less expense to central administration and gives prison wardens the authority to hire staff when it is necessary and make immediate decisions concerning maintenance, security, programming and food service. Overtime is virtually eliminated. Supplies and food may be purchased at volume discounts. Some companies are employee-owned. State prisons must comply with set standards and bidding procedures.

In Minnesota, any privately run prison must be licensed and inspected by the DOC. Contracts will require accreditation by the American Correctional Association, whose standards assure safety and security in prison operation.

"Because of planning and timing factors, it may not be feasible to abandon the state's plan to build the Rush City prison," Sen. Kelly said. "However, we are proposing that Minnesota allow private operation of the facility. The contract will be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder. We emphasize that we will not compromise public safety or security for profitability."

"As elected officials," Sen. Neuville added, "it would be irresponsible to ignore the potential savings that limited privatization offers. Allowing one private prison to compete with other state-run prisons will reduce costs for the entire correctional system."

One of the opponents to privatization is the Department of Corrections, although it would have licensing and inspection powers. Unions argue that privately employed prison guards are paid too little and turnover is too high.

Interestingly, however, since the discussion on privatization has begun in the legislature, the DOC has reduced its projected operating costs for the Rush City prison from $82 per day to $70 per day.

What would be the drawbacks of private prison operation? Some loss of control, perhaps, although that could be covered in proper contracts. There would be a break in the government continuum from arrest to conviction to sentencing to incarceration and, in most cases, to release. Some in the legal field may be uncomfortable with this. There may be other considerations which do not immediately come to mind.

But the idea has merit and is certainly worthy of more study and comparison. And it seems to be worth a try, particularly if the state owns the facilities and contracts for operation. There is no need to build more bureaucracy in the Department of Corrections and the unions do not always represent the best interests of their members. We would like to see continued investigation and discussion on this possibility of privatization.

To The Editor:

We subscribe to your paper as Thief River Falls is my wife's hometown. Her maiden name was Dorothy H. Senum. Your editorial dated Wednesday, March 12, warrants support and response.

The politics of "Hope," worthy of attention. Democracy is like a clock. In a free and democratic republic, God-fearing people will always encounter adversity. This is commonly known as check and balance—a way of keeping you and me in line in a free democracy.

We used to be recognized and known as a God-fearing nation of freedoms—all of which has been very much eroded since World War II when the "I want" program began to take effect. Unfortunately, people no longer seem to know how to voluntarily become involved in issues nor do they appear to have the desire to become involved.

It is my contention it is God's desire to stimulate us into our responsibilities and then as a people we encourage others into participating via our demeanor and character.

Representatives were voted into office or appointed to office, therefore it's their responsibility or that is what they are being paid for. Not so! Democracy must be kept wound up, otherwise apathy results in dissolution. We all have to realize in a democratic republic that liberty has never come from government. The history of citizen liberty in our form of government is the history of limitation of government, which comes about through voluntary citizen involvement from local to national levels.

Volunteer citizen involvement destroys the inherent structuring of government which comes about through unconcern and saying "I don't have time for that stuff" or "it's not my ball of wax."

Officials are being paid to manage, bring about, effect, produce, occasion, cause, coordinate, harmonize, unite, construct, form, make, shape and combine services according to the will of the people, not as dictators.

As a people we do not keep a democracy by drifting but by cohesive existing, just as the Kingdom of God is not entered by drifting but by direction.

Personally, I did not spend over 20 years in the U.S. Air Force through war and peacetime to see freedoms disappear before my very eyes without trying in some manner to excite the citizenry into becoming involved in the community via their talents. Everyone has at least one talent. Seemingly it's as though I now live in an America I don't even know.

I challenge your local ministers, because neighborhood character is obviously in need of repair, to energize their congregations into volunteer service. Life is like a game of tennis—you can't learn to play well unless you learn to serve well. We learn through education what is right and wrong. Let's make our candles shine in our communities.

Yours in Friendship,
Ainsworth "Ace" Wehus

As the calendar winter comes to an end this week and Spring is coming in with a forecast of more snow, many folks in northwest Minnesota are making sure their sump pumps are in working order. Most areas in the midwest have received over 100 inches of snow this season. The sun gets to melting it a bit in the daytime and at night that freezes away. If it would continue like that for a couple of weeks, Roy says that perhaps the north end of the Red River would open up and some of the water could flow out instead of covering so much land, as it did last year.

The Bethesda Lutheran Church will have the children singing during the worship service on Palm Sunday and the Salem Lutheran Church will have the Sunday school singers on Palm Sunday at their worship service. Marcy Hendrickson, Sunday school superintendent at Salem says they may be singing at the Easter morning service at 7 a.m., March 30th. There is nothing as beautiful as a sunrise service to remember our heritage. This is an early Easter so it may be quite cold to be outdoors but we can look out the windows, the sun is usually up by 7 p.m. now.

Robert Thompson chauffeured his dad and mom, Isaac and Betsy Thompson to Fargo, ND, for an appointment. They are not home yet so I can quit thinking of the icy roads until I learn first hand how they are.

David and Elaine Grevum of Thief River Falls took advantage of the sunny weather on Sunday and rode their snowcats to Karlstad and visited Elaine's mom, Elsie Lehooth in the afternoon.

Judy Kleinvachter was busy this week entertaining visitors, Marie Stetten of Argyle, June Kasprowicz, Larina Berggren, Claudia Berggren and Marian Pederson.

Christy Wetterlund drove up from Grand Forks to visit Morris and Hazel Anderson on Sunday. Hazel cooked her famous dinner and served several of the families. I wish the roads were not so slippery, I'm a chicken when it comes to icy conditions.

Elphie Adils says the snow is not going down where she lives but she may be coming up to Karlstad on Friday to the Center for that meeting by options. Donny and Marlys Lehooth and Pearl Thompson were visitors at Elsie Lehooth's on Saturday.

by Jerome and Donna Myhrer

Spring Is Here! First Robin Is Seen Sunday

"The first robin of the current spring season to be called to the attention of the Times was seen in St. Hilaire last Sunday by Donald Swanson, pupil in School District 166, according to his teacher, Mrs. George Baken."

Station KTRF Publishes Program Schedule Today

"For the convenience of local residents who are following the programs being broadcast over Radio Station KTRF, Henry Arneson, proprietor, is publishing in this issue of the Times on Page 15 a summary of the programs to be offered each day the coming week. It is suggested that readers keep the program for reference."

Dog, Bicycle Licenses Are Due During April

"Thief River Falls dog and bicycle owners were reminded today by W. K. Knight, city relief superintendent, that licenses for the current year should be procured before the end of April at his office in the basement of the municipal auditorium. The fee for bicycles is 25 cents, while for male dogs it is $2 and for females $6."

Education Board Buys Bus Chassis

"Following the opening of bids, the board of education Monday evening took action to purchase a Dodge two-ton chassis from the Forkenbrock Motor company on its bid of $2,000, in addition to which the school district is turning in a 1939 International chassis on the deal.

"The contract calls for the seller to mount on the new chassis the Bender body now on the old International chassis. The equipment will be put into use immediately following the Easter vacation."

T. H. 32 Paving Job Is Let Last Week

"Award of the contract for concrete paving of Highway 32 between Red Lake Falls and St. Hilaire was awarded late last week by the Minnesota highway department to the Woodrich Construction company of Minneapolis on its bid of $524,716 for the 11.6-mile project, Commissioner M. J. Hoffman announced. Bids on the work had been received March 14. Within the past few years the highway from Red Lake Falls to Thief River Falls has been rebuilt in preparation for paving, and Hoffman stated the paving from St. Hilaire to this city is slated for future construction."

Boy Scouts Pick Up Eight Tons Of Paper Saturday

"Members of the Explorer Boy Scout Troop 60 were well pleased with the results of their waste paper collection conducted Saturday afternoon, Morris Owen, scoutmaster, announced this week. He stated that the boys, covering both business and residential districts of the city, collected approximately eight tons of paper."

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

50 YEARS AGO • MARCH 27, 1947

—Remember way back when the Flanders 20 and the Saxon car were competitors of the Model T.

—You occasionally meet people who are like a piano: upright, square or grand.

—You may not like a beard at all, says a colleague, but it's something that grows on you.

—Don't be fooled, folks, by an announcement that your next sugar ration stamp will be good for ten pounds. The OPA warns that the ten pounds will have to last twice as long as the last five-pound ration.

—According to the revised version, people who live in glass houses at least have a place to live.

—Verily, Greece is in the frying pan.

—Engagement has been defined as that period when a girl is placed in solitaire confinement.

—We should welcome more babies. As a colleague points out, every one born reduces our proportional share of the national debt.

—Remember way back when Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford was a popular character in magazine fiction?

—"Backward, turn backward, Oh time in thy flight," the poet's plea, will become a reality shortly when the Minnesota legislature turns back the clock at the close of its session.

—We are convinced that Communists in the United States should enjoy fully as many privileges as lovers of democracy would have in Russia.

—The class yell of the school of experience, they tell us, is "Ouch! Help!"

—Better be on the alert next Tuesday, folks. It's April Fools Day.

"Notice. Mass meeting, at the city hall, April 10, at 7:30 p.m. for the purpose of locating the site of the postoffice. By request of the citizens.

"Persons dumping manure in the city limits are liable to arrest. The dumping ground is 1/4 of a mile from the main road, in the big slough."

Lee vs. Village

"A motion to vacate the judgement obtained by the plaintiff against the defendant for $154.30 was made before Judge Ives on Tuesday last. City Attorney Hibner appeared for the city and H. W. Lee appeared in his own behalf. The city claimed to be the legal successors to the village since Nov. 4, 1896 and as the summons had not been served upon either Kratka or Backe, it was claimed to be void for want of jurisdiction. The plaintiff claimed that the old village officers are still officers of the village and that if they were not, there had been a voluntary appearance of the city by its attorney, F. A. Grady and jurisdiction to render judgement was thereby conferred. The judge denied the motion, holding that the old officers were still the legal officers of the village, and that there had been a voluntary appearance on the part of the city. He expressed a desired opinion that the city was not legally organized and that the curative act could not make a void act legal and that the best thing the city could do was the pay the judgement."

ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA — MARCH 31, 1897

From Newspaper Files Of One Hundred Years Ago

News Items

"Tomorrow is All Fools Day.

"It is neither sleighing or wheeling at the present time.

"The river is liable to be open ere another week rolls by.

"Residents are complaining of their cellars being filled with water.

"The first wagon in five months was seen upon our streets yesterday.

"Cleaning up your back yards as soon as possible would be a good idea.

"The groundhogs that came out February 2nd are now being picked up -- dead.

"Forty loads of sand were hauled in from the sand pit one day last week.

"Hick's weather predictions are all right in the winter, but you can't bank on them in the spring time.

"The lumber for the new beer house was unloaded yesterday and the construction will take place immediately.

"There is no doubt about spring being on hand now. Robins were seen Sunday and they are considered sure spring prophets.

"Some over 850 piles have been driven for the St. Hilaire lumber company this winter. They expect to finish up driving this week.

"The lumber company built an ice house and filled the same last week. The ice, will be appreciated by the mill hands next summer.

"A flock of eleven wild geese flew over town Sunday headed in a southwest direction. These are the first that have been seen this spring.

"Articles of incorporation of the Thief River Falls Cornet Band are being published in THE PRESS. The term of existence shall be ten years.

"120 windows will be put in the new mill in order to have sufficient light. The main building will be in the neighborhood of fifty feet high.

"If you want to keep the fish from running into your houses during the spring freshets, be sure and have J. C. Oahl, the blacksmith, make you a spear.

"The stage driver was compelled to stop here overnight owing to the bad condition of the roads. The horses were down several times between here and Wylie.

"The village has men at work putting in a two span bridge on South Broadway across the ravine which heretofore has caused so much trouble every spring by washouts. They will drive piling and the bridge proper will be raised over the high water mark, the only way bridges should be built.

"Several men claiming to be first-class wood framers were unable to secure a job here last week all on account of not knowing what a 'Jack Rabbet' was. For the benefit of these men, we will say it is not an animal, but a plane, a very useful article in framing timbers, in fact a first-class wood framer can not get along without one.

"The new bridge on the north side of town was swung and cleared itself Friday forenoon. Foreman Grant was very uneasy for a few days during the thaw and put on a large crew of men and forced the work. The bridge is put up in first-class shape and if painted every two or three years, as it should be, it will last for twenty years. Mr. Grant expects to leave today for Mankato where he has a like job to complete.

"Mill raising, like barn raising, takes a large crew of men to do it. Under the supervision of Mr. Geo. Kelley, last Thursday afternoon, the raising took place and went up on the double quick order. About forty men are now employed working on the mill to say nothing of the men scattered about doing work here and there for the company. There is proper, three separate working crews and all of them just pushing things."

Wylie Gleanings

"The snow is going fast and the small boys are busy making waterways as fast as it melts."

Robert Carlson has just returned after an interesting trip to England. When I asked him for some printed brochures about his trip, he didn't have any since his baggage was lost between here and Amsterdam. We hope it can be found, the rest of his trip was good. Robert, a lead mechanic at the Minneapolis airport was chosen as one to attend a maintenance Engineers course for a month in Woodford England. In connection with the Avro International Division of the British Aerospace program, Northwest Airlines are buying twelve Avro RJ 85 4 engine fan jets, capable of carrying 69 passengers. Mesaba Airlines will be flying and maintaining these aircrafts for Northwest Branch. While they kept the mechanics busy with a rigorous study schedule they had some time off weekends and evenings and Robert had a chance to visit interesting places like Buckingham Palace, London, York, Edinburgh Scotland and others.

Tim Kersen, son of Dave and Dianne Kersen from Gully, is on Special assignment in Saudi Arabia. His Air Force Battalion left Mt. Home, Idaho on March 8th. He called home from Germany on his way to Saudi. They will be stationed there until the end of June. He hopes to be back home in Gully on leave for a couple of weeks in August.

Adeline and Howard Mienert of Fosston visited and were lunch guests at the Mary and Leslie Berg home on Sunday afternoon. Alice Forsberg visited with Mary and Leslie on Friday afternoon and enjoyed a good cup of coffee with them.

Last Saturday was a sad day for many in our area as we bid farewell to friends and relatives. At the Francis Xavier Catholic Church in Oklee there was a two o'clock service for Jean, daughter of Harold Lindquist. At Good Shepherd Lutheran Church in Clearbrook, an eleven o'clock service for John Tvedbakk, son of Bjorn and Ida Aason Tvedbakk. John was born in Gully. A Hope Lutheran church at Fosston at eleven o'clock service for Lillian Hovo Severson. At Our Redeemer Lutheran at Badger a ten o'clock service for Raymond Geroy whose daughter Jennie Geroy Borgan has visited several times in this area. Mr. Geroy was leading a musical group at a Senior Citizens gathering when his head fell forward and he died.

Baptismal services were held at Lund Lutheran Church at Gully on Sunday at the eleven o'clock Congregational service for Alex Gerald Carlson, infant son of Travis and Tracy Carlson of Goodridge with Rev Bob Kelly officiating. Sponsors were Lynolte Disrud, Keith Maruska and Ronal Knutson. After services Travis and Tracy hosted a dinner in honor of Alex at the home of Alex's grandparents Crystal and Glenn Bergerson north of Gully. Guests were Tim Disrud, Betty Bartholomew, Dianne Disrud, Calvin Hoistad, Lynnolte Disrud and Devan, Keith Maruska, Raoul Knutson, Glenn and Crystal Bergerson. Congratulations Travis and Tracy and welcome Alex.

Alice Forsberg visited and had lunch with Margaret Moden on Saturday afternoon. A good time for a Swede/Norwegian to reminisce about their former Clearbrook neighbors and the Good Old Days.
